Ship Your Grain to the Chicago Market

Grain, Cotton and Provisions

all under one roof

When the world thinks of grain it thinks of Chicago.

Grain tides have converged at the Chicago Board of Trade for nearly a century. Four hundred million bushels are received annually.

In Chicago's huge grain futures market the needs of nations are anticipated months in advance.

When the Chicago cotton futures market was established, it brought trading in grain, cotton and provisions under a single roof.

Chicago's network of private wires patterns the country. Across these wires clatter the price quotations registered at the Board of Trade. By creation of the cotton market and use of existing facilities a wider interest in cotton is being developed. And from this wider interest the whole industry will benefit.

Under the cotton contract delivery is made at Galveston and Houston, the giant spot center. Therefore Chicago quotations represent world values for this world commodity.

By reason of the cotton market, a new commercial link has been forged between Chicago and the Southwest.

Chicago Board of Trade

(Literature on grain and cotton, describing the facilities of this vast central market, may be had by writing the Chicago Board of Trade.)

United States Realty and Improvement Company

To the Stockholders of United States Realty and Improvement Company:

At the meeting of the stockholders, which was held on December 9, 1925, the resolutions in relation to changing the certificate of incorporation and changing the company's stock into stock without nominal or par value were unanimously approved. The certificate making these resolutions effective was filed in the Office of the Secretary of State of New Jersey on December 23, 1925.

You should exchange your present certificates for the certificates of the new stock at the offices of The New York Trust Company, our Transfer Agent, No. 100 Broadway, New York City. You will receive two and one-half shares of the new stock for each share of the old stock. Any fraction of a share will be represented by a scrip certificate.

Arrangements have been made with McDonnell & Company, 120 Broadway, New York City, for the purchase or sale by them of such scrip certificates.

Reserve Your January Investments Today!

AS a service to the investing public, we are now accepting firm reservations of bonds for January delivery. Our list includes some of the most attractive securities we ever have placed before the public. The bonds offer you —

— An interest yield of 5.75 to 6.40%;

— Wide diversification, among more than two score cities;

— An ample outside market; and most important of all —

— Straus Safety.

We advise immediate action, in order to make sure that you get just the bonds and the maturities you desire most, as the demand is extremely heavy, and our supply of certain maturities is extremely limited. Call or write for

Chicago Rapid Transit Company

First and Refunding Mortgage Gold Bonds
6½% Series due 1944

Dated July 1, 1924 Due July 1, 1944

Interest payable without deduction for the Normal Federal Income Tax up to 2%. The Company agrees to reimburse to owners resident in the respective states, upon proper application, the following taxes hereafter paid in respect to First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds of the 6½% Series due 1944: the Four Mills Tax in Pennsylvania; any securities tax in Maryland not exceeding in the aggregate forty-five cents on each hundred dollars of assessed value in any year; and any personal property or exemption taxes in Connecticut not exceeding four-tenths of one per cent of the face amount in any year.

Issuance Authorized by the Illinois Commerce Commission

Mr. Samuel Insull, Chairman, furnishes the following information:

Chicago Rapid Transit Company owns and operates a unified and comprehensive system of elevated railroads in the second largest city in the United States. The Company's lines constitute the only rapid transit system, elevated or subway, in Chicago.

The First and Refunding Mortgage Gold Bonds, in the opinion of counsel, are secured by a first mortgage on the properties of the Company acquired from the South Side Elevated Railroad Company, one of the principal predecessors of Chicago Rapid Transit Company. The Bonds are secured also, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct mortgage on all other property owned by Chicago Rapid Transit Company, subject to the liens of existing divisional (closed) mortgages and equipment obligations. As additional security $4,100,000, principal amount, divisional mortgage bonds and equipment obligations are pledged with the Trustee under the First and Refunding Mortgage.

For the year ended November 30, 1925, Chicago Rapid Transit Company reported gross earnings of $19,124,429, and net earnings applicable to interest charges and reserves of $3,661,391. Annual interest on divisional mortgage bonds, equipment obligations and First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds outstanding with the public, including this issue, amounts to $2,389,910.

Bonds are offered for delivery when, as and if issued and received by us, and subject to approval of counsel. It is anticipated that definitive bonds will be ready for delivery on or about December 24, 1925.

A RECORD

THE business of this organization for the year 1925 exceeded one hundred and forty-nine million dollars.

We are told that this is the largest volume of business ever transacted by a one-office real estate firm in one year.

Proud as we are of this result, there is an even deeper sense of pride in what the amount represents —the confidence of those we serve.

And we hereby pledge ourselves to a continuance of the same dareful, conscientious effort which has marked our progress in the past.

Plant engineers and inspectors have been added to our Agency Division, thus further increasing the usefulness of this department which has grown 28% during the past year, and is almost 2¼ times greater than five years ago.

Such growth I cheerfully credit to an organization which I believe to be second to none for loyalty, efficiency and faithfulness.

First Mortgage Gold Bonds.
Collateral Gold Notes, 2-Yr. 6%,
Collateral Gold Notes, 3-Yr. 7%,
Secured Promissory Notes.

Notice is hereby given that the Plan and Agreement for the reorganization of The Kansas City Railways Company, dated June 1, 1295, has been declared operative by the undersigned Reorganization Committee.

The Public Service Commission of Missouri has, by order entered December 12, 1925, approved the proposed capitalization provided in said Plan and Agreement.

Approximately 94½% of the First Mortgage Gold Bonds, approximately 98¾% of the two-year six per cent Collateral Gold Notes, approximately 98¼% of the three-year seven per cent Collateral Gold Notes, and 100% of the Secured Promissory Notes, aggregating approximately 96% of all such securities of said Railways Company outstanding, have become subject to said Plan and Agreement.

The sale of the property of said Railways Company, in the receivership and foreclosure proceedings pending in the Federal Court, has been adjourned to January 4, 1926.

In order to enable those who have not as yet deposited their securities to become parties to said Plan and Agreement and to participate therein, the Reorganization Committee has authorized its Depositaries to accept deposits of such securities without penalty until the close of business on January 2, 1926.

Copies of the Plan and Agreement may be obtained from any of the Depositaries or from the Secretary of the Reorganization Committee.

Five-Year 6½% Gold Debentures

Dated December 31, 1925 Due January 1, 1931

Interest payable January 1st and July 1st. Redeemable as a whole or in part at the option of the Company on any interest date on sixty days' notice at 102 and interest up to and including December 30th, 1926, the premium decreasing ¼ of 1% for each succeeding six months period thereafter.

Interest to be payable at the Bankers Trust Company, New York, or in Baltimore at the office of the Trustee, without deduction for any Federal Income Tax, not exceeding 2% per annum. Refund of the Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Kansas and California taxes not to exceed four mills, Maryland four and one-half mills tax, Kentucky and District of Columbia five mills taxes, Michigan five mills exemption tax, Virginia five and one-half mills tax, and Massachusetts income tax not to exceed six per cent. to resident holders upon timely and proper application.

Coupon Debentures in denominations of $500 and $1,000. Debentures may be registered as to principal. Total authorized issue $3,000,000.

THE CENTURY TRUST COMPANY OF BALTIMORE, Trustee

For information regarding these Debentures, we refer to the letter of C. Wilbur Miller, the President of the Company, which he has summarized as follows:

BUSINESS: Originally established in 1832, consists of the manufacture and sale of Sulphuric Acid, Acid Phosphate and other heavy chemicals. These products are Staple Raw Materials for some of the chief industries of the country, including the making of Fertilizers, Refining of Copper, Manufacture of Dyestuffs, Bleaching, Refining of Petroleum, etc.

NET EARNINGS of The Davison Chemical Company available for interest and taxes before depreciation and surplus adjustments for the nine and one-half years ended June 30, 1925, have averaged about $823,000 annually or about four and one-quarter times interest requirements on these Debentures; for the past three and one-half years $654,000, and for the first six months of the year 1925 $215,859 or at the rate of $431,718, or about 2¼ times interest charges. On contracts already placed and the general outlook for the industry the management estimates that the earnings for the year 1926 will exceed $1,000,000.

SECURITY: These Debentures will constitute the sole funded debt of the Company and its subsidiaries (the Trustee of this issue will hold sufficient funds in cash for the retirement of $774,000 Davison Sulphur and Phosphate Company bonds, due March 1, 1927). There will also be pledged with the Trustee 10,000 shares, par value $100, Davison Sulphur and Phosphate Company capital stock (entire issue), and 184,650 shares, no par value, capital stock of the Silica Gel Corporation as security for this issue.

ASSETS: The total net assets as of July 31st, 1925, adjusted to include the proceeds from the sale of $3,000,000 Debentures, after deducting all liabilities including this issue, are over $20,000,000, or 6½ times these Debentures. On a recent appraisal by Messrs. Dwight P. Robinson & Company, Inc., Engineers, the land alone at Baltimore was valued at $3,000,000. The Company has no bank loans, and after giving effect to this financing, shows a ratio of current assets to current liabilities of approximately five to one.

EQUITY: The Company's outstanding capital stock, listed on the New York Stock Exchange at current quotations, represents an equity of over $9,000,000, ranking junior to these $3,000,000 Debentures.

RESTRICTIONS: While any of these Debentures are outstanding:

(A) No mortgage or lien can be placed on the property of the Company or its subsidiaries and no other notes or obligations may be issued or created except current borrowings made in the ordinary course of business.
(B) Net current assets must at all times be maintained of at least $1,500,000.
(C) In case of sale of any physical assets, moneys received from sale or sales of such assets shall be deposited with the Trustee for the redemption of Debentures, except in the case of the sale or sales of any floating equipment or machinery not in excess of $100,000.

AUDIT: Balance sheet and figures used therein have been verified by audit of Messrs. Haskins & Sells, Certified Public Accountants.

Legal proceedings in connection with this issue are being passed upon by Messrs. Hinkley, Hisky & Burger and Messrs. Knapp, Tucker & Thomas, Baltimore, Md., for the Bankers and Messrs. Venable, Baetjer & Howard, of Baltimore, Md., for the Company.

Pending receipt of definitive debentures, temporary debentures of the Company will be deliverable on or about January 7, 1926.

All offerings of debentures are made "When, as and if issued and received by us" and subject to approval of counsel.

Application will be made to list these Debentures on the New York Stock Exchange

THE COMPANY HAS NO FUNDED DEBT.

The President of the Company, Mr. Charles K. Ovington, has summarized his letter to the bankers, in reference to this issue as follows:

PURPOSE OF THIS ISSUE: The Company proposes, early in the Spring of 1926, to open a new store in Chicago at 212 North Michigan Boulevard, near the corner of Lake Street, equal in size and appointment to the Fifth Avenue, New York, store. This new store will occupy six floors and basement. The building now being constructed is specially designed for the home of Ovington Bro's Company and their unequalled collection of fine art goods selected in the choice markets of America, Europe and the Orient. The Chicago store is ideally situated and will more conveniently serve an established mid-western patronage consistently built up over three-quarters of a century for Ovington's high quality of merchandise.

NATURE OF THE BUSINESS: From a small inception Ovington's has grown to be one of the most distinctive stores in America. The Company carries a most comprehensive stock of china, crystal, silverware, lamps, shades, occasional furniture, mirrors, paintings, objects of art in porcelain, enamel, bronze, ormolu, leather and metal, collected by expert buyers in all parts of the world. The China and Crystal departments rank first in assortment and quality in this country. Large percentage of the goods sold is for gifts and many thousands of these gifts each year are sent to distant points in the United States from the New York store, which has become nationally known as The Gift Shop of Fifth Avenue.

HISTORY AND LOCATION: The business was established in Brooklyn in 1846 by Theodore T. Ovington and Edward J. Ovington with a capital of $1,000. From that modest beginning the business has continuously developed in prestige with customers from all sections of the United States for nearly eighty years. The business has been built up entirely out of reinvested earnings. In 1889 the business was removed to Fifth Avenue, New York. On June 18, 1921, the present store at 436 Fifth Avenue (corner 39th Street) was occupied. The present home occupies an entire building 50 feet on Fifth Avenue and 100 feet on West 39th Street, consisting of seven floors and basement. This location is considered the finest retail center in the City. It is in the heart of the hotel and retail shopping district, within a few minutes of the Public Library, Union League Club, New York Central Railroad and Pennsylvania Railroad Terminals. The Company also occupies a building at 550 West 36th Street, which is used as a warehouse, with a garage in the rear facing on West 35th Street.

The business is considered the largest of its kind in the world. The manner of displaying merchandise is distinctive of "Ovington's." Goods are displayed and grouped in an original manner according to classification and price. Price marks are openly displayed so that a customer may quickly and conveniently make selections whether it is a $5.00 or $1,000 gift. About 55% of the merchandise is purchased abroad, coming from England, Spain, France, Sweden, Switzerland, China, Japan, Germany, Czecho-Slovakia, Italy, Greece, Turkey and India. All sales are at retail, which includes an extensive mail order business. Losses from bad debts in three years are less than one-fifth of 1%. The Company carries on a consistent advertising programme, having expended for that purpose over $1,300,000 during the past five years, using principally the various Metropolitan papers, Fifth Avenue buses, theatre programmes—and distributes catalogues semi-annually to about 100,000 customers.

ASSETS: After giving effect to the new financing, and providing for 1924 Federal Taxes, the Company's balance sheet as of January 31, 1925, shows net tangible assets, exclusive of $210,000 Good Will, of $1,694,759, which is approximately $16.95 per share of outstanding Participating Preference Stock, and net quick assets of $1,392,103, or over $13.92 per share of such stock.

EARNINGS: Average net income, after Federal Taxes, for the three years ended December 31, 1925 (December, 1925, estimated) equalled $166,393. Income for the full year 1925 (December estimated) equals $233,397, or nearly 3 times Participating Preference Stock dividend requirements. With the Chicago store in full operation, it is expected that Sales and Net Income for the new store will within a reasonable period compare favorably with that now enjoyed by the New York store.

PARTICIPATING PROVISION: In any fiscal year after January 31, 1926, in which the Net Income (as defined in the certificate) shall be in excess of $225,000, the Participating Preference Stock, in addition to the Preferential dividend of $0.80 per share, shall be entitled to receive 20% of such excess as an additional dividend, payable on the 1st day of July next following the fiscal year ending January 31. The effect of this participation on the 100,000 shares of Participating Preference Stock to be presently outstanding at various amounts of annual Net Income would be as follows:

Net Income	Dividends on 100,000 Shares Participating Preference Stock
	Preference	Participating	Total
$225,000	$0.80	----	$0.80
300,000	0.80	$0.15	0.95
400,000	0.80	0.35	1.15
600,000	0.80	0.75	1.55

MANAGEMENT: The management will continue in the hands of the officers who have been responsible for the success of the business. The President, Charles K. Ovington, is the son of one of the founders, Theodore T. Ovington. The other officers have been with the Company from 16 to 36 years. In all, about 300 persons are employed.

Prior to this financing there has been outstanding 5,000 shares Preferred Stock, par value of $100.00, all of which is held by persons closely associated with the business. The old Preferred Stock will be exchanged for the new Participating Preference Stock.

It is expected that application will be made in due course to list the Participating Preference Stock on the New York Curb Market.

Legal proceedings in connection with the issue of the above stock will be approved by Hornblower, Miller & Garrison, New York.

We are offering the Participating Preference Stock for subscription, when, as and if issued and accepted by us and subject to approval of counsel.

Depositary Receipts

"SNIA VISCOSA"

(Societa Nazionale Industria Applicazioni Viscosa)

Deliveries under this offering will be made in the form of Depositary Receipts of The Chase National Bank of the City of New York representing fully paid shares of the capital stock of "Snia Viscosa" deposited under an agreement with The Chase National Bank of the City of New York, as Depositary.

Dividends will be payable in New York City to the registered holders of Depositary Receipts, by check in U. S. Dollars out of the proportionate amount realized by the Depositary from the exchange into Dollars, of the Lire dividends received.

CAPITALIZATION

5,000,000 shares (200 Lire par value)..... 1,000,000,000 Lire

(3,000,000 shares are fully paid, and the remaining 2,000,000 are paid to the extent of 70%, the other 30% being callable at the option of the Company at any time. The partly paid shares only rank for dividends, according to the sums paid up, from January 1, 1926 and are not entitled to any dividends in respect of the year 1925).

The Company has no bonded debt or preferred stock.

This offering represents no new financing by the Company, but is arranged to facilitate the development of an international market for the Company's shares.

The following information has been summarized by Mr. R. Gualino, Chairman of the Board of the Company, from his letter of December 17, 1925:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS: "Snia Viscosa" (Societa Nazionale Industria Applieazioni Viscosa), of Turin, Italy, is one of the three largest producers of artificial silk in the world. The Company was organized in 1917. In 1920 it began the production of artificial silk and other textile fibres, to which it now devotes itself exclusively. It is the dominating factor in the artificial silk industry in Italy, which country, it is estimated, will occupy second place among artificial silk producing countries, in 1925. The "Snia Viscosa" has three large factories at Pavia, Venaria Reale and Cesano Maderno, Italy, and a fourth large plant nearing completion at Turin.

After many years of costly experiment, the Company is producing on a large scale a new fibre called "Sniafil" (trade mark). This fibre, which has a beautiful and soft appearance and textile strength similar to wool, is now achieving the success it merits. The inquiries which the Company is receiving from the largest weavers and spinners, not only in Italy but in other countries, confirm the management's original opinion that this new fibre will be very important for the textile industry and earn for the Company large profits.

PRODUCTION: The remarkable growth of "Snia Viscosa" is most forcefully told in the record of production, which is as follow:

	Yearly Output Pounds	Maximum Daily Production End of December Pounds
1920	1,186,853	4,079
1922	3,703,100	13,007
1925 (partly estimated)	19,800,000	99,000

In October 1925, the Company had on its books unfilled orders in excess of 5,511,500 pounds. The output for the year 1924 was estimated to be approximately 8% of the world's production of artificial silk, and equal to 30% of the entire production in the United States in that year and for the year 1925 more than 11% of the world's production. About 70% of the Company's output is sold in foreign markets.

EARNINGS: The net earnings of the Company (after taxes, available for dividends), for the fiscal years 1923, 1924 and for the first nine months of 1925, were as follows (converted at current rate of exchange $.04 per Lira):

1925 (nine months)	4,490,000

Due to the Company's very conservative policy of ample depreciation and amortization charges, there has been reinvested in the business in the years 1923-1925, many millions of dollars annually.

The above earnings do not reflect any benefit from the 2,000,000 shares (70% paid) issued in 1925, the proceeds of which are being used to increase the Company's plant capacity.

DIVIDENDS: Dividends of approximately 64 cents a share were paid on the Capital Stock in 1923; 80 cents in 1924, and the management will recommend at the shareholders' meeting a dividend of 25 Lire, or approximately $1.00 per share in February, 1926, for the year ending December 31, 1925, which dividend will be payable on the shares now offered.

All conversions of Lire into Dollars have been made at current rate of exchange, approximately $.04 per Lira. All offerings of Depositary Receipts are made when, as and if issued and received and subject to approval of counsel. Interim Receipts of The Chase National Bank of the City of New York, in Bearer Form, exchangeable for Depositary Receipts when issued, will be delivered in the first instance. Payment for Receipts confirmed under this offering will be due in New York funds at the office of E. F. Hutton & Co., 61 Broadway, New York, N. Y., on Monday, December 28, 1925. The legal details in connection with the issue of Interim Receipts and Depositary Receipts, will be passed upon by Messrs. Hornblower, Miller & Garrison, New York.

Mr. W. G. Brorein, the President of the Company, summarizes as follows:

History, Business, Population Served: The Peninsular Telephone Company owns and operates, without competition, the central station telephone systems in Tampa, St. Petersburg and sixteen surrounding cities and towns, all of which are connected by toll and long distance lines of the Company. The toll and long distance lines also extend to eleven other nearby cities and towns of south Florida. Connections are made with the long distance lines of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company under favorable contract, thus affording nation-wide telephone service. The population served by the Company, including St. Petersburg, is over 340,000, showing an increase of over 74% since 1915. The franchises are satisfactory for the operation of the business.

Growth of Business: On December 31, 1914, the Company operated 9,422 telephones and on December 31, 1924, it operated 32,931 telephones, an increase of over 249% in 10 years. Over 7,000 telephones have been installed since December 31, 1924. In the 11 years ended December 31, 1924, the gross revenue increased 343% and the net income 295%.

Earnings for the 12 months ended October 31, 1925:

Gross Revenue	$1,507,005
Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Taxes	999,181 (a)
Net Income	$507,824 (b)
Annual Interest on $3,500,000 First Mortgage 5½% Bonds	192,500
Balance	$315,324

(a) Maintenance equals 28% of Gross Revenue. (b) 2.6 times interest on First Mortgage Bonds.

The earnings do not reflect any benefits from very substantial additions and extensions to the properties amounting in total to approximately $1,180,000, which until completed will not begin to earn. Furthermore over $525,000 invested in a new automatic telephone plant and system in St. Petersburg has only recently (November 14, 1925) been placed in service, so that the above earnings do not reflect the benefits which will be derived from this new plant and system.

Purpose of Issue: The proceeds of this issue will be used to satisfy the existing liens, including the existing first mortgages, under which $1,063,900 principal amount of bonds are outstanding, to pay current indebtedness incurred for additions and extensions to the property made during the year 1925, and will in addition thereto provide approximately $1,200,000 for future extensions and additions to the Company's telephone plant and system from which the Company should realize substantial increases in earnings.

Equity: The value of the Company's property is largely in excess of its First Mortgage Bonds, the equity being represented by Debentures, Preferred and Common Stock, the market value of which, based on present quotations, is in excess of $5,000,000.

The legal details in connection with this issue are subject to the approval of Messrs. Hawkins, Delafield & Longfellow, of New York City. The books and accounts have been audited regularly by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co.

The above bonds are offered, subject to issue as planned, and delivery will be in the form of Temporary Bonds, exchangeable for Definitive Bonds when ready.

New Offering

$2,500,000

Illinois Northern Utilities Company

First and Refunding Mortgage 5% Gold Bonds

Due April 1, 1957

Price 92½ and Interest, Yielding over 5.50%

Dated April 1 1912. Interest paid semi-annually April 1 and October 1 in Chicago without deduction for Federal Income Taxes now or hereafter deductible at the source, not in excess of 2%. Coupon bonds in $1,000 denomination registerable as to principal only. Redeemable as a whole or in part at 105 and accrued interest on any interest date upon 60 days' published notice.

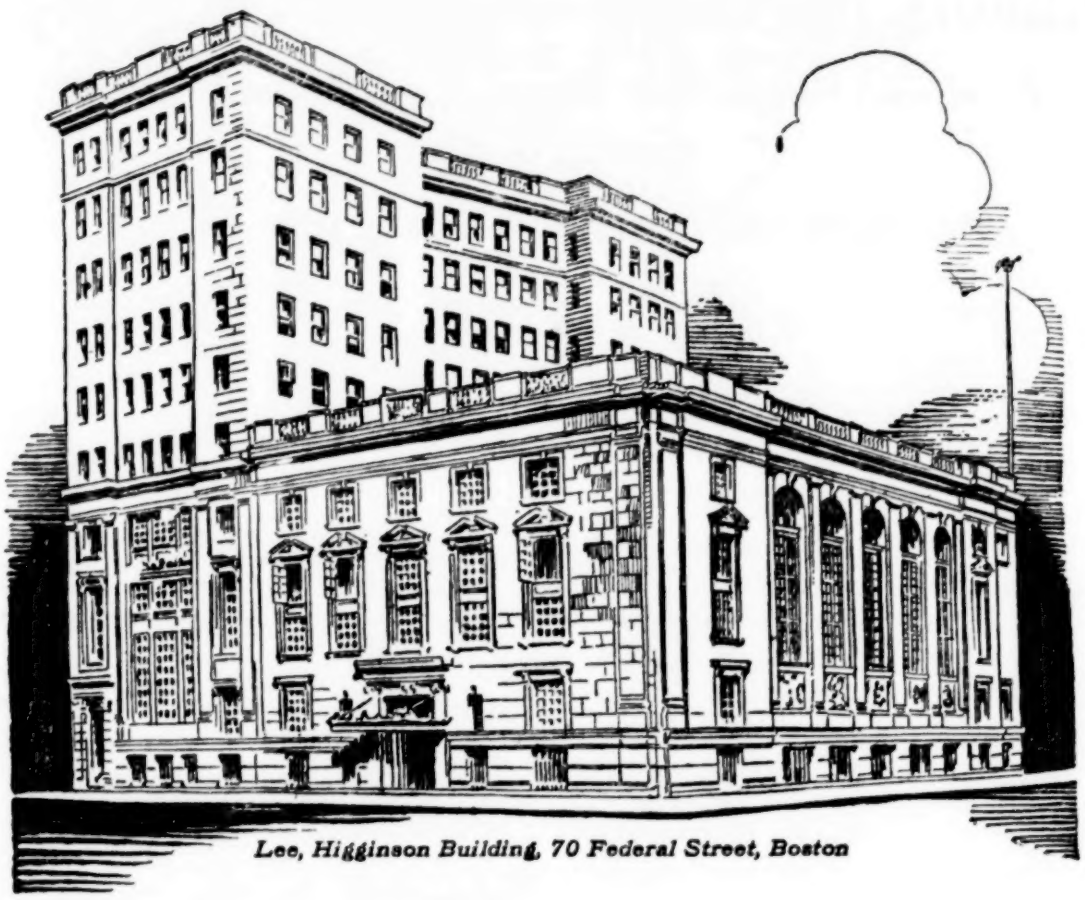
For detailed information regarding these Bonds, attention is directed to a letter of Mr. Martin J. Insull, President of the Company, from which the following is summarized:

The Company: The Illinois Northern Utilities Company was incorporated in Illinois in 1912 and in 1916 was consolidated with two other well established public utilities; it has acquired and now owns in fee all the properties formerly belonging to 34 separately operated companies and now serves 88 cities and towns in the western half of northern Illinois—84 with electric light and power, 9 with gas and 1 with heating service.

Security: The First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds are secured by a Mortgage covering as a direct lien all fixed property now owned or hereafter acquired by the Company. The Mortgage is a first lien on parts of the property of the Company now producing a large proportion of the earnings of the Company, and is a direct lien on the balance of the Company's fixed property subject only to the lien of $624,000 underlying divisional bonds.

Earnings: During the twelve months ended October 31, 1925, gross earnings including other income amounted to $2,760,167 and net earnings before depreciation to $1,146,127 as compared with annual interest requirements on the Company's total mortgage debt outstanding, including the present issue, of $374,300.

Management: The Illinois Northern Utilities Company is controlled by the Middle West Utilities Company of which Mr. Samuel Insull is Chairman. The officers and directors of the Middle West Utilities Company and the Illinois Northern Utilities Company are men of broad experience in the various branches of the public utility field. The Company is thus brought under the direction of men who have been notably successful in the operation and development of public utility properties.



A circular fully descriptive of this issue will be sent upon request.

The issuance and sale of these Bonds have been authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission

Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Trustee

A letter from Mr. O. P. Van Sweringen, Chairman of the Board, copies of which will be furnished upon request, is summarized by him as follows:

The Company, known as the "Nickel Plate," operates 1,695 miles of road, of which 1,673 miles are owned, extending from Buffalo to connections with the principal western and southwestern roads at Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis, and also reaching Indianapolis, Toledo and other important cities in the Middle West.

The Company owns a substantial interest in the common stocks of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company, whose owned and affiliated lines (including the Hocking Valley) comprise 2,900 miles of road, and of the Pere Marquette Railway Company, comprising 2,288 miles. Mutually advantageous traffic arrangements with these companies have been effected. The Company also owns half the capital stock of the Detroit & Toledo Shore Line Railroad Company, connecting Toledo with Detroit.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

These Series B Bonds were issued in connection with the refunding of $9,575,000 Toledo, St. Louis and Western Prior Lien Bonds which matured and were paid July 1, 1925.

SECURITY

The Refunding Mortgage Bonds are secured by direct mortgage lien on all the existing fixed railroad property and railroad equipment of the Company, including the 1,673 miles of road owned, subject to $59,234,000 underlying bonds (including $690,000 in treasury and $1,389,000 pledged under a note to the Government) and to outstanding equipment obligations. The underlying bonds, issued under mortgages now closed, amount to about $35,400 a mile and the total mortgage indebtedness, including this issue, is approximately $56,700 a mile.

In addition to their direct mortgage lien, the Refunding Mortgage Bonds are secured by pledge of $10,000,000 of a total of $16,500,000 Toledo, St. Louis and Western First Mortgage Bonds (the remaining $6,500,000 being included in the amount of underlying bonds stated above) which are secured by a first mortgage lien on the important line between Toledo and East St. Louis.

The Refunding Mortgage Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage on approximately 651 acres of land to be used for terminal development and other purposes. This land, situated for the most part in Chicago and Cleveland, cost more than $6,400,000.

EQUITY

There are outstanding approximately $25,865,666 Cumulative Preferred Stock and $30,406,464 Common Stock (including $113,165 liability for conversion of stocks of constituent companies still outstanding), which together, at present quoted prices, have an indicated market value of more than $75,000,000. Dividends at the rate of 6% per annum are being paid on both classes of stock.

EARNINGS

The following shows the growth in earning power of the properties comprising the present system:

Year Ended Dec. 31	Operating Revenues	Gross Income	Interest, Rentals, etc.	Net Income

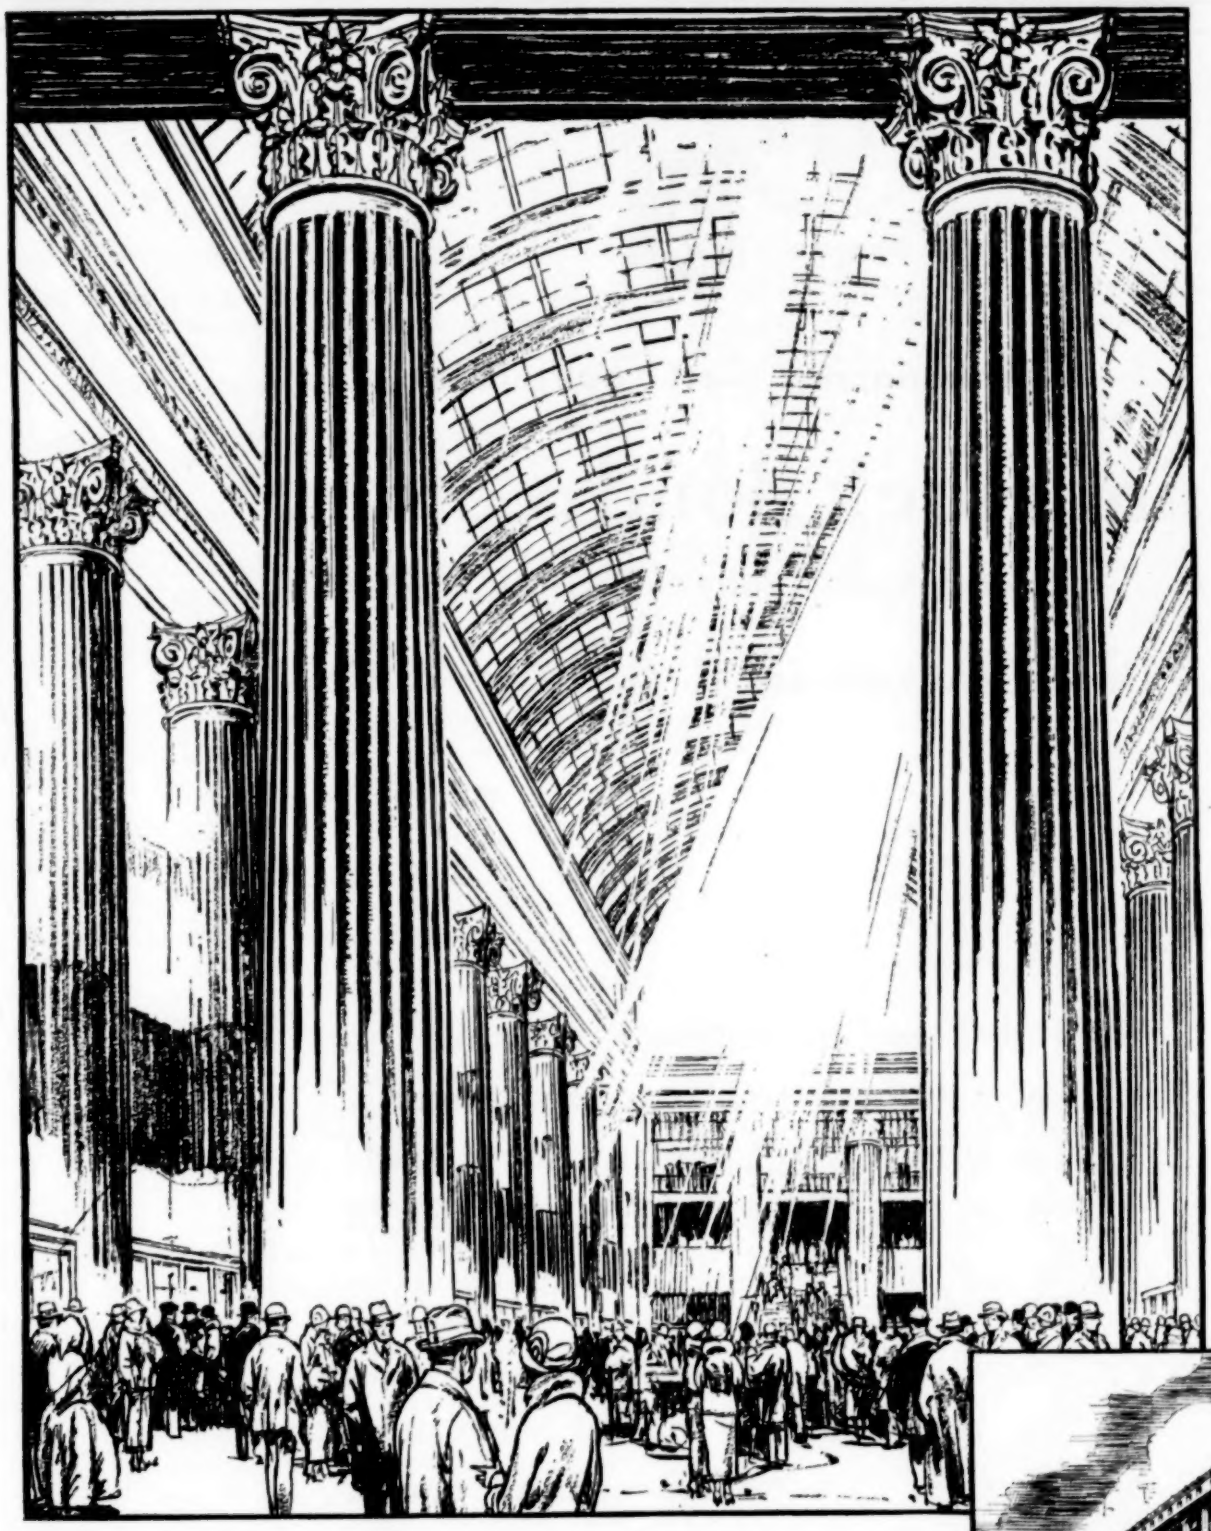
*Properties operated by U. S. R. R. Administration from January 1, 1918 to February 29, 1920.

Gross income for the 9 years ended December 31, 1924, averaged more than twice the average annual fixed charges for that period. For the 10 months ended October 31, 1925, gross income amounted to more than 2.18 times fixed charges for the period and to more than 2.12 times present charges after giving effect to this financing.

PROPOSED UNIFICATION

There is pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission a joint application of The New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company, The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, The Hocking Valley Railway Company, Erie Railroad Company, Pere Marquette Railway Company, and The New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company, for the last named company to acquire control of and operate the systems of the other companies named.

Series A Bonds are listed on the New York Stock Exchange and application will be made to list these Series B Bonds



99 and accrued interest, to yield 5.55%

All legal details have been passed upon by Messrs. Davis, Polk, Wardwell, Gardiner and Reed, of New York. It is expected that definitive Bonds will be ready for delivery on or about December 28, 1925.

Our State and Municipal Compendium.

A new number of our "State and City Compendium," revised to date, appears to-day, and all readers of the paper who are subscribers should receive a copy of it. As previously announced, this Supplement is now printed in two parts, Part One, containing the New England, the Middle and the Middle Western States, having been issued last June, while Part Two, embracing the rest of the country, appears to-day. The change is due to the fact that with the growth and multiplication of the municipalities of the United States the demand for additional space has become too heavy to satisfy within the limits of a single number.

The Financial Situation.

Security holders have had occasion for a joyous Christmas. The stock market has further advanced the present week, and quite a number of new high records have been established for the year, not only in the railroad list, but in the rest of the market. This has occurred notwithstanding that call money on the Stock Exchange has on several occasions advanced to 6%, showing plainly that high money rates are no deterrent to the speculation for higher prices, though they may be used to bring about downward reactions whenever the market gets in top-heavy condition.

Railroad stocks have continued strong, though with less pronounced forward movements than in preceding weeks. On the other hand, some new specialties in the general list have been brought forward and whirled upward with great rapidity. Superabundant credit lies at the bottom of the gigantic speculation in stocks which the world has been witnessing during the last two years, and there is nothing at the present time to indicate that this superabundance of credit is likely to be diminished in the immediate future. Of course, over and above this lies the activity and prosperity of trade, in no small measure engendered by the speculation in stocks and in real estate. Sooner or later the expansion in trade must come to an end, since there is a limit to home consumption, and our prices are too high on most lines of goods for the foreign markets. It is a time for prudence and caution in purchasing stocks at the present levels of values.

Cotton ginning returns continue to create surprises. Two months ago they induced the Department at Washington to make its first and most substantial raise in cotton estimates for the current year and evidently they are still an influence in the same direction. Ginnings to December 13 from the cotton crop of 1925, according to the Census Bureau report issued this week, are 14,826,452 bales, which is 952,768 bales in addition to the quantity ginned to Dec. 1. The average ginnings for each day, including Sundays, is 79,400 bales. During the same period in December 1924, when picking was late, especially in Texas, the average daily ginnings were only 47,200 bales. The increase this year is over 70%. The size of the crop this year would hardly account for this large difference. But picking was early this year as well as late.

In the leading States the ginnings have been very heavy, and in some of them the ginnings to Dec. 13 are in excess of the final estimate of yield, issued by the Department two weeks ago. This is true of South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama. In some other States the latest ginnings are so close up to the final estimate of yield for this year that it is probable the product for those States will also exceed this year's estimate of yield. The final estimate of yield in Georgia for this year was 1,150,000 bales and to Dec. 13 this year ginnings have been 1,180,926 bales, which is 30,000 bales ginned in excess of the estimated production. For South Carolina, where production was placed at 875,000 bales, ginnings to Dec. 13 are 34,860 bales in excess of that figure. These two States will add 65,000 bales to the final estimate of yield this year, the latter being 15,603,000 bales, and will put the 1925 cotton crop that much nearer the second largest crop on record, which was 15,693,000 bales. For Alabama the yield this year was estimated at 1,335,000 bales, and ginnings to Dec. 13 have been 1,336,891 bales. For North Carolina the estimate of yield for this year is 1,090,000 bales and ginnings to Dec. 13 1,085,534 bales. Oklahoma is also close to the estimate of yield, the latter being 1,550,000 bales, while ginnings so far amount to 1,516,925 bales. As to the last two or three States mentioned, ginnings will undoubtedly exceed the final estimate of production.

In the Southwest ginnings continue somewhat under the indicated production. For Texas, where the yield has been reduced to 4,100,000 bales this year, against a production of 4,951,060 bales in 1924, ginnings to Dec. 13 this year have been 3,870,656 bales, which is 94.4% of the estimate of yield. Up to Dec. 13 1924 ginnings in Texas had been 4,570,368 bales, or 92% of the final production. To reach this year's estimate of production in Texas 230,000 bales of cotton are yet to be ginned. If picking in Texas this year is to be as late and as heavy as it was a year ago, and 8% of the crop in Texas was still to be ginned after Dec. 13 1925, as was the case in December 1924, then nearly 310,000 bales await ginning in that State and the yield there is to be 4,180,000 bales. Arkansas reports ginnings of 1,347,969 bales, against an estimate of yield for this year of 1,530,000bales; for Mississippi ginnings to Dec. 13 are 1,708,298 bales, while the estimate of yield is 1,930,000 bales; for Louisiana this year's figures as to ginnings and yield are, respectively, 867,558 bales and 900,000 bales; Tennessee 451,611 bales and 490,000 bales, and Missouri 226,247 bales and 260,000 bales. Some of the States last mentioned show quite a marked difference between ginnings and yield. As to every State, however, excepting Texas, ginnings this year to Dec. 13 are larger than they were at the corresponding date of 1924. Some question is raised as to what the situation will be in the cotton belt in 1926, with an area to harvest as large or larger than that of this year, with conditions as good, or at least average, and with Texas up to the mark in yield.

The final estimate of the Department of Agriculture on the grain crops raised in the United States during the year just closing was issued at Washington on Tuesday of this week. The feature of the report was the reduction in the yield of corn, which in the final estimate is put at 2,900,581,000 bushels. This is 112,810,000 bushels less than was indicated in the estimate issued in November, a large difference to follow at the close of the season. It is explained that the difference is due to an over-estimate earlier in the year of the area planted to corn. There was a partial failure of the corn crop in 1924, but in 1923 the yield was in excess of 3,000,000,000 bushels, as it was in 1921 and 1920. The final estimate for winter wheat this year is placed by the Department at 398,486,000 bushels, against 590,037,000 bushels in 1924. Spring wheat this year yielded 270,879,000 bushels, against 282,636,00 bushels last year. The yield of oats this year is placed at 1,501,909,000 bushels in contrast with 1,541,900,000 bushels in 1924. Quite a falling off appears as to these four leading crops in 1925. The estimate for barley this year is finally reduced from the November report to 218,002,000 bushels, while the rye crop from this year's harvest is 48,696,000 bushels, against 51,968,000 bushels harvested in 1924. The production of white potatoes in the final estimate of yield for this year is given as 323,243,000 bushels, which is considerably below last year.

Fall planting of winter wheat and rye does not promise as well for the crop put in during the current season as could be wished, in view of the reduced yield from the planting of 1924. The Government report on winter wheat issued on Thursday of this week estimates the area planted during the fall this year at 39,540,000 acres, against 42,317,000 acres, the estimate made in December 1924, for the winter wheat crop of that year. The revised figures for 1924, however, were for only 39,956,000 acres. In the early fall of this year dry weather interfered with plowing, and later there was too much moisture. As to rye, the area planted this year also shows a reduction, being now placed at 3,426,000 acres, in contrast with 4,088,000 acres estimated for the crop planted in 1924. The condition of the winter wheat crop for this fall is now placed by the Government at 82.7% of normal, and contrasts with 81.0%, the estimate of December 1924. For rye the condition in December this year is estimated at 83.8% or normal; a year ago in December the condition was placed at 87.3%. Only two of the important winter wheat States show an increase in area this year as compared with a year ago, Kansas with 11,492,000 acres, against 10,740,000 acres planted in 1924, and Oklahoma, with 4,748,000 acres this year, against 4,479,000 acres last year. For Illinois and Indiana the loss in area this year is 11%; Ohio 6%; Missouri 28%; Oregon 8%, and Washington 23%. The area planted in Nebraska is 3,047,000 acres, about 1% less than in 1924. The winter damage to winter wheat has ranged from 1.9% to 28.9% during the past ten years, an average of 10.9% each year of the acreage seeded.

Reports received from Paris at the close of last week relative to the loans that the French Government was said to be seeking were conflicting. It developed that the real proposal was for a loan that would be secured by the products of French industry. It was stated in a special Paris dispatch to the New York "Times" on Dec. 18 that "national officials of the General Confederation of Manufacturers in France took steps to-day to convoke in Paris a conference of representatives of French industries from all parts of the country to act on the proposal from business leaders of the North that French industry as a whole should pawn its total assets for a loan of 10,000,000,000 francs (about $400,000,000), which would be placed at the disposal of the French Treasury and thus render unnecessary further heavy increases in taxation just now." It was added that "leaders in the movement estimate the value of the properties to be pledged at 100,000,000,000 francs. Naturally enough, it is planned to obtain most of this money from the United States. French industrialists believe this plan will prevent inflation and consequent further disturbances in French industry. Those at the head of the movement express confidence that the whole of French industry will join in. To give immediate evidence of their good faith, the industrialists of the North have offered to begin immediately their contribution to the extent of negotiating mortgages in France to take from the Treasury the burden of paying some 3,000,000,000 francs' worth of Government securities which mature in the near future." By way of comment, the "Times" representative said: "The proposal is interesting because it brings to light the fact that while the French Government is 'broke' the country is fairly wealthy. In their talks with President Doumergue, Premier Briand and Finance Minister Doumer, the industrial leaders of Lille said the industries which should take part in the nation's financial recovery do an annual business of more than one hundred billion francs, and they would be willing to allocate 10% of their profits to an interest sinking fund for the proposed loan."

The reported proposals were outlined quite differently in some respects by the Paris representative of the New York "Herald Tribune." He said in part: "A campaign for saving and stabilizing the national currency was begun to-day by industrial enterprises in northern France, combining the textile trust, spread out between Lille, Roubaix and Turcoing, and mining, metallurgy and chemical works flanking the Belgian border, with combined property values of perhaps $2,000,000,000. Representatives of these great industrial units laid two plans before Paul Doumer, Finance Minister. One offered 10% of their annual turnover as a guarantee for a new American loan. The other was an immediate pledge to meet maturing Government bond obligations up to the sum of 3,000,000,000 francs. The 'Herald Tribune' is informed to-night that the Finance and Commerce Ministries are studying these plans, and the industrialists on the other hand are sounding out large industrial interests in other parts of France on their joining in the endeavor to prevent the franc emulating the German mark of several years ago."

In a cable dispatch dated Dec. 19, the Paris representative of th Associated Press further outlined the latest developments in the situation in part as follows: "The proposal of the industrial leaders of Northern France to pledge their properties as security for a loan from the United States or elsewhere for the purpose of stabilizing the franc and providing a sinking fund for the country's debts, has given a new trend to the discussion of how to reestablish French finances. Manufacturers and business men in all parts of France approve of the scheme and declare that everybody must join hands to put into effect this first practical suggestion to restore confidence and the currency. The Cabinet took the plan under consideration this evening, receiving it favorably, an outline of it was made known to the General Federation of French Producers, which decided to appoint a commission to study it on behalf of all business and industrial interests in France. It thus becomes the project of French business in general, which removes the objection that it was a regional proposal. Only a few Socialists and extreme radicals throw cold water on the plan; they contend that it shows a tendency on the part of the economic interests to interfere in politics."

Two days later the Paris representative of "The Sun" cabled that "the first fine flush of enthusiasm aroused by the proposal of the Northern industrialists is giving way to suspicious criticism. Three burghers of Roubaix now are variously accused of playing into the hands of the Socialists, the Fascists and the Bourse speculators, and while the Chambers of Commerce guardedly approve the big industrial and commercial federations, they point out that the scheme would require the most careful examination in its big political and economic aspects." He added that "Gaston Jeze, Professor of Finance, who is the financial high priest of the radicals, declares that the offer can be useful only if the personal credit of France has fallen so low that Americans would be willing to lend only if the loan is guaranteed by the industrialists. Even supposing that such a loan is possible, he says, it cannot solve the whole financial problem. The French themselves must first make the necessary sacrifices toward balancing the budget. If the loans are simply used by the politicians as a means of postponing the inevitable call upon the taxpayer it will only aggravate the situation. A floating external debt will simply have taken the place of a floating internal debt."

On the other hand, it was claimed in a special Paris cablegram to the New York "Times" at about the same time, that "the Socialist groups in the Chamber have been quick to seize upon the offer of the industrialists of the North of France to place their combined holdings at the disposition of the Government for a huge loan as a practical admission that a capital levy is the only way out of the nation's present financial difficulties. In a long statement issued to-day incidental to a resolution asking the Government immediately to accept the offer, the Socialists say that the Northern manufacturers' proposals in effect amount to the same thing as a levy on capital, since they call on the whole of productive France to join with them to save French credit. The Socialists read much that pleases them into the offer and furthermore take occasion to point out the very favorable effect which the simple announcement of the offer had upon foreign exchange."

In a cable message on Dec. 22 the Paris correspondent of the New York "Herald Tribune" said: "The proposal by the industrial leaders of Northern France either to guarantee a foreign loan of 10,000,000,000 francs with a percentage of their turnover, or to make a direct contribution of 3,000,000,000 francs to the Government in the form of a sinking fund for the internal bonds, has been reduced to the first proposition. The Socialist maneuver yesterday, calling on the Government to accept this offer conditioned upon its application to every industry in France, brings it into politics and kills it at once because one of the greatest industrial areas in the country—Alsace-Lorraine and its metallurgical interests—is against such a proposition. Regarding the proposal of the industrialists to guarantee a loan, the technical loan division of the Foreign Office has advised Premier Briand that there is no possibility of such a loan from the United States before France's war debt to America is settled. Victor Henry Berenger, the New French Ambassador, will not arrive in the United States before the middle of January, and the effect of the industrial proposal has, therefore, lost its significance for some time to come."

It was made clear in Paris cable advices early in the week that Finance Minister Doumer of France was having a difficult time in working out a plan to meet even the immediate financial requirements of his Government. In a special Paris cable dispatch to the New York "Times" on Dec. 20 it was stated that "Finance Minister Doumer's proposals for meeting the financial necessities of the country during the next year seem not unlikely to prove too modest for just the same people who found M. Loucheur's proposals too excessive." The correspondent also said that "the whole of M. Doumer's scheme is not yet known, but in outline he proposes to meet the budgetary deficit, which is estimated at 4,500,000,000 francs, by using the 3,000,000,000 taxation which M. Loucheur obtained as a counterpart to his inflation measure during his brief Ministry by increasing the turnover tax and applying it to exports; by increasing the price of tobacco and by enlarging the scale of operation of the income tax. This is the view of the Socialists and of part of the Radical Party. These elements are, however, exactly the same as opposed M. Loucheur's proposals to meet the budgetary deficit by imposing 6,000,000,000 of new taxation in addition to the 3,000,000,000 which had already been voted. The criticism which is being directed against this proposal is that the Loucheur measure was "clearly voted by Parliament as an offset to the increase in circulation and Bank of France loans to the State and should not therefore be applied to ordinary budgetary purposes."

It became known here through an Associated Press cablegram that the next day (Dec. 21) "the Finance Minister introduced a bill in the Chamber of Deputies calling for provisional credits to carry on the country's business for January." The correspondent asserted that "this is tantamount to an admission that the 1926 budget cannot possibly be voted before the end of the year." Continuing, he said: "Minister Doumer's first care is to balance the budget. He intends to do this, it is asserted, by the yield from the special taxation voted Dec. 4 by increasing the price of tobacco, by applying the business turnover tax to goods sold for export, which hitherto have been exempt, and by increasing the rate of the same tax on sales at home, except in the case of necessities of life, such as bread, meat and other foodstuffs. These measures will be embodied in a bill which M. Doumer will submit to the Cabinet. If it is approved by the Ministers it will be introduced in the Chamber of Deputies and the Government will stake its existence on a favorable vote upon it."

Obviously the position of the Finance Minister in the presentation of any plan was made the more difficult by the budgetary situation. In an Associated Press cable message from Paris on Dec. 19 it was stated that the Minister had told the Chamber of Deputies earlier in the day that "France's budget shows a deficit of 1,500,000,000 francs ($60,000,000), despite the 4,000,000,000 francs in new taxes voted on Dec. 4." It was explained that "these figures, the Finance Minister added, do not take into account several chapters in the Pensions and Postal Departments' budgets."

Commenting upon the probability of important financial legislation being enacted by the French Parliament before the end of the year the Paris representative of the New York "Times" said in a dispatch on Dec. 22 that "no new fiscal measures will be voted before the end of the year. With only one more week to go before Parliament adjourns for the traditional New Year's holidays, the plans of Finance Minister Doumer remain entangled in the meshes of Chamber politics, which come down to a contest between Socialist and anti-Socialist economic theories. It is this same contest which has given France six Finance Ministers in almost as many months." He also declared that "M. Caillaux fell because he would not yield to the Socialists; M. Painleve fell because he did. There you have the picture of the situation caused by the split-up of the French Chamber into parties which are torn between the desire to hold their political tenets and the fears of bringing disaster on their country. In the meanwhile Paris has a Finance Minister who would like to proceed on a basis that will save the fiscal situation, but who is forced to work on the basis of what will pass the Chamber." As to the plans of the Finance Minister he said: "M. Doumer's finance plans were supposed to be ready for approval by the Cabinet to-day, but that approval was not forthcoming. The reason was that Premier Briand is not yet sure of a favorable vote in the Chamber and he honestly fears the result of a Governmental failure this time. Giving up his ornate plans for a general reorganization of the fiscal system M. Doumer has been proceeding on the idea that the best way is to disturb the country as little as possible, to seek to balance the budget and leave the situation to better itself."

Premier Briand has had a difficult time in trying to keep his Cabinet together and to secure support for its policies in the Chamber of Deputies. The Opposition failed, however, in its efforts on the Syrian question. In a special Paris cable dispatch to the New York "Times" on Dec. 20 it was claimed that "Premier Briand's personality was alone responsible for the victory won by the Government today in the long Chamber debate on the Syrian question." Continuing his account of the session, the correspondent said in part: "After sitting throughout the morning, afternoon and late into the night, the session ended with a series of votes favoring the Government's new Syrian policy, taken mostly by the lifting of hands. Confidence in the Cabinet was adopted by 300 votes to 29, the Socialists and part of the Right abstaining from voting. The Syrian trouble was one of the worst inherited by M. Briand when he took the Premiership and both extremes of the Chamber attempted to keep the discussion centred on the conduct of General Sarrail as High Commissioner of the mandated territory. While attention was focused on scores of distressing facts and conflicting evidence as to the cause of the Syrian revolt, the discussion was dramatic to the extreme, and Minister of War Painleve, who had been Premier during the greater part of the insurrection, gathered up his documents in anger and prepared to leave the Chamber when the debate was hottest. His friends prevented him from doing so. In his successful effort to bring the Chamber out of the past and into the present and future, M. Briand made three of the finest speeches of his career, and the votes taken can be interpreted only as confidence in his peaceful intentions and trust in his methods of attaining such ends. The Premier had stern criticism to offer against the appointment of Generals to Gubernatorial posts, but told the Deputies that the Chamber was not intended to be the place where the praise or blame of Generals was automatically distributed, thus ending that part of the debate which referred to the past administration of Syria."

It was stated in an Associated Press dispatch from Paris Thursday evening that "Finance Minister Doumer still hopes to reach an agreement with his colleagues regarding the measures for financial restoration at the Cabinet meeting to-morrow morning." According to the dispatch also, "in any case, he has decided to introduce the bills in Parliament Saturday [to-day] to mark the date. If the Ministers agree on the measures to-morrow the texts will be filed, otherwise the bills will be filed in blank and the Government will continue its efforts to find a satisfactory formula between the close of the 1925 extraordinary session and the opening of the 1926 ordinary session."

The British House of Commons, on Monday evening, Dec. 21, approved "the award of the League of Nations regarding the Irak boundary dispute." The vote was 239 to 4. The dramatic feature of the afternoon session preceding was the walking out of the members of the Labor Party. In his account, the London representative of the New York "Times" said: "Not only did Mr. Baldwin make an eloquent plea for the Government's policy, but Colonial Secretary Amery, who was most active in Geneva in pushing through British acceptance of the League's award, also spoke in defense of his actions. He declared amdi cheers by the Government partisans that the Government would 'find its way out of its present difficulties and create a permanent and lasting peace in the Near East.'" He added: "The solemn march of the Laborites from the august hall of Parliament, headed by two of their leaders, J. R. Clynes and J. H. Thomas, lent to the afternoon's proceedings a touch of the dramatic and likewise of the humorous. It was marked by jeers and laughs from the Ministerial bench and from the ranks of pro-Government members, interspersed with cheers from those supporting the sudden move of the Labor irreconcilables. The immediate result of their action is that the adjournment of the House for the holidays, instead of coming early to-morrow, will be delayed at least several hours." The correspondent also said: "Incidentally, Premier Baldwin made the important announcement, in defending his motion asking approval for the Government's action regarding Irak, that he had invited the Turkish Ambassador here to meet him to-morrow and discuss the Irak and Mosul question. The protest of the Labor members was made despite a declaration by Mr. Baldwin that the House would have an opportunity when it meets again in February to discuss for an entire day the new treaty which the Government proposes to make with Irak as a result of the League's decision, and to accept or reject the treaty accordingly as it sees fit."

The New York "Herald Tribune" representative said that "to-day was the second time within a year that the Laborites have walked out of the House. On March 5 former Premier Ramsay MacDonald led out his party in protest against the suspension of David Kirkwood. The demonstration may be considered as a beginning of the 'gingering up' tactics which the Left wing got the party to agree to last week, and probably forecasts what is to come when Parliament reassembles in February." The London representative of the New York "Evening Post" declared in a dispatch on Dec. 22 that "the Government's acceptance of a mandate over Irak and the League's award of the Mosul boundary have received the approval of the House of Commons, but the victory rests uncomfortably upon the Administration." According to a special London cablegram to "The Sun" the same afternoon, the decision of Prime Minister Baldwin to immediately open negotiations with Turkey in an attempt to find an amicable solution of Anglo-Turkish difficulties over the Mosul issue relieves Parliament of some of its anxieties over the question on the day it is prorogued until February." Continuing, the correspondent said: "Distasteful as an extended mandate for Irak may be for many of the members on the Government benches as well as many more in the Opposition, there is common approval of this action of the Prime Minister and very considerable relief that he himself, and not Colonial Secretary Amery, has undertaken to inaugurate Anglo-Turkish discussions through the Turkish Ambassador in London. The Government's decision to take the initiative shows its concern over the possible consequences of delay. It also indicates that the question of amour propre must be now a matter of secondary consideration. To leave the question in the air for weeks to come might afford extremists in Turkey opportunity to exert an influence upon the Angora Government which might very seriously affect the situation and the prospects of a broad basis of understanding, which the British are now so anxious to establish with the Turkish Government. If such a new peace basis with Turkey can be established it is felt here that the way may be opened to a new era in middle Eastern affairs which at the present time are a source of as much trouble, particularly to Great Britain and France, as the Balkans were to Europe as a whole before the war."

Washington dispatches, early in the week, indicated that President Coolidge would act with characteristic deliberateness in preparing to send representatives to the sessions of the commission that is to arrange a disarmament conference under the auspices of the League of Nations. It was reported, however, on Dec. 21, that the President had no intention of sending "unofficial observers," but that he was "inclined" to have the United States represented. In a special Washington dispatch to the New York "Times" on the evening of Dec. 22 it was stated that "informally and orally, but authoritatively, the White House made known to-day that the intention of the President was to accept the invitation of the League of Nations to participate in the preliminary meeting at Geneva of the representatives of eighteen Governments, called for Feb. 15 1925, to make preparations for holding an international disarmament conference under the auspices of the League." It was added that "decision as to the character of the response to be made to the invitation has not been reached and there are other details to be determined, such as to whether it is necessary to request Congress to appropriate funds for the expenses of the American delegation at the preliminary meeting, but all the indications are that a favorable answer will be made to the invitation shortly after the reassembling of Congress, which took a Christmas recess to-day until Jan. 4." Continuing to outline the situation and particularly the President's attitude, the "Times" correspondent said: "What the Government was trying to do, it was explained at the White House, was to see what method could best be pursued to work out a way to accept the League's invitation that would be of an affirmative and constructive nature. Although three resolutions to give Congressional sanctions to American participation in the League's preparatory meeting were offered in Congress to-day—one in the Senate and two in the House—circumstances may cause the President and his advisers to conclude that legislative approval is not essential to the acceptance of the League's invitation. Informal inquiries made by Secretary Kellogg and other Administration officials have produced the impression that even bitter enemies of the League among Senators and Representatives are not disposed to stand in the way of full and free participation in the Geneva meeting, and in view of this the Administration is inclined to believe that no Congressional action will be required unless it finds that current contingent funds are not sufficient for the expenses of the American delegation. The situation has developed so auspiciously that a considerable number of those Senators and Representatives who want the United States to avoid any relationship whatever with the League are impressed with the President's view that the opportunity presented of furthering world peace through disarmament should not be discarded, no matter what prejudice may exist in this country with respect to the League itself. That state of the irreconcilable mind suggests that formal authorization from Congress need not be asked."

The Associated Press representative at the national capital suggested in a dispatch, also on Dec. 21, that "as the first meeting of the preliminary conference will not be held until Feb. 15, there will be plenty of time for Congress to make the necessary appropriations after Congress reassembles in January. It is probable this first meeting will be merely for purposes of organization and it may not be important for the American delegates to be present. The American delegates probably will be diplomatic representatives of this country in Europe, who will not have to go far to the meeting. Not so much time will be needed as if representatives were sent from here to Geneva. The presumption is that Ambassador Houghton at London, Ambassador Herrick at Paris and Hugh Gibson, the American Minister to Switzerland, will be the delegates. These men, or whoever else may be selected, will go to Geneva as official representatives of the United States. The day of the unofficial observer, invented by Secretary Hughes, is over. The idea of an unofficial representative at a disarmament conference has not been considered for a moment."

More definite news regarding this situation appeared in Washington dispatches Wednesday evening. The New York "Times" representative said that "obstacles to formal acceptance of the League of Nation's invitation to the United States Government to participate officially in the preliminary meeting at Geneva in February to arrange for the League's disarmament conference have apparently been swept away, for it became known to-day, after conferences between President Coolidge and Senators Borah, Moses and Lenroot, that Hugh S. Gibson, the American Minister at Berne, would represent this country in the preliminaries. At the invitation of the President, Senator Borah, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and a conspicuous enemy of the League; Senator Moses, another bitter antagonist of the League, and Senator Lenroot, a mild reservationist, went to the White House at different times and later, it was stated, a complete agreement was reached concerning the scope and character of the American participation. It was obvious that Mr. Gibson, the resident Minister at Berne, would be one of those to represent the United States, being not only on the scene but long acquainted with European politics and skilled in State Department procedure. Speculation as to who else would act with him was rife in Washington to-day, some suggestions being that Elihu Root, Colonel Edward M. House and Charles E. Hughes, all of whom have lately talked with Mr. Coolidge, would be other representatives at the Geneva meeting."

Even more specific statements were made in a special dispatch to the New York "Herald Tribune." It was claimed that "complete accord exists to-night between President Coolidge and Congress as to American participation in the preliminary conference on disarmament to which this country has been invited by the League of Nations. Even such irreconcilable Senators as Borah and Moses, after talks today at the White House, let it be known they would support an appropriation for this purpose. The President won the irreconcilables by his pledges as to restrictions which this Government would impose on the disarmament conference in the event it is decided, after the preliminary meeting, that the United States desires to enter the conference." It was explained that "these restrictions, as outlined by the President in conversations with Senators and also with former Secretary of State Elihu Root and Secretary Kellogg, who were at the White House for luncheon, include: 1. That it is understood in advance that land disarmament is primarily a European question. 2. That this country must not be involved in any security agreements arising from the conference following reductions of land armaments and must not be obligated, therefore, to use force in the event of the violation of any such agreements. 3. That this country must not be involved in any agreement the enforcement of which rests upon the League of Nations." Continuing, the correspondent said: "These three restrictions carry with them, it was pointed out to-night, not only the assurance that the United States will assume no obligation under any contingency contemplated by the conference to use force, but also satisfies the objections of the irreconcilable Senators by making it clear that although the United States is willing to enter a conference, on certain conditions, which is called by and held under the auspices of the League of Nations, this must not be assumed to include approval of the League or any pledge of co-operation with it by the United States." According to the dispatch also, "no formal announcement will be made, it was said at the State Department, until after the holidays, as Secretary Kellogg departed for St. Paul late to-day and it is not expected that any such move would be made in his absence."

In a dispatch Thursday evening the Washington representative of "The Sun" made the following positive assertion: "No formal delegation will be sent by the United States to Geneva to take part in the conferences, but the work will be left to Hugh S. Gibson, Minister to Switzerland, and such other assistants as the State Department may assign to him. It is probable that military and naval attaches in the European capitals and probably officers of the General Staff of the army and of the General Board of the navy will be sent from Washington and Newport. It is the understanding, despite reports to the contrary, that the President will not ask Congress for an appropriation to cover the expense of American participation in the preliminary conference, but that the necessary expenses will be paid from the contingent funds of the State Department and the executive department, though a deficit may be covered by a later appropriation by Congress."

Assurance apparently exists that there will be no serious trouble between Soviet Russia and Turkey during the next three years. At any rate, it became known on Dec. 22 that the two countries had entered into an agreement for that length of time. In an Associated Press dispatch from Moscow on that date it was stated that "Russia has concluded a three-year guarantee compact with Turkey. It stipulates: First, neither country shall attack the other; second, in the event of military or naval action against either party by one or several countries, the other party agrees to remain neutral; third, neither party shall participate in any union or agreement of a political, economic or financial nature by one or several other Powers directed against either contracting party. The agreement, which was signed at Paris, Dec. 17, by M. Tchitcherin, the Soviet Foreign Minister, and Tewfik Rushdi Bey, the Turkish Foreign Minister, becomes effective immediately upon its ratification by the legislative bodies of the two countries. 'The interests of both parties require a definite expression of terms tending to strengthen the exceptional friendship uniting them,' says the agreement. Attached to the agreement are three protocols, the first of which gives each country freedom of action in its relations of all kinds with other Powers, 'outside the limits of the obligations stipulated by the present treaty.' The second protocol stipulates that the expression 'political, economic or financial nature,' mentioned in the third clause of the treaty, shall comprise all financial and economic agreements between any countries directed against either of the contracting parties. Under the third protocol Russia and Turkey agree to undertake parleys to determine a method of regulating differences likely to arise between them which are not susceptible of adjustment in the usuat diplomatic manner."

Supplementing the report on the results of the Dawes plan with respect to Germany for the first year that it was in effect, that he issued just before leaving Berlin, and which was outlined at some length in the "Chronicle," S. Parker Gilbert, Agent-General for Reparations, issued a formal statement on his arrival in New York on Monday on the steamship "Leviathan" for "two or three weeks to spend the holidays." He declared that "the plan has already succeeded in placing the whole problem of reparations on a new basis. It has put aside bickerings and speculations and provided for the test of actual experience. The world has been able, for the first time in many years, to stop talking about reparations." Continuing, he said in part: "The experts' plan has now been in operation for over fifteen months, and I have tried to summarize its results up to this time in the report that was made public about a week ago. The plan itself is functioning smoothly and in an orderly way. The two preliminary objects for which the experts were originally appointed have been attained. Germany now has a stable currency and the German budget is balanced. These were the essential conditions of German economic recovery, as well as of reparations payments. The budget, in fact, has thus far shown a considerable surplus, even in the face of mounting expenditure. For the time being it has given the German Government, to an exceptional degree, the problem of wise administration of its public funds, and in the long run the more fundamental problem of better adaptation of the public revenues to essential expenditures. In the field of reparations payments the plan has also had notable results. The first annuity of 1,000 million gold marks was all paid within the year, four-fifths out of the proceeds of the German external loan and the balance by the German Railway Co. in the form of interest on its reparations bonds. In the second annuity year, over three months of which have now elapsed, the amount to be paid rises to 1,220,000,000 gold marks, and involved for the first time a charge on the German budget. These payments Germany is making each month with the utmost promptitude, at the same time she has co-operated helpfully in making arrangements for future payments that will facilitate the even flow of deliveries and payments to the creditor countries. The various creditor Powers, on their part, have been receiving reparations deliveries and payments regularly and in accordance with expectations ever since the plan went into effect. From the point of view of German reconstruction, the plan has certainly marked the turning point in the recovery from the disorder and disorganization of the inflation. The first year was regarded by the experts themselves as giving an opportunity for economic rehabilitation, and it accordingly placed no burden for reparations on the German budget and but little on the German economy. It has been more than anything a period of gradual readjustment and rebuilding. Much progress has been made, but the readjustment is still actively in process and many difficulties remain to be overcome. German business and industry are still greatly in need of working capital, and in many fields face serious problems of reorganization. In some directions this has produced conditions approaching crisis, but generally speaking the present difficulties must be regarded as the inevitable accompaniments of deflation and of the return to stable conditions, and in that sense as necessary phases of the recovery itself."

No legislation, disturbing or otherwise, will be enacted by the British Parliament until well after the Christmas holidays at the earliest. With the development in recent years of so many radical political elements in legislative bodies the people of every important country have come to feel at much greater ease when they are not in session. London cable dispatches on Dec. 22 stated that "Parliament adjourned this afternoon. It will not reassemble until Feb. 2. The adjournment of the House of Commons came shortly before 4 o'clock, having been scarcely delayed at all by yesterday's obstructionist tactics of the Opposition. The House of Lords adjourned after listening, according to custom, to the reading of the King's speech from the throne. The speech was then communicated to the House of Commons by the Speaker. After that Prime Minister Baldwin and the members of his Cabinet filed out of the Chamber, past the Speaker, who shook hands with each in turn. To-night the scattering of the members of Parliament to the four points of the compass has already begun. In fact, some of the most eminent did not wait until adjournment to turn their backs on the English fog, rain and cold. Mr. Lloyd George has been basking for several days in Italian sunshine, and Ramsay MacDonald has covered the first lap of his long journey to Ceylon. The King's speech summarized the leading events of the past few weeks, expressing special satisfaction at the signing of the Locarno treaty in London on Dec. 1." The New York "Herald Tribune" representative added that "the King's speech made a laudatory reference to the Locarno treaties, expressed gratification at the settlement of the Irish boundary, touched on the housing legislation thus far enacted and mentioned the work of the coal commission. Political observers, reviewing the work of the winter session, find that little was accomplished on the legislative side. For the most part, the Government seemed content to bask in the reflected light of Sir Austen Chamberlain's success at Locarno."

Official bank rates at leading European centres continue to be quoted at 9% in Berlin; 7% in Italy and Belgium; 6% in Paris; 5½% in Denmark; 5% in London, Madrid and Norway; 4½% in Sweden and 3½% in Holland and Switzerland. Open market discounts in London continue to advance and the present week touched new high records on the present upswing; short bills finished the week at 4⅞@5⅛%, against 4⅞@5%, while three months' bills closed at 4⅞@4 15-16%, against 4⅞% a week ago. Money on call at the British centre, however, eased off, declining to 3⅝%, the close of the previous week. In Paris the open market discount rate has not been changed from 4⅝%, nor in Switzerland from 2⅛%.

The Bank of England continues to lose gold, but the decline the present week is relatively small, being only £180,112, which brought the Bank's stock of the precious metal down to £144,621,643, as compared with £128,524,369 in 1924 (before the transfer to the Bank of England of the £27,000,000 gold formerly held by the Redemption Account of the Currency Note issue), and £128,019,382 a year earlier. Note circulation was again heavily expanded—£1,578,000, so that reserve of gold and notes in the banking department was reduced £1,756,000. Public deposits registered another expansion of £6,933,000, while "other" deposits sustained an additional decrease of £9,995,000. The Bank's temporary loans to the Government declined £2,945,000. Loans on other securities, however, increased £1,670,000. There was again a sharp falling off in the proportion of reserve to liabilities, this time to 14.80%, which compares with 15.81% last week and 16.62% for the week of Dec. 19. At this time a year ago the ratio stood at 14⅝% and in 1923 at 14⅞%. Reserve aggregates £18,663,000, against £16,689,085 a year ago and £19,686,602 the year before that. Note circulation stands at £145,728,000, in comparison with £129,751,995 and £128,142,780 one and two years ago, respectively. Loans amount to £79,796,000. A year ago the total was £83,590,163 and in 1923 £81,072,961. Clearings through the London banks for the week were £839,849,000, as compared with £820,536,000 last week. No change has been made in the official discount rate, which remains at 5%. We append comparisons of the different items of the Bank of England return for a series of years:

a Includes, beginning with April 29 1925, £27,000,000 gold coin and bullion previously held as security for currency note issues and which was transferred to the Bank of England on the British Government's decision to return to gold standard.

b Beginning with the statement for April 29 1925, includes £27,000,000 of Bank of England notes issued in return for the same amount of gold coin and bullion held up to that time in redemption account of currency note issue.

The Bank of France this week reports a further small gain in its gold item, namely 242,000 francs. Gold holdings are thus brought up to 5,548,086,000 francs, as against 5,545,118,920 francs for the corresponding date last year and 5,540,380,612 francs the year before. Of these amounts 1,864,320,907 francs were held abroad in each of the years. A further expansion of 305,303,000 francs occurred in note circulation the present week, bringing the total amount outstanding up to 49,932,826,000 francs, another new high record. Last year notes in circulation stood at 40,603,965,140 francs and the year previous at 37,905,433,895. The Government borrowed 650,000,000 francs more from the Bank, making the total of advances to the State 34,600,000,000 francs, also a new high record. Decreases were registered as follows during the week: Bills discounted, 265,166,000 francs; advances, 40,002,000 francs; Treasury deposits, 19,771,000 francs, and general deposits, 6,147,000 francs. On the other hand, silver gained 1,183,000 francs. Comparisons of the different items in this week's return with the figures of last week and with corresponding dates in both 1924 and 1923 are as follows:

The Imperial Bank of Germany in its statement, as of Dec. 15, which arrived too late for inclusion in last week's issue of the "Chronicle," recorded several large changes. Chief among these was a decrease in note circulation of 167,982,000 marks, although accompanied by expansion in both other maturing obligations and in other liabilities, namely 133,900,000 marks and 29,721,000 marks, respectively. On the assets side, the Bank's report indicated a reduction in holdings of bills of exchange and checks totaling 28,585,000 marks, but an increase in advances of 3,909,000 marks; 2,263,000 marks in silver and other coins and 2,000 marks in deposits held abroad. Reserve in foreign currencies fell 7,548,000 marks. There were increases of 9,021,000 marks in notes on other banks; in investments of 2,315,000 marks and in other assets of 13,876,000 marks. Gold and bullion holdings increased moderately, 397,000 marks, bringing the total up to 1,027,666,000 marks, as compared with 696,185,000 marks a year ago and 467,033,000 marks in 1923. Note circulation aggregates 2,566,327,000 marks.

Last Saturday's statement of New York Clearing House banks and trust companies reflected fresh shifting of funds to meet seasonal requirements. Another important addition to surplus reserve was recorded, however. Loans ran up $55,127,000. Net demand deposits increased $24,826,000, while time deposits gained $3,685,000, to $567,027,000. The grand total of demand deposits is $4,499,252,000, which is exclusive of $55,592,000 in Government deposits, an increase in the latter item for the week of no less than $47,085,000. Cash in own vaults of members of the Federal Reserve Bank expanded $7,263,000, to $60,397,000, although this is not counted as reserve. State bank and trust company reserves in own vaults increased $381,000, but reserves kept by these institutions in other depositories were reduced $95,000. A further increase in the reserves of member banks with the Federal Reserve institution amounting to $27,338,000 occurred. As a result, and notwithstanding the expansion in deposits, surplus reserves gained $24,256,380, thus bringing excess reserves up to $38,728,810, as against $14,472,430 a week ago. These figures are on the basis of 13% legal reserves against demand deposits for member banks of the Federal Reserve System, but do not include $60,397,000 held by these member banks on Saturday last.

Striking changes were shown by the Federal Reserve Bank statements, issued late Thursday afternoon, and these are ascribed to the heavy demands made upon the System by its members to meet holiday requirements. For the banks as a group there was a falling off in gold holdings of $36,200,000, while rediscounting operations in all classes of bills expanded no less than $145,100,000, bringing the total of bills discounted up to $764,123,000, as compared with only $396,429,000 at this time a year ago. Open market trading was also materially increased, holdings of bills expanding $17,300,000. The increase in total bills and securities (earning assets) was 123,800,000, while deposits fell off $25,000,000. The amount of Federal Reserve notes in actual circulation increased $107,000,400. At New York gold holdings expanded in amount of $24,800,000. Here rediscounts of Government secured paper increased $82,000,000, although "other" bills declined $500,000; hence total bills discounted rose $81,500,000, to $228,186,000, in comparison with $134,157,000 last year. Open market purchases were larger, having increased $25,000,000. The gain in total bills and securities was $35,200,000, in deposits $20,500,000 and in Federal Reserve notes in actual circulation $21,700,000. Member bank reserve accounts expanded locally $13,800,000, but for the banks as a group fell $55,400,000. As to reserve ratios, the gain in gold at New York was offset by enlarged deposits and a small loss occurred, 0.9%, to 75.0%. For the combined System, shrinkage in gold caused a lowering to 66.1%, off 2.6%.

Call money in the New York market was rather firmer than had been expected. Although it was near the end of the month and the year, a renewal and loaning rate of 6 %had not been generally looked for. While professional operators in stocks attempted to take advantage of the money quotations to depress prices for them, failure rather than success attended their efforts, except at the beginning of the week. The activity in stocks and the extent to which they advanced on Wednesday and Thursday were taken as reflecting confidence on the part of large business interests in the general situation. The two really significant features of the local money market were the ease with which call loans were arranged at the prevailing rates and the dulness of time money at practically unchanged quotations. Car loadings were once again above the 1,000,000 level. New orders in the steel and automotive industries appear to be holding up well. Earnings have been sounded with respect to the building trade, but generally speaking, there are no distinct indications of a comprehensive slackening in business activity at the close of the year. This being so, it is logical to expect the commercial demand for money to continue about as it has been. High rates for call money next week are looked for, and then some recessions. The investment demand for securities has been active. Not so much of a definite character has been heard with respect to European loans in the immediate future.

Dealing with specific rates for money, call loans ranged between 5½ and 6%, as against 4½@5½% last week. Monday 6% was the high, the low with 5½% the low and also the rate for renewals. On Tuesday and Wednesday a flat rate of 6% was named this being the high, the low and the renewal figure on both days. Call funds again renewed at 6% on Thursday, which was also the maximum quotation, but before the close there was a decline to 5½%. Friday was a holiday (Christmas). In time money a moderate volume of business was transacted, with 5% still the trading rate for all maturities from sixty days to six months, the same as last week.

Commercial paper continues to pass at 4¼% 4½% for four to six months' names of choice character, unchanged. Names not so well known require 4½%, the same as heretofore. For New England mill paper and the shorter choice names the rate is 4¼%. Offerings of prime names, which continue light, were readily absorbed, principally by country banks. Trading, however, was not active.

Banks' and bankers' acceptances remain at the levels previously current. The undertone was steady on quiet, narrow trading. According to some brokers, the market is not expected to broaden very materially for some little time. Pre-holiday dulness was evident in practically all branches of the money market in the latter part of the week. For call loans against bankers' acceptances the posted rate of the American Acceptance Council is now 4½%, against 4¼% a week earlier. The Acceptance Council makes the discount rate on prime bankers' acceptances eligible for purchase by the Federal Reserve Banks 3⅜% bid and 3¼% asked for bills running 30 days, 3½% bid and 3⅜% asked for 60 days, 3⅝ bid and 3½% asked for 90 days, 3¾% bid and 3⅝% asked for 120 days, 3⅞% bid and 3¾% asked for 150 days, and 4% bid and 3⅞% asked for 180 days. Open market quotations are as follows:

Sterling exchange again moved within narrow limits, with the volume of business passing exceptionally light. Quoted rates were firmly held and demand bills ranged between 4 84⅝ and 4 84¾ throughout the entire week. Commercial offerings continue light and the buying movement that developed at the close on last Friday was not carried over into the current week. In a word, the market was plainly in a holiday mood, with brokers more intent upon preparations for the Christmas celebrations than the transaction of routine business. On the London market sterling movements attracted more attention and trading at intervals was fairly active. The chief topic under discussion appeared to be whether or not a further rise in the Bank of England's discount rate would become necessary. In the opinion of some leading bankers the recent advance to 5% has failed of the desired effect of drawing outside funds in larger volume to the British centre, while inability to check the continuous drain upon the Bank of England's gold reserves caused a certain amount of uneasiness and therefore brought about a depressing effect on sterling values, and renewed talk of the possibility that the 5% rate will have to again be raised. There seems to be very little likelihood that sterling, as recently predicted, will go up to 4 86 by Jan. 1, since although good buying usually develops if the rate drops under the 4 85 level, no disposition is shown to trade above that figure. As against all this, a good deal of satisfaction is derived from the fact that gold now being withdrawn from the Bank of England is usually for the purpose of readjusting exchange levels at far distant points and represents temporarily abnormal conditions. With the expected easing in monetary conditions after year-end demands have been met, the necessity for a higher bank rate may automatically disappear. By Thursday the market had come to a standstill, trading being virtually suspended.

Referring to the more detailed quotations, sterling exchange on Saturday last was steady and practically unchanged; demand ruled at 4 84¾ (one rate), cable transfers at 4 85⅝ and sixty days at 4 81½. On Monday there was a tendency toward lower levels and the range of prices was 4 84⅝@4 84¾ for demand, 4 85@4 85⅛ for cable transfers and 4 81⅜@4 81½ for sixty days. Inactivity predominated on Tuesday and demand bills did not get above 4 84⅝—the only rate quoted; cable transfers ruled at 4 85 and sixty days at 4 81⅜. On Wednesday there was very little doing and quotations were not changed from 4 84⅝ for demand, 4 85 for cable transfers and 4 81⅜ for sixty days. Pre-holiday dulness prevailed on Thursday and the market was at a practical standstill with rates little better than nominal and still at 4 84⅝ for demand, 4 85@4 85⅛ for cable transfers and 4 81⅜ for sixty days. Friday was a holiday (Christmas Day). Closing quotations on Thursday were 4 81⅜ for sixty days, 4 85⅝ for demand and 4 85 for cable transfers. Commercial sight bills finished at 4 84½, sixty days at 4 80⅞, ninety days at 4 80⅛, documents for payment (sixty days) at 4 81⅛, and seven-day grain bills at 4 83⅜. Cotton and grain for payment closed at 4 84½.

No gold was engaged either for export or import. There has been no abatement in the drain upon the Bank of England's gold supply, this week's exports approximating £1,039,000 in gold bars and sovereigns; part of which went to the Commonwealth Bank of Australia and the remainder to Singapore and Holland. As already noted, however, further above the Bank in its weekly return showed a loss in gold of only £180,112.

Holiday inactivity also predominated in Continental exchange and there was little doing in any of the major European currencies. With the exception of French francs, which are still the weakest of the whole list, there was a tendency towards improvement, sentimentally at least, and in a few instances moderate advances occurred. The franc, however, sagged badly and lost nearly all of the gains made at the close of last week. Following a comparatively firm opening, (at 3.84), selling commenced afresh and drove the quotation downward until 3.61½ had been reached, or only slightly above the low level of the previous week, although before the close there was a rally to 3.72¼. While price fluctuations were less spectacular than has been the case of late, the market was irregular and weak, with an undercurrent of nervousness. Selling at the principal foreign centres, though of a somewhat desultory character, was, nevertheless, fairly extensive at times. Governmental support was put forth, but was inadequate to stem the decline. Keen discouragement over the future of the franc is beginning to be felt in banking circles, where it is recognized that in the absence of political and financial readjustment of a permanent nature, no expectation need be entertained of genuine stability in France's currency. Plans of French industrialists recently announced as designed to make possible the placing of a large Government loan abroad have not been favorably received, having been severely criticized by the French press.

Trading in the other Continental currencies was in some respects hampered by the continued depreciation in the franc, which is reported as having a detrimental influence on the foreign trade of other nations. At present French business interests are underselling their competitors in foreign markets, but this course of action is likely to react adversely to France in the end. A parallel is drawn between the situation of French francs and Polish zlotys, which are at present the only two European currencies showing severe depreciation. All other of the foreign exchanges are either more or less successfully stabilized or ekse gradually returning to normal levels. Antwerp francs continue quiet but firm, at a fraction over 4.52. Italian lire were well maintained, ruling all week at or near 4.02. Berlin and Austrian exchanges were motionless and without change. Greek drachmae opened weak but gained 2 points on better buying. In the minor Central European group movements were narrow and meaningless, except for Polish currency which opened at 10.90, a gain of 40 points, then lost its gain and declined to 10.50, then moved back to 11.25. In the late dealings business in foreign exchange came to a practical standstill, owing to holiday activities on both sides of the Atlantic.

The London check rate on Paris finished at 131.85, against 129.20 last week. In New York sight bills on the French centre closed at 3.66, against 3.79; cable transfers at 3.67, against 4.80; commercial sight bills at 3.65, against 3.78, and commercial sixty days at 3.60½, against 3.73½ a week ago. Final quotations for Antwerp francs were 4.52½ for checks and 4,53½ for cable transfers, in comparison with 4.52¼ and 4.53¼ a week earlier. Reichsmarks finished at 23.81 (one rate) for both checks and cable transfers, which compares with 23.81¼. Austrian kronen have not been changed from 0.0014⅛. Lire closed the week at 4.02¾ for bankers' sight bills and at 4.03¾ for cable remittances. A week ago the close was 4.02⅝ and 4.03⅝. Exchange on Czechoslovakia finished at 2.96⅜ (unchanged); Bucharest at 0.46¾, against 0.46⅜ and Finland at 2.52¾, against 2.52½. Polish zloties closed at 11.25, against 10.50 a week ago. Greek exchange moved up to 1.28½c. for checks and 1.29c. for cable transfers, which compares with 1.26½ and 1.27 the preceding week.

As to the neutral exchanges formerly so-called, trading was restricted and rate fluctuations usually meaningless. Guilders opened lower, then steadied and advanced to 40.19. Swiss francs on quiet dealings, made a further small gain. Danish and Norwegian currency were in somewhat better demand and advanced a few points. Swedish krona continued to gain ground, touching 25.82¼. Improved internal finances and broadening of Sweden's trade activities are held responsible for the improvement. Spanish pesetas again turned weak and established another new low figure on the current movement, receding to 14.10½ on persistent selling on an unresponsive market.

Bankers' sight on Amsterdam finished at 40.17, against 40.15; cable transfers at 40.19, against 40.17; commercial sight bills at 40.09, against 40.07, and commercial sixty days at 39.73, against 39.71 last week. Closing rates on Swiss francs were 19.31½ for bankers' sight bills and 19.32½ for cable transfers. A week ago the close was 19.29½ and 19.31½. Copenhagen checks closed at 24.77 and cable transfers at 24.81, against 24.75 and 24.79. Checks on Sweden finished at 26.80 and cable transfers at 26.84, against 26.75 and 26.79, while checks on Norway closed at 20.28 and cable transfers at 20.32, against 20.10 and 20.14 on Friday of the previous week. Spanish pesetas finished at 14.13 for checks and at 14.15 for cable transfers. This compares with 14.16½ and 14.18½ last week.

With regard to South American quotations, trading was generally inactive, but values appreciated for a time, and Argentine checks advanced to 41.47 and cable transfers at 41.52, then reacted and closed at 41.39 and 41.46 (unchanged). Brazilian milreis, however, closed higher at 14.37 for checks and at 14.40 for cable transfers, as compared with 14.16 and 14.21 the previous week. Chilean exchange ruled easier and finished at 12.11, against 12.17, while exchange on Peru closed at 3.90, against 3.92, the previous quotation.

Far Eastern exchange was inactive, but well maintained, with moderate increases in the Chinese currencies in response to an advance in the price of silver. Hong Kong finished at 58⅞@59¼, against 58⅜@58⅝; Shanghai at 76¾@78, against 77¼@77½; Yokohama at 43⅛@43½, against 43.25@43.75; Manila at 50@50¼, (unchanged); Singapore at 57@57⅜ (unchanged); Bombay at 36¾@37, (unchanged), and Calcutta 36¾@37, (unchanged).

Pursuant to the requirements of Section 522 of the Tariff Act of 1922, the Federal Reserve Bank is now certifying daily to the Secretary of the Treasury the buying rate for cable transfers in the different countries of the world. We give below a record for the week just past:

The New York Clearing House banks, in their operations with interior banking institutions, have gained $3,531,325 net in cash as a result of the currency movements for the week ended Dec. 24. Their receipts from the interior have aggregated $4,940,125, while the shipments have reached $1,408,800, as per the following table:

Note.—The foregoing heavy credits reflect the huge mass of checks which come to the New York Reserve Bank from all parts of the country in the operation of the Federal Reserve System's par collection scheme. These large credit balances, however, reflect only a part of the Reserve Bank's operations with the Clearing House institutions, as only the items payable in New York City are represented in the daily balances. The large volume of checks on institutions located outside of New York are not accounted for in arriving at these balances as such checks do not pass through the Clearing House but are deposited with the Federal Reserve Bank for collection for the account of the local Clearing House banks.

The Anthracite Strike—Governor Pinchot's Opportunity.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is very largely, perhaps almost wholly, responsible for the troubles which arise periodically in the anthracite region of that State. Serious conflicts at the mines date back to the time when the entire region was terrorized by a secret organization of miners known as the Mollie Maguires. Murder and bloodshed were rampant in those days and innocent children whose fathers refused to become parties to lawlessness were held up to scorn and persecuted.

Only through the brave efforts of Franklin B. Gowen, of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad, and District Attorney George Keracher, of Schuylkill County, were the outlaws brought to justice and the secret organization compelled to disband.

Then in time came the more civilized union, which developed as shrewder and more able leaders took it in hand, but always the purpose has been to gain a greater compensation for the miner without giving any consideration to the consumer, who ultimately has been compelled to foot the bill through an increase in the price of coal.

Always it has been the policy of the labor leaders to try to put the onus for higher prices of anthracite upon the operators and even now one of the propositions of settlement, approved by the union leaders, stipulates that any increase in wages shall be at the expense of the operators.

The anthracite operators are business men who conduct mining on the same principles that other operations are handled. They are in business for profit and any business which does not show a reasonable profit is destined to fail. Profits are generally measured by a percentage of the cost of production and hence, when by increasing the wages of miners the cost of production rises, the cost of coal to the consumer is advanced proportionately. That is the ordinary and accepted rule of business.

It occurs that by a succession of advances brought about through repeated increases in wages that the price of anthracite has reached a height where any further advance is likely to destroy the market for anthracite, which as a fuel has as competitors bituminous coal, coke and oil. The industry has apparently reached a point where the price of its product will not permit of any increase and if this is true, then any further cost in production would be ruinous not only to the owners of the collieries, but to the 158,000 workers who gain a livelihood by toiling in the mines. If the mines must remain idle, not merely dividends to stockholders will cease, as they have already in at least one company, but no wages will be paid.

Interests of the workers and the owners are mutual. Non-operation means a lack of revenue for both. Operation upon a profitable basis will bring a full pay envelope with regularity and dividends periodically. It is up to the miners and their leaders to say which policy shall prevail.

Failing a settlement there is a great duty facing the members of the Pennsylvania Legislature, a special session having been called by Governor Pinchot.

The Commonwealth is responsible for the existing situation because of the State laws which have been enacted. These laws, framed for the protection of anthracite miners, create an absolute monopoly of anthracite mining, as they prevent the miners engaged in bituminous coal mining from taking the places of the anthracite miners now on strike. There is an opportunity for Governor Pinchot to do wonderful work not only for the 9,000,000 residents of his State but for the people of New England and of all parts of the United States where anthracite has been used. When the Legislature convenes in special session the Governor might well urge the repeal of every Pennsylvania statute which tends to create a monopoly of anthracite mining. The monopoly has been so ruthlessly abused that its longer continuance is intolerable.

Governor Pinchot so favored the miners three years ago by causing an increase of their wages that they will have no cause for complaint if he now takes this important step in behalf of all consumers, who in his own State far outnumber the 158,000 non-workers.

It occurs that the anthracite miners refuse to follow their usual occupations. They are playing the role of the dog in the manger, as they will neither mine anthracite themselves nor permit others to do so, thereby putting themselves in a most unenviable position which destroys sympathy and creates denunciation.

It is boastfully asserted that many of the striking miners have found temporary employment in other occupations. Here, then, is a body of 158,000 men who not only refuse to mine coal while preventing others from mining, but are willing by accepting other work to displace a large body of wage-earners from their customary employment.

Thus their voluntary idleness, their debarring others to take their places and their selfish crowding of industrious men out of employment fully justify Governor Pinchot in applying the only practical remedy.

Then the issue will be placed squarely before the members of the Legislature. It is asserted that not a dollar of the millions which constitute the "defense fund" of the miners' union has been paid out for relief to the idle men. This great fund would therefore be available to defeat any legislation in behalf of consumers which might be proposed at Harrisburg. In view of all these circumstances, could any member of the Pennsylvania Legislature go home to his constituents and offer any plausible explanation as to why he did not vote to afford relief by destroying the miners' monopoly?

Let Governor Pinchot advocate a just cause, and if he has political ambitions the people of Pennsylvania should show their appreciation at the polls.

He would at the same time gain a point on the operators. He would oblige them to undertake to mine coal which they have made no attempt to do. It is our contention that the operators ought to have tried from the start to work selected collieries, thereby affording an opportunity to those not in sympathy with the strike movement to continue at work or return to work. We criticised them for their do-nothing policy in our issue of Oct. 17. The miners are given no chances to break away from the strike so long as the mines are kept in idleness. With the law changed so as to permit the free ingress of miners the operators would be deprived of all pretext for continuing the present complete shut down any longer.

Mr. Munsey and the American Press.

Mr. Frank A. Munsey, owner and editor of the New York "Sun" and "Telegram," who died in this city on Tuesday, had been for many years, next to Mr. Hearst, the most widely known and conspicuous figure in American journalism. Unlike Mr. Hearst, however, he did not acquire newspapers as a means of furthering his political ambitions or spreading broadcast his political views; on the contrary, his connection with journalism was mainly that of a business man engaged in developing newspaper properties. He bought and sold newspapers in much the same way that other capitalists or investors buy or sell mills, railways or department stores, and sometimes, it is regretfully to be said, with scanty regard for the editors and other employees whose occupations were transferred to his control. In the course of his career his holdings comprised no less than seventeen dailies, included in the list being such well-known metropolitan journals as the Boston "Journal," the New York "Herald," "Sun" and "Globe," the Philadelphia "Times," the Baltimore "Sun" and "American," and the Washington "Times." Some of the papers which he bought he reorganized and improved, some lost their identity as a result of mergers, and some were suppressed. It was his belief that there were too many newspapers in the United States, and his successful attempt to reduce the number of evening papers in New York City cost him, he asserted, $6,000,000, a sum which he seems to have regarded as well spent. Most of his ventures appear to have been profitable, for he died many times a millionaire, but of all the daily publications which he owned and directed at one time or another, only two remained in his hands at the time of his death.

The widespread interest which will be shown in the immediate future of the "Sun" and "Telegram," now that their direction must pass to other hands, will be due in part to the peculiar position which Mr. Munsey occupied in the newspaper world. Mr. Munsey's rise to prominence coincided in time with a great and even revolutionary change in the organization and practice of journalism in this country. A generation or more ago, the success of a daily newspaper was thought by most people to depend rather more upon its editorial utterances or its party attitude than upon its news. Editors of the type of Whitelaw Reid of the "Tribune," Dana of the "Sun," Godkin of the "Evening Post," Bowles of the Springfield "Republican," or Watterson of the Louisville "Courier-Journal," did more than anyone else in the organization to determine the character and reputation of the journals which they edited, and their influence upon public opinion extended far and wide. When, as in the cases of the "Tribune" and the "Sun," the paper was also an authoritative spokesman for a political party or its policies, its influence in campaigns and elections and the general conduct of party business was a thing to be reckoned with by both enemies and friends.

All that, however, has changed, and to the change Mr. Munsey and his various papers made a substantial contribution. No American editor to-day wields any determining influence, as editor, in the councils of either the Republican or Democratic party, nor does his personality cause his name to stand out prominently in the public view. Save on the occasions on which Mr. Hearst issues a pronunciamento signed with his name, most readers of metropolitan dailies do not know, nor does it probably occur to them to care, who writes the editorials that appear in their favorite journals. Mr. Munsey himself occasionally published a signed article, and whatever he said was listened to with attention, but it is not primarily as an editorial writer that he will be remembered. The quality of editoral writing in the more important journals is as high to-day as it ever was, but the spirit of journalism has changed, and the personality that once stood out in what the editor said has been submerged by the growth of gigantic organization.

The modern American newspaper is now a business, and the spirit of business permeates it from top to bottom. Only by a very large investment of capital can a metropolitan daily be launched or maintained. The collection of news from all parts of the world is a costly undertaking, and the expensive service of the press agencies must be supplemented by elaborate arrangements for local or special reporting and correspondence. The high cost of paper, and the mounting costs of printing and distribution, are charges which cannot be recouped by raising the price of the journal, and the needed revenue must be sought in advertising. It is not an accident that a great daily often carries more pages of advertising than it does of news, editorials or "features." The discovery that the public wants news and entertainment rather than education, and that the more it gets of what it wants the more papers it will buy, has produced an endless chain in which more news, larger sales, increased volume of advertising, higher and higher advertising rates, and enhanced profits for owners and stockholders follow one another in logical and remunerative succession. All of this transformation Mr. Munsey lived to see, and a considerable part of it he himself was.

One of the problems of an American newspaper, accordingly, is how to harmonize its elaborate business activity with the independence of judgment, the entire fairness in the treatment of news, and freedom from coercion by advertisers, without which no newspaper is worth reading. However successfully a newspaper publisher may devote himself, as Mr. Munsey appears to have devoted himself, to giving the public what it wants, the business side of the undertaking has its limitations. In an enterprise which deals, as a newspaper does, with almost every aspect of human life or interest, corporations or syndicates are a poor substitute for personality. The late Victor Lawson, owner and editor of the Chicago "Daily News," seems to have thought that his own personal influence could be perpetuated by a financial corporation when he left his paper by will to the management of a trust company, but the trust company, after some hesitation, appears to have concluded that the obligation lay outside its proper sphere, and the paper is now reported to have been sold to persons familiar with the newspaper field. We have no hesitation in saying that the decision was a wise one. No financial or business corporation, however able or high-minded, is fit to conduct a large and influential daily newspaper, for business, in spite of Government interference, is still mainly a private matter, while a great newspaper is in reality a quasi-public institution as far as the presentation of news is concerned, and has a moral responsibility to the community at large far exceeding that which any private business is expected to feel.

That the changes to which Mr. Munsey's extraordinary success contributed have been, in more than one respect, detrimental to journalism of the higher kind, is hardly to be questioned. No reputable publisher would think of dictating to an editor what the editor should say, and no worth-while editor would accept such dictation if it were ventured, but the subtle influence of a huge money-making enterprise, dependent upon advertising for its maintenance and profits, and unable to go against the current without risk of financial loss, is likely to be felt in every editorial office. Our great dailies are bulky, the news which they display is often trivial or sensational, and their point of view is often local and restricted rather than general and large. No American newspaper has yet attained a national circulation or influence comparable to that which certain English or Continental newspapers enjoy, and while the great area of the United States is obviously a factor to be considered, the character of our journalism also plays a part. Mr. Munsey was perhaps right in thinking that a system might be devised that would give us a truly national press, and a better press than most sections of the country now have, but something more than business capacity and aggressiveness would be required to achieve it. The primary reason for the existence of a newspaper press is that the public may be informed and educated. As far as the collection and dissemination of news goes, it is hard to see how that function could be performed better, as it certainly could not be performed more elaborately, than it is at present, but the presentation of the news, and the appraisal of its value, in such a way as to raise the millions of newspaper readers to higher planes of intelligent citizenship, is a problem which the metropolitan daily press has as yet only begun to work out.

Propaganda on the World Court—The Province of the School.

If the seven million plurality for President Coolidge at the last election is to be construed as a mandate of the people to adopt the Harding-Hughes-Coolidge plan for entering the World Court the duty of the Senate is very plain. But the irreconcilables have given notice that they intend to contest the matter in much the old style. Whether for this reason, or through an excess of zeal in what they believe a good cause, warm adherents of the "plan" outside Congress seem to feel that it is necessary to strengthen, or arouse, public opinion by methods of propaganda. In consequence, we find colleges and universities holding referendums on the subject. Almost uniformly, majorities, usually large, are shown favoring entrance. Newspapers that were strongly in favor of joining the League of Nations have shown a new arousal by advocating entrance into the Court. And it is said that a large majority of Senators have been polled in the affirmative.

It may seem, therefore, unimportant to further rehearse the Court problem. But for this very reason it may be an appropriate time to consider in a general way the spirit and method of propaganda on public questions. And our first thought is that just as advisory opinions by a World Court or any court are valuable to prevent controversy, so the voice of the people properly expressed is desirable to prevent wrangling in Congress and litigation in our courts. Notwithstanding, free as we believe our democracy to be, it is not easy to give distinctive and adequate expression to public opinion.

It would not be true to say that the people gave definite approval to the World Court at the last election. Entrance into this tribunal was not a paramount question. We must enter into the thought and feeling of the great body of the voters before we are warranted in interpreting the seven million plurality. The resolute stand taken against the obnoxious doctrines of the La Follette party, economy, reduction in taxes, the budget, together with the partisan tactics of the minority party and resentment over a policy of attempting to fasten on the ruling party the so-called scandals of an oil investigation that was instituted as much for political as for protective purposes, created a feeling in favor of a continuance of the "administration" that really dominated the electorate. In the previous Harding campaign there had been emphatic disapproval of joining the League of Nations. And while there was in the Coolidge campaign mention of the World Court it was not really an issue. So that at this date no declaration of the people upon this question can be urged. It is fair to say that there exists a quasi-endorsement of Mr. Coolidge's position, but this might possibly be changed by a more intensive popular study and a more open-minded and singular discussion. It follows that what we know as propaganda must be analyzed before it can be trusted or accepted. And as the debate proceeds in the Senate, if carried on conscientiously and free from filibustering, new views may be presented worthy of consideration.

We question, then, the advisability of schools, colleges and universities holding referendums on the question of entering the World Court and the covert attempt thus to utter speech for the people. Youth is idealistic. It holds more to the abstract than the concrete. In this sense it is impractical. Given a glittering proposal for furthering world peace and its enthusiasm takes fire. Led by the theories of academic origin it comes to believe itself to be a factor in world progress. On the threshold of active life it dwells in the quiet halls of knowledge. It is prone to mistake this for wisdom. An urge to do something for human betterment seems an imperative duty. While outside the shadowy cloisters of study there beats upon the real control in a democracy the fierce light of struggle and controversy. To youth, adventuring far in the world, a world of the student's dream, may seem wiser than so-called national isolation. To the voter, who thinks and toils, seasoned in the strife of politics, and encompassed by the domestic problems of economics and industry, caution even to the point of hesitation and delay, may seem to be the road to safety and security.

We do not charge secret design in these college efforts. We contemplate only the fact. There is danger that they be given undue weight by the casual thinker. While school and church are separate under Government, they are neither of them in Government. As to the manifest duty of those in charge of our public educational institutions it is very plain. The school (we use the term in the broad sense) is not primarily a leader in political or economic thought. The teacher and professor should not bury themselves in the abstract. They are part of a living world. The duty is to present these popular questions without bias and in the light of historical perspective. As to taking a vote in the class room, or permitting the independent societies to do so, for the purpose of publishing the result, for its influence on public affairs, the practice is outside the pale of a modest and exclusive purpose. It does harm to the student body and offends the sense of responsibility in the electorate. And this is just what is being done with the World Court proposal. If the people are capable of self-government they are capable of using their own minds.

We pass from this phase to the insidiousness of propaganda itself. Straw votes do not show which way the wind blows. They only show the temporary currents that are as variable as the seasons. To attempt to further or fix a national policy by propaganda is to forestall serious thought and to induce precipitate action. In the midst of a whirling storm it is best, if possible, to get out of it by the shortest route. Without discussing the problem of the World Court one way or the other, it is not imperative that we go in now; it is not best that we be hurried into it before we have deliberated. In saying this there is no criticism intended of the President or Senate. They have a duty to perform. And so have the people. Propaganda, whether it be by the school or the press, that is partisan, is injudicious and dangerous. It is part and parcel of that predilection for reform at any cost which has so large a part in our civic and social life. If reservations are necessary, is the time ripe? It may be the proper thing to go in at the proper time, but since we have no immediate causes to try before an international tribunal why hurry? There is a court already existent, though its functioning is defective. Why shell the woods for influence, pressure, to accept or adopt another?

We have read of no independent "town meetings" for the purpose of formulating and expressing public opinion on this issue. These would be timely. Listening to noted debaters on the subject is not expressing such opinion. School contests and church resolutions are far from being representative of the people. To mistake these expressions, and they have full right to their freedom, for the will of the people is to strengthen and lengthen the life of propaganda. Manufacturing sentiment is not feeling it. Force is not a means of sustaining liberty. Driving men by the much-vaunted mass-psychology, is not leading them by moral suasion and careful reasoning. In many of these "popular" efforts to mould public opinion we observe that bane of modern life, the forcing of the will of the few upon the many. It is as reasonable for the school and the church to undertake to instruct the people upon giving recognition to the Soviet, as it is to instruct as to adherence to this World Court. We do not countenance the teaching of Socialism in the college, why follow its judgment as to international questions? Is Congress supposed to represent the schools or the people?

Propaganda is the art of "putting things over." It is the Pied Piper of Hamelin whom all forms of life are supposed to follow. It is the instrumentality of the interests, the machinery of the politician, the radio of the reformer, and the siren of the common people. By its skillful use empires may be moulded, States made subservient, and classes put in power. It is welcomed by minorities and never scorned by majorities. It stoops to conquer by using the school, cloaks itself in religion for mastery of the material, and voices itself in the liberty and freedom of the press for the sake of an idea or ideal. Not always, to be sure, but certainly sometimes. All things to all men, its motives are hidden and its paths devious. It is the friend of selfishness and the foe of tolerance. Trying to mould the world to its will it is cosmopolitan, ubiquitous, tireless. It biffs and bams, like the pupets in a Punch and Judy show, for him who pulls the strings. Nothing is too sacred for its manipulation. And its perennial home is the heart of man, not the heart that weeps and trembles for others, but the one that is filled with bigotry and armored with self-righteousness. In its own opinion it is the maker of war, and peace, and progress. It is the weapon of contention, the hero of success, and the god of things as they ought to be.

But safe from attack is the citadel of individual duty. In the complexes of social, economic and commercial and civic affairs, in the drives and dreams of classes, blocs, and systems, and parties, it encounters the will of the one who thinks and works in the realm of personal endeavor. If all men could be driven like sheep to the shambles democracy would fail, representative government cease to exist, and liberty become a forgotten idyl of a dead past. And such is the spread of information in modern times that when the clarion calls to rally to a cause are heard it is time to think, to pause and consider, to search for concealed motives, and to watch and wait. In the ever-flowing stream of life there are shoals and eddies and rocks and rapids, but the broad current sweeps on to the widening future. It is well not to mistake the sounds of the whirl and dash of the waters for the song of the river. Efforts to perfect the world in a day are futile. No one achievement will usher in the millenium. No one method or plan will transform man or his institutions. Government is not life. Ideals cannot supplant ideas. Knowledge is not wisdom, fervor is not faith, revolution is not rest. The big thing and the biggest thing is the natural combination of all the little things. The slow cementing of individual opinion is the spiritual force against which all crusades must beat in vain. You can break the bundle of fagots by breaking each one separately, but you cannot gather and tie them together by trumpetings from the walls of self-created authority.

The Parting Note of the Closing Year.

The "Farewell" of the year, though it has been prosperous, is not always a "sweet sorrow." The "unreluctant years" bear an impress of finality which even the festivities of Christmas do not altogether remove. Men have always felt it and been sobered. The early Church took advantage of festivals which men had established when the chill of winter was settling upon the world and life was becoming oppressively sombre. Christmas was given its date to call forth and confirm the underlying and inborn note of hope and gladsome life which men have found both in Nature and unawakened in their own hearts.

The Greeks did not feel that making Olympus the abode of the great and austere gods, Zeus, Athene and the others, would relieve it of the gloom of the realm of Chronos and the Fates that lay behind it, and they put Hebe and Ganymede and even Aphrodite and Dionysius within its reach for greater cheer. Rome soon came with her cheerier note, the companionable Lares and Penates at the rural fireside, the bountiful Ceres in the fields, and in the great Augustan days her poets to awaken song for all. They bravely said "It is pleasant to be frivolous at times." "Dulce est desipere in loco!" and Horace, the poet of the people, deliberately devotes himself to the enlivening of life in every relation, and, retaining his little home in the country, wrote the immortal poems which helped to keep the luxurious society life of Rome from being hopelessly sordid, and to show us how entertainment can be made an enlightening and charming art by all to-day.* Up early in the morning on his peasant farm, refreshed by deep sleep, alert for the day's task, he warns his friends of the danger of overeating and rich food. When pleased with a late invitation to dinner at Maecenas's palace, he rushes off, his servant reminds him that he praises a carefree vegetable diet only when he is not invited out! He laughs at his inconsistency, and says that "pleasant dinners promote good fellowship; without fear of backbiters and gossips gentlemen may work out their philosophies of life, the foundations of happiness, the basis of friendship, the greatest good of the world." When he was summoned to a permanent post in the Emperor's palace and a home with Maecenas, he rejected the offer; despite his inconsistencies in his enjoyment of fine togas and elegant banquets he was not to be enticed into the habits of his time against his judgment, his whim or his mood. He had keen interest in the drama and its value for reasonable enjoyment. He recounts the history of the stage, tells of the pleasure it gives even to children, and finds the audience in its absorption often as interesting as the play. He seeks to raise the cultivation of enjoyment to the level of an art. He has high ideals; he deplores the self-indulgence and luxury which destroy the ambition and undermine the vigor of men and pervert the judgment and the interest in life of women. Ovid, his compatriot, says to the ladies of his day, who to increase their charms resorted to magic: "Away with all forbidden rites; that you may be loved, be lovable!" The Greeks had taught that the "Beautiful is the splendor of the True." They found it in art, the prerogative of the elect. Horace strove to bring the beauty and the brightness which Nature so freely and so abundantly presents to all, and for which all men have innate desire, into fellowship with Beauty and by joining both to Truth to set them within the reach of all.

Then when the culture of Athens was dead, and the culture of the Orient, Far and Near, with all its brilliant show, was disclosing its emptiness and lack of life as it faded into a private cult of the privileged few, and the culture of cosmopolitan Rome began to crystallize into a static civilization because one and all ended in a religion without God, the greatest teacher of all arose. The Apostle Paul appeared in Europe. After sufferings heroically borne, though well-nigh incredible, when he had established in permanent form a religion which was to give new life to civilization and to create a human fellowship that should embrace humanity, he was brought a prisoner to Rome. From his imprisonment he sent forth to the churches he had founded in the East the letters which constitute so large a part of the New Testament. The religion he preached was the Gospel of a God whom he knew through Jesus Christ as a deep personal experience, a Gospel of love, of salvation and of eternal life for all men. The summons of his letters was: "Rejoice in the Lord always, and again I say, Rejoice." This was the ever-repeated message, and it became the characteristic of the followers of Jesus Christ. Pliny, Governor of Bithynia, answering the Emperor's inquiry, said the Christians were a group of humble people who went to their work always singing praises to their God. It gave life to the ancient exhortation: "The joy of the Lord is your strength." The early Church flung it abroad to the world when it took over the futile pagan festival of the winter solstice and made it Christmas, the anniversary of the birth of Him for whom Christians, joining with the angels, have ever sung, "Joy to the world, the Lord is come."

Here, then, is the note with which the Old Year should close. It is none too easy to maintain. Memory gathers up too many failures. Life carries disfiguring scars. There are many empty chairs, and hearts have besides sorrows the wounds of many transgressions. Good seed has fallen among thorns, and evil has grown apace. The bells of the New Year sound the vanishing of the irretrievable past.

Yet in these closing days the mounting sun, the impatient earth, the irrepressible laughter of children, the inextinguishable hope of the aged, the undying voice in the human heart, all respond to the glad thought of the Beyond. Mr. Gladstone, when a very old man, asked what was the happiest time of life, answered: "You must ask an older man than I am; interests increase with gathering years." He was pronounced "the greatest man of his generation or the last," yet there always shone for him the light of better days to come.

George F. Watts, the great painter, when offered a university position of dignified and honored ease, in declining it said: "I want to have the light of day all 'round; so I cannot accept a connection which is like an edifice with only one window; a kind of architecture I can have no part in."

It is then a matter of the open eye and the unhardened heart. The year has been one of exceptional prosperity. There have been no widespread epidemics and no appalling disasters; employment has been general and constant; labor has gained in efficiency and acquired a new attitude of good will toward labor-saving machinery which is now recognized as a source of greater wealth for the employee as well as for the employer. There is less breath wasted in denunciation of capital. The experiment of offering stock of the company for purchase by the employees, unique in this country, is proving a success; and at the same time the savings banks are showing large and steady increases in deposits. Limitation of happiness does not lie in scarcity of money, for money was never in history so abundant and so widely distributed as it is now in the United States, nor is it in any dearth of supplies or lack of articles of luxury.

*Horace's "Art of Enjoyment." Professor Elizabeth H. Haight. E. P. Dutton & Co.

Rather is it in the inevitable increased absorption in acquisition with intenser interest in business, as its prizes increase, and in the demoralization of character and enfeebling of strength wrought by luxury. It breeds idleness and self-indulgence. Materialism is a blight. Men awake to discover that while they have supplied every want, perhaps have grown rich beyond their dream, they are not content; they have not increased their happiness and they have added to their cares.

Here lies the challenge. This is not a true or necessary aspect of life. It is a perversion of blessing. There is an "Art of Enjoyment," and we have neglected it. It is not the "enjoyment" of society with its whirl of excitement, its plays, its dinners, its prolific luxuries; it is opportunity given to the heart and the mind, provision for the pleasures of the home, of friends, of books, of out-of-doors, of sports, of abundant health and exuberant spirits, all leading to restful nights and days with cheerful greetings, steady nerves and the unconscious courage which accepts with alacrity life as it comes and thanks God for every new day and its tasks. This is the Fine Art to which we are summoned by the Old Year, whatever its experiences and its regrets.

Does Not Agree With President Simmons Regarding Stock Exchange Loans.

Philadelphia, Dec. 21 1925.

Editor, Financial Chronicle, New York City.

Sir: The address of E. H. H. Simmons on the relationship existing between the Stock Exchange and the investment banking business as reported in your issue of the 19th inst. contains the interesting statement that modern banking should not be hampered by out-of-date formulas. Mr. Simmons says: "It was Adam Smith who evolved the classic formula for the function of commercial banks—that they should finance goods in transit from producer to consumer."

While I have a nodding acquaintance with Adam Smith's classic work, I can find such a formula only indirectly and by inference. I had no idea Adam Smith was so modern, that formula being, barring the exception in regard to United States Government loans, the practical working formula of the Federal Reserve System. The System operates for "the accommodation of agriculture, industry and commerce," the products of which are consumable commodities.

Mr. Simmons suggests that that formula is out of date and would have the output of the security market given a more generous share of commercial bank credit.

May one suggest that consumable commodities are the proper medium for commercial bank loans, not because of the fiat of Adam Smith, nor of the Federal Reserve System, but because they are consumed, used, destroyed—and the loan based on them paid and canceled.

Mr. Simmons states that the call loan market was liquidated from a peak of $1,500,000,000 in November 1919 to less than $750,000,000 by July 1921. A comparison of quotations from the inception of that bear market will indicate the means of that liquidation; by a ruthless slashing of prices, which is the only way expanded stock loans can be liquidated. Stocks are not consumed. They merely shift ownership.

Bank reserves are at present ample to accommodate business—and the current buoyant security market, as well as feverish real estate speculation—and even the financing of the consumer by time payments. Our unprecedented gold holdings have created such a huge credit structure that bankers are compelled to devise new ways to get their funds out.

Presumably some day we will reach the limit of expansion of our credit. In the past, as we have needed credit for expanding industry, we have pulled the financial props from under the security call loan market, and liquidated that by selling prices down. The same credit dollar cannot at the same time be in more than one place. When industry needs it, credit is "called" from the stock market, and the familiar phenomenon of a "bear market" is on. The shock is transmitted to industry and the destruction of confidence breeds a business depression.

The Stock Exchange call loan market is, I presume, a by-product of our hodge-podge banking history. No commercial nation in history had such a cul-de-sac appendage to its banking system. England with her system of term set tlements obviates the necessity of tying up commercial bank credit in stock loans. She uses her commercial bank credit to finance a world-wide trade. She conserves her credit resources and applies the clearing house principle to her stock market speculation.

Instead of the formula to which Mr. Simmons refers being out of date, I venture to say it will be the controlling principle in commercial banking as long as commercial banking endures, whereas the archaic custom of using security loans as a reservoir for secondary reserves is as out of place in a modern and scientific banking system as the wampum and beads that served New Amsterdam.

I trust I have not tried your patience, Mr. Editor, as I have tried to make my point clear. I have no quarrel with the stock market; it, happily, is here to stay; but such a banking and economic suggestion as that discussed is a fair mark for comment.

Yours truly, C. E. H.

The New Capital Flotations in November and for the Eleven Months to November 30

The new capital flotations in recent months have been steadily increasing, and in November totaled not far from six hundred million dollars, or at the rate of about $7,000,000,000 a year. Our tabulations, as always, include the stock, bond and note issues by corporations and by States and municipalities, foreign and domestic, and also Farm Loan emissions. The grand total of the offerings of new securities under these various heads during November reached in exact figures $586,614,956. This compares with $503,337,557 in October, with $490,336,366 in September and with only $399,708,415 in August, when the total was the smallest of any month since March 1924, but with $693,164,577 in July, when the total was the largest of any month since the previous October, and it compares with $673,881,983 in June, with $530,841,330 in May, with $607,128,553 in April, when the financing of the purchase of the Dodge Brothers automobile properties added $160,000,000 to the total; with $505,369,807 in March, with $664,632,971 in the short month of February, with $685,403,871 in January and with $557,168,130 in December 1924.

In November last year the aggregate of the new issues brought out was only $431,192,772, even though the $100,000,000 French loan was then included in the month's offerings. The present year's total at $586,614,956, therefore, shows an increase as compared with the month in 1924 of over $155,000,000. The amounts are larger under each of the leading heads excepting alone the awards by municipalities. These latter reached only $63,250,071 in November 1925, against $74,765,203 in November 1924 and $98,521,514 in November 1923. The corporate issues, however, aggregated $376,239,885, against only $243,367,569 in November last year, and the foreign Government issues $138,100,000, against $102,000,000.

The foreign Government financing was the distinctive feature of the month. The $138,100,000 includes the Italian loan for $100,000,000. But in addition to the foreign Government issues, no less than $44,100,000 of foreign corporate issues were floated in the United States during the month. This makes altogether $182,200,000 of foreign financing in this country, or nearly one-third the entire capital issues of the month.

In the corporate issues offerings of industrial securities in November for the third successive month led in amount, with a total of $248,474,000. This is an increase over the previous month's output of $232,762,167. Public utility issues likewise showed a larger volume, the November total being $121,445,795, as against $109,590,162 for October. Railroad offerings aggregated only $6,320,000, whereas in October they amounted to $28,952,230.

Total corporate offerings, as already stated, were $376,239,885, and of this amount $206,387,000 constituted long-term issues, $19,915,000 were short-term, and $149,937,885 represented stock issues. The portion used for refunding purposes was $10,675,000, or less than 3% of the total; in October $70,310,089, or almost 19%, was for refunding; in September the amount was $16,378,900, or only 5%; in August $29,237,000, or 12%; in July $74,681,500, or almost 19%; in June $67,737,495, or over 17%; in May $34,947,015, or not quite 12%; in April, $71,134,000, or over 14%; in March $70,251,000, or almost 20%; in February $53,382,000, or only 10%, while in January $95,193,425, or over 18%, was for this purpose. In November last year $8,112,000, or less than 4% of the total was for refunding purposes.

Of the $10,675,000 raised for refunding purposes in November of this year, $4,900,000 was new long-term issues to refund existing long-term, $475,000 was new short-term to refund existing long-term, $300,000 was new stock to refund existing long-term and $5,000,000 was new stock to replace existing stock.

Foreign corporate issues sold here during November amounted to $44,100,000 and comprised the following: $10,000,000 Rhine-Westphalian Electric Power Corp. (Germany) direct 1st mtge. 7s, 1950, offered at 94, yielding about 7.53%; $7,500,000 Cunard Steamship Co., Ltd., 2-year 5s, due Dec. 1 1927, placed at par; $7,500,000 Good Hope Steel & Iron Works (Germany) mtge. 7s, 1945, offered at 91, to yield about 7.90%; $7,500,000 Westphalia United Electric Power Corp. 1st mtge. 6½s, 1950, sold at '87½, yielding about 7.62%; $4,000,000 Hamburg Electric Co. (Germany) deb. 7s, 1935, offered at 95½, to yield about 7.65%; $4,000,000 Brunner Turbine & Equipment Co. BOOK NOTICES.

Our Competitors and Markets. An Introduction to Foreign Trade by Arnold W. Lahee, Consultant on Foreign Markets. New York: Henry Holt & Co.

This book should have had earlier notice. It has been on the Editor's desk a long time. It is a meritorious work. The purpose of the book, as explained by the author, is to give the business man—merchant, manufacturer, banker—a starting point from which to judge the relative significance of current events abroad as bearing upon our own economic prosperity. It is intended to give an acquaintance with the major foreign countries with which the United States has commercial relations from the viewpoint of American trade and investment interest. Each country is a problem in itself. England, France and Germany, industrial competitors, are presented with especial attention to the basic factors of their future strength—of interest as underlying the political complications in Europe to-day. Other countries are of importance to us as sources of raw materials, as fieldsfor American capital investment, as markets for our manufactures. These are considered with due regard, not only for the economic aspects, but their racial characteristics and the political situation, as in Central America and Mexico, and the Far East.

With its very complete index the book may serve as a modest encyclopedia of commercial facts, "a commercial geography with a perspective." And the "Sources of Information," unlike the usual bibliography, which confines the reader to the books already digested by the author, assists him to supplementary material by references to periodic lists of books published, magazine and newspaper articles, directories of the Government departments, chambers of commerce and trade associations, &c. It should prove useful to the busy business man, who has no time for extensive reading of the voluminous literature in this field, but who realizes the value of intelligent market analysis and forecast, and appreciates the close though sometimes obscure bearing of foreign affairs.

Freight Terminals and Trains, by J. A. Droege (McGraw-Hill).

The third edition (revised) of this book has several new features of large present-day interest, particularly the chapters on electrical operation and on motor truck freighting. The book covers the subject of freight terminal operation very comprehensively and is based on actual railroad operating experience covering a period of forty-five years and running the gamut of almost every job from telegrapher to general manager, the latter being Mr. Droege's present position on the New Haven Railroad. While Mr. Droege has been with the New Haven since 1912, his experience includes work for about a dozen other roads. And prior to his appointment as general manager of the New Haven he had been in charge of operation, at one time or another, of practically every foot of its rails.

Dealing with the subject of electrification, the author points out that "the extent of electrical operation to-day is fairly well indicated by the fact that there are now some 2,200 electric locomotives in use by railroads in this and foreign countries." He then states that he believes the adoption of a unified and standard system of electrification by the railroads of this country "is of nearly the same importance as was the universal adoption of a standard gauge." It is Mr. Droege's opinion that the standard which will some day be adopted will be some phase of the overhead trolley system. "The inherent limitations of the low voltage third rail contact distribution are now generally recognized," he says, "and although some of the most important electrifications in this country have been installed on this basis, growth of this system will undoubtedly in the future be confined to necessary extensions of existing installations." Mr. Droege cites figures from actual experience with electric locomotives on the New Haven, tending to show their greater dependability and durability as compared with steam. Speaking of the New Haven's original gearless type of electric passenger locomotives, he states that "for some seventeen years these engines have averaged 170 miles a day, with no allowance for the time they were out of service for repairs and for changes found necessary in the original design. . . . These electric engines have each made well over a million miles in service. Now, after such mileage in steam, assuming 30,000 miles as an average of the steam locomotive equipment per year, the age of a steam locomotive would be forty years. The steam locomotive when thirty, thirty-five or forty years old would at least be retired to branch or secondary service, whereas these electric locomotives are still operating effectively on heavy express trains." He further cites that the New Haven's latest type of passenger electric have made an average of 201 miles day in and day out over a period of five years.

Chapter XXXII on "Integration of Freight Transportation" deals with the subject of motor trucking in a splendidly comprehensive manner, summarizing the various phases of the subject and containing much valuable statistical information on motor fruck operation. The writer sees a place for the motor truck in the carrying of freight, but believes it should stick to the field where it is more economical than rail haul. "It is the transgression of the method—often stupidly; frequently blindly—into realms which carry it and its competitors to the wall which should be condemned," he says, and suggests that the relative costs of service point the way. Also dealing with the subject of motor truck operation is a chapter on "British Freight Service," which includes a wealth of up-to-date information collected by F. C. Horner of the General Motors Co., during an extended stay in England. Extensive changes have been made in those chapters which are taken over from the old edition, bringing them up to date with present railroad practice. Altogether, Mr. Droege has handled a very technical subject in a most intreesting manner. And from various quotations used throughout the book we judge that here is at least one railroad operating officer who has found time to do some reading in general literature.

Indications of Business Activity

THE STATE OF TRADE—COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, Dec. 25 1925.

Naturally at this time of the year the outstanding factor in business is the holiday trade. The universal testimony is that it has been larger than that of last year, despite rains and snows in some parts of the country. The buying power of the people was enough to put a spur to business. It is true that wholesale trade, as usual at this season, has as a rule subsided. The satisfactory thing, however, is that even so it is larger than that of a year ago. Indeed, many of the industries are unusually active for this time of the year. Ordinarily one looks for the slowing down of trade as merchants and manufacturers busy themselves with inventories, and other end-of-the-year work. This year it has not interfered as much as usual, however, with the tendency of trade to increase. It is well enough to keep in mind, however, that collections are not altogether satisfactory in all parts of the country; that is, they do not everywhere keep pace with the forward movement of trade. Steel business is much better than that of a year ago and compares favorably with that of November, although not quite as large as then. Pig iron trade suffers somewhat from the competition of Germany, Belgium and East India. But with the turn of the year an improved demand for the American product, which as a rule is preferred, may be expected. Taking into account the season of the year, the amount of building going on makes a very good exhibit. Car loadings keep up remarkably well. The wheat crop turns out to be about 200,000,000 bushels smaller than that of last year and this, together with unfavorable crop reports from Argentina has caused an advance in prices this week of some 5 to 8 cents; in fact, the advance on the 23d inst. was between 9 and 10 cents. Not that the export demand for wheat has been brisk; quite the contrary. But it is beginning to be contended that this country has probably over-exported itself. Corn prices have advanced at times rather sharply as the latest corn crop report was not quite so favorable as the previous one. Rye has advanced sharply with indications of the smallest crop for some years past, judging from the latest Government report. Coffee has advanced somewhat, and it is said that a new project is under way to secure a loan of some £10,000,000 in London with a view to promoting valorization. Brazil, it seems, has found it useless to apply to the United States for a loan for any such purpose. Sugar, while quiet, has been somewhat firmer and futures have advanced about half a dozen points. Prices of lard have risen sharply at times, owing to the rather bullish corn report.

Cotton prices have advanced. January on Thursday showed conspicuous strength when notices of delivery for some 70,000 bales were promptly stopped and spot houses manifested a pronounced disposition to buy January. January, in fact, almost wiped out the discount at which it has been selling under March. Continental countries have been buying October cotton here very freely and there have also been some English orders. Some of the trade are inclined to think that present prices have discounted the large crop. In Liverpool prices for American, Egyptian and East Indian cotton, but especially Egyptian, advanced sharply to-day. Manchester has been dull and will take a longer vacation in the American division of the yarn trade than usual. But on this side of the water the general tendency in the cotton textile business is toward improvement. Wool has not shown much change during the week, but its price seems to be tending downward if anything. The business in woolens and worsteds has been very quiet. Raw silk has been dull and broad silks have had only a small sale. The silk industry in general is busy. There is an active business in furniture. Petroleum output shows a tendency to decrease. Lumber has sold more freely on the Pacific Coast. Flour mills there are having a better business than those further eastward. In Minneapolis it has suddenly revived with wheat so much higher. Bituminous coal trade is brisk, with the production tending upward as hope of an early ending of the anthracite strike seems to fade. Moreover, colder weather, with snows in various parts of the country, help it. Coke has latterly been advancing in spite of a very large production. The output of automobiles is noticeably larger than that of last year. At Detroit 60,000 more men are still employed than in 1924. There is little complaint of unemployment in this country. In fact, aside from a few points in the Central West, labor is busy. The winter wheat has a fair amount of snow covering. The husking of the corn crop is about finished. During the past year, it is pointed out, capital accumulation in the United States has been on an unparalleled scale. There is some tendency in parts of the same direction in Europe, though, of course, not so pronounced. The call money rate here has latterly risen to 6% after remaining at a low point for a prolonged period. That was due largely to the habit of buying only from hand-to-mouth. That policy was favored by a degree of efficiency in transportation in this country beyond anything ever before known in its history. The call loan renewal rate is now the highest for two years past, partly on the usual increased demand at the holidays. Money rates, however, have not prevented an active and sharply rising stock market. For that matter the call rate dropped to 5½% as the holiday demand slackened and the supply increased. Bonds have been in excellent demand at rising prices. This is one of the really constructive factors in the situation. The commodity markets in the main have been higher. Mail order business is very heavy and one concern which had a capitalization of $50,000,000, will raise it to $100,000,000; its $100 par value shares were recently quoted at $800. In London the stock market has been active and stronger, notably on rubber shares, on which higher dividends are expected. The price of crude rubber has recently shown a downward tendency, with a lessened demand. There is sharp criticism in this country of the measures taken during the past year to bolster up prices of rubber, although it is only fair to remember that at one time this industry was unduly depressed. But artificial measures in the long run defeat themselves. They tend to raise prices to an abnormal level and that induces greatly increased production which in the end again brings down prices. At Washington the House voted to inquire into various foreign commodity prices which have been materially advanced, including rubber, potash, coffee, pulp and sisal.

Manchester, N. H., wired that as things look to-day, the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co. will in 1926 be able to operate at 75% of capacity in the worsted division and at 70% on cotton. The number of looms running on rayon fabrics is being increased daily. The Great Falls, N. H., Manufacturing Co., cotton fabric manufacturers, with mills at Sommersworth are now operating at 70% of capacity. One year ago this plant was in serious difficulties, but its recovery is complete. The new mill now is operating at capacity and working nights on wide sateens. The bleachery is running in full. Most cotton duck mills are sold well ahead. Tire mills are busy on contracts received some time ago. They have been shipping more heavily to distributers than they have for several years at this time. At Charlotte, N. C., the mills are said to be working at nearly 100% and are sold ahead until well into next spring. Many Pennsylvania mills will close for a week or ten days over Christmas and New Year.

The short time organization committee of the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners' Association recommends spinners of the American cotton yarn section to close for a full week before Jan. 9 and it will be done. It affects 120,000 operatives.

The greatest building year in history is drawing to a close without evidence of a let-up in the boom. "Engineering News-Record" reports: "Total construction for the year will approximate $7,490,000,000, breaking all records in the annals of the construction industry, and 1926 also has all the promise of a $7,000,000,000 year." There are three possible deterrents to be watched: (1) Tightening in the money rate; (2) decline in volume of bond sales for public work; (3) smaller volume of contemplated engineering construction (not buildings) than a year ago.

The latest thing in strikes is a so-called "dignity strike" by masons in London because an Alderman said that they took one minute and twelve seconds to lay a single brick. Which goes to show that loafing on the job is not confined to this country.

It was rainy and mild here in the fore part of the week, but grew cold and clear on the 23d inst., with a high wind late on the 22d, after a day of temperatures of 41 to 46 degrees. Chicago on the 22d inst. was 16 to 22, Cincinnati 22 to 30, Kansas City 12 to 14, Abilene, Texas, 20 to 36, St. Paul 12 to 16, and Winnipeg 6 to 8. Heavy gales in France of a velocity as high as 100 miles an hour did much damage and big storms did serious damage in Portugal and Sweden. To-day it was clear here and cool, i. e., 26 at 8 a. m. and 34 in the afternoon.

Clay Herrick's Report on General Business Conditions.

"We are about to enter the year 1926 with a high degree of general activity and with large buying power," said Clay Herrick, Vice-President of The Guardian Trust Company, Cleveland, in discussing business conditions. "Many industries are exceedingly active, while very few are in a state approaching depression. Conditions seem to assure a continuance of a big volume of business with good profits during at least the first part of the new year." Mr. Herrick added:

From the longer term viewpoint, conclusions are not so easily drawn. Much will depend upon whether or not business is expanded too rapidly during the next few months. We appear to be at a stage in the cycle when temptation to overproduction or excessive competition will be great, and results may bring reaction. In some industries producing capacity is still capable of being utilized in excess of current demand.

Business reaches its greatest aggregate when all industries are booming at the same time. If some are increasing in volume while others are declining, the result may be a fairly constant total volume, or the total may increase or decrease quite rapidly in accordance with the relative importance of the lines of industry which are incresing or declining. At present there are lines which show promise of considerable increase of activity, but there are others whose trend is apt to be the other way. Some of the large contributors to general activity during the present year seem to us apt to show a decrease in volume during 1926. Prominent among these is building construction. This is still very active, but its continuance throughout the new year upon the volume of 1925 seems improbable. If it drops off, a decline will follow in business of the various lines of building supplies and in total of wages paid in building trades. One hesitates to forecast the future of the automobile business, but the evidence seems to be against its repeating the sales volume of the present year. The support to be given to next year's volume of business by railroad equipment purchases, by farmer buying and by some other large sources of demand remains to be determined. If the abundant and easy supply of credit which has been available for two years begins to tighten further, as is probable, an impotrant cause of some of the present activity will have been removed.

The immediate future may be faced with confidence. Longer time plans may well be tempered with caution. It is a time when the confirmed pessimist will lose business by failing to grasp opportunities, the over-optimistic will take chances which later will bring losses, while the man of good judgment will choose a middle course which will bring reasonable profits without leaving him unprepared for possible adverse developments.

Survey of Current Business—Gains in Industrial Output.

The Department of Commerce at Washington, in its survey of current business, made public Dec. 21, says:

When allowance is made for the difference in the length of month, the gains in industrial output, as recorded in October, were extended in November in such commodities as pig iron, steel ingots, cotton consumption, railroad locomotives and zinc. Tin deliveries, the consumption of silk, the production of copper and cement, Dougls fir, oak flooring and the receipts of wool at Boston, on the other hand, were smaller than in October, but, except for wool receipts and tin deliveries, were larger than in November 1924. Unfilled orders for steel and locomotives on Nov. 30 were higher than at the end of October.

Sales by mail order houses and ten-cent chain stores declined seasonally from the previous month but were 13 and 11%, respectively, higher than in November 1924. Correspondingly, check payments and postal receipts in the 100 largest cities were smaller than in October but larger than a year ago. The demand for goods, as evidenced by carloadings, was greater than a year ago, the changes from October being almost completely of a seasonal character. Traffic through the Sault Ste. Marie canals, though seasonally smaller than in October, was considerably larger than in November 1924. Sales of life insurance, though smaller than in October, were larger than a year ago.

Bills discounted by Federal Reserve banks increased in November and at the end of that month were almost three times as large as a year ago, while total reserves and the reserve ration continued to decline. Loans and discounts of member banks continued to mount while investments were declining. Interest rates on all call loans averaged higher than in October and were twice as high as a year ago, while rates on commercial paper, though higher than a year ago, showed relatively little change from the preceding month. Dividend and interest disbursements during December were considerably higher than in either the previous month or a year ago, while average prices for industrial stocks were lower than in October, though prices for railroad stocks averaged higher. Business failures were larger both in number and in defaulted liabilities than in either the preceding month or November 1924.

Practically No Change in Wholesale Prices in November 1925 as Compared with October.

Practically no change in the general level of wholesale prices from October to November is shown by information gathered in leading markets by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor. The Bureau's weighted index number, which includes 404 commodities or price series, registered 157.7 for November, compared with 157.6 for the month before. Compared with November 1924, with an index of 152.7, an increase of 3¼% is shown, says the Bureau's statement of Dec. 17, which adds:

Farm products declined 1% from the October level, due to falling prices of cattle, hogs, cotton and cottonseed, hay, and hides. Lower prices were reported also for clothing materials and housefurnishing goods, including furniture. In all other groups prices averaged higher than in October, ranging from less than 1% in the case of building materials and chemicals and drugs to 3% in the case of articles classed as miscellaneous.

Of the 404 commodities or price series for which comparable information for October and November was collected, increases were shown in 138 instances, and decreases in 113 instances. In 153 instances no change in price was reported.

Increase in Retail Prices of Food in November 1925.

The retail food index issued by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor shows for Nov. 15 1925 an increase of almost 3½% since Oct. 15 1925; an increase of about 11½% since Nov. 15 1924, and an increase of 59 1-3% since Nov. 15 1913. The index number (1913=100.0) was 161.6 in October and 167.1 in November 1925. Under date of Dec. 17 the Bureau further says:

During the month from Oct. 15 1925 to Nov. 15 1925 13 articles on which monthly prices are secured increased as follows: Potatoes, 41%; strictly fresh eggs, 15%; canned red salmon and storage eggs, 3%; flour, 2%; evaporated milk, butter, oleomargarine, cheese, rice and oranges, 1%, and wheat cereal and coffee, less than five-tenths of 1%. Nineteen articles decreased: Pork chops, 4%; round steak, lard and granulated sugar, 3; sirloin steak, rib roast, chuck roast, hens, onions, canned corn and canned tomatoes, 2%; bacon, ham, navy beans, canned peas, raisins and bananas, 1%; and vegetable lard substitutes and tea less than five-tenths of 1%. The following 11 articles showed no change in the month: Plate beef, leg of lamb, fresh milk, bread, cornmeal, rolled oats, corn flakes, macaroni, cabbage, baked beans, and prunes.

Changes in Retail Prices of Food, by Cities.

During the month from Oct. 15 1925 to Nov. 15 1925 the average cost of food increased in all cities as follows: Butte, Cincinnati, Louisville and Springfield, 5%; Bridgeport, Chicago, Columbus, Denver, Detroit, Fall River, Indianapolis, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Manchester, Milwaukee, Mobile, New Haven, Omaha, Peoria, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Portland, Me., Richmond, Rochester, and Scranton, 4%; Atlanta, Baltimore, Buffalo, Cleveland, Memphis, Minneapolis, Newark, New Orleans, New York, Norfolk, Portland, Ore., Providence, St. Louis, St. Paul, San Francisco, Savannah, and Seattle, 3%; Birmingham, Boston, Charleston, So. Caro., Houston, Little Rock, and Washington, 2%, and Dallas, Los Angeles, and Salt Lake City, 1%.

For the year period November 1924 to November 1925, all of the 51 cities showed increases: Cincinnati, Jacksonville, and Savannah, 15%; Louisville and Minneapolis, 14%; Atlanta, Detroit, Kansas City, Omaha, Peoria, and Philadelphia, 13%; Buffalo, Denver, Indianapolis, New Haven, St. Louis, St. Paul, Scranton, and Seattle, 12%; Boston, Bridgeport, Chicago, Columbus, Norfolk, Pittsburgh, Richmond, San Francisco, and Springfield, Ill., 11%; Baltimore, Butte, Cleveland, Fall River, Little Rock, Manchester, Memphis, Newark, New York, Portland, Me., Providence, and Rochester, 10%; Birmingham, Houston, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Mobile, New Orleans, and Washington, 9%; Charleston, So. Caro., and Portland, Ore., 8%; Salt Lake City, 7%; and Dallas, 6%.

As compared with the average cost in the year 1913, food in November 1925 was 76% higher in Chicago and Richmond, 74% in Washington, 73% in Baltimore, Buffalo and Detroit; 72% in New York, 71% in Birmingham, Boston, Philadelphia and Scranton; 70% in Providence, 69% in New Haven and St. Louis; 68% in Atlanta and Pittsburgh; 67% in Fall River, 66% in Charleston, S. C.; Cincinnati and San Francisco; 65% in Jacksonville, Louisville and Manchester; 64% in Cleveland, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and Omaha; 62% in New Orleans, 61% in Indianapolis, 60% in Newark, 59% in Dallas, 57% in Los Angeles and Seattle; 56% in Little Rock and Memphis, 52% in Denver, 50% in Portland, Ore., and 43% in Salt Lake City. Prices were not obtained from Bridgeport, Butte, Columbus, Houston, Mobile, Norfolk, Peoria, Portland, Me., Rochester, St. Paul, Savannah and Springfield, Ill., in 1913, hence no comparison for the 12-year period can be given for those cities.

November Life Insurance Sales Show Substantial Increase Over Year Ago.

Sales of ordinary life insurance in the United States for the month of November are 17% more than sales in November 1924, according to figures just issued by the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau of Hartford, Conn. Sales in the month by 81 companies having 88% of the business in force totaled $637,023,000 of insurance. This is an increase of $92,000,000 over the sales of November 1924, says the Bureau, which adds:

Section Gains.

Every section of the country shows an increase in sales in November this year over November last, as well as a gain for the year to date. The greatest gains in November are in the South Atlantic section, with a 29% increase. This section comprises the following States: Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina,

South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. Every State in this section shows a gain.

State Increases.

Improved business conditions over last year are reflected by the increases in the various States. Practically every State in the country shows a gain. The real estate boom in Florida has greatly increased sales of life insurance. This month sales in Florida are $8,892,000 as compared to $3,247,000 in November 1924, which is a gain of 174%.

The following nine States show gains of 30% or more in sales for November

	Gain over Nov. '24.		Gain over Nov. '24.
Florida	174%	Arizona	33%
North Dakota	70%	Minnesota	33%
New Hampshire	41%	West Virginia	33%
South Carolina	40%	Virginia	32%
Mississippi	34%

Every State except New Mexico shows an increase for the year to date.

For the third successive month cumulative sales are 14% more than in the corresponding period of last year. Sales in the first 11 months of this year amounted to $7,262,750,000, an increase of $913,000,000 over the same months of 1924.

Canadian Life Insurance Sales in November Show 7% Increase.

Canadian purchases of ordinary life insurance are 7% ahead of the corresponding period of last year, according to a report just published by the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau of Hartford, Conn. The Bureau's advices state:

During this month $36,760,000 of new business, which is an increase of $4,000,000 over the sales of November 1924, was delivered and paid for by companies having in force 83% of the total business in Canada.

Practically every Province shows improved conditions. The increases in the various Provinces range from 4% in Quebec to 42% in Prince Edward Island.

Improved business conditions over last year are reflected in the West by the records of Alberta with a gain of 20%, Saskatchewan with a gain of 12%, and Manitoba with a gain of 33%. In the East, Ontario, Quebec and Nova Scotia shows gains of 6%, 4%, and 7%, respectively.

There is a wide variation in the records of the different cities. Hamilton leads with a gain of 25%. Toronto and Winnipeg follow, each with gains of 12%.

For the third successive month the cumulative sales are 8% greater than in the corresponding period of last year. Most of the Provinces share in the gain for the 11 months. The gain in the 12 months ended Nov. 30 1925 over the preceding 12 months is 7%.

Preliminary Summary of Agricultural and Business Conditions in Federal Reserve District of Minneapolis

In its preliminary summary of agricultural and financial conditions made public Dec. 14, the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis says:

Evidence continues to accumulate indicating that the new purchasing power created by the 1925 crops in this district is not equal to that created by the crops of 1924. For the second consecutive month, grain marketings have been about half of the volume moved a year ago, and the price average for all the cash grain crops is not equal to that of last year.

Livestock marketings have been remarkably large and some records have been broken this fall. Also, the prices received for livestock and produce have been much better than last year.

These gains for animal products have not been sufficient to counterbalance the losses on the grains. Detailed estimates made by us of the market values of the four cash grains (bread wheat, durum, rye and flax) marketed in August, September, October and November combined show a decrease of 30% as compared with the same period a year ago. Similar estimates for the market values of livestock marketings show a gain of 48%. But the money value of the two (grains and livestock) combined is 21% below the same four months in 1924. Additional evidence of this decline as compared with last year is given by the volume of check payments at banks in this district, which declined for the second consecutive month (14% in October and 11% in November).

However, it must be borne in mind that the crops of 1924 were unusually large, and sold at attractive prices owing to a world shortage. It is altogether probable that we are nearer a normal condition today than for several years past.

Carloadings in October and during the first three weeks in November were slightly larger than a year ago in the aggregate. But if allowance is made for the increase in less-than-car-load lots, which represent a variable tonnage, and for the later season this year for the movement of iron ore, the resulting figure for carloadings is slightly below last year for October and November combined. Other indices of physical volume show mixed trends.

Distribution of merchandise at retail fell considerably below November last year. Nineteen reporting retailers combined had 7% smaller sales this year, and only four of the nineteen stores registered individual increases.

Decline in Wages and Employment in Pennsylvania During November—Increase in New Jersey and Delaware.

In its monthly compilation the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia reports that employment and wages declined in Pennsylvania during November and increased in New Jersey and Delaware; but the changes in all three States were very slight. In New Jersey all the groups had increases with the exception of the food and tobacco and building materials, whereas in Pennsylvania the metal, food and tobacco and miscellaneous groups all reported slight declines in both employment and wages. A great many of the plants were closed down on Armistice Day, which fact accounts partly for the decreases in operations. The Bank, in its statement made public Dec. 15, continues.

In Pennsylvania the automobile, electrical machinery and pottery industries suffered the greatest losses. In each of these instances the change was brought about chiefly by a large decline of one plant in the group. The other industries reporting decreases only declined from 0 to 3% in employment. The declines in wage payments varied according to the number of plants which observed Armistice Day. Iron and steel forging, shipbuilding, carpet and rug, paint and varnish, and novelty and jewelry industries reported notable gains in both employment and wages.

Fewer New Jersey than Pennsylvania industries reported decreases in employment. Employment and wages in canneries continued to fall off seasonally. The decrease in heating appliance sis the result of a large decline at one factory. The most notable gains were experienced by engine, machine and machine tool factories, shipyards, furniture and musical instrument factories, leather tanneries and printing and publishing houses.

In Delaware the increase in employment was very slight, being only 0.2%. The food, chemical and leather groups reported decreases, but these declines only affected about 2,500 of the 9,900 employees. Metal manufacturers, the largest group, showed practically no change. Ten of the fifteen cities included in our survey showed increases in employment, and eight increases in operations. Lancaster reported the largest decline in both employment and wage payments, whereas Wilkes-Barre reported the largest advance. Philadelphia, Trenton, Allentown and Sunbury reported declines in employment up to 2%. The remaining cities made advances of from 0.2 to 2.9%. Harrisburg and Johnstown showed declines in operations but advances in employment, whereas Sunbury reported increased operations and smaller employment.

Railroad Revenue Freight Continues Heavy.

Loading of revenue freight continues to be the highest for this season of the year in the history of the railroads, the total for the week of Dec. 12 having been 1,008,824 cars, according to reports filed by the carriers with the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association. This was the 20th this year that loadings have exceeded the million car mark and the second time on record to exceed one million cars a week in December. The report goes on to say:

The total for the week of Dec. 12 was an increase of 51,400 cars over the corresponding period last year and an increase of 109,067 cars over the same week in 1923. It was, however, a decrease of 12,049 cars under the preceding week, decreases being reported in the loading of grain and grain products, ore, merchandise and less than carload lot freight and miscellaneous freight but slight increases were reported in the loading of all other commodities.

Coal loading for the week of Dec. 12 totaled 191,884 cars, an increase of 63 cars over the week before but 510 cars below the same week last year. Compared with the same week in 1923, it was an increase of 15,756 cars.

Loading of grain and grain products amounted to 58,552 cars, a decrease of 977 cars under the week before but 5,910 cars over the same week last year. It also was an increase of 7,882 cars over the same week in 1923. In the western districts alone, grain and grain products loading totaled 35,433 cars, an increase of 2,938 cars over the corresponding period last year.

Miscellaneous freight loading totaled 360,442 cars, a decrease of 10,683 cars under the week before but 34,577 cars above the same week last year. It also was an increase of 57,969 cars over the same week two years ago.

Loading of merchandise and less than carload lot freight amounted to 259,389 cars, a decrease of 3,083 cars under the week before but 11,093 cars over the same week last year. Compared with the corresponding week two years ago, it also was an increase of 19,486 cars.

Forest products loading totaled 72,211 cars, 2,137 cars over the week before and 358 cars over the same week last year. It also was an increase of 4,830 cars over the same week two years ago.

Coke loading totaled 16,391 cars, an increase of 394 cars over the preceding week and 5,078 cars above the corresponding week last year. Compared with the same week in 1923, it also was an increase of 5,079 cars.

Live stock loading for the week amounted to 37,415 cars, an increase of 732 cars above the week before but 5,825 cars below the corresponding week last year. Compared with the same week in 1923, it also was a decrease of 3,385 cars. In the western districts alone, 28,516 cars were loaded with live stock during the week, 4,810 cars below the same week last year.

Ore loading totaled 12,540 cars, a decrease of 632 cars under the preceding week due to the usual seasonal decline in ore shipments. It was, however 719 cars above the corresponding week last year and 1,450 cars above the same week two years ago.

Compared with the preceding week this year, all districts showed slight decreases in the total loading of all commodities except the Southern District, while all districts showed increases over the corresponding week in 1924 and all showed increases over the corresponding week in 1923 except the Northwestern District.

Loading of revenue freight this year compared with the two previous years follows:

Renewed Activity in New York Building

Building and engineering contracts awarded in the five boroughs of New York City during the month of November amounted to $116,907,800, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation. This was not only a 53% increase over the previous November's total, but it was also 17% over the figure for October of this year, a November increase over October being rather unusual. Last month's record included: $80,099,000, or 69% of all construction, for residential buildings; $21,453,800, or 18%, for commercial buildings; $5,712,000, or 7%, for public works and utilities; $4,475,000, or 4%, for social and recreational buildings; and $2,220,000, or 2%, for hospitals and institutions.

New construction started in the five boroughs during the past eleven months of this year has already exceeded by a slight margin the entire 1924 construction volume. It has reached a total of $884,543,500, being an increase of 9% over the first eleven months of 1924. It has been within the past few months that this substantial increase has piled up, the first half of this year having run behind the first half of 1924 in total construction volume.

West Coast Lumbermen's Association.

One hundred and two mills reporting to West Coast Lumbermen's Association for the week ending Dec. 12, manufactured 97,093,267 feet of lumber; sold 122,821,017 feet; and shipped 105,876,538 feet. New business was 26½% above production. Shipments were 9% above production.

Forty-eight per cent of all new business taken during the week was for future water delivery. This amounted to 58,901,638 feet, of which 37,847,638 feet was for domestic cargo delivery; and 21,054,000 feet export. New business by rail amounted to 1,979 cars.

Fifty-one per cent of the lumber shipments moved by water. This amounted to 53,807,159 feet, of which 38,537,352 feet moved coastwise and intercoastal; and 15,269,807 feet export. Rail shipments totaled 1,584 cars.

Local auto and team deliveries totaled 4,549,379 feet.

Unfilled domestic cargo orders totaled 103,125,828 feet. Unfilled export orders 104,431,499 feet. Unfilled rail trade orders 4,410 cars.

In the first fifty weeks of the year, production reported to West Coast Lumbermen's Association has been 4,996,566,678 feet, new business 5,139,215,016 feet, and shipments 5,151,063,411 feet.

New Automobile Models and Prices.

The new Model "90" Locomobile, ranging in price from $5,500 to $10,000, has been placed on exhibition. A smart and useful lighter car known as the Locomobile Junior-Eight is also being shown in models priced at from $2,000 to $3,500. According to press reports, the new Stutz vertical eight-cylinder models which will be presented at the Automobile Show are expected to list around $3,000. The company's entry into the eight-cylinder field marks a radical change in policy and considerable interest has been aroused in the trade by the novel engineering features embodied in the new models.

A new type of taxi-cab has been introduced by the Indian Motocycle Co. It is a three-wheel motor cycle model which, it is expected, will have a considerable demand, particularly in suburban towns, because of its low initial cost and low operating expense.

Portland Cement Output in November 1925.

Production and shipments of Portland cement in November show the expected seasonal decreases, according to statistics compiled by the Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce. As compared with the corresponding period of 1924 production shows an increase, shipments a slight decrease, while stocks are nearly 62% greater. The following tables prepared by the Division of Mineral Resources and Statistics of the Bureau of Mines are compiled from reports for November 1925, received direct from all the manufacturing plants except one, for which estimates were necessary on account of lack of a return.

a Revised.

Activity in the Cotton Spinning Industry for November 1925.

The Department of Commerce announced on Dec. 19 that according to preliminary figures compiled by the Bureau of the Census, 37,919,358 cotton spinning spindles were in place in the United Sttes on Nov. 30 1925, of which 32,892,324 were operated at some time during the month, compared with 32,425,206 for October, 31,551,630 for September, 31,267,774 for August, 31,760,596 for July, 32,309,896 for June, and 31,858,088 for November 1924. The aggregate number of active spindle hours reported for the month was 7,833,792,613. During November the normal time of operation was 24½ days (allowance being made for the observance of Thanksgiving Day in some localities) compared with 26¾ for October, 25½ for September, 26 for August, 26 for July and 26 for June. Based on an activity of 8.78 hours per day the average number of spindles operated during November was 36,417,612, or at 96% capacity on a single shift basis. This percentage compares with 89.4 for October, 83.8 for September, 80.5 for August, 84.3 for July, 89.0 for June and 87.8 for November 1924. The average number of active spindle hours per spindle in place for the month was 207. The total number of cotton spinning spindles in place, the number active, the number of active spindle hours and the average spindle hours per spindle in place, by States, are shown in the following statement:

Few Changes Noted in Crude Oil and Gasoline Prices.

Although few wide-spread changes in price were recorded during the week in either crude oil or gasoline, those which did occur were generally in the nature of advances. Premiums were being paid in certain sections, according to press reports which under date of Dec. 18 stated that certain crude oil purchasing agencies were paying from 10 to 25 cents a barrel above posted prices. It was also reported on that date that the Champlain Refining Co. had posted a new scale of prices, 15 cents per barrel above other quotations. The new prices range from $2.42 on crude of 42-42.9 gravity to $2.50 on crude of 44 or more gravity. The Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky on Dec. 18 advanced the price of kerosene 2 cents a gallon, making the tank wagon price 15 cents. Kerosene was also advanced 1 cent at Mobile, Ala., making the new price 12 cents a gallon and reduced 1 cent at Jackson. Miss., making the new price 10 cents a gallon.

Several advances in price were also reported in the gasoline market during the week just closed. On Dec. 18 the Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky advanced the service station price of gasoline 1 cents a gallon in Atlanta, Ga., making the new price 25 cents, including 3½ cents State road tax, effective Dec. 10. The Standard Oil Co. of Indiana on Dec. 21 advanced the price of gasoline 3 cents a gallon at Des Moines, restoring a normal market. The new prices are 18½ cents tank wagon and 20½ cents at service station. Several points in Sioux City district also have been advanced 2 cents a gallon. The wholesale price of motor gasolines in the Chicago market was quoted at 9¾ cents to 9⅞ cents a gallon, a decline of ⅛ cent in the asking price. On Dec. 22 the Standard Oil Co. of California announced an advance of 2 cents a gallon in the wholesale price of gasoline in the Southern part of the State. The advance brings the quotation back to its level prior to the reduction announced by Pan American Petroleum Company in September. It is expected that other companies operating in the same territory will announce a similar advance. The price in the Los Angeles district is now 18½ cents a gallon, including a 2 cent State tax, against 20 cents quoted in San Francisco.

Crude Oil Output Again Decreases.

The American Petroleum Institute estimates that the daily average gross crude oil production in the United States for the week ended Dec. 19 was 2,016,150 barrels as compared with 2,028,050 barrels for the preceding week, a decrease of 11,900 barrels. The daily average production east of California was 1,383,150 barrels, as compared with 1,395,050 barrels, a decrease of 11,900 barrels. The following are estimates of daily average gross production by districts for the weeks ended as indicated:

The estimated daily average gross production of the Mid-Continent field including Oklahoma, Kansas, North, East Central, West Central and Southwest Texas, North Louisiana and Arkansas, for the week ended Dec. 19, was 1,084,050 barrels, as compared with 1,092,250 barrels for the preceding week, a decrease of 8,200 barrels. The Mid-Continent production, excluding Smackover, Arkansas, heavy oil, was 919,500 barrels, as compared with 923,250 barrels, a decrease of 3,750 barrels.

In Oklahoma production of South Braman is reported at 4,200 barrels against 4,650 barrels; Thomas, 15,850 barrels against 16,050 barrels; Tonkawa, 41,400 barrels against 42,050 barrels; Garber, 41,400 barrels against 41,950 barrels; Burbank, 46,850 barrels against 46,900 barrels; Davenport, 21,600 barrels against 20,750 barrels; Bristow-Slick, 31,300 barrels against 31,250 barrels; Cromwell, 20,900 barrels, no change; and Papoose, 13,700 barrels against 13,750 barrels.

The Mexia pool, East Central Texas, is reported at 15,700 barrels against 15,900 barrels; Corsicana-Powell, 36,950 barrels against 36,850 barrels; Wortham, 14,450 barrels against 14,200 barrels; Reagan County, West Central Texas, 33,100 barrels against 33,850 barrels; Haynesville, North Louisiana, 11,450 barrels against 11,600 barrels; Cotton Valley, 8,700 barrels against 8,850 barrels; and Smackover Arkansas, light, 20,500 barrels against 20,900 barrels; heavy, 164,550 barrels against 169,000 barrels. In the Gulf Coast field Hull is reported at 15,600 barrels against 16,850 barrels; West Columbia, 10,050 barrels against 9,850 barrels; Orange County, 16,500 barrels against 15,850 barrels; South Liberty, 9,650 barrels against 10,300 barrels; and in the Southwest Texas field, Luling is reported at 21,500 barrels against 22,300 barrels; Lytton Springs, 8,600 barrels against 8,750 barrels.

In Wyoming, Salt Creek is reported at 58,750 barrels against 60,000 barrels.

In California, Santa Fe Springs is reported at 51,500 barrels, no change; Long Beach, 110,000 barrels, no change; Huntington Beach, 45,000 barrels, no change; Torrance, 32,000 barrels, no change; Dominguez, 25,000 barrels against 26,000 barrels; Rosecrans, 25,000 barrels against 22,500 barrels; Inglewood, 66,500 barrels against 68,000 barrels; and Midway-Sunset, 95,000 barrels, no change.

Large Steel Consumption Continues—Pig Iron Market Tends to Favor Seller

Further evidence of the large scale of consumption of steel is noted this week in the usual summary of market conditions issued by the "Iron Age." While new orders are at less than last month's rate, reports from several large companies show that the difference is not more than 10 per cent. This fact and the favorable comparison of order books today with those of a year ago make producers complacent in the face of an expected quiet period running into mid-January, continues the "Age," adding:

> The past week has been one of heavy production, several large companies running close to 90% of capacity, in view of the Christmas shutdowns which will bring this week's average down to 75% or less.
> Chicago mills have had a volume of sales and specifications for the third week of December that has been exceeded in only four weeks this year. Western consumers are taking more bars than in November. In the East, on the other hand, deliveries of some bars bought for the fourth quarter will not be needed until January or later.

Plans for the automobile industry point to an increased shipment of steel in the first quarter of the new year. With the strong drift toward all-steel bodies, 1926 promises to make a new record in steel consumption for motor cars.

Railroad equipment orders give a substantial tonnage of steel for specification early in the year. New cars ordered total 5525, of which 2000 are for the Baltimore & Ohio, 1000 for the Pittsburgh & West Virginia, 925 for the Atlantic Coast Line, and small lots for a number of roads. Cars pending total 8191. Of 75 locomotives ordered, 50 are for the B. & O.

The Southern Pacific is expected to place 100,000 tons of rails, the bulk going to Alabama and Colorado mills.

For the most part the pig iron market is tending more in the seller's favor. Stocks on furnace yards have been reduced further. More blast furnaces are going in, however.

The "Iron Age" composite prices have not changed this week. Pig iron remains at $21.54 per gross ton for the fourth week and finished steel at 2.453c. per lb. for the third week.

Though immediate buying is modified by influences of the season, the underlying demand for iron and steel is remarkably heavy for this period of the year, declares the "Iron Trade Review" on Dec. 24. To meet specifications on hand, production continues at record breaking pace. For the Chicago district, new business and specifications in December have been the largest in history. Pig iron shipments, which measure in a broad way the proportions of consumption, are exceptionally large and well sustained, continues the "Review" in its weekly summary of conditions affecting the market, from which we quote further as follows:

After having approached the loftiest point of the year, steel production will be curtailed sharply this week because of holidays, many plants remaining closed from Thursday night until Monday. Sheet and tin plate output will be reduced about 40%. Pittsburgh operations have been at 90% of ingot capacity. Chicago keeps at 87%, Youngstown district at 86%. The Steel Corp. is running 88%.

At the present rate of operations, the Carnegie Steel Co. will produce in December 700,000 tons of ingots, which represents more than full working capacity. Another good work in railroad buying is shown. Car orders placed run about 4,000, locomotives placed totaled 75. The largest rail business in sight is 100,000 tons for the Southern Pacific. Recent orders for tie plates, awarded by New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, and St. Paul Roads, call for a total of 50,000 tons.

Recent car orders have benefited Pittsburgh rather than Chicago mills, to which in the past most of this tonnage has been going. Pittsburgh mills have taken 60,000 tons of this business. The Pullman Co. for its program placed 9,000 tons at Chicago.

Coke prices have taken a second upward spurt due to influences arising in the anthracite situation. After selling down to $4.75 ovens, crushed coke rebounded last week to $6 and $8, with selected grades quoted $10.

German cast iron pipe has invaded the Pacific coast market for the first time and captured 1,300 tons for Glendale, California. On 7,500 tons for Fort Worth, Texas, French makers have submitted the lowest bid.

November exports of iron and steel rose 171,134 tons or second largest monthly total in 1925. Shipments of semifinished material increased sharply, due chiefly to large exports of skelp to Canada. Imports in November were 79,771 tons.

The "Iron Trade Review's" composite price on fourteen leading iron and steel products this week is $39.10. This figure has been the average for the two previous weeks.

Colder Weather Increases Demand for Coal—Prices Remain Fairly Stable

The cold weather put new life in the New York coal market and all branches of the trade were busy, particularly around the end of the week, observes the "Coal Trade Journal" this week. Coke was in the greatest demand and prices rose, in some cases a dollar a ton. By-product run-of-oven and sized and beehive sized coke were sold up for the time being and none could be had for prompt shipment. There was still a little anthracite buckwheat and river barley to be had at high prices. High volatile prepared was up, as was the low volatile, but activity was not great. Low volatile slack was scarce and firmly held, continues this review of market conditions, from which we quote further, as follows:

Due to continued lack of interest on the part of consumers, the tidewater bituminous market at Boston was dull and prices declined about 15 cents. Many of the larger consumers have enough coal to last them into 1926 and were unwilling to purchase more. Arrivals declined during the week. Supplies at Providence were scarce temporarily and prices, in consequence, were firmly held. As the demand was small, prices were nominal. The all-rail bituminous market was dull with sales few and prices soft. The domestic market improved and most of the prepared bituminous standing at junctions was cleaned up. All the foreign fuel at Boston was cleaned up last week and the importers were taking orders on coal not yet arrived.

Winter weather strengthened the Philadelphia coke market and prices and demand were up again after a bad slump of several weeks. Bituminous substitutes were in greater demand but dealers were not stocking to any extent. They feel that the anthracite strike is liable to end at any time and do not wish to be caught. Pool prices were a little soft in most cases but coke went up and was expected to go higher.

The Baltimore bituminous market was dull and showed little change with competition keen. Even prepared bituminous was in little demand. The export situation continued to be very inactive as there have been no foreign shipments for over a month. Pool quotations were unchanged.

Prices were slightly better in the central Pennsylvania bituminous field with demand better and loadings improved during the past week.

The coal demand in the Pittsburgh market showed little change over the previous week. Industrial demand slackened on account of the annual inventory period coming on. By-product coal was firmer due to the increased activity at the coke ovens. The slack market in both grades was stationary and there was a large quantity available. The Connellsville coke field experienced another rise in production and a jump in quotations, though foundry coke was not affected as much as was the furnace grade.

Stocks of both high and low volatile coals in southern West Virginia were large and the market was not absorbing them as much last week as was true for some time past. Lack of demand from the East was responsible in a great measure for the accumulation of tonnage. Quotations on the lump were off though those on the egg were stronger. High volatile prepared was weak in demand though prices were well maintained.

The market in northern West Virginia lagged last week with the exception of slack, which was in good demand and firmly held. Prepared sizes were waiting for a cold spell to continue their former activity. The railroads were buying in limited quantities. Production in the region last week was slightly below that of the week before. This applied to both union and non-union mines.

Activity in the Upper Potomac and western Maryland fields slacked off particularly in the domestic grades, and prices were much lower. Coke was in the same position. Industrial demand, while fair, was far from satisfactory. Conditions in the Virginia field were unchanged and some of the coke produced in this field was being stored.

Year-end readjustment in the bituminous coal market is responsible to a great extent for conditions that have caused the trade to be in a frame of mind that is not exactly exultant, declares the "Coal Age" in its Dec. 24 review of market conditions. That is an old story, of course, in a business that has its full share of hard-boiled factors. This is not to say that it lacks optimists, for as a matter of fact it is the latter class who allow their cheerful expectations to blind their judgment, and when their hopes and predictions fail of realization—as many have since the hard coal controversy first appeared on the horizon—due in large measure to overplaying hunches and the reappearance of the evils that no business can escape, they are grieved to hear aspersions cast at the industry, says the "Age," adding further remarks which we quote herewith:

It is gratifying to note that during the present difficulty the coal business has been freer than usual from practices of a questionable character. Like the cut-up who rocks the boat, the producer who is willing to "take a chance" and ship on consignment always is with us, and he eventually meets the usual fate, but there always is another to take his place. The better element in the trade—those with its best interests at heart—are sticking to ethical methods, realizing that such fundamentals as the survival of the fittest are still doing business at the old stand.

All things considered, the trade may be said to be pursuing a normal course. If business is not up to expectations—and it never is, in the estimation of some—that, perhaps is because too much was expected. There is good reason to believe, however, that the outlook is better, for with the completion of inventories and the passing of the engrossing interests of holiday time there is bound to be a let-up in the marketing-time policy now more or less prevalent, consumption continues apace and the end of the anthracite strike is not yet in sight. Curtailment of production by observance of the holidays at the mines also will tend toward a healthier condition in the market.

Governor Pinchot's efforts at peace in the hard-coal field having led nowhere in articular—save, possibly, deeper into hot water—resumption of mining seems to be as far off as ever. The special session of the Legislature called for Jan. 13 is likely to be productive of prolonged and acrimonious debate before accomplishment much in the way of results. Perhaps for that reason the demand for anthracite substitutes has improved, especially for coke, the price of which has taken a turn for the better.

The "Coal Age" index of spot prices of bituminous coal stood on Dec. 21 at 179, the corresponding price being $2.17, compared with 182 and $2.20 respectively on Dec. 14.

Dumpings of coal at Hampton Roads during the week ended Dec. 17 totaled 457,157 net tons, as against 337,558 tons in the preceding week.

Cottonseed Production During November.

On Dec. 18 the Bureau of the Census issued the following statement showing cottonseed received, crushed and on hand and cottonseed products manufactured, shipped out, on hand and exports during the month of November 1925 and 1924:

Bituminous Coal Production Makes Further Gain—Anthracite Situation Unchanged—Coke Output Decreases.

During the week ended Dec. 12 a gain of 31,000 net tons was made in the production of bituminous coal and of 2,000 tons in the production of anthracite. Coke, on the other hand, lost by about 7,000 tons when compared with the preceding week, according to statistics furnished by the U. S. Bureau of Mines, from which we reprint the following:

Production of bituminous coal during the week ended Dec. 12, including lignite and coal coked at the mines, is estimated at 12,898,000 net tons, a gain of 31,000 tons over the revised figure for the preceding week. The average daily rate of output maintained during the first two weeks in December has been approximately 2,148,000. Compared with the November rate, this represents a gain of 5,000 tons a day.

ANTHRACITE.

Production of anthracite for the week of Dec. 12, based on reports received from the principal carriers, is estimated at 64,000 tons, an increase of 2,000 tons over the preceding week. Total output during the calendar year to date is now 62,009,000 tons, 27.8% less than during the corresponding period of 1924.

BEEHIVE COKE.

Production of beehive coke during the week ended Dec 12 s estimated at 291,000 net tons, a decrease of 7,000 tons, or 2.3%, compared with the preceding week. The decrease was confined to Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Compared with the corresponding week of 1924, the week of Dec. 12 shows an increase of 99,000 tons, or 51.6%. Total putput during the calendar year to date is now 9,946,000 tons, 9.8% more than during the corresponding period of 1924.

Coke Statistics for November.

Production of by-product coke during the month of November, as reported by the operators, amounted to 3,557,000 net tons, an increase of 155,000 tons, or 4.6%, compared with the preceding month. November being a 30-day month, the daily output increased to 118,576 tons, a gain of 8,828 tons, or 8%, compared with the October rate. According to the monthly report of the industry compiled by the U. S. Bureau of Mines, from which we quote: "The coke plants operated at about 88% of capacity. With the inclusion of the new plant at Troy, N. Y., and the rebuilt plant at Chester, Pa., the total number of by-product plants now in existence is 80, of which 74 were active during the month. The current output is the highest on record for any month."

According to the "Iron Age," the production of coke pig iron for the 30 days in November was 3,015,482 gross tons, or 100,516 tons per day, as compared with 3,023,370 tons or 97,528 tons per day for the 31 days in October. This is the first time the daily rate has exceeded 100,000 tons per day since last April. A year ago the November production was 2,509,673 tons.

Beehive coke production continued to increase during November, the total being estimated at 1,213,000 net tons, an increase of 207,000 tons, or 20.6%, compared with the month of October.

Production of all coke amounted to 4,770,000 tons, the by-product plants contributing 75%, the beehive plants the remainder.

Production of Bituminous Coal in November.

The total production of bituminous coal during November amounted to 50,780,000 net tons, a figure within two million of that recorded for November 1920, a year of great activity, according to the report just issued by the United States Bureau of Mines.

During the month of November 1925 there were three holidays which were partially observed at the soft coal mines, the number of normal working days totaling approximately 23.7 as against 27 in October. The average output per working day amounted to 2,143,000 tons. Compared with the daily rate in October and September, this shows increases of 8.8 and 16.3%, respectively.

It is estimated that during the month of November 151,000 net tons of anthracite were produced.

Current Events and Discussions

The Week with the Federal Reserve Banks.

The consolidated statement of condition of the Federal Reserve banks on Dec. 23, made public by the Federal Reserve Board, and which deals with the results for the twelve Federal Reserve banks combined, reflects the usual holiday demand for currency, Federal Reserve note circulation increasing $107,400,000 during the week and cash reserves declining $52,700,000. Holdings of discounted bills went up $145,100,000 and of acceptances purchased in the open market $17,300,000, while Government securities went down $39,000,000, the redemption of $91,000,000 of temporary certificates issued by the Treasury to the Federal Reserve banks on the previous report date, Dec. 16, having been partly offset by additional purchases in the open market. After noting these facts, the Federal Reserve Board proceeds as follows:

All Federal Reserve banks report increased discount holdings, with the exception of Cleveland, Minneapolis and Kansas City, which report a total decrease of $10,200,000. The principal increases in discount holdings during the week were as follows: New York, $82,000,000; Boston, $27,000,000; and Philadelphia, Chicago and Richmond, $10,000,000 each.

Open market acceptance holdings went up $25,100,000 at the New York Bank and $7,700,000 at Atlanta, while the St. Louis Bank shows a decrease of $10,100,000, and Dallas a decrease of $4,400,000. Treasury notes on hand increased $36,300,000, while holdings of United States bonds declined $7,600,000, and of Treasury certificates $67,600,000, the reduction in the latter item being more than accounted for by the retirement of $91,000,000 of temporary Treasury certificates held by the Federal Reserve banks on the preceding Wednesday.

Federal Reserve note circulation went up at all Federal Reserve banks, the principal increases being: New York, $21,700,000; Chicago, $18,100,000; Cleveland, $16,400,000; Atlanta, $11,600,000; and Philadelphia, $10,100,000.

The statement in full, in comparison with the preceding week and with the corresponding date last year, will be found on subsequent pages—namely, pages 3107 and 3108. A summary of changes in the principal assets and liabilities of the Reserve banks during the week and the year ending Dec. 16 1925 follows:

The Week with the Member Banks of the Federal Reserve System.

The Federal Reserve Board's statement of condition of 721 reporting member banks in leading cities as of Dec. 16 shows increases during the week of $17,000,000 in loans and discounts, $[illegible],000,000 in investments, $107,000,000 in net demand deposits and $219,000,000 in Government deposits. These increases were accompanied by reductions of $58,000,000 in time deposits and $64,000,000 in borrowings from the Federal Reserve banks. It should be noted that the figures for these member banks are always a week behind those for the Reserve banks themselves. Member banks in New York City reported declines of $1,000,000 in loans and discounts and $67,000,000 in borrowings from the Federal Reserve Bank, together with increases of $23,000,000 each in investments and net demand deposits, and of $54,000,000 in Government deposits. Further comments regarding the changes shown by these member banks are as follows:

Loans on U. S. Government securities declined $8,000,000 in the New York District. Loans on corporate stocks and bonds went up $72,000,000, increases being shown for all districts except Richmond and Atlanta. The principal increases in this item were $41,000,000 in the New York District and $15,000,000 in the Philadelphia District. All other loans and discounts fell off $47,000,000, of which $33,000,000 was in the New York District.

Investments in U. S. Government securities were $128,000,000 more than a week earlier, increases being shown for banks in all districts. The largest increases were as follows: New York District $44,000,000, Boston District $17,000,000, Cleveland District $15,000,000 and the Philadelphia, Chicago and San Francisco districts $9,000,000 each. Holdings of other bonds, stocks and securities declined $33,000,000, of which $14,000,000 was reported for the New York District and $8,000,000 and $7,000,000 for the Cleveland and San Francisco districts, respectively.

The increase of $107,000,000 in net demand deposits was participated in by all districts except Cleveland, Richmond and Dallas. The principal increases in this item were $34,000,000 in the New York District, $30,000,000 in the San Francisco District, $18,000,000 in the Chicago District and $15,000,000 and $14,000,000 in the Boston and Philadelphia districts, respectively.

Time deposits were $58,000,000 less than last week, the largest declines of $44,000,000 and $10,000,000 were reported for the San Francisco and Boston districts, respectively.

Government deposits went up $219,000,000, increases being reported by banks in all Federal Reserve districts.

The principal changes in borrowings from the Federal Reserve banks consisted of a reduction of $64,000,000 by banks in the New York District and of $16,000,000 and $11,000,000 by banks in the San Francisco and Boston districts, respectively, and an increase of $14,000,000 by banks in the Cleveland District.

On a subsequent page—that is, on page 3108—we give the figures in full contained in this latest weekly return of the member banks of the Reserve System. In the following is furnished a summary of the changes in the principal items as compared with a week ago and with last year:

Stock of Money in the Country.

The Treasury Department at Washington issued its customary monthly statement showing the stock of money in the country and the amount in circulation after deducting the moneys held in the United States Treasury and by Federal Reserve banks and agents. The figures this time are for Dec. 1. They show that the money in circulation at that date (including, of course, what is held in bank vaults of the member banks of the Federal Reserve System) was $4,971,764,948, as against $4,900,838,845 Nov. 1 1925 and $4,993,570,452 Dec. 1 1924 and comparing with $5,628,427,732 on Nov. 1 1920. Just before the outbreak of the European war, that is, on July 1 1914, the total was only $3,402,015,427. The following is the statement:

a Includes United States paper currency in circulation in foreign countries and the amount held by the Cuban agencies of the Federal Reserve banks.

b Does not include gold bullion or foreign coin outside of vaults of the Treasury, Federal Reserve banks and Federal Reserve agents.

c These amounts are not included in the total since the money held in trust against gold and silver certificates and Treasury notes of 1890 is included under gold coin and bullion and standard silver dollars, respectively.

d The amount of money held in trust against gold and silver certificates and Treasury notes of 1890 should be deducted from this total before combining it with total money outside of the Treasury to arrive at the stock of money in the United States.

e This total includes $15,106,213 of notes in process of redemption, $154,305,713 of gold deposited for redemption of Federal Reserve notes, $15,246,079 deposited for redemption of national bank notes, $4,565 deposited for retirement of additional circulation (Act of May 30 1908), and $6,576,290 deposited as a reserve against Postal Savings deposits.

f Includes money held by the Cuban agencies of the Federal Reserve banks of Boston and Atlanta.

Note.—Gold certificates are secured dollar for dollar by gold held in the Treasury for their redemption; silver certificates are secured dollar for dollar by standard silver dollars held in the Treasury for their redemption; United States notes are secured by a gold reserve of $153,620,986 held in Treasury. This reserve fund may also be used for redemption of Treasury notes of 1890, which are also secured dollar for dollar by standard silver dollars held in Treasury. Federal Reserve notes are obligations of the United States and a first lien on all the assets of the issuing Federal Reserve bank. Federal Reserve notes are secured by the deposit with Federal Reserve agents of a like amount of gold or of gold and such discounted or purchased paper as is eligible under the terms of the Federal Reserve Act. Federal Reserve banks must maintain a gold reserve of at least 40%, including the gold redemption fund which must be deposited with the United States Treasurer, against Federal Reserve notes in actual circulation. Lawful money has been deposited with the Treasurer of the United States for retirement of all outstanding Federal Reserve bank notes. National bank notes are secured by United States bonds except where lawful money has been deposited with the Treasurer of the United States for their retirement. A 5% fund is also maintained in lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States for the redemption of national bank notes secured by Government bonds.

Offering of "Snia Viscosa" Shares in New York Market

E. F. Hutton & Co. and Harvey Fisk & Sons announced this week the offering in the New York market of depositary receipts, representing fully paid shares of capital stock, of "Snia Viscosa" (Societa Nazionale Industria, Applicazioni Viscosa), of Turin, Italy, reported to be the third largest manufacturer of Rayon in the world. This stock, offered at $16 per share, does not represent new financing in behalf of the company, but is arranged to facilitate the development of an international market for the company's shares. The offering consists of depositary receipts of the Chase National Bank of New York, representing 600,000 fully paid shares of capital stock of Snia Viscosa deposited with the Chase bank. The depositary receipts are registerable, negotiable and transferable in this country. Dividends will be payable in New York City to the registered holders of depositary receipts by check in U. S. dollars. Further information regarding this issue may be found in our "Investment News" department on page 3142.

Offering of $15,000,000 Swedish American Participating Preferred Stock

A syndicate headed by Lee, Higginson & Co., Brown Brothers & Co. and Clark, Dodge & Co. on December 23 offered for public subscription an issue of $15,000,000 participating preferred stock at $99 per share. The stock is preferred as to cumulative dividends at the rate of 6½ per cent (the present rate) per annum and participates equally with the common stock, share for share, in dividends in excess of $6.50 per share paid on common stock in any year.

Swedish American Investment Corporation, incorporated in Delaware in December, 1926, has been formed by prominent Swedish interests, together with American interests, and owns, or will own, upon application of proceeds of present financing, stocks and other securities, including holdings in banks, real estate companies and industrial companies in Sweden and other countries. Under its charter it may, among other things, acquire, hold and sell securities either of present companies or of other companies or of governments or municipalities, and may issue its own securities to acquire such investments. Further information regarding this issue may be found in our "Investment News" department on page 3143.

Investment by Dillon, Read & Co. in Stock of Disconto-Gesellschaft.

Announcement that Dillon, Read & Co. of this city and a number of banking associates have purchased for investment a block of shares of the Disconto-Gesellschaft, one of the largest and most important banks in Germany, was made on Dec. 12. The following in the matter is taken from the New York "Times":

The American bankers will not be represented on the board, but will have a close relationship with the management of the bank. While large sums of American capital have been flowing to Germany, it has been mostly for investment in bonds, and this is one of the few cases in which New York financial interests have obtained an interest in the capital shares of a German institution.

The Disconto-Gesellschaft is one of the "D" banks, comprising the largest in Germany, the others being the Deutsche Bank, the Darmstadter-National and the Dresdner Bank. The Disconto-Gesellschaft has always occupied an important position in German financing and industry. It is estimated that the bank is directly or indirectly connected with the management of more than 600 German corporations.

Before the war this bank was instrumental in placing the securities of a number of foreign corporations in Germany, among which were the securities of the Pennsylvania RR. and other leading American companies. The issued capital stock of the bank is 100,000,000 reichsmarks, on which dividends of 10% were paid last year. The bank has paid dividends on its stock in every year since its organization, in 1851, with the exception of 1870 and 1923. Since 1894 dividends have never been less than 8% a year. The shares of the bank are currently quoted above par on the Berlin Stock Exchange.

The Disconto-Gesellschaft has branches all over Germany and owns all or part of the capital stock of banking institutions in Amsterdam, Vienna, Rio de Janeiro, Valparaiso, Chile and elsewhere. It has banking offices in 125 cities in Germany.

Until about a year ago it was virtually impossible for outside investors to obtain capital shares in German banks and other institutions, the practice having been frowned on by the Berlin Government. At one time a law provided that none but residents of Germany might own securities that gave them voting rights in German concerns. This has been changed, and it is expected that next year will see increasing amounts of American capital so invested in Germany.

German Land Bank Fails—Not Considered Sign of Banking Weakness Elsewhere.

Copyright advices are reported as follows from Berlin, Dec. 13 by the New York "Times":

Among the unsettling influences of the past week was the suspension of payments by the Berlin Land Bank. This institution had financed undertakings of rural settlements.

No apprehension is felt, however, regarding the position of the commercial banks.

Germany's Foreign Loans—Berlin Bank Puts Them at 1,895,000,000 Marks in a Year.

Under the above head the New York "Times" reported the following from Berlin (copyright), Dec. 13:

A summary of the Handelsgeselischaft Bank puts the total of long-term German foreign loans issued between October 1924 and October 1925, at 1,895,000,000 marks. Of these it ascribes 1,310,000 marks to public borrowers, in addition to which there were short-term credits aggregating 2,000,000,000 to 2,500,000,000.

These figures are taken to mean that since the Dawes settlement something like 4,000,000,000 marks of foreign credits have been acquired, a sum which approximately equals the surplus of imports in Germany's foreign trade.

German Reparation Receipts and Payments for November.

Reparation receipts of 96,032,307 gold marks during the month of November are reported by the office of the Agent-General for Reparation Payments. The figures were made public under date of Dec. 10—the statement showing receipts for the second annuity year—cumulative to Nov. 30 1925 of 250,662,638 gold marks. Out of the total cash of 357,675,909 gold marks available in the second annuity year to Nov. 30 1925, the payments aggregated 258,335,484 gold marks. The statement follows:

Proposed Bond Offering in Behalf of Catholic Church of Bavaria.

It was made known last week that negotiations are in progress for a loan to the Roman Catholic Church of Bavaria. One of the accounts of the proposed financing—that appearing in the New York "Times" of Dec. 15—had the following to say in the matter:

For the first time in the history of the Roman Catholic Church an integral branch of it has arranged a loan in Wall Street on which bonds will be offered for public subscription. The Catholic Church of the State of Bavaria is the borrower, and the loan may be as large as $30,000,000, of which an initial offering of $10,000,000 is expected to be made within the next few weeks.

This represents the second breaking of precedents in Catholic financing this year. A few months age the Holy See, in conferences in Rome with representatives of American bankers, concluded arrangements for a credit which was advanced by the Chase National Bank and Blair & Co., Inc., for special Vatican purposes. That was a private banking credit, the terms of which were never fully revealed, while in the present case American investors will be invited to participate in the loan.

It is understood that a group of five or more American banking houses will underwrite the Bavarian Church loan. While the syndicate has not been completed, it was reported in Wall Street that A. Iselin & Co. would head the banking group, which is expected to include, among others, Howe, Snow & Bertles, Inc. Interest rates and the offering price of the bonds have not yet been decided.

The loan is being obtained jointly by all the Catholic dioceses in Bavaria, and is mainly for construction purposes. Little new church building was done in Bavaria during or since the war. While the Church is in a prosperous condition, it was decided that building needs were so large that temporary financial accommodation from the outside world was needed. According to word received yesterday from Mainz, one of the principal Bavarian cities, the proceeds of the loan will be used to erect new churches, schools and other structures, to catch up with the work neglected during and since the war.

Bavaria, one of the richest of the German States, is predominantly Catholic, it being estimated that 90% of the population belongs to that faith. It is understood that large church revenues will be pledged as security for the interest and principal of the new loan, in addition to which first mortgages will be given on church buildings and other properties. Structures of this character in Bavaria are among the most famous of their kind in Europe. The Catholic Church in Bavaria receives large allotments of funds for educational and other purposes from the German Government, and it is understood these will also form a part of the pledge behind the new bonds.

Strong Position of German Reichsbank—"Discount Rationing" Policy Now Strongly Approved in Berlin Financial Circles.

From the New York "Times" we quote the following from Berlin, Dec. 13 (copyright):

The Reichsbank's position is increasingly favorable. In particular, its reserve of legal-cover foreign exchange has greatly increased, standing in last week's statement as of Dec. 7 at 402,000,000 marks against only 332,000,000 in the middle of September. President Schacht's promise to relax the bank's discount-rationing policy, while refusing to reduce the present 9% discount rate of the Reichsbank, is generally approved.

The rationing policy is felt to have fully justified itself, total discounts at the end of November having been only 1,650,000,000 marks as against 2,064,000,000 at the end of last December. Financial circles also strongly approve Schacht's statement of his reasons against excessive foreign borrowing; which are, that such borrowing will compel the Reichsbank to issue constantly more notes against the foreign exchange proceeds of such loans, with the result of undue increase in German paper circulation and a dangerous rise in prices.

Reichsbank to Pay Dividend of 10%.

A radio message to the New York "Journal of Commerce" from Frankfort on the Main, Dec. 16, says:

It is stated here on good authority that the Reichsbank, although having very considerable profits this year, will probably pay only 10% dividend. As in 1924, the greater part of its profits goes to reserves and to the Government.

Berlin Bourse to Curb Irresponsible Gossip.

Advices as follows (Associated Press) were reported from Berlin, Nov. 26 by the New York "Journal of Commerce":

Irresponsible Bouse gossipers hereafter will be subject to legal action by reason of a resolution adopted today by the Board of Governors of the Bourse in its determination to put an end to the circulation of false rumors.

The Borsig Locomotive Works, one of the leading German industrial plants, has made public announcement of its determination to run down the source of gossip which, it is claimed, is directed against the company's shares. Other reputable firms, likewise victims of irresponsible talk, have decided to appeal to the Bourse authorities for redress.

Germany's Foreign Borrowings — Berlin Bank Puts Them at 1,895,000,000 Marks in a Year.

A special cablegram from Berlin to the New York "Times," Dec. 13 (copyright) stated:

A summary of the Handelsgesellschaft Bank puts the total of long-term German foreign loans issued between Oct., 1924, and Oct., 1925, at 1,895,000,000 marks. Of these it ascribes 1,310,000,000 marks to public borrowers, in addition to which there were short-term credits aggregating 2,000,000,000 to 2,500,000,000.

These figures are taken to mean that since the Dawes settlement something like 4,000,000,000 marks of foreign credits have been acquired, a sum which approximately equals the surplus of imports in Germany's foreign trade.

New Hungarian Currency—"Pengo" Equivalent to 12,500 Paper Crowns—Will Be Issued in Two Denominations.

The "Wall Street Journal" of Dec. 9 reports the following from its Paris office:

The pengo, the latest European currency, has become the standard Hungarian coin. The word means resounding or ringing and dates from the time when there were paper and silver florins current in the country and the peasants hoarded the latter, calling them "penge forint."

A pengo corresponds by law to 12,500 paper crowns and, since the latter have been stabilized against sterling at 346,000 to the pound sterling, 27.7 pengo are required to buy a pound. The pengo, being thus also 25% superior in value to the new Austrian schilling and 18% inferior to the old gold crown, is not destined to be an easy currency for conversion calculations. But its adoption has a reason, which is the government's desire to prevent simple comparisons between the cost of living and rates of wages now and before the war, as also in other countries, particularly Austria. Revalorization of state bonds, rents, &c. has not yet been undertaken and the time is not thought ripe for it. The standard of living in Hungary is below per-war level and prices are some 15% below world levels. It had been proposed to adopt the Austrian schilling or the English shilling, which is quite anothre thing, or the old gold crown, but these had to yield to the pengo.

Coins of 10 and 20 pengo are to be issued, nine-tenths gold, the gross and fine weights of the former being 2.923975 and 2.631578 grams respectively. On one side these bear the legend Magyar Kiralysag or Kingdom of Hungary, thus perpetuating the Republic's claim to be in reality a monarchy in suspense. The pengo itself will be a silver coin of 5 grams and will be divided into 100 gara, coins in denominations of 50, 20, 10, 2 and 1 garo being issued in bronze-aluminum and copper-nickel.

Great Britain to Float Hungarian Mortgage Loan.

We quote from the New York "Journal of Commerce" the following Associated Press advices, dated London, Dec. 9:

The rush for the German potash loan yesterday, which was covered twelve or fourteen times and which was the first big foreign issue since the removal of the embargo, has turned the attention of investors toward other possible Continental industrial loans, two of which are expected to be offered for subscription soon. The underwriting arrangements are virtually completed on one of these, a Hungarian land mortgage loan of £1,000,000 at 7½%. The amount advanced will be limited to the value of one average year's crops.

Governor of Bank of Portugal Resigns.

A cablegram dated London, Dec. 16 is announced as having been received by the New York News Bureau from the Central News as follows:

Reports that were current that forged bank notes to the amount of £1,000,000, printed in London had been issued in Portugal, are denied, and it is declared that the notes and the signatures were genuine. The governor of the Bank of Portugal, who has resigned, denies that there was a secret understanding with the Angola Bank to inflate the currency.

Russia Willing to Discuss Old Debts, Declares Tchitcherin.

Paris Associated Press cablegrams Dec. 16 are announced as follows by the New York "Journal of Commerce:"

George Tchitcherin, Foreign Commissar of Soviet Russia, who recently arrived in Paris after visiting Warsaw, Berlin, Geneva and other centers, took occasion today to express his sentiments on certain world affairs. These sentiments may be outlined about as follows:

Continued distrust of the League of Nations, lack of confidence in the Locarno pact, readiness to discuss the resumption of political relations with the United States, opposition to security negotiations in advance of general disarmament, and confidence that the existing hostility to the Soviet republics will lose its force little by little.

Recent events, M. Tchitcherin declared, have shown the immense importance of the Union of Soviets in international politics and commerce.

"The general settlement of international affairs is impossible without us," he said, "and because we ardently desire friendly political and economic relations with the whole world we are for peace, contrary to the allegations of those who represent us as a disturbing element."

The way to arrive at the friendly relations the Soviets desire, he explained, was not that which had been pointed out to them. They remained hostile to the League of Nations and they put no faith in the Locarno pact, which the Russian Foreign Commissar deemed merely preparation for a crusade against the Soviets.

A distinction must be made between old Russia and new Russia in considerating debts, and he illustrated the attitude of the Soviets on that question by citing the words of a French public man: "France recognizes her debts, but does not pay them," while Russia refuses to recognize the debts of the old regime, though ready to discuss a settlement on certain conditions.

Economic relations with the United States had already been resumed, and he thought that this might be one of the obstacles to progress toward diplomatic relations, adding: "Some people may be inclined to say that since they are already able to do business with Russia, resumption of diplomatic relations is not necessary."

Romolo Angelone on "Future of Trade Relations Between Italy and U. S.

Romolo Angelone, Commercial Attache of the Royal Italian Embassy at Washington, in the following article interestingly discusses "The Future of the Trade Relations Between Italy and the United States":

The settlement of Italy's war debt toward the United States represents, no doubt, the outstanding event in the Italian economic situation during 1925. The fair and business-like adjustment of said war obligation has removed from the Italian situation one of the major stumbling blocks which were retarding and hampering the complete financial recovery of the nation from the war and post-war difficulties. But more than that, the settlement is another proof of Italy's loyal and sincere determination in fulfilling all her obligations and it offers a clear and practical confirmation of the substantial and effective economic progress made by the country during the past few years.

Italy is poor of natural resources but she has plenty of workers, a lot of active and loyal citizens, who are determined to carry on the work of reconstruction of its final successful outcome.

The economic results obtained by the Fascist Government are satisfactory and highly encouraging. The balancing of the State budget is today an accomplished fact; the results of the first 5 months of the current fiscal year show a surplus of 202 millions of lire, as against a deficit of more than 196 millions during the corresponding period of last year. The national debt is being gradually reduced, paper circulation is kept well within safe bounds, the stabilization of the currency has been practically attained; foreign trade is active as a result of the increased activity in agriculture and industry, unemployment is practically nil. The gradual improvement in the economic situation has not failed to react upon the moral of the people. Today there are few nations in Europe which could show a spirit of discipline, order and determination such as that now possessed by the Italian people. The spontaneous movement, originating with the coal syndicate of Genoa, to raise by voluntary subscription one million dollars towards the first year instalment of the foreign war debt,—a movement which has spread like wildfire, from North to South, amongst all classes,—is the best proof of the spirit with which the Italian people intends to meet the obligation of its government and to overcome all difficulties.

The economic conditions of a country is not merely a question of exports and imports, not the result of gossip and chatter of men more or less in good faith, of persons more or less well informed, not merely a question of few facts and arid figures. On the contrary, the economic condition of a country depends enormously upon the moral qualities of its people and upon the character of its Government. The courage and the determination of new Italy is a factor of great importance; it is responsible for the continuous progress in the economic and financial situation of the country during the past three years.

In considering in some detail the trade relations between the United States and Italy, it is evident that the World War has accentuated the dependence of the Italian economy on that of the United States. The balance of trade between the two countries is decidedly unfavorable for Italy; during the first 10 months of this year about 75% of Italy's unfavorable balance of trade was caused by the excess of imports from the United States into the Kingdom. If one stops to consider, however, the nature and the characteristics of the imports from this country, one realizes that in effect the situation is not as serious as it looks.

The bulk of exports from the United States to Italy is made up of raw materials and foodstuffs as grains, cotton, coal, copper; they represent the needs of an economy which is gradually developing an efficient industrial organization. The industrial development of Italy constitutes a sound basis for an increase in the commercial relations of the two countries, for it widens and varies Italy's needs, and tends to improve the standard of living of her population. The recent flow of American capital into Italy offers another guarantee for better and remunerative relations. Several Italian industries, especially those which depend mainly on labor and in a lesser measure on raw materials, offer a good opportunity to American capital for sound investment. A further development of Italian industry could in no way endanger the industrial organization of this nation. The production of the two countries is altogether different in character and in kind. Italy possesses plenty of labor which has few rivals for intelligence and precision; she is bound to develop a quality production altogether different from the type of mass production characteristic of the United States. Quality production demands most labor and least raw materials and usually entails vast and costly installations and a long apprenticeship on the part of the workers. The development of industries of this kind requires therefore considerable capital; but their output does not signify competition with a uniform and standardized type of production.

There is, therefore, a real and practical possibility for a profitable co-operation between Italy and the United States. A sound and gradual development of this movement must result in real benefit not only for both countries, but also for the world's economic system as a whole, for it helps to bring about a more balanced relationship between the nations of the Old and New World.

Capital Levy in Spain Planned.

Regarding a proposed capital levy in Spain, Associated Press advices from Madrid, Dec. 14, state:

Revealing for the first time his plan for a capital levy of less than 1%, Premier Primo de Rivera gave the details of the scheme with which he hopes to balance the budget. This to-day constitutes the most serious obstacle confronting Spain. The plan, in the words of the Premier, would wipe out the deficit and balance the budget without great sacrifice to the taxpayer.

"My plan," said Primo de Rivera, "consists of the following: Every owner of real estate, country or city, as well as every industrialist, merchant, banking institution, mine owner or owner of transports, in fact everybody who owns something, will be asked to declare voluntarily the value he places on his property, the good will, or the capital he has invested in the enterprise. The Government will then fix a rate of taxation, which will certainly be less than 1%. No tax will be imposed on earnings and profits, regardless of their size.

"In addition to this single tax there will be continued several indirect taxes, such as on lotteries, tobacco, customs tariff and stamps. The realization of this plan must be preceded by an official inventory of the national wealth."

The Premier declared that the plan was designed primarily to make productive dead capital and uncultivated lands and feudal property, which would thus become subject to rational and modern exploitation by the State.

Gen. Frank M. McIntyre of Bureau of Insular Affairs on Situation in Porto Rico—Industrial and Business Enterprises Never on More Sound Basis.

The National City Co. makes public the following statement by General Frank McIntyre, Chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs at Washington, relative to the situation in Porto Rico:

The annual petition submitted reciting political and economic grievances of certain parties and classes in Porto Rico might create the impression that the economic position of Porto Rico and of the people thereof was less favorable than in years past. Such an inference is quite contrary to the fact. The year just passed has been, on the whole, the most prosperous one in the history of Porto Rico. The production of the principal crops was large and the prosperity of the industrial and business enterprises in Porto Rico was never on a more sound basis.

The three largest sugar properties in Porto Rico, owned largely in America, evidence this by their reports to their stockholders and by the prices of their securities as quoted on the market.

There is in litigation in Porto Rico a number of tax cases, some involving very large amounts, and these amounts, pending decisions of the court, have not been paid to the Treasury of Porto Rico. Largely as a result of this, there have been current expenditures in excess of current receipts. This has not meant that there were not funds of the Government, but simply that current receipts were below current expenditures. The Governor of Porto Rico reports that this situation was met at the last session of the Legislature and that in the current fiscal year current receipts will not only meet current expenditures but will exceed such expenditures by a considerable amount.

The value of real property in Porto Rico is continuing to increase. There has been a year of public and private building in Porto Rico such as has never been experienced in the past. The Government of Porto Rico meets all of its obligations as they fall due. Bonds of the Government have been called, in general, as soon as it was possible to call them. There has been no delay in the payment of interest and no default in any case.

New Ruling Governing Federal Land Bank and Joint Stock Land Bank Dividend Declarations—Increases in Capital, &c.

It has become known that the Farm Loan Board in Washington has adopted a ruling that "hereafter no Federal Land Bank or Joint Stock Land Bank shall pay any dividend to shareholders without the approval of the Farm Loan Board. This ruling will be strictly enforced after Jan. 1 1926, but no bank will pay any dividend on Jan. 1 or thereafter without first obtaining the written approval of the Farm Loan Board in accordance with the notice sent to all banks on June 24." The "Wall Street Journal" of Dec. 15 from which this information is taken, goes on to say:

The ruling of June 24 reads: "After July 1, 1925 no Federal or Joint Stock Land Bank shall be permitted to pay a dividend without first procuring the approval of the Federal Farm Loan Board."

Conditions Prescribed.

Repetition on Nov. 27 of the Board's stand apparently indicates that the mid-year ruling had not been thoroughly observed by all banks. The following announcement has been sent to all Federal and Joint Stock Land Banks by the Board:

"At a regular meeting of the Farm Loan Board, held on the 27th day of Nov. 1925 the following rules and regulations were duly adopted:

"First: That hereafter no Federal Land Bank or Joint stock Land Bank shall pay any dividend to shareholders without the approval of the Farm Loan Board.

"The Board will not approve the payment of any dividend by any bank unless

"(a) The undivided profit account, exclusive of premiums on sales of bonds and stocks, and legal reserve requirements, shall show a balance sufficient to pay the dividend;

"(b) The payment of dividends shall not reduce the account available for dividends below the amount at which real estate acquired through foreclosure or by deeds from borrowers is carried on the books of the bank as an asset, provided, however, that in case the bank has reserves sufficiently in excess of legal requirements to absorb this real estate, this provision may be waived.

"In the sale of stock by a Joint Stock Land Bank, the portion of the premium collected for the purchasers of stock for the purpose of acquiring new business shall be set aside in an account styled 'reserve for new business' and charges against said account shall not exceed 1½% of the total amount of new business actualy acquired and made possible by the sale of said stock.

"A Joint Stock Land Bank or Federal Land Bank may deduct from premiums received on sale of bonds any discounts on other sales.

"Second: Any Joint Stock Land Bank desiring to increase its capital stock will be required to submit to the Farm Loan Board an application setting gorth the amount of such increase and the reasonable needs of an increase in capital within the succeeding six months, and also the price at which any additional capital stock is to be sold, as well as the method by which such sale is to be effected.

Land Depreciation.

"Third: Real estate acquired by any bank through foreclosure or by conveyance from borrowers in satisfaction of a mortgage debt will not be carried as an asset for an amount in excess of the principal of the original loan on such real estate. If the land so acquired is not disposed of by the bank within one year, a depreciation of 20% shall be charged to undivided profits or reserve and a like charge-off annually thereafter.

"In case any bank shall dispose of acquired real estate and accept a mortgage on such real estate to secure the whole or any part of the purchase price, such mortgage, unless eligible for assignment to the registrar as security for bonds, must be carried separate from the bank's mortgage loan account and under an item which will clearly indicate the character of the obligation represented."

Effect of this ruling should be to strengthen the banks by restraining any tendency to excessive dividends; this would also strengthen the security behind the bonds of the institutions.

In further referring to the matter Dec. 15 the same paper said:

Following conferences recently held between representatives of joint stock land banks and members of the Farm Loan Board over the question of dividends payable by the Joint Stock Land banks, it was officially stated by the Farm Loan Board, through Commissioner Landis, that "it is a mistaken idea to look to the board for further announcement in regard to Joint Stock Land banks' dividends. As each bank's proposed dividend is submitted the board will act upon it and notify the bank of its action. Any announcement of dividends will come from the banks themselves."

Under the Federal Loan law, dividends of Federal Land Banks and Joint Stock Land Banks must first be approved by the Farm Loan Board. Although there had been some reports to the effect that the Board intended to disapprove the payment of some of the dividends about to be due, none had so far been suspended according to advices received here, except that of Southern Minnesota. It is understood the Board has not approved the regular 2½% quarterly dividend of this bank due for this quarter.

Locally it is learned that the Southern Minnesota institution has no losses, and is in a position to pay the dividend, but the Farm Loan Board, it is stted, does not think its surplus reserves are sufficient, and that the bank should accumulate and build up this account. Legal reserves of joint Stock Land Banks, before they are permitted to pay dividends, call for 25% of net earnings.

Still another item on the subject appeared as follows in the "Wall Street Journal" of Dec. 18:

To an investing public which has become familiar with the merits of Joint Stock Land Bank stocks only within the past year, the action of the directors of the Southern Minnesota bank, fifth largest bank in the system, in passing the January dividend was a surprise. The stock was distributed to the public only a few months ago, when the dividend rate was increased from 9% to 10%. Only one dividend was paid at the higher rate.

Two factors are responsible for the action taken in the face of earnings slightly in excess of dividend requirements at the 10% rate. The tight situation in the country banks of Iowa and Minnesota deprived many borrowers from the Land Bank of their normal facilities for borrowing to make their spring interest payments. Interest on mortgages held by the land bank is payable semi-annually whereas the farmer-borrower gets his annual income in a lump in the fall. A certain volume of loans became delinquent in payments last spring and early this fall the management of the bank instituted foreclosure proceedings in many cases. On Oct. 31 the bank carried in its assets the sum of $722,448 in sheriff's certificates, judgments, etc. Under State laws mortgagors have a year in which to redeem their property after foreclosure proceedings have been instituted. The Land Bank was thus unable to obtain immediate possession of the farms of delinquent borrowers.

Farm Loan Board's Ruling.

At this juncture the Farm Loan Board issued a ruling that it would not approve the payment of any dividend by any bank unless "payment of dividends shall not reduce the account available for dividends below the amount at which real estate acquired through foreclosure or by deed from borrowers is carried on the books of the bank as an asset." This ruling means in effect that a bank may not give any value, for the purpose of calculating surplus available for dividends, to real estate required by foreclosure. It is believed not to apply, however, to loans in process of foreclosure.

A contributing factor was the unbalanced ratio between the capital stock of the bank and the amount of its bonds outstanding. A joint stock land bank is permitted by law to issue bonds aggregating 15 times its capital and surplus above the legal reserve. Capital of the Southern Minnesota bank was expanded rather more rapidly six months ago than subsequent experience proved desirable. Loans to farmers were not made so rapidly as the increased capital warranted. On Oct. 31 the bank had outstanding only $27,550,000 bonds against $3,000,000 capital instead of the $15,000,000 bonds which would have assured maximum earning power. While earnings have thus been in excess of the 10% dividend requirement the rent margin has been slight. Temporary suspension of dividends will greatly strengthen surplus.

Effect on Other Banks.

No great importance would attach to the present dividend action were it not the first instance of dividend suspension by a land bank. Further significance is attributed because the Southern Minnesota bank is a member of the Houston group, which includes six banks with total resources of $198,000,000 or more than a third of the resources of the entire system. It should be clearly understood, however, that each bank stands on its own feet. Unfavorable dividend action in one case does not imply similar action in the case of any other bank.

Investment bankers who have been interested in Joint Stock Bank stocks nevertheless hope that the recent rulings of the Farm Loan Board may be modified. Assumption by the Board of the power to dictate dividend policies of the Joint Stock Land Banks surprised most of those interested in the system. Even conceding that power the further dictum that real estate acquired shall be regarded prima facie as worthless was regarded by bankers as extraordinary. Since it is impossible to loan millions on real estate without occasional delinquencies by borrowers, enforcement of such a ruling would surround the dividend policies of the Joint Stock Land Banks with uncertainties.

Condition of Leading Banks.

Following table gives the salient features in the statements of the fourteen principal Joint Stock Land Banks as of Oct. 31 last:

Bank—	Capital.	Surplus.	Book Value.	Bonds.	Ratio.	Real Estate.
California	$800,000	$240,000	130	$11,953,000	15	$219,000
Chicago	4,000,000	906,000	123	53,250,000	13	484,000

Dallas	2,500,000	567,000	122	22,168,000	9	------
Des Moines	1,150,000	101,000	109	14,990,000	13	302,000
First Caro	750,000	95,000	112	10,705,000	14	1,000
First Trust	2,000,000	341,000	117	32,300,000	16	------
Fletcher	750,000	438,000	158	13,794,000	18	11,000
Fremont	800,000	259,000	132	11,539,000	14	434,000
Kansas City	3,800,000	949,000	125	43,021,000	11	72,000
Lincoln	2,647,000	560,000	120	32,727,000	12	401,000
St. Louis	800,000	207,000	125	11,059,000	14	------
So. Minn	3,000,000	767,000	125	27,550,000	9	722,000

a Par $5.

Ratio column indicates the ratio of bonds outstanding to capital stock. The higher this ratio the more profitable, theoretically, the operations of a Joint Stock Land Bank. Under real estate are included sheriff's certificates and judgments representing real estate in process of foreclosure as well as real estate actually acquired.

Issuance by Comptroller of the Currency of Charters to National Agricultural Credit Corporations of Fort Dodge and Des Moines

The Comptroller of the Currency announces the issuance on Dec. 10 of the following charters to national agricultural credit corporations:

No. 2 The National Agricultural Credit Corporation of Fort Dodge, Iowa. Capital: $250,000.

No. 3 The National Agricultural Credit Corporation of Des Moines, Iowa. Capital: $250,000.

Reference to these new corporations appeared in the Des Moines "Register" of Dec. 15, from which we quote the following:

With the two new farm credit corporation banks in the state on the eve of opening to the farmers of Iowa $5,.000,000 of credit for the marketing of the 1925 corn crop, plans to extend the credit facilities to every section of the state where they are needed were discussed yesterday at a conference in the offices of the state department of agriculture.

C. W. Gadd, manager of the new bank at Fort Dodge, informed Carl N. Kennedy, assistant secretary of agriculture, that the Fort Dodge institution will be opened for business within a few days. The bank here, with offices at 211 Valley National bank building, is expected to open tomorrow.

Mr. Gadd urged that warehousing boards be established where the need is indicated in every one of the thirty-four counties in which they have not yet been formed. He was assured that the agriculture department is prepared to appoint boards and sealers wherever they are requested by an authorized county group.

Ready to Extend Loans.

He declared that the corporation stands ready to loan to the maximum of its ability at the rate of 75 per cent of corn value on the local markets, and with interest to the farmer at 6 per cent. Indorsement of loan applications on warehouse certificates by local banks will not be required, though in many cases these banks will act as the direct loan agencies.

Mr. Kennedy declared that the credit plan, on this basis, should work "very effectively," since it would enable the farmer obtaining credit at the 6% interest rate to meet the expenses of sealing his corn and still save money as compared with the regular bank interest rates he could obtain.

"It should stimulate conditions generally," Mr. Kennedy said, "and permit the more orderly marketing which is essential to good prices."

Plan State Campaign.

H. A. Laird, manager of the Des Moines credit bank, declared that affairs are practically in readiness for the opening of this office, and that it will be prepared to issue loans tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the National Corn Growers association was proceeding with plans for a campaign for a membership of 100,000, with preparations being made to dispatch 200 speakers into all sections of the corn belt.

Organization of Joint Stock Bond & Share Company.

C. G. Taylor & Co., Inc. announce the organization of the Joint Stock Bond & Share Company with capital stock of $565,000 fully subscribed. The new company will be under the management of C. G. Taylor & Co., Inc. and will serve as a holding company for capital stocks of Joint Stock Land Banks. The policy of the management will be to use the capital and credit of the Company to further extend services to Joint Stock Land Banks.

Changes in Official Staff of Buffalo Branch of Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York issued the following announcement on Dec. 23:

The Federal Reserve Board has reappointed Mr. John A. Kloepfer, President of the Liberty National Bank of Buffalo, as a director of the Buffalo Branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The Federal Reserve Bank has appointed as directors of the branch Mr. Frank W. Crandall, President of the National Bank of Westfield, to fill a vacancy, and has reappointed Mr. Harry T. Ramsdell, President of the Manufacturers and Traders Bank. Mr. J. A. McNulty will serve as chairman of the board of the Buffalo Branch for 1926.

Death of H. K. Pomroy, Member of Board of Governors of New York Stock Exchange.

Henry Keney Pomroy, for many years an active member of the Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange and for three terms its President, died at his home, 137 East 40th St., this city, on Dec. 22, in his 72d year. Death was due to heart disease, with which he had been ill for five weeks, and came suddenly. Mr. Pomroy at the time of his death was a special partner in the brokerage firm of J. W. Davis & Co. For many years he had given up most of his time to the administrative affairs of the Stock Exchange. In announcing his death from the rostrum of the Exchange on Dec. 23, E. H. H. Simmons, the President, said:

Gentlemen, again it is my sorrowful duty to announce from this rostrum the passing of one of the great figures of the Exchange, a man beloved by us all. Henry K. Pomroy is dead. This is not the time for any eulogy except that which spontaneously springs from all hearts and which is deeper and more eloquent than can be voiced in words or phrases.

Mr. Pomroy was born in New York City Aug. 14 1854, and was educated at the Ossining Military School, N. Y., and the Columbia School of Mines. In 1875 he became associated in business with his uncle, A. Hamilton Pomroy, a dealer in commercial paper. On Jan. 3 1878 he was elected a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and from then on his whole business life was associated with that institution. His services on the Board of Governors was continuous from 1888 until the time of his death, except during the year 1894. He was Vice-President three terms, from May 1901 to May 1904, and President from 1904 to 1907. He was trustee of the Gratuity Fund from 1901 to 1904 and Secretary and Treasurer of it from 1908 until his deth. He had served on nearly all of the Exchange's regular committees, on many special committees, and was one of the special committee of five appointed at the outbreak of the war to decide all questions relating to the Exchange and its members while it was closed. A tablet commemorating the services of this committee is on a wall of the Exchange. At the time of his death Mr. Pomroy was a member of some of the most important committees of the Stock Exchange and Chairman of two of them. He was head of the Law Committee, to which he was first elected in 1901 and of which he had been Chairman since 1914. He also was Chairman of the Committee on Admissions, a position which he held continuously from 1912 to the time of his death.

Annual Report of Comptroller of Currency—Need of Enactment of McFadden Banking Bills—Withdrawals from National System—Situation in Texas.

In urging, in his annual report, recommending the prompt reintroduction and enactment of the McFadden banking bill, Comptroller of the Currency J. W. McIntosh says:

The need for the immediate enactment of this proposed legislation is greater now than ever. Not only has there been a continuance of serious withdrawals, but many national banks have become restive on account of being compelled to operate under certain archaic provisions of the National Banking Act. They prefer to remain national banks, but, in the first analysis, the attractiveness of a modern State charter may prove controlling. The number of losses of national banks to the various State systems within the past two years is formidable enough to arouse the serious attention of the Government of the United States. Many of these banks have been in the national system for more than fifty years.

The Comptroller, whose report was submitted to Congress on Dec. 11, urged as follows action on the McFadden bill, and at the same time indicated the position as to withdrawals from the national system, and the situation in Texas, where wholesale conversions to the national system had been occasioned by the deposit guaranty laws:

In the last two annual reports of the Comptroller of the Currency, my predecessor strongly recommended certain amendments to the national banking laws, the purpose of which was to improve the operating powers of national banks in several particulars to the end that the national banking system might be able to meet the modern requirements for banking services. These recommendations formed the substance of the bill H. R. 8887, Sixty-eighth Congress, second session, which passed the House by a large majority but failed to be reached in the Senate.

The principal features of this bill and the reasons in detail why each proposed amendment is necessary are set forth in the reports of the Comptroller of the Currency for 1923 and 1924. I most urgently recommend the prompt reintroduction and enactment of this legislation.

The bill as it passed the House contained certain provisions (embodied in Sec. 9) which in effect would prohibit the further spread of State-wide branch banking within the Federal Reserve System. Under them it would be unlawful for State member banks to establish branches outside of the city in which the parent bank is located, and non-member banks having such outside branches could become members only upon the condition that they relinquish such branches. These provisions follow the recommendations made by the Comptroller of the Currency for the past two years. These recommendations were based upon the assumption, in the first place, that State-wide branch banking is wrong in principle and that as a national policy the national banks should not be permitted to engage therein, and in the second place upon the absolute necessity of protecting the national bank members of the Federal Reserve System from the encroachment of this form of branch banking within the Federal Reserve System itself. With this position I am in complete accord. The national banks in those communities where State member banks of the Federal Reserve System are now engaged in State-wide branch banking have found themselves in an intolerable situation. This form of branch banking in the United States is a recent development and has made headway in only a few localities. The enactment of the provision above referred to would have a strong tendency toward restoring the equilibrium between the State and national banks within the Federal Reserve System in branch banking territory and would undoubtedly have the further effect of preserving the stability and permanence of the Federal Reserve System itself.

It is a misnomer to call this bill a branch banking bill. The measure proposes to amend the national banking laws in some 18 particulars, only four of which relate in any way to branch banking. The other provisions of the bill, such as the authority to lend one-half of the savings deposits upon the security of first mortgages upon improved real estate, the authority to hold their charter powers for an indeterminate period subject to the will of Congress, the regulation of the investment security business, and other provisions of this measure, will enable the national banks to carry on a modern banking business along the lines already approved by many State laws. The amendments proposed in the bill have had a most thorough and expert investigation and analysis, and have been reduced to the minimum. They are based upon sound principles of banking. Their enactment into law would enable all national banks to meet more readily the competition from State banks and trust companies which have for a number of years had the authority to do what it is now proposed to confer upon the national banks. This proposed legislation has the approval generally of the banking fraternity.

Apart from the question of the restrictions upon branch banking proposed by Sec. 9 of the House bill, which section was stricken out by the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency, that committee in reporting the bill to the Senate proposed a number of valuable amendments to the House measure. While practically no new substantive legislation was proposed in these amendments, they nevertheless had the effect of giving greater clarity and precision to the provisions of the bill. The Senate committee also restored to the bill a number of proposed provisions which would penalize the commission of crimes against member banks of the Federal Reserve System and against national banks in particular. These provisions were included in the bill as reported to the House, but were stricken out on the floor. It is recommended that serious consideration be given to the question of including these criminal provisions in the bill.

National Bank Withdrawals.

From Oct. 21 1923 to Oct. 17 1925, 166 national banks left the national system to engage in the banking business under State charter. These carried with them total resources of $566,600,000. They include 25 national banks in California, with total resources of $136,000,000; 9 national banks in Illinois, with total resources of $128,000,000; 6 national banks in New York, with total resources of $121,000,000; eight national banks in Ohio, with total resources of $54,000,000; 25 national banks in Oklahoma, with total resources of $10,000,000; 13 national banks in Pennsylvania, with total resources of $22,000,000, and a scattered number of banks in all of the other States.

Conversion of State Banks.

In comparison with these figures consideration may properly be given to the question of the conversion of State banks into national banks during the last two years. The total number of such conversions was 113, with total resources of $245,000,000. The number of national banks entering the State systems being 166, with total resources of $566,600,000, there was a net loss to the national system in numbers of 53 banks and a net loss in resources of $321,600,000. However, of these State banks converting into national banks attention must be called to the fact that 64 of them, with total resources of $38,000,000, were located in Texas. They converted into national banks en masse in order to escape the operations of the State guaranty of deposit laws. This is an abnormal development and should the State law be favorably amended, undoubtedly many of these banks will return to the State system. Outside of Texas, only 49 State banks during the past two years converted into national banks. These had total resources of $207,000,000; four of these were banks in New York City, with total resources of $131,800,000. Deducting the resources of the four New York banks and the Texas banks, the aggregate resources of converting State banks in all other parts of the Union were $74,800,000.

The above figures, however, do not tell the whole story. It is a well-known fact that many other national banks are anxiously awaiting the enactment of such a bill as that which failed at the last session of Congress. If they cannot at this time obtain some such amendments to their charter powers as are therein proposed, there will be a still greater exodus from the national system.

Although the total resources of national banks have steadily increased year by year, and the condition of individual national banks is strong, nevertheless the relative increase in total resources of national banks has been slowly falling off year by year as compared with the resources of the State banks and trust companies. In the last annual report of this office my predecessor called your attention to the fact that during the 40-year period, ending with the fiscal year 1924, the total resources of national banks had fallen from 75% of the total banking resources to about 47%. The total banking resources of State and national banks, exclusive of savings banks, at the present time are about $52,057,000,000, of which about $24,351,000,000 are in the national banks and $27,706,000,000 are in the State banks and trust companies which are engaged in the commercial banking business in competition with national banks. In addition the savings banks have total resources of about $10,000,000,000, but these figures are not included in this comparison. The percentage, therefore, of the resources of the national banks to the total resources of all banks engaged in carrying on the business of commercial banking has during the past year dropped a fraction below 47%.

These facts present a serious situation for the consideration of the Congress and I am directing your attention thereto at this time chiefly for the purpose of showing that the adverse conditions of national bank operations, as to which my predecessor so urgently recommended remedial legislation, are becoming daily accentuated. The national banking system is a time-honored Federal instrumentality. The charter powers of the individual national banks are derived solely from the Congress. Twice in the history of the United States, namely, immediately after the Civil War and immediately preceding the World War, the Federal Government was able to enforce a banking policy at a time of great financial stress through its authority to use the national banking system as an instrument for the public benefit.

The individual national bank is always ultimately able to take care of itself in meeting the competitive conditions due to more favorable State laws by giving up its national charter and going into the State system. But the gradual loss of national banks and the consequent decrease in relative resources of the national banking system is of primary concern to the national Government, not only because the national banks form the logical and permanent basis of the Federal Reserve System, but also because only through the national banking system can there be maintained throughout the United States a standardized system of banking subject to the visitorial powers of the Federal Government and subservient at all times to the will of the Congress.

James Brown of Brown Brothers & Co., on European Conditions

In an address at the Bankers' Club, this city, on Dec. 15, before the British Empire Chamber of Commerce, of which he is President, James Brown, of Brown Brothers & Co., presented his impressions of economic conditions in various European countries visited by him,—Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Belgium, France and England. Of the Continental countries, with the exception of France, Mr. Brown, while speaking encouragingly, noted however, that "all have still many serious problems to overcome." And he observed as to Great Britain that "before industrial condition and international trade can approach normality, there will be an out and out contest with Labor, which can only be won if the country is organized in such a way as to continue the operation of its utilities and maintain its food supply during the contest." Mr. Brown's observations were given as follows:

Time will not permit of my doing more than voicing the general conclusions at which I have arrived from my study of the economic conditions in the various countries which I have mentioned. I have talked with a large number of very prominent men in Finance, Industry and Commerce in all those countries; with Politicians, Finance Ministers and Presidents or Governors of most of the great State Banks. There were, of course, many conflicting opinions expressed to me and many that had to be taken with a "grain of salt," but what I now propose to say to you is my personal conclusions gleaned from all those sources.

Taking the countries in the order in which I visited them, brings Germany to the fore. Fortunately my early education enabled me to converse in their own language in all the countries that I visited and I was very careful to talk with the man in the Street, the workman, the chauffeur, the "butcher, baker and candlestick maker," so as to gather his point of view. The Nation, as a whole, is working seriously and each one is going about his business. The burden of taxation is heavy but is being borne without an unusual amount of grumbling. The industries and all business in Germany is suffering from the readjustment of conditions and prices to the gold standard and I believe that within the next 18 months these difficulties will be overcome and adjustments will be completed. Prices are high and wage increases are being demanded. As I said before, I believe that Germany is working seriously and within the next two years will have adjusted itself to the new conditions and become an active and important competitor in the Foreign Trade of the World. Germany's great need, at present, is Working Capital.

Austria, before the War, had a population of 52,000,000, and through the loss of the Succession States Austria's population has been reduced to about 6,500,000. Vienna, before the War, was the business centre of this great population and Austria's separation brought entirely new problems to Vienna. Notwithstanding these problems, under the auspices of the League of Nations, Austria put itself on a gold basis, and encountered at once the usual difficulties. The commercial crisis was first passed through successfully and on top of that a stock exchange crisis which included heavy losses from speculation in exchange. The nation has passed through these two crisis successfully and the great Banks of Vienna have weathered the storm. Under the new conditions tariff barriers have been raised by the Succession States and the natural Nationalistic feeling of New Republics encouraged these States to think that they could live without Vienna. They are more and more discovering that the control of credits and the commercial experience and financial ability of the Viennese merchants and bankers is still necessary to them and I believe that Austria will find the means to live and prosper. Vienna, the centre of the Old Dual Empire, is, in my opinion, gradually regaining its financial and commercial ascendance over the Succession States.

The little country of Switzerland surrounded as it was, during the War, on all sides by Warring Nations, has had many trials and has had to adjust itself to many new conditions. These adjustments are being rapidly completed and while business in Switzerland is, at present, dull, the country is rapidly emerging from its troubles.

When I arrived in Belgium the Commission which has been settling the Debt with the United States had just returned and negotiations were active for the stabilization and valorization of the Belgian Franc and while I was there, for the first time, the Belgian Franc and the French Franc were divorced.

With the stabilization of her Franc, which is practically assured at present and its ultimate valorization in gold, Belgium will enter the first stage of the troubles which Germany and Austria have already experienced. There are bound to be successive demands for increased wages; the cost of manufacture will increase, the first effect of which will be that Belgium will find its Foreign Markets more difficult to retain. If one includes the wealth of the Congo, however, Belgium's resources are great and I am confident that she will weather the storm successfully within the next two years.

With regard to France, very little can be said. Her political situation is chaotic and has been the cause of the demoralization of the Government finances. When and how these two difficulties will be corrected, no one can predict. You have heard that industrially France has been prosperous, and that is true. The reconstruction of the "Devastated Regions" accounted for the prosperity of many industries and the continued decline in the International value of the Franc for the success of others, I am reliably informed that France today has 2,300,000 imported laborers and yet there is no unemployment. Demoralized Government finances, however, will have their effect and the present industrial prosperity I feel, cannot last. When the moment of depression arrives and the people realize that prosperity and financial chaos cannot go hand in hand, I have confidence that the Nation, on proper measures being taken, no matter how severe, after much suffering, will emerge and regain her commercial and financial position among the Nations of the World.

It will be noted that, with the exception of France, I have mentioned all the other Continental Countries encouragingly. I would not have you, however, misunderstand me. All these countries have made great progress during the last two and a half years, but all have still many serious problems to overcome. Therefore we of this Chamber in doing business with them must still be careful to deal with good names and keep the percentage of such credits as we give within safe bounds, so that if reimbursement is delayed, we will not be embarrassed.

I have purposely left England to the last as this Chamber is more closely drawn to it by ties of Nationality and commerce. There I, of course, had the benefit of the opinion of the partners of Brown, Shipley & Company, but I also talked with men in Industry, Commerce and Finance, whose names, if I mentioned them, you would all recognize. The Great Insurance Companies report a slight improvement in trade; several industries have, within the last six months, met with some encouragement, and seemed to have experienced their worst days; the Bankers felt considerably encouraged.

Altogether, the somewhat gloomy impressions which I had acquired before I landed on English soil, were modified.

I will not presume to comment on the methods adopted by the British Government to aid certain key industries but, in my humble opinion, before industrial condition and international trade can approach normality, there will have to be an out and out contest with Labor, which can only be won if the country is organized in such a way as to continue the operation of its utilities and maintain its food supply during the contest.

England's financial strength is, in any case, a bulwark which will support her through many emergencies and enable her to maintain her position among nations and we of the British Empire Chamber of Commerce in the United States must never lose faith in the ability of the old country to come through.

Halsey, Stuart & Co. on the Outlook

"Money rates remain low, and despite a firming tendency no marked increase for the near future appears probable. In face of the conditions which have prevailed during most of the year, it is natural that the output of new securities has been in unprecedented volume, though readily absorbed, due to the large accumulations of surplus funds which have been available for investment. Indications point toward a continuation of the existing favorable conditions in the investment market, including the maintenance of present price levels." Such is the cheerful note struck in the current quarterly business and bond review of Halsey, Stuart & Co., which has just been issued. The tone of optimism extends to business as a whole; likewise it is pointed out that 1925 was the banner year in the public utility field—and the review tells of the conditions which indicate improvement in the finances of foreign countries as well as in their industrial situation. Commenting on the business situation in the United States, the review says:

"Business generally continues sound, and, for the most part, active, with every indication of continuing so, at least for several months to come. For most industries, 1925 has been a profitable year—for some unusually so. With all its activity, however, industry has, for the most part, proceeded sanely watching production costs carefully and guarding against inflation in credit or inventories. The end of the year finds the average industry in perhaps as healthy a condition as at any time since the war. The business outlook continues encouraging, though there appears no reason to anticipate any increase in the volume of industrial financing. Thus, prices of sound industrial issues should remain at existing levels."

Considering public utility and foreign bonds, the review goes on to say:

"One of the most notable features of the investment market in 1925 has been the large increase in the financing of foreign corporations in the United States. Records of the first ten months of the present year show that there was a total of over $280,000,000 of such bonds offered here, as against $15,000,000 in the same period of 1921 and $140,000,000 in 1924. Foreign government financing, on the other hand, showed a moderate decline in the same period, thus reflecting improvement in their finances, just as the increase of foreign corporate financing is convincing evidence of the improvement abroad in the industrial situation.

"These conditions, together with a far more appreciative attitude on the part of American investors toward foreign issues, gives reason to anticipate steady improvement in their market position—certainly, some of the outstanding values in today's investment market are to be found among bonds of this type.

"1925 has been a banner year for the utilities. Gross earnings it appears will reach a new high level. Public relations have been excellent and utilities securities have been a market favorite. An outstanding feature of the year among the utilities has been a trend toward consolidations of properties which lent themselves naturally to centralized management and control—a movement which has advantages to the consumer in improved service and to the investor and the company in stabilizing earnings.

"Despite the very propitious position of the utilities during the entire year, figures for the first ten months indicate that there will be only a moderate increase in the output of utility securities over the preceding year, a situation which reflects the sane and conservative attitude of the industry in the face of its marked prosperity. There is no present reason to anticipate any change in the situation of the utilities either in respect to their favorable status with the investing public, or in the output of new securities, all of which, in conjunction with the generally sound business situation indicates that the price level of good utility bonds should be well maintained."

Arrival in U. S. of Governor Norman of Bank of England and S. P. Gilbert Jr., Reparations Agent—No Agreement Between Reserve Bank and Bank of England on Reserve Rate

Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, and S. Parker Gilbert Jr., Agent General for Reparation Payments under the Dawes Plan, were passengers on the steamer Leviathan, which docked in New York on Dec. 21. Mr. Gilbert is quoted as saying that there is no special significance in his visit to the United States at this time. A statement given out by him adds:

"Mrs. Gilbert and I have been abroad fourteen months and are coming home for a short visit to spend the holidays with our relatives and friends. While I am here I am looking forward, of course, to seeing Vice President Dawes and Owen D. Young, the American members of the First Committee of Experts.

"I am not coming to discuss any revision of the plan or any new German loan. As a matter of fact, it was only during the first year of the plan that Germany's payments were to be financed through an external loan. This was actually floated in the Fall of 1924. Germany's payments in the second and succeeding years of the plan are to come from her own resources in the form of direct contributions from the German budget and the charges on the German railways.

"The experts' plan has now been in operation for over fifteen months and I have tried to summarize its results up to this time in the report that was made public about a week ago. The plan itself is functioning smoothly and in an orderly way. The two preliminary objects for which the experts were originally appointed have been attained. Germany now has a stable currency and the German budget is balanced.

"These were the essential conditions of German economic recovery, as well as of reparation payments. The budget, in fact, has thus far shown a considerable surplus, even in the face of mounting expenditure. For the time being it has given the German Government to an exceptional degree the problem of wise administration of its public funds and in the long run the more fundamental problem of better adaptation of the public revenues to essential expenditures.

"In the field of reparations the plan also has had notable results. The first annuity of one thousand million gold marks was all paid within the year, four-fifths out of the proceeds of the German External Loan and the balance by the German Railway Company in the form of interest on its reparation bonds. In the second annuity year, over three months of which have passed, the amount to be paid rises to 1,220 millions of gold marks and involves for the first time a charge on the German budget. These payments Germany is making each month with the utmost promptitude. The various creditor powers, on their part, have been receiving reparation deliveries and payments regularly ever since the plan went into effect."

"It would be futile to attempt to draw conclusions now as to the ultimate possibilities of reparations under the plan. The fact remains, however, that the plan has already succeeded in placing the whole problem on a new basis. It has put aside bickerings and speculations and provided for the test of actual experience. The world has been able, for the first time in many years, to stop talking about reparations. The plan has made it possible, instead, to find out in a practical way what the payments mean and how far it is feasible in actual practice for reparations to be paid by Germany and transferred to the creditor powers.

"From the point of view of German reconstruction, the plan has certainly marked the turning point in the recovery from the disorder and disorganization of the inflation. The first year was regarded by the experts themselves as giving an opportunity for economic rehabilitation, and it accordingly placed no burden for reparations on the German budget and but little on German economy. It has been more than anything a period of gradual readjustment and rebuilding. Much progress has been made, but the readjustment is still actively in process and many difficulties remain to be overcome. German business and industry are still greatly in need of working capital, and in many fields face serious problems of reorganization. In some directions this has produced conditions approaching crisis, but generally speaking the present difficulties must be regarded as the inevitable accompaniments of deflation and of the return to stable conditions, and in that sense as necessary phases of the recovery itself."

According to the New York "Journal of Commerce," Mr. Norman in discussing rediscount rates said the course of the Bank of England rate is very uncertain, and there is going to be considerable fluctuation. The account in that paper also says:

He also said that there was no agreement between the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the Bank of England regarding the movement of the rediscount rates of the two institutions. England's greatest problem, Mr. Norman added, is that of unemployment.

The New York "Times" of Dec. 22, while stating that the visit of Messrs. Norman and Gilbert is largely social, it is expected to prove important from an international financial standpoint. Continuing it said:

Opinion in Wall Street is that one of the subjects that may be taken up is a projected loan to be secured by the German railway system and authorized under the Dawes plan.

When it comes the American portion of this loan is expected to amount to $100,000,000, and additional amounts will be floated in various parts of Europe. A major portion of the proceeds will go to France as reparations payments.

Visit of Governor Norman to the New York Federal Reserve Bank is said to be in connection with the Bank of England's credit, part of which has already been used through the Federal Reserve Bank's buying of sterling bills in the open market.

George De Camp Named as Chairman of Board of Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland Succeeding Late D. C. Wills

George De Camp, Managing Director of the Pittsburgh Branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, has been appointed Chairman of the Board of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, and Federal Reserve Agent, succeeding the late David C. Wills, whose death was noted in our issue of Oct. 24, page 1990. The Federal Reserve Board at Washington announced the appointment as follows on Dec. 19:

"The board today appointed George De Camp of Pittsburgh as a class 'C' director of the Federal Reserve Bank at Cleveland for the unexpired term of D. C. Wills, deceased, and designated Mr. De Camp Federal Reserve Agent and chairman of the board of directors of the Cleveland bank for the year 1926. Since 1918 Mr. De Camp has been manager of the Pittsburgh Reserve Bank of Cleveland."

The Pittsburgh "Gazette" outlines as follows Mr. De Camp's banking career:

In 1902 he took his first banking position as clerk in the Athens National Bank. Eight years later he was appointed national bank examiner, with headquarters at Athens. One year later he was transferred to the Cincinnati district, and in 1915 he was sent in a similar capacity to Chicago. After this, for a time, he served as examiner in the Cincinnati, Cleveland and Pittsburgh districts.

Mr. De Camp resigned as examiner on December 31, 1917, to accept the managership of the Pittsburgh branch, Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland.

Here he was vice chairman of the banking and finance committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, was affiliated with the Pittsburgh Association of Credit Men as a director, and was a member of the Duquesne Club, Union Club and the Oakmont Country Club.

William R. Jones, Former Head of Defunct Brokerage Firm of Jones & Baker, Convicted of Trading Against a Customer's Order

Dec. 14 a verdict of guilty of trading against the order of a customer was returned by a jury in the Court of General Sessions before Judge Rosalsky against William R. Jones, former head of the New York Curb brokerage house of Jones & Baker, which failed on May 31, 1923, for approximately $5,000,000. The jury deliberated about an hour and fifteen minutes. The defendant's counsel, Robert J. Johnstone and George Z. Medalie, offered no defense. In summing up Mr. Medalie admitted the facts as presented by Assistant District Attorney Hugo Wintner, but contended that no crime had been committed. The New York "Times" of Dec. 15 in reporting the verdict in its issue of Dec. 15 said, in part:

The refusal of the defense to submit evidence, it was stated, cut short the trial at least three weeks. Jones's lawyers previously had consented to the acceptance of the testimony of two employes of the firm, who were witnesses for the prosecution, for that of ten others, thus further shortening the trial.

This stand by the defense presaged an appeal to the higher courts in the event of a verdict of guilty.

In his charge to the jury Judge Rosalsky referred to a decision made some time ago by the then Justice Clarence J. Shearn in the Supreme Court in which it was held that it was not necessary for a broker to keep on hand stock bought for a customer if it could be shown that the broker disposed of the stock "in good faith." The higher courts have not passed on this decision.

Judge Rosalsky dwelt on the defense counsel's attempt to convince the jury that Jones did not commit an offense against the criminal statute even if, as the prosecution had shown, Jones had disposed of stock ordered by the complainant in the case at about the time the order was received.

Jones was tried for trading against the order of Philip Rubin, a customer, to buy 100 shares of Consolidated Cortez Silver Mines of Nevada on March 9, 1923. The prosecution showed through testimony of witnesses, including Emmons B. Stone, a former employe of Jones & Baker, that on receipt of this order Jones & Baker turned over to Stone 100 shares of the same stock. Stone testified that Jones & Baker had financed him with $200,000 in return for a promissory note for that amount, and that his name was used on a "dummy" account.

Stone said that he sold this stock to the New Finance Corporation, admitted by defense lawyers during the trial to be an adjunct of Jones & Baker. The New Finance Corporation, examination of its books by accountants showed, returned the stock to Stone for a like amount, and Stone testified he turned it back to Jones & Baker on a payment which balanced all around the triangular transaction.

The jury retired at 4:15 P. M., but in a short time returned to court with the request that the part of Judge Rosalsky's charge which referred to the question whether Jones had disposed of the 100 shares of stock "in good faith" be repeated. One of the jurors added: "I want special stress laid on three words in that part of the charge—the words 'in good faith.'" The Court complied, and fifteen minutes later Jones was found guilty.

Our last reference to the affairs of Jones & Baker appeared in the "Chronicle" of April 4, page 1692.

Tax Revision Bill in Hands of Senate Committee Passed by House by Vote of 390 to 25

The tax revision bill, which was passed by the House on Dec. 18 by a vote of 390 to 25, was brought before the Senate on Dec. 21 and referred to the latter's Committee on Finance. The committee will begin hearings on the bill on Jan. 4. The bill, as we indicated in these columns Dec. 12 (page 2825) and Dec. 19 (page 2965) had been reported to the House on Dec. 7; the House action on the measure was referred to at length in our item of a week ago. Before the adoption of the bill by the House on the 18th, Representative Rainey, Democratic member of the Ways and Means Committee, presented a motion to recommit the bill to the committee with instructions to provide a maximum surtax rate of 25% applicable to incomes in excess of $150,000, a 25% maximum estate tax applicable to net estates in excess of $50,000,000 and to repeal the automobile tax. The motion was defeated by a vote of 267 to 147. According to the New York "Journal of Commerce" the Progressives voted with the Democrats in support of this proposal, but many of the latter joined with the Republicans in opposition thereto. Many of the Texas, Louisiana and North Carolina delegations voted against returning the bill to the committee. Of the 267 votes against recommittal, 43 were those of Democrats, while the 147 in favor of recommitting the bill included eleven Republicans and one Independent. The 25 votes in opposition to the passage of the bill were cast by 11 Republicans, 10 Democrats and 4 Independents. The bill provides for a tax reduction program of $327,000,000. Regarding the action of the House on the bill the New York "Journal of Commerce" had the following to say in advices from its Washington bureau, Dec. 18:

In its present text the bill differs but slightly from the form in which it was introduced in the House at the opening of the session, for aside from some few technical changes and the acceptance of amendments limiting the terms of members of the Board of Tax Appeals to fourteen years and providing for the rebating of a part of the taxes collected upon cigars offered by the Ways and Means Committee, it has resisted all efforts at alteration.

The House today voted to grant a rebate to the cigar dealers having stocks on hand thirty days after the passage of the bill in the amount of the difference between the amount paid under the present rates and that which will be due under the proposed reduced rates. The Ways and Means Committee had previously written into the bill a similar saving clause in favor of the automobile industry.

Realizing their inability to put through the bill with any clause providing life term of office for the members of the Board of Tax Appeals, the committee agreed upon an amendment making the ordinary term of office 14 years, the first appointees being named for terms of 8, 10, 12, and 14 years so that all vacancies would not occur in the same year. There was some complaint that no provision was made that not more than one-half of the members should be from any one political party, but the section was finally adopted 200 to 10.

The real fight of the day came at the opening of the session when the House became involved in a prohibition debate, with efforts made both to restore in the bill the existing $2.20 per gallon tax on alcohol, as well as, on the other hand, to reject the proposed new tax on cereal beverages.

To Tax Seized Liquors

A one cent per gallon tax on denatured alcohol also was proposed. This question was before the House for nearly two hours, but all attacks were defeated and the provisions remained untouched. However, a committee amendment extending the tax to seized liquors disposed of by the Government was adopted. This provides that hereafter the tax shall be applied to all imports into the United States, in addition to the customs duty imposed under the Tariff Act and upon seizures when sold.

An unsuccessful effort was made to write into the bill a provision that would permit the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to effect a compromise with insolvent taxpayers when in his opinion and that of the Secretary of the Treasury such action would be in the best interests of the public. Such a suggestion had received favorable consideration when the bill was before the committee, but was not accepted because of the fact that it would be open to attack in the Senate in connection with the reports of the Couzens Committee, which investigated the Internal Revenue Bureau. It was agreed that should the Senate adopt such a provision no objection would be raised in the House when the bill goes to conference.

While we have before made known the provisions of the bill we quote the following summary of its principal features as indicated in the New York "Times":

Surtaxes with a maximum of 20% on incomes above $100,000.

Estate taxes with a maximum of 20% on incomes above $10,000,000.

New normal taxes of 1½% on the first $4,000 of net income; 3% on the next $4,000, and 5% on the rest.

Earned income provision allowing $5,000 as automatically earned and $15,000 more to be proved earned.

Elimination of the income tax publicity.

Exemption of tickets to the legitimate spoken drama.

Personal exemptions of $1,500 for a single man and $3,500 for a family head.

Repeal of the gift tax.

All that is left in the bill of the so-called nuisance taxes is 3% imposed on the manufacturers of automobiles and 10% on manufacturers of pistols. Two per cent has been cut off the passenger automobile tax, while levies on automobile trucks, tires and parts have been wiped out, as have those on cameras, films, slot machines, mah jong sets, deeds and conveyances, shooting galleries, use of yachts, art works, jewelry and smokers' articles.

The House having agreed yesterday to the reduction in cigar taxes, it consented today to allow a rebate of the same reduction on cigars held by dealers or in transit from the insular possessions of the United States.

In Washington advices under date of Dec. 19 the "Times" stated that there is evidence that the Democrats of the Senate will make a determined effort to change some provision of the measure with a view to benefitting more classes and raising the total tax cut by a considerable amount. It was further stated in that account:

There was even talk that Senator Simmons, ranking Democratic member of the Finance Committee, who will lead the minority in the coming fight, will press for reductions that may total $450,000,000. He has several times mentioned that amount as a desirable one at which to aim.

In the absence of Senator Simmons, who has gone to his home in North Carolina, the Democrats had little to say on their plans today, but it is expected that they will try to jump the surtax maximum and the estate maximum beyond their present 20%.

Mr. Simmons and his fellows disagree with Representative Garner of Texas that this should be a non-partisan bill, and they are not willing to compromise, as Mr. Garner did. Their talk of a 25% surtax maximum and an effort to boost the estate maximum to 40%. Republican radicals, such as Senator Norris of Nebraska, want to make the top figure of both taxes 40%.

Senator Simmons is said to be working on a readjustment of the surtaxes whereby men with incomes of $11,000 to $44,000 would receive more benefit than under the bill. During the House debates Representatives Rainey of Illinois contended that no one with an income below $45,000 received any surtax cut and that this was a gross injustice. In this argument he received the support of many Democrats.

Anthracite Coal Strike Situation—Unsuccessful Efforts to Terminate Strike—Extra Session Called by Gov. Pinchot—Latter's Plan for Settlement.

The present month has witnessed special efforts on the part of Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania to reconcile the differences between the striking anthracite coal miners and the operators. In taking steps to bring about the termination of the strike, which had its inception at midnight Aug. 31 a call upon the wage negotiating committees of anthracite miners and operators to meet with him at Harrisburg on Nov. 28 had been made by Governor Pinchot on Nov. 27 in telegrams sent to John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers and Major W. W. Inglis, Chairman of the Operators' Scale Committee, in which he indicated his desire "to lay a proposition before you." While the operators were not represented at this meeting, Major Inglis having advised the Governor that it was impossible to get the committee together for the conference, the operators made known to the Governor their objections to the plan, and details of this, as well as of the plan itself are given further below.

On the 3d inst. the Governor telegraphed business men and leaders of the civic organizations in the anthracite territory requesting that they meet him at Harrisburg on Dec. 8 to discuss the situation. According to Associated Press reports from Philadelphia, the developments of the 3d inst. also included an announcement by Rev. J. J. Curran (Catholic priest of Wilkes-Barre, who, it is said, is acting at the instance of Governor Pinchot as mediator) that he had forwarded communications to hard coal operators asking them to reconsider the peace proposal of Governor Pinchot which they rejected the previous Monday. From Harrisburg dispatches (Associated Press) it is learned that nearly three hours of discussion on the 8th inst. behind closed doors brought only the statement by the Governor, acting as spokesman for the conference, that "action to advance the settlement of the coal strike has been determined upon." These advices went on to say:

The delegation which met Mr. Pinchot included a committee consisting of Ralph E. Weeks, Ralph Amerman and E. J. Lynett, representing the Scranton Chamber of Commerce; Hayden Williams and Eugene T. Giering, representing the Wilkes-Barre Chamber; W. M. Dyatt, of the civic body of Hazleton; Charles B. Bittenbender, of Hazleton, and B. M. Arthur and C. B. Rutter, of Lansford, representing the Panther Creek Valley Business Men's Association.

None of the conferees would disclose what took place at the meetings, but it was understood that the committee made known the Governor's latest plans for ending the strike.

On the following day (the 9th) a committee of business men from the anthracite region conferred in Philadelphia with representatives of the miners and coal operators, but were unsuccessful, it was said, in their efforts to bring the two factions together again in further parleys. The fact that the latest move of the Governor had been without results was indicated in the following dispatch Dec. 10 from Philadelphia to the New York "Times":

With the departure to-day of the coal region's citizens' committee, the anthracite strike entered upon another period of deadlock and uncertainty.

Before leaving for their homes the operators declared emphatically that the efforts of Governor Pinchot to be mediator were unacceptable to them because of his record since the controversy of 1923, when he gave the miners a 10% wage increase.

Some of the operators were of the opinion that had the Governor not intervened the present strike would have been well on the way toward settlement. It was hinted that there had been an excellent prospect of arrival of an understanding when Governor Pinchot presented his plan. The miners' leaders to-day were still hoping that the operators might be induced to accept the Pinchot plan as a basis for negotiating an agreement.

The last of the citizens' committee left to-day with no special plan to end the strike.

"It is hard to tell whether any progress has been made," said Ralph E. Weeks of the Scranton Chamber of Commerce. "We are hopeful that some good was accomplished."

On Dec. 14 Governor Pinchot called an extra session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly for 2 p. m. Jan. 13, the regulation of the mining industry being one of the subjects which he enumerated for consideration by the Legislature. In his proclamation summoning the Legislature the Governor said:

I have called the General Assembly of Pennsylvania in extra session because the safety of our institutions and the prosperity of our people imperatively demand it. Abuses have arisen in this Commonwealth so dangerous to our form of government and so threatening to the welfare of the people that they must be taken in hand with vigor and without delay.

The present suspension in the anthracite region is a matter of the largest and most pressing importance not only to Pennsylvania but to all of the 40,000,000 anthracite-using people of America. It amounts to a dangerous crisis which must be met with promptness and courage.

In an effort to settle the strike, as Governor of Pennsylvania I invited the negotiating committees of the anthracite miners and operators to meet me in Harrisburg on Nov. 18. The miners courteously honored my request by the attendance not only of their negotiating committee but of the entire membership of the scale committees of all three anthracite districts. The operators refused to attend and were not represented.

At that meeting I submitted, as I said, the rough outline of an agreement upon which, in substance, I believe the present suspension of work in the anthracite mines could be, and ought to be, ended at once with justice to the miners, the operators and the anthracite-using people of America. This rough outline was a middle ground and was far from giving the miners all of their demands. Nevertheless, with a degree of moderation and regard for the public interest which does them high honor, they agreed to accept the outline agreement I proposed as a basis for settlement. If the operators had done the same the mines would have been open within a week.

The operators, however, flatly refused to consider my rough outline as a basis for settlement. They refused to consider it even as a basis for conference and negotiation. From first to last they have refused to yield one jot or tittle of their original position. The anthracite coal strike, which was at first a strike of the miners against the operators, has therefore now become a strike of the operators against the public.

The situation thus created amounts to an attack upon millions of anthracite users in Pennsylvania and other States, who are thus deprived of their customary fuel. The whole future of the anthracite industry is threatened by popular resentment and the use of substitutes. The prosperity of the anthracite region, now and hereafter, hangs in the balance. The public interests are gravely injured already and threatened with still more serious damage. Negotiations are at a standstill. The public must either suffer in silence or it must take measures to protect itself.

The anthracite industry is a monopoly which has created such a relationship to the public that the stoppage of anthracite production is materially dangerous to the life and health of the people. The Attorney General had advised me that under the clear intent of a recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States the anthracite industry, being a monopoly, may be declared to be affected with a public interest and therefore subject to regulation as a public utility.

Action by the Legislature declaring the anthracite monopoly to be a public utility will supply some degree of public control where none exists to-day; will furnish information never before revealed, and will exert the most powerful influence the public can apply toward the settlement of the strike. What is equally important, it will be the most effective step that can be taken toward securing uninterrupted prosperity for the inhabitants of the anthracite region and an uninterrupted supply of anthracite for those who need it.

Continuing his efforts to settle the strike, the Governor on Dec. 14 called upon the Mayors and Burgesses of the cities and towns in the anthracite region to meet him at Harrisburg on Dec. 16. In his invitation, sent to more than 70 heads of committees, the Governor said:

Will you meet me in the capitol at Harrisburg on Wed., Dec. 16, at 2 o'clock. I desire to consult with you and with the other Mayors and Burgesses of the anthracite region as the official representatives of the people concerning the situation created by the strike.

At the meeting on Dec. 16 attended, it is stated, by nearly 50 Mayors and Burgesses, a resolution was adopted proposing a meeting the following week of representatives of the miners and operators for the renewal of the negotiations which were broken off in August. The resolution as adopted read:

That it is the sense of this meeting of the executives of the anthracite region that the operators and miners be invited to meet together in conference at the City Hall of Scranton one week from to-day or at such other time and place as may be more convenient, there to take up the negotiations at the point where they were broken off last August and with the understanding that either side shall be a t liberty to being up for discussion its own plan or plans, the Governor's plan or any other plan that may be offered.

The Associated Press advices of that date from Harrisburg said:

The resolution was sponsored by Mayor John Durkan of Scranton, but the form in which it was adopted differed from that in which it was first presented. The change, was the result of sharp opposition to the original resolution which proposed that the miners and operators be invited to resume negotiations with Governor Pinchot's plan of settlement as the basis. The Governor's plan has been accepted by the miners, but rejected by the operators as a basis of settlement.

With the adoption of the resolution Governor Pinchot was authorized to name a committee of seven to convey the invitation to the miners and operators. The committee was not named at the meeting, but probably will be announced tomorrow.

On Dec. 18 the Mayor's Committee fixed Dec. 21 as the date for the meeting of the operators and miners, Scranton being named as the meeting place.

On the 19th inst. the United Mine Workers notified the Mayors and Burgesses that they would resume negotiations with the operators of Scranton Dec. 21 on condition that the proposal of Governor Pinchot would be the basis of discussion. The reply of the miners was in the form of a telegram from John L. Lewis, head of the miners, to Mayor John F. Durkan, of Scranton, Chairman of the committee of chief executives. It follows:

Acknowledging your letter the mine workers' representatives are of the opinion that a conference such as you suggest will be utterly futile in the face of the authorized position of the operators as announced in the public press this morning. Your committee is advised of the position of the mine workers, who have accepted the neutral peace plan proposed by the Governor of Pennsylvania. If the mine workers enter a conference it will be upon the basis of the Governor's compromise. If this is satisfactory, advise.

Mayor Inglis in behalf of the operators, responding on Dec. 21 to the invitation of Mayor Durkan, indicated the unwillingness of the operators to attend the conference if it was to be confined, as proposed by the miners, to the consideration of the Pinchot plan. Mayor Inglis answer follows:

Hon. John Durkan, Mayor,

Scranton, Pa.

Answering our letter of this date in which you request us to attend a meeting with the mine workers:

It is necessary to make our position perfectly plain, to remind you that the resolution under which your invitation to a meeting was authorized and issued specified that the conference was to be on the understanding that either side shall be at liberty to bring up for discussion its own plan or plans, the Governor's plan or any other plan that may be offered.

Mr. Lewis' response to your invitation stated that if the mine workers enter a conference it will be upon the basis of the Governor's compromise.

Our response to your invitation stated that we would attend the conference without any conditions whatever, provided that the miners accepted your invitation in the same sense and without reservation. The miners have failed to do this.

Until you can give us written assurance from the miners that they are willing to enter conference on the basis of your invitation and without any reservation, we regret to say that we cannot attend the meeting suggested. Such a meeting could lead to nothing except misunderstanding and further delay. It is because we are most anxious that our attitude should be thoroughly understood that we have given in detail the reasons on which this reply to you is based.

W. W. INGLIS, Chairman, Operators Negotiating Committee.

At the same time Major Inglis issued a statement saying:

We don't want to be technical, but we are obliged to be practical. A meeting to discuss the Pinchot plan would be a waste of time, and yet that is all that Lewis had said he was willing to do. It could only lead to more delay and disappointment. The Pinchot plan is not a live issue. It is as dead as Julius Caesar. It has lost favor with business men, officials and citizens ever since it was put forth. We accepted the Mayor's invitation without any reservations. If Lewis had done the same we might have made some progress.

Previously (Dec. 20) in a telegram to Mayor Durkan, regarding the resolution adopted at the Mayors' meeting on Dec. 16, Major Inglis had said:

Acknowledging your communication of Dec. 18, wherein you give the text of a resolution adopted at a meeting at Harrisburg on Dec. 16, inviting the operators and miners to consider plans for the settlement of the existing strike.

The text of that resolution indicates that no one plan is to be the subject of conferences, but that any plan may be presented for consideration. With this understanding, we accept your invitation.

If the miners likewise accept your invitation under the conditions stated in your resolution, then we are ready to meet the call of Chairman Alvan Markle, as provided in the resolution of the negotiating committees adopted at the time of adjournment at Atlantic City. This is the regular course of procedure in such cases.

If the published report of Mr. Lewis's reply to your communication is correct, that the Pinchot plan alone will be considered by the miners, it would, of course, preclude a conference.

WILLIAM W. INGLIS.

Following the receipt of Major Inglis's reply of Dec. 21, Major Durkan sent the following telegram to Mr. Lewis:

Your wire agreeing to attend a conference to-morrow is received. The operators have declined to meet under the provisions outlined in to-day's call for a conference. It would be useless, therefore, to make the trip.

Still further efforts on the part of Mayor Durkan to bring the two factions together, was indicated as follows in a Scranton dispatch, Dec. 21, to the New York "Times":

Mayor Durkan early this afternoon sent the following telegram to President Lewis:

Mr. John L. Lewis, International President, United Mine Workers of America, Bellevue Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa.

With the understanding that both parties to the anthracite controversy will confer within the scope of the resolution adopted at Harrisburg, our committee has issued a call for a meeting of the operators' and miners' representatives at the City Hall at Scranton on Tuesday, Dec. 22, at 3 p. m. We might add that it is our understanding that the presentation and advocacy of the Pinchot Plan by the miners comes within the scope of of the resolution.

JOHN F. DURKAN, Chairman of Committee of Executives.

Mayor Durkan also sent a similar message to Major W. W. Inglis, spokesman for the operators, with the exception that the final sentence of the message to the operators read: "The Pinchot Plan by the miners comes within the scope of the resolution, but does not preclude discussion of any other plan."

Just before 5 o'clock this afternoon Mayor Durkan received the following telegram from President Lewis in Philadelphia.

"Answering your wire, the miners' representative will be at your office to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock to enter conference with the anthracite operators."

Soon after the reply of the miners' chief the operators sent an answer to Mayor Durkan through Major Inglis, in which they expressed regret that they could not accept the invitation because "the miners," as Mr. Inglis said, "are set on the Pinchot plan and only that."

On Dec. 22 Associated Press dispatches from Scranton stated:

The anthracite mine strike was without development within the region to-day. Mayor Durkan, who endeavored during the past two days to bring the operators' and miners' representatives together in a conference here, announced that he had not given up hope of ultimately working out a plan upon which both parties could agree.

Major W. W. Inglis, chairman of the anthracite operators' negotiating committee, reported the situation inchanged tonight.

From Scranton on Dec. 24 the following Associated Press advices were reported:

John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers, has notified Mayor John Durkan, Chairman of the Anthracite Committee of Mayors and Burgesses, that the miners are willing to meet the operators in conference to discuss any plan for peace, it was learned to-day.

Mayor Durkan made public the following telegram from Mr. Lewis, who is at his home in Springfield, Ill:

"Governor Pinchot has urged that I clarify the wrong impression of the mine workers' attitude which has been brought about by improper interpretations. Accordingly you are advised that while the mine workers will enter the conference in the light of your invitation and in conformity with our telegrams to your committee, the presentation and advocacy of the Governor's plan does not prevent the consideration of any other plan or plans by parties to the conference."

In addition to the efforts indicated above, it was made known on Dec. 15 that a proposal for ending the anthracite strike had been presented to operators and miners by eight members of the Luzerne County delegation to the Pennsylvania House of Representatives. The proposal included a form of arbitration under the name of Board of Settlement, embraces five points and provides for immediate resumption of work while negotiations are under way. On Dec. 16 the operators indicated their acceptance of the plan, but Mr. Lewis rejected the proposals.

The resolution adopted by the operators accepting the Luzerne County plan was as follows:

The anthracite operators have received and considered with care the letter of the legislators of Luzerne County, and hereby accept the suggestion of a conference with the mine workers on the basis of the Luzerne legislators' plan or any plan which includes an immediate return to work and a long term contract with provision for periodical adjustments and a board of settlement to decide all disputed questions which cannot be disposed of by negotiation.

In making public the resolution the operators gave out the appended statement:

Our willingness to accept the legislators' plan is based on the fact that the plan is sound in the two most essential particulars.

First, it provides for immediate resumption of work, the operators agreeing that they will pay the 1925 scale of wages until next September.

Although the conditions demand an adjustment of the more than war peak wages, we are willing to assume their burden as part of the price of a lasting peace.

Second, the legislators' plan provides a means of avoiding deadlocks.

These are the most important factors in any settlement. Sure of quick resumption of mining and that suspensions would be avoided for at least five years, the industry and its employees could join in settling all minor differences, putting their house in order, regaining lost markets and establishing a better understanding all around.

If the plan is open to any serious criticism, it is on the ground that so much time would be consumed between conferences. But since production would meanwhile be going on, we are not disposed to raise any objections to this feature.

We hope that the legislators' proposals will upon consideration also be satisfactory to the mine workers.

Put into effect, they would result in a quick ending of the distress and loss caused by the strike.

The new year can and should see the mines at work, distress relieved and coal flowing to the consumers' cellars.

Philadelphia advices to the New York "Times," Dec. 16, stated:

The plan, which was submitted to the operators by Franklin S. Edmonds, Philadelphia member of the State Legislature, calls for an immediate resumption of mining at the wage scale which expired Sept. 1; the negotiating of a new contract by a committee composed of three operators and three representatives of the United Mine Workers, the negotiations not to begin until two months after the renewal of mining operations, and the appointment of a board of settlement to settle all questions not agreed on by the negotiation committee within thirty days.

The board of settlement, according to the plan, would consist of the members of the negotiating committee, who would sit with the board but have no vote, and five voting members, to be appointed by the President of the United States, or an alternate; or by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and the presiding Judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals of the Third Circuit. Decision would be rendered by the board within three months.

Any new contract would be for at least five years and when signed would be effective from Sept. 1 1925. Both parties would have the right once every twelve months to seek adjustments.

Those attending the meeting, which was hurriedly called, were Samuel D. Warriner, Major Inglis, Thomas Thomas, W. J. Richards, George D. Hardesty, A. M. Fine and E. H. Suender.

President Lewis gave out the following statement regarding his view of the Luzerne plan:

The alleged plan of settlement presented by the Luzerne legislators will not, of course, be given any consideration by the mine workers and will be condemned by the miners of Luzerne County. It is simply the operators' plan wrapped in a new package. The legislators have foolishly permitted themselves to be used as catspaws by the anthracite operators. The mine workers are standing upon their acceptance of the plan of settlement proposed by Governor Pinchot and endorsed by the public.

According to Scranton advices to the Philadelphia "Record" Dec. 22 the Glen Alden Coal Company, of which Major W. W. Inglis, Chairman of the anthracite operators' subscale committee, is President, in a letter to its 17,000 employees to-day offers them resumption of work at the present rate of wage with a guarantee that there will be no reduction prior to Sept. 1. The item continues:

This offer, made over the signature of S. D. Dimmick, Vice-President and General Manager, is the first tangible move on the part of any of the big coal companies to bring the strike to an end. Every one of the company's employees received a copy of the letter.

"For the life of me," wrote Vice-President Dimmick, "I do not see why you men will not and do not go back to work at the old wages while we are making a new contract. We have offered to pay the old wages until next September. Meanwhile we could write a new contract with the union. What is wrong with that? How could you lose by it? After Sept. 1926, wages might be more and they might be less, depending upon conditions at that time. But you would have made good wages for eight months, anyhow."

A New York "Times" dispatch from Scranton Dec. 22 stating that the offer was characterized by union officials as "a direct blow aimed to destroy the Miners' Union and break up the strike," added:

D. W. Davis, international organizer for the union said:

The miners are not being fooled so easily these days and they look upon the offer of aid by the Glen Alden Company as an insult. If the company is so sympathetic as its letter states, why has its President, Mr. Inglis, refused to meet the miners at the peace table?

The letter to the idle miners expressed surprise that the miners would not and did not go back to work at the old wages.

While the Glen Alden Company was offering relief to its striking employees the Mayors and Burgesses continued their peace efforts. Mayor John Durkan stated that he believed the end of the strike is not far away.

A statement by Mr. Lewis in which he indicated that the miners are organizing the defence of the workers "in expectation of a continuance of the present struggle to the Fall of 1926 or the Spring of 1927" is referred to elsewhere in this issue. The present week 16 Catholic priests, representing 85% of the miners, have taken occasion to indicate in letters to Major Inglis and Mr. Lewis that the miners are "tired of the present suspension and want to return to work." They say:

A large majority of the mine workers want the authorized representatives of both mine workers and operators to resume negotiations at once, without ceremony of influence as they have on other occasions, to equalize wages in the anthracite industry and to settle all other questions at issue.

That in the event of the representatives of both mine workers and operators failing to agree upon questions in dispute, that both sides refer all disputed questions to impartial arbitration, the board of which shall be selected in a manner agreeable to mine workers and operators.

The letter submits unfavorable results of the strike as follows:

An economic loss of millions of dollars to mine workers, operators and public, from which recovery will be absolutely impossible.

A national prejudice against the anthracite region.

A loss of faith in the future prosperity of our region.

Danger in loss of life among our men, women and little children among those least able to stand the conflict much longer.

A state of idleness that is producing demoralized citizenry.

Public discouragement over the failure of mine workers and operators to promote a program of peace and prosperity in industry when nations of the world are working together for the prevention of international war.

Proposals of Nov. 28 (referred to further below), were indicated as follows in Philadelphia Associated Press accounts of Dec. 3:

W. W. Inglis, Chairman of the Anthracite Operators' Negotiating Committee, in a statement at Scranton to-night in which he compared Governor Pinchot's recent peace proposals with the plan submitted by operators and rejected by President Lewis two weeks ago, said the mine owners' offer was still open and that he believed "it will gain approval the more it is considered." The statement follows:

"Following the three months of idleness, and after the developments of the past few days it has seemed worth while to analyze and compare the proposals made by both sides to end the strike. Summed up this results in the following:

Pinchot-Lewis Plan.

"1. Five-year contract.
"2. Men to go to go to work after contract is signed.
"3. Wages fixed for five years—negotiation on all other demands.
"4. Check-off.
"5. Arbitration limited to raising wages.
"6. No means for avoiding deadlock.

The Operators' Plan.

"1. Five-year contract.
"2. Mining to begin at once.
"3. Present wages and other conditions until changed by negotiation or arbitration.
"4. No check-off.
"5. Arbitration of all disputed points without reservation.
"6. Means provided to avoid deadlock.

"Our offer as outlined above is still open. We believe it will gain approval the more it is considered. There are issues on which there is decided differences of opinion. Negotiations can be resumed, but if differences cannot be reconciled the deadlock continues. In that event arbitration offers the best way out."

In setting forth his inability to get the committee together for the conference proposed by Governor Pinchot on Nov. 27, Major Inglis had the following to say in reply to the Governor:

Scranton, Nov. 28 1925.

Hon. Gifford Pinchot, Governor Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pa.:

In reply to your telegram, received late yesterday, as I intimated to you over the telephone, I find it impossible to get the committee together for a conference at Harrisburg to-day. If you so desire, I will endeavor to arrange a meeting between you and our committee after Monday next to consider any proposition you may have to make. In my opinion, such a meeting is essential in order that we may know what you have in mind before entering into any joint conference with you and the miners' representatives. I think it advisable that any plan you have in mind be held confidential until both sides have had an opportunity separately to consider it.

(Signed) WILLIAM INGLIS,
Chairman Anthracite Operators' Negotiating Committee.

A reply to this was made as follows by Governor Pinchot:

The public is as much concerned with this settlement as either miners or operators. My suggestion for a settlement must therefore be made in public. I shall proceed to make it this afternoon in accordance with my telegram of yesterday. I still hope you will come.

Mr. Lewis, who with other union officials attended the meeting, addressed a letter to Governor Pinchot making known his acceptance of the latter's plan "as a basis of settlement." At a meeting in Philadelphia on Nov. 29, the anthracite operators found the plan "impossible" as the basis "of a sound and lasting settlement," and in advices to this effect to Governor Pinchot stated that "for the same reasons they cannot be considered as a basis for conference and negotiation." Eleven points were embodied in the proposal of Governor Pinchot, these being thus summarized in the Philadelphia "Ledger" of Nov. 30:

1. That the price of coal shall not increase because of the suspension or the new agreement.
2. That the agreement shall extent at least five years.
3. The creation of a Board of Investigation and Award comprised of two men chosen by the miners, two by the operators and three by these four.
4. The board to investigate whether the operators can pay increased wages without increasing the price of coal.
5. The board to organize within 30 days and make its report within six months.
6. Records of miners and operators to be open to the board but not to the public.
7. After making its award the board shall study methods of avoiding strikes and of increasing mine efficiency and operation.
8. Full recognition of the union not granted but operators shall honor voluntary written request of a miner to assign his present union dues, not exceeding $14 a year.
9. Working conditions not specifically mentioned to be referred back to representatives of miners and operators for settlement.
10. Board of Conciliation established under Roosevelt settlement of 1903, which never functioned, to proceed at once to equalize wages. Wages not to be reduced during the five-year agreement unless as the result of such equalization.
11. Suspension end at once and anthracite mining operations to begin immediately.

The following is the plan presented by Governor Pinchot:

The present suspension of work in the anthracite mines of Pennsylvania ought to be ended. I believe the time has come when it can be ended.

The strike has brought enormous loss of wages to the miners and of profit to the operators. What is of greater consequence is, the general public is suffering and will suffer yet more severely if the strike goes on.

The strike is the direct cause of financial embarrassment, physical suffering and the most exasperating inconvenience to millions of anthracite users. Not only in Pennsylvania but far more widely outside the State, this strike has imposed heavy burdens on those who burn anthracite. Our obligation to them is no small part of the reason why we should settle the strike.

Unnumbered domestic consumers of anthracite are unable to secure their customary supplies of their customary fuel. They must go without, or depend on substitutes with whose handling they are unfamiliar, and for which they must pay prices utterly unknown before. The growing use of substitutes in thousands of homes and business enterprises, both within and without the State, seriously endangers the future of the anthracite industry and the well-being of the whole anthracite region.

The prosperity of all northeastern Pennsylvania is threatened by the stagnation of its basic industry, and with it the prosperity of all portions of the State. We are face to face not with one strike but with two. The second is the formidable strike of consumers against the uncertainty of supply and the constantly rising price of anthracite. Neither the anthracite industry nor the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and especially northeastern Pennsylvania, can afford to leave this second strike out of account.

There is no good reason why this situation should be allowed to continue. It is to everybody's interest that the strike should stop. But miners and operators alike find it difficult to take the first step toward a settlement. If there is to be a settlement before still more serious suffering has fallen upon the public, that step must be taken by some public authority. Many appeals have been made to me to intervene. Every day of delay adds to the load of trouble.

Accordingly, I have called you together to propose a specific plan upon which I believe the strike can be and should be settled with justice to the miners, to the operators, and most of all, to the anthracite-using public.

Neither miners nor operators can expect, nor ought to expect, to see this strike settled on their own terms. Both must make concessions. If either side attempts to hold out against a reasonable settlement for mere pride of opinion, anxiety to save its face, or the determination to insist on some point too small to be weighed against the enormous losses of the public, it will justly be held responsible for those losses, and its condemnation will be as great as its offense.

The essential party in this dispute is neither the miners nor the operators. It is the 40,000,000 whose habit is to warm themselves with anthracite. My intervention is made as a representative of the public, and for the purpose of protecting the public interest and the public rights.

The first condition of any settlement of this strike should be every practicable assurance to the public that the price of anthracite will not be raised by the operators. Miners and operators alike should pledge their best efforts to mine and market coal economically in order that increased cost of coal may be avoided.

The second condition should be that another interruption of supply like the present will not soon take place.

The third should be that an honest effort be made to prevent another interruption of supply from ever taking place.

I have called you together as representatives of miners and operators to lay before you again your obligations to the industry to which you both belong, to the region where that industry lies, and to all users of anthracite.

In particular, I desire to submit the following rough outline of an agreement upon which, in substance, I believe the present suspension of work in the anthracite mines could be, and ought to be, ended at once with justice to the miners, the operators and the anthracite-using people of America.

1. The prices of anthracite coal shall not, by reason of the present suspension, or of this agreement or any part of it, be increased by the operators beyond those scheduled for the year 1925.

2. This agreement shall be for not less than five years.

3. A board of investigation and award shall be established under this agreement, and shall continue during the life thereof. It shall consist of two men chosen by the miners, two men chosen by the operators, and three others selected by the four thus chosen. All necessary expenses of the board shall be borne equally by the miners and operators.

4. The Board of Investigation and Award shall investigate and determine whether or not, all factors of cost being duly considered, the operators can reasonably pay an increase of wages without increasing the price of coal. If the Board shall find an increase of wages without an increase of price is justified, such increase shall be paid in such amounts and to such classes of employees as the Board in its award shall determine. If it shall not so find, no increase of wages shall be awarded.

5. The Board of Investigation and Award shall meet and organize within thirty days and make and publish its award within six calendar months after it shall organize for business. Any increase in wages so awarded shall be in effect and date back to the day when the present suspension ends.

6. The original records of both miners and operators shall be open to the Board of Investigation and Award for the purpose of enabling it to reach its decision, but the records shall not be made public in such manner as to enable the facts concerning any individual company or any local union to be separately known.

7. When its award as to wages has been made, the Board of Investigation and Award shall forthwith proceed to investigate, determine and publicly recommend the most practicable and available method for avoiding suspensions of work in the anthracite mines and for assuring to the public an uninterrupted supply of anthracite coal. It shall also investigate, ascertain and recommend methods for increasing the efficiency and reducing the cost of operation of the mines.

8. Full recognition of the union (the check-off) shall not be granted by the operators, but any operator shall honor the voluntary individual written request of any miner to assign the amount of his present union dues, not exceeding $14 per year, and including neither fines nor assessments, as assignment for house rent, coal, powder and other mining supplies, and delinquent taxes, as now practiced. (Such dues are already so assigned in certain anthracite mines.)

9. The adjustment of working conditions, as specified in the demands of the miners, and any other matters not here specifically mentioned, shall be referred back to the representatives of the miners and operators for settlement.

10. The Board of Conciliation, established under the Roosevelt settlement of 1903, shall proceed at once to equalize wages as agreed upon in the strike settlement of 1923. Wages shall not be reduced during the life of this agreement below those provided in the last agreement unless as the result of such equalization.

The foregoing suggestion for an agreement has been submitted to the Committee of Three on Coal Suspension of the Scranton Chamber of Commerce, which committee was directed to confer with the Governor for the settlement of the suspension, has been modified in accordance with their suggestions, and I am authorized to say has received their unanimous approval.

In conclusion, I venture the hope that this suggestion for the settlement of the anthracite suspension will receive the careful consideration of miners and operators, and will commend itself both to them and to the users of anthracite who are the makers of public opinion in the anthracite using portions of the United States.

The letter of President Lewis of the United Mine Workers, accepting the plan, follows:

Hon. Gifford Pinchot, Governor of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pa.

Sir: Conscious of the imperative public need which prompted your proposals to the anthracite operators and miners for an adjustment of the present controversy, the mine workers' representatives have given to the subject the most profound consideration.

It is obvious that the interests of peace in the anthracite industry require consideration by both sides in a spirit of compromise and mutual concession. The mine workers regard your proposals for a settlement as being "representative of the public viewpoint and have every sincere desire now, as before, to terminate a distressing situation which menaces public health and well being.

I am, therefore, authorized by the Tri-District Scale Committee of Districts 1, 7 and 9, United Mine Workers of America, to advise you that on behalf of our membership we accept the proposals made by you as a basis of settlement. We stand ready at any time to meet in joint conference with the representatives of the anthracite operators to negotiate an agreement which shall encompass the points set forth by you.

We further advise that promptly following such agreement upon the part of the anthracite operators we will arrange for resumption of mining at the anthracite collieries at the earliest possible date.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN L. LEWIS, President.

With the receipt of the above advices a telegram of congratulation was sent to Mr. Lewis by Governor Pinchot as follows:

Your letter announcing the unanimous acceptance by the miners of the plan for the settlement of the strike submitted to you yesterday has been wired to me here. I am aware that in accepting it the Tri-District Scale Committee has made real concessions from its announced position and that it has considered and respected the public interest in a way that reflects honor on the committee and on every anthracite miner whom the committee represents.

I believe that the willingness of the miners to go without an increase of pay unless it can be granted without raising the price of coal to the anthracite using people of America sets a new high mark in wage disputes in the United States.

Please accept for yourself and convey to all members of the Tri-District Scale Committee my warm congratulations and heartiest appreciation.

Major Inglis, in presenting to Governor Pinchot the operators' views regarding the proposals, called attention to a proposal offered by them two weeks before to Mr. Lewis, and rejected by him. We give Major Inglis's letter herewith:

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 30 1925.

Hon. Gifford Pinchot, Governor of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Governor Pinchot: Acknowledging your letter of Nov. 28, inclosing copy of the proposition which you laid before the meeting last Saturday afternoon and which you refer to the anthracite operators' committee for consideration.

As a first step, we have asked ourselves: Are the proposals you have submitted practicable? Will they end the present industrial strife in a way that will enable us for a long period of time to operate our mines, give employment to labor, hold prices at a reasonable level, and give some assurance of a reasonable return on the investment? These questions are vital to the life of the industry, and the answer to them necessarily determines our answer to you.

You propose that prices shall not be increased and wages shall not be decreased for a period of five years, regardless of changing conditions. You suggest a board of investigation and award, which, however, has power to do but one thing—increase wages. This is not for arbitration and cannot be accepted as a substitute for real arbitration, in which proven facts would control.

You ask us to repeat the Jacksonville mistake of endeavoring to maintain high prices to pay high wages through the simple formula of writing these terms into a contract. An arrangement involving agreement on prices is clearly illegal. Furthermore, no producer of any commodity could in good faith bind himself to such a proposal. Prices are controlled by the law of supply and demand and cannot be maintained at artificial levels by arbitrary agreement.

You further propose that the board is to pass on the profits of the industry, and that irrespective of whether wages are just and fair, if profits permit, wages shall be increased. Without comment on the unsound theory that profits should fix wages (a theory that would operate against the employee as often as against the employer) it seems to us that it would have been more logical to suggest that if profits are excessive and labor well paid prices should be reduced.

The check-off was condemned in principle by the Roosevelt Commission in 1903 and refused by the Wilson Commission in 1920. You now suggest that we accept it by another name. By any name, it is repugnant to reason and justice, and a barrier rather than an aid to sound industrial relations. In theory only would assignments be "voluntary." In practice, the system would not eliminate strikes, for the real effect would be to substitute the strike to force voluntary assignments for the "button strike" heretofore employed to force union membership. The confirmation of this lies in the finding of a Federal Court within the past few weeks that "the check-off system and its provisions are to prevent all non-union men from working in union mines and compel all workmen to become members of said organization, so that said organization will have an absolute monopoly of all labor engaged in such industry."

Only on the ground of misunderstanding our seriousness of purpose and our desire to reach conclusions of lasting benefit can we account for proposals that so completely fail to meet the necessities of the situation. We note that your plan is satisfactory to Mr. Lewis and his associates. This is not surprising. Naturally he agrees to the check-off and to continuation of high wages which can be further increased but not decreased by "arbitration."

Your telegram emphasizes the fact that you found it necessary to go ahead with public meeting because of the extent to which the matters in controversy were charged with public interest. It is for that very reason and because of the unwarranted increase imposed on the industry through your mediation two years ago that the operators are now proceeding with the caution that the seriousness of the situation demands. We are not unmindful of the public interest, for that interest and the future welfare of the industry are so closely allied that dissociation is impossible. In striving for a settlement that shall provide for extended peace and for effective machinery to adjust wages, should economic conditions require, we are fighting for the rights of the public as well as those of the industry.

Two weeks ago, through an intermediary who came to us, we offered Mr. Lewis the following proposal:

"1. An immediate return to work at wages paid prior to the suspension.

"2. A resumption of negotiations again to consider any modifications of the expired contract that might be urged by either party.

"3. A new contract for not less than five years to be formulated and signed. Any matters in dispute and not disposed of within thirty days after the resumption of negotiations, to be referred to a board for settlement.

"4. The board to be composed of two operators, two mine workers and three persons in every sense impartial to be appointed by the Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, the Chief Justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court and the presiding Judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit.

"5. Either party to have the right, once in twelve months but not oftener—to ask for a conference to reconsider any of the terms of the contract. Matters still in controversy, thirty days after the convening of any conference, to be referred to the board for settlement."

Here was a proposition for immediate resumption of work under the terms of the expired contract while the parties made one more attempt to reconcile their differences, and with provision for settling any disputes that could not be settled by negotiation. It made no restrictions, but left open to determination, based on the facts, all matters in controversy. Mr. Lewis summarily rejected it.

It is only on some basis that recognizes facts as the controlling influence that this controversy can be satisfactorily settled. The substitution of expediency is a policy to which we cannot subscribe. It is impossible for us to find in your proposals the basis of a sound and lasting settlement, and for the same reason they cannot be considered as a basis for conference and negotiation.

Very respectfully,
WILLIAM W. INGLIS,
Chairman Anthracite Operators' Negotiation Committee.

On the 1st inst. the operators offered to resume negotiations with representatives of the striking coal miners on the basis of the plan recently submitted to Mr. Lewis. The Associated Press advices from Philadelphia in stating this also said in part:

In renewing the offer to-day, Major W. W. Inglis, Chairman of the Anthracite Operators' Wage Negotiating Committee, said it was an "open door" to peace, and should furnish the basis for "taking up anew the differences which have kept the mines idle for three months."

"There is nothing unique in the plan," Major Inglis said. "It is the only fair method of settling industrial disputes. Mr. Lewis has declined it, but still has to assign some good reason for this attitude."

Governor Pinchot, who is on a tour of inspection in the western part of the State, characterized the operators' rejection of his plan as "a rejection of industrial peace and a declaration of war." He gave no intimation as to whether he contemplated taking any further steps in an effort to bring about a renewal of negotiations between the operators and miners.

According to Scranton Associated Press dispatches Dec. 1, Major W. W. Inglis made the following comment on Governor Pinchot's statement:

Governor Pinchot is quoted as saying that the anthracite operators in rejecting his plan have turned down industrial peace and declared for war.

We feel that by turning down this proposition, after lengthy consideration, we have not turned down industrial peace, but industrial calamity.

We submit that a comparison of the Governor's proposition and our own offer for a settlement of the anthracite strike will speak for themselves. Any basis of a settlement must be practicable and workable. It must insure industrial peace over an extended period, with protective provisions to operators and miners alike to cover changing conditions. It was with this in mind that we made our offer to Mr. Lewis two weeks ago.

No plan that does not take care of conditions as they arise can help but be harmful.

J. B. Warriner, General Manager of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co. and a member of the anthracite operators' wage negotiating committee, was reported as saying on Dec. 3 that is was perhaps a good thing that Governor Pinchot's peace proposal had been "definitely disposed of, as the way is cleared for some real solution." This is learned from the New York "Evening Post," which prints an Associated Press dispatch from Lansford, Pa., saying:

Mr. Warriner is a brother of Samuel D. Warriner, President of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co. and Chairman of the anthractie operators' conference committee.

"The proposal made by Governor Pinchot," said Mr. Warriner, "appealed to me as an adroit move on the part of Mr. Lewis to maneuver the anthracite operators into an embarrassing position. Naturally, a pronouncement by the Governor of a great State carries considerable weight. People do not ordinarily look behind such statements to discover the political wires in the background. The tendency is to take anything of the kind at its face value.

"Some weight was added to the proposal also by an alleged endorsement of the plan by a committee from some of the coal region Chambers of Commerce. This endorsement, however, turns out to have been somewhat exaggerated.

Calls Plan Impractical.

"In any case, the proposal was so impractical and one-sided that it had to be rejected in its entirety. The closest analysis failed to find in it any basis for negotiations."

Mr. Warriner said renewed negotiations under the plan offered by the operators and rejected by Mr. Lewis "might easily result in an agreement fair to all interests."

"Mr. Lewis," Mr. Warriner added, "has now agreed in principle to arbitration, so this should constitute no further obstacle.

"This whole situation, in my opinion, must be viewed in the light of the present rapid displacement of anthracite by substitute fuels. We must all work together to fight this very evident menace to the prosperity of our region."

Mayor Hylan of New York Criticises Coal Operators.

Mayor Hylan of New York City, in a telegram to Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, made public at the Governor's office, at Harrisburg, expressed thanks, "in the name of the people of the City of New York," for the Executive's efforts to end the coal strike, say Associated Press advices from Harrisburg, Dec. 3, which gives the telegram as follows:

I thank you heartily for your endeavors to bring about settlement of the coal strike. Your terms of arbitration were fair to both sides and received approval of the miners, but unfortunately were rejected by the operators.

It is to be regretted that public officials all over the country do not cooperate with you whole-heartedly in your humane endeavor for arbitration, as you suggest, so that they may have coal without further delay.

Such official interest would represent the wishes of the masses and undoubtedly force a change of attitude among coal operators; otherwise the people of New York, the New England States and other localities must suffer the rigors of winter months while coal barons hold out to influence their own form of settlement upon the miners.

Appeal to Labor for Contributions in Behalf of Anthracite Miners by President Green of American Federation of Labor

An appeal to members of labor bodies affiliated with the American Federation of Labor to contribute "such amounts as you may be able to give for the purpose of supplying food and clothing to the striking anthracite miners and their families," was made on Dec. 20 by William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor. The following is the text of the appeal as given in the New York "Herald-Tribune" of Dec. 21:

"By authority of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor I have issued the following appeal to all organized units and members of organized labor affiliated with the American Federation of Labor:

" 'To the officers and members of organized labor, sisters and brothers:

" 'In the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania 168,000 members of the United Mine Workers of America have been on strike since September 1, 1925. They have been forced into this state of idleness because the anthracite coal operators refuse to enter into a new agreement to take the place of the agreemnt which expired on August 31. For almost four months the anthracite mine workers have been courageously and heroically fighting a great battle for union labor, for the recognition of the principle of collective bargaining and for the establishment of a wage scale in keeping with American standards of life and living.

" 'This experience has brought suffering and sacrifice to the wives and children and into the homes of the anthracite miners.

No Santa Claus for Many

" 'This situation touches us deeply, particularly at this season when the Christmas spirit prevails throughout our land. There are thousands of children in the anthracite coal region who will look for Santa Clause in vain this year, and whose little hearts and lives will be filled with disappointment.

" 'The United Mine Workers' organization is doing its best, exhausting every resource of its command, to meet the urgent needs of the anthracite miners who are on strike and their families dependent upon them. For many months—yes, for more than a year—the United Mine Workers of America has been spending many thousands of dollars each month in supplying relief in the way of food, clothing and shelter to members of the organization who have been on strike or who have been forced into idleness in West Virginia, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and other mining sections.

" 'This situation has been bravely faced by the United Mine Workers of America. It is giving of its full resources to the members of its organization in both the anthracite and bituminous fields who are in need of assistance.

Burden Too Great

" 'But the burden is too great for one organization and the cry for help reaches beyond the United Mine Workers of America. Organized labor in America must hear that cry, and, hearing it, must respond to the needs of the men, women and children in the anthracite region who are suffering from hunger and who need our help. The attitude of the anthracite operators constitutes a challenge to the membership of the American Federation of Labor. Their unrelenting attitude toward their employees, the anthracite miners, and their indifference to the public welfare and the public necessity cannot fail to rouse the generous spirit of the membership of organized labor.

" 'It seems to be the purpose of the anthracite coal operators to crush and destroy the spirit of organization among the anthracite mine workers, to ruthlessly starve them into submission and to tyrannically dictate the terms of employment and the conditions under which their employees shall live.

" 'The mine workers of the anthracite region are uncomplainingly suffering. Business throughout the territory is stagnated, and that part of the American public which is forced to purchase its coal in small allotments from day to day is the victim of the arrogant and indefensible policy being pursued by the anthracite operators.

" 'Organized labor is alive to this situation. Its sympathies and its interests are with the anthracite miners. The convention of the American Federation of Labor, held at Atlantic City in October, extended its full indorsement of the anthracite strike and directed the executive council of the American Federation of Labor to co-operate in every possible way to the end that the anthracite mine workers achieve complete success in their efforts.

" 'Organized labor cannot and will not remain passive and unresponsive when the wives and children of our striking brothers are hungry and suffering for the necessities of life.

" 'Therefore, as the president of the American Federation of Labor and in behalf of the executive council, I appeal to the membership of organized labor throughout the jurisdiction of the Federation to contribute such amounts of money as you may be able to give for the purpose of supplying food and clothing to the striking anthracite miners and their families. Make your financial donations as large as circumstances will permit.

" 'We urge that all unions contribute as liberally as the necessities of the anthracite mine workers require and as liberally as the condition of their treasuries will permit. We recommend that all state and central bodies and local unions and federal unions of the American Federation of Labor donate from their treasuries. Let every member of organized labor give, and give generously.

" 'In addition, we request that all central bodies appoint committees to devise ways and means by which funds may be secured. The needs of the anthracite miners are pressing. They must have money now. All funds contributed will be spent economically and by duly accredited representatives of the United Mine Workers of America in the distribution of relief.

" 'Send your donations at once. Do not delay. Make your contributions to Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, Washington. He will promptly acknowledge and receipt for the same. Fraternally, yours,

WILLIAM GREEN,

" 'President American Federation of Labor.' "

President Lewis of United Mine Workers Predicts Continuance of Coal Strike Until 1927—Charges Operators with Seeking to Crush Union—Reply by Major Inglis.

In an address before the Philadelphia Real Estate Board on Dec. 17, John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers of America, declared that the anthracite operators and the financial interests behind them are prepared to suffer the loss of a billion dollars "to crush the mine workers' union and to break the spirit and resistance of their employees." "Knowing the operators' plans," said Mr. Lewis, "the United Mine Workers are now organizing the defense of the anthracite mine workers in expectation of a continuance of the present struggle to the fall of 1926 or the spring of 1927."

Major William W. Inglis, Chairman of the Operators' Negotiating Committee, replying on Dec. 18 to Mr. Lewis's assertions that the operators are deliberately attempting to destroy the United Mine Workers, said:

The operators are not fighting the union. They are in favor of a strong union—one which will settle its troubles in the light of the facts and which will not sacrifice the anthracite workers in the interest of the bituminous workers. They are really fighting the Lewis policy of substituting force for reason.

Major Inglis's statement follows:

Mr. Lewis in his characteristic style attempts to throw up a smoke screen to hide the real issue in this controversy. That issue plainly stated, is a substitution of arbitration, advocated by the operators, for the strike, advocated by Mr. Lewis.

He indulges in his time-worn formula of comparing the labor cost of producing a ton of anthracite coal with the price paid by the consume rin some far distant city for domestic sizes. He admits that the price paid by the consumer includes the cost of transportation and the cost of doing business on the part of the wholesaler and retailer—matters over which the operators have no control. He forgets to say that to the labor cost of producing anthracite must be added the cost of material, administrative expenses, taxes, insurance, depletion, depreciation, &c.

Mr. Lewis charges the operators with a deliberate attempt to destroy the United Mine Workers. He tries to justify a continuance of the strike on the fact that the mine workers accepted the Pinchot plan of settlement—a plan which the operators have every reason to suspect was approved by Mr. Lewis before it was publicly offered. It gave him present high wages with arbitration upward for another five years, and it gave him what was most important to his national organization—the check-off. Naturally, it appeals to him as a basis to end the controversy.

Following the strike of 1902 and up to the time that Mr. Lewis became the head of the mine workers' organization in 1920, the anthracite operators and their employees settled their differences by collective bargaining. Since Mr. Lewis has been in charge of its affairs nothing has been accomplished by that process and we have had three strikes in less than four years. This is a record of militant, and not constructive, labor leadership. It is a condition which cannot be permitted to continue if the industry is to survive. Mr. Lewis' appeal to public sympathy and support is based on false premises, and clothed with insincerity. He clings to the Pinchot plan of settlement and yet two weeks prior to the offering of that plan he rejected a plan much fairer to the interests of all concerned. Within the past few days he has rejected the plan offered by the legislators of Luzerne County, which was a fair plan and provided for continuing present wages to Sept. 1 1926.

Mr. Lewis glibly talks about continuing the present struggle to the fall of 1926 or the spring of 1927. Once more he furnishes evidence of the interest of his organization in the bituminous field. The anthracite strike had its beginning in Mr. Lewis' effort to regain lost ground in the bituminous. When he talks of continuing it to the expiration of the Jacksonville agreement, it is apparent that the dominating influence in the present controversy is still bituminous and not anthracite.

The anthracite operators tried by every means to avoid the strike. They have repeatedly urged a return to work and a settlement of all matters in dispute, either by negotiation or arbitration. These facts are known to everybody. When Mr. Lewis, by such statements as he made yesterday, endeavors to transfer the burden of continuing the strike to the operators, he insults the intelligence of both the worker in the mines and the consumer of anthracite coal.

The operators are not fighting the union. They are in favor of a strong union—one which will settle its troubles in the light of the facts and which will not sacrifice the anthracite workers in the interest of the bituminous workers. They are really fighting the Lewis policy of substituting force for reason.

Resignation of Charles C. McChord as Member of Interstate Commerce Commission—Richard V. Taylor Named as Successor—Thomas F. Woodlock Again Nominated

It was made known on Dec. 21 that Charles C. McChord had resigned from the Interstate Commerce Commission. As successor to Commissioner McChord President Coolidge on the 21st inst. named Richard V. Taylor of Alabama. The term for which he is named expires Dec. 31, 1929.

On Dec. 21 President Coolidge also submitted to the Senate the nomination of Thomas F. Woodlock, of New York, to be a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1930. Mr. Woodlock, who was named to succeed Mark W. Potter, was given a recess appointment on March 25, after the Senate had failed to act in either of the two instances in which the President had sent the nomination to the Senate. As we indicated in these columns March 28 (page 1550) Mr. Woodlock's nomination was opposed by Southern Senators who contended that the post should be tendered to a representative of the South. Associated Press advices from Washington on Dec. 21 state:

The Taylor nomination, giving the South the representation it has demanded on the commission, was said by several of the Southern leaders to have removed objection from that quarter to the confirmation of Woodlock.

It generally was predicted that both nominations would be approved, although Woodlock still will be opposed by a small group of Western insurgents who regard him as too closely allied with Wall Street.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, disputed the suggestion that opposition to Mr. Woodlock was based wholly on the fact that he is not from the South.

"My opposition to him is because he has written a number of articles for the Wall Street Journal which show me that he is not qualified to sit on the commission," Senator Wheeler said.

Senator Watson retorted that he had read those articles and was convinced by them that Mr. Woodlock had "very sound views."

Regarding a debate in the Senate on Dec. 21 occasioned by the naming of Mr. Taylor, upon, it is stated, the recommendation of Senator Underwood, we quote the following from a Washington dispatch to the New York "Herald-Tribune":

Senator Blease, of South Carolina, said there were "whisperings" a "deal" had been made for Democratic support for confirmation of Thomas F. Woodlock, of New York, in exchange for the appointment of Taylor. Mr. Blease said his colleague, Senator Smith, who has gone home, was not a party to any "deal."

Senator Underwood, in defense of the appointment, said the South in about fifty years had had but two men on the commission and told of the long efforts to obtain Southern representation. While he had opposed the confirmation of Woodlock last spring, he said, it was not due to personal objection, but to efforts to get a Southern appointee.

Asked to Suggest Name

Senator Underwood said President Coolidge had invited him to the White House a month ago, told him he expected a vacancy, on the commission, and asked him to suggest a name. Mr. Underwood recommended Taylor, Democratic Mayor of Mobile, and for thirty years general manager of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad. He is not connected with any railroad now. He is a brother of Hannis Taylor, of Washington. Senator Underwood said the President made no promise, there was no "deal" and that last Saturday the President advised him Mr. McChord would resign and asked further about Mr. Taylor. Senator Underwood said he and Senator Heflin agreed to indorse Taylor.

A long discussion over the Interstate Commerce Commission followed.

McChord's Resignation Surprises

The unexpected resignation of Mr. McChord was learned in official Washington with general surprise, although he several times had told friends he wished to resign to re-enter the practice of law. He has been a member of the commission for fifteen years and several times its chairman. He was first appointed by President Taft in December, 1910. Mr. McChord is a Democrat and a native of Springfield, Ky. When appointed to the commission he was practicing law at Louisville. He expects to practice law in Washington.

The following Associated Press dispatches were reported from Washington Dec. 22:

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP).—While the White House was explaining today President Coolidge's course in making new appointments to the Interstate Commerce Commission, opposition to his appointees continued to grow in the Senate.

The White House described as a mistake the supposition that the appointment of Richard V. Taylor of Alabama was in exchange for Southern Democratic support for Thomas F. Woodlock of New York, now serving under a recess appointment after his nomination had been opposed successfully at the last session by the Senators from the South.

The nomination of Mr. Taylor was said at the White House to have been made with the endorsement of Senators Underwood and Heflin of Alabama. Senator Smith of South Carolina, former Democratic Chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, was not consulted, it was added, because he was absent from the city.

The Taylor and Woodlock nominations have been referred to a Senate Committee which will defer action until after the Christmas holidays. They will be opposed both in the committee and on the Senate floor. Administration leaders are hopeful but not over sanguine that confirmation will be obtained.

Protests against the nominations of both Taylor and Woodlock were made today by the State Railroad Commissions of Louisiana and South Carolina. They were based largely on the contention that the appointees had been too closely identified in the past with the railroad interests. Several protests from private persons were received by Senators from other Southern States.

E. I. Lewis Reappointed Interstate Commerce Commissioner

On Dec. 15 President Coolidge forwarded to the Senate the reappointment of E. I. Lewis of Indiana to be a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission for the term of seven years from Jan. 1, 1926. The Senate confirmed the nomination on Dec. 21.

Cost to Government of Federal Control of Railroads $1,696,000,000

According to the report of James C. Davis, Director General of Railroads, submitted to President Coolidge on Dec. 14, the total cost to the Government of Federal control of the railroads (during 32 months), including operating losses during the period of Federal operation and the six months' guarantee period after relinquishment of control and the payment of the deficit of the short lines, amounted to $1,696,000,000. In his report, the Director General, after detailing the taking over of the railroads on Dec. 31, 1917, said:

"When the property was returned to its owners claims were presented by the carriers, represented largely by the items of unpaid compensation, undermaintenance of way and equipment, material and supplies and depreciation, in the sum of $1,014,402,446.72. The Railroad Administration set up claims against the railroads, largely for excess expenditures for maintenance, in the sum of $440,353,715.08.

"Congress directed the President, through his agent, as soon as practicable to settle and adjust these and all other claims incident to Federal control. Every one of the claims of the carriers whose property was taken over has been adjusted. The creditor roads were paid $243,652,196.91. There was collected from the debtor roads $195,272,295.17. The balance paid by the Government was $48,379,901.74, or less than 5% of the claims as originally presented.

"There are perhaps two outstanding features in the adjustment: It was made without litigation, and well within the appropriation originally made by Congress for this purpose.

"The liquidation has involved the handling of large sums. As an outgrowth of Federal control the Government took definitive obligations of the railroads for advances, funding of additions and betterments, balance due on settlement, and the like, aggregating $629,241,250. Of this amount there has been collected, or disposed of at par, $495,705,450. This amount has been returned to the United States Treasury.

"The Railroad Administration for a number of years has been returning large sums to the Treasury. For the eleven months ended Nov. 30, 1925, the receipts in excess of expenditures were $50,690,499.

"Aside from the claims of the railroads for the use of their properties there were innumerable claims of third persons for freight overcharge, reparation, loss and damage, personal injuries, fires, and the like, while the Railroad Administration, on its part, had many claims for demurrage and undercharges. In the neighborhood of 50,000 lawsuits were instituted against the Railroad Administration growing out of these transactions.

"The greater portion of these outside claims have been adjusted, and the entire liquidation is being rapidly concluded. The income of the Railroad Administration from interest on railroad obligations is largely in excess of any amount sufficient to finally conclude this adjustment."

According to the New York "Evening Post" the value of the property taken over was some $20,000,000,000 and the annual compensation, represented by the average earnings for the three years prior to Federal control, was $2,087,323,593.97, a monthly rental in excess of $80,000,000. The Director General's report, says the New York "Times," characterizes the work of the Railroad Administration as "the largest liquidation of a single commercial interest ever undertaken." At the present time the Railroad Administration has unexpended cash assets of $101,504,972.84 and holds carrier obligations amounting to $133,535,800.

Resignation of James C. Davis as Director General of Railroads—Secretary Mellon Named as Director

With the submission of his annual report to President Coolidge on Dec. 14, James C. Davis tendered his resignation as Director General of Railroads. The President, it is stated, has designated Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to succeed Mr. Davis.

Attitude of the Railroads Towards Amendments to the Railroad Transportation Act—Senator Cummins' Bill

On Monday of the present week the Association of Railway Executives approved proposed legislation which would abolish the United States Railway Labor Board and set up substitutes. With reference to the action on that day Associated Press accounts from Chicago to the New York daily papers said:

President Coolidge's recommendation in his last message that "a serious effort be made to reach an agreement" with labor on legislation has borne fruit, according to an official statement of the association.

The proposed substitutes for the board, so far as can be learned, are boards of adjustment and conciliation. The boards of adjustment would be regional and would comprise representatives of both sides who would endeavor to iron out grievances. The board of conciliation would seek to get both sides to arbitrate voluntarily.

Would Abolish Semi-Judicial Board

Where the two arbitrators chosen by each side could not agree on a third, the conciliation board would select him. There would be no semi-judicial board, as at present, which would attempt to fix rules and wages by hearings, decisions and appeals to public opinion. The present processes whereby public members frequently have the deciding vote would be supplanted by methods calling on the disputants to get together.

Marked progress toward the adoption of a joint plan is the result of conferences with representatives of the four engine and train service brotherhoods.

General W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad and chairman of the executives' committee, conferring with the brotherhood leaders, reported an agreement had been reached on most, but not all, phases of the plan. His committee will continue to work with the brotherhoods in perfecting the proposed measure. The association expressed its expectation that the bill would soon be ready for presentation to the President and Congress.

Labor Favors Abolition of Board

When twenty labor organizations proposed abolition of the board, the executives at first opposed them. General Atterbury, however, represents a board which has repeatedly disputed the jurisdiction of the board and refused to go along with its decisions. The engine brotherhoods also have been at odds with the board.

On the other hand the "Wall Street News" in its issue of Dec. 24 indicated that not all the railroad executives were in harmony with the action taken by the Association of Railway Executives on Monday. Here is what the "Wall Street News" had to say:

It has been known for months that Senator Cummins would introduce a railroad bill at this session of Congress. He had made no secret of what he intended to stipulate as its chief provisions. This being so, the executives, after due consideration, decided to have a bill introduced representing their ideas relative to consolidation, recapture of surplus earnings, the handling of labor and other vital problems with which they knew they would be called upon to deal.

After giving still more consideration to the matter, they decided not to have a separate bill introduced, but to work with Senator Cummins on his bill. Some conferences were held in Washington at which an effort was made to have the Senator modify certain phases of his bill, which the executives regarded as most objectionable. In these efforts they were not successful to any great extent, chiefly because of the brevity of the time.

To Seek Bill's Modification

Senator Cummins was eager to put his bill in before the Christmas recess of Congress. It is understood that when that body resumes after the holidays, the executives will make further efforts to convince the Senator that some of the most prominent features of his bill would not work out for the best interests of either owners of railroad securities or the public.

Special efforts will be made, it is understood, to modify the provisions of his bill relative to consolidation and recapture of surplus earnings. The measure provides for the filing of applications by the railroads within a period of three years and if they do not avail themselves fully of this opportunity during that period, compulsory consolidation would then go into effect. The executives are strongly of the opinion that if a time limit is to be made, it should be at least seven years, because of the many problems difficult of solution that are certain to arise.

The executives are strongly opposed to the recapture provision. They think anything of that kind is unjust to the railroads and their owners, unless maximum rate is put considerably higher than 6% and the government gives an absolute guaranty on a minimum rate, say 4%. It is pointed out that under the provisions of the Cummins bill, the government has everything to gain, in the matter of a capture and nothing to lose.

The railroads, on the other hand, lose in either event. It is maintained that if all or even part of the surplus earnings of the railroads are to be taken by the government during years of large earnings, certainly the railroads and their owners should have some protection during years when earnings are bad. Whatever the maximum rate might be, unless it should be fixed much higher than could be expected, it is asserted that it would be unjust for the government to take all of the surplus above that rate.

"Enlargement of Potter Plan"

In discussing this situation, one prominent executive said: "Probably the small and weak lines that never can expect to make a large return on their investment or even their share of capital, will like this feature of the Cummins bill. To my mind it is only the enlargement of the Potter plan with respect to the railroads of the Northwest. I cannot see that it is fair and equitable from any point of view. What industrial enterprise could thrive if limited to 6% on its investment. I know railroads that cannot borrow at 6% now."

Some of the executives have taken a very strong stand against the action at Chicago on Monday, paving the way for substitutes for the present railroad labor board. There are some prominent executives who have felt all along that it would be much better to leave that body practically or actually as it is than to bring about any radical change, not to speak of its abolishment.

They have known for some time about the proposed regional mediation boards that are intended to supersede the labor board and have done their utmost to prevent such ideas being adopted by the Association of Railway Executives. One such leader in the railroad world told a representative of The Wall Street News, in discussing this question at great length: "I have talked myself blue in the face against these proposals, but it did no good. Several other executives took an equally strong stand, but even our combined efforts did not avail anything. I knew before the meeting was held that the plan was likely to go through. If I had gone to the meeting I would have only placed myself on record as an objector and that would not have done any good."

Position of Railroad Labor

This official feels that if this plan is actually adopted organized labor will be in a much stronger position than it is now in the matter of disputes with the executives. He is confident also that it would result in a still further spreading of unionized labor on the railroads and a corresponding decrease in efficiency. Naturally, he added, it would increase payrolls as well.

The Federal Valuation of Railroads, Its Origin, Scope and Utility—Notable Address by T. P. Artaud of the Valuation Bureau of the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

T. P. Artaud of the Valuation Bureau of the Inter-State Commerce Commission on Dec. 18 delivered an address before the Engineers Club of Hampton Roads on the subject of the Federal Valuation of Railroads, which is so thorough and comprehensive that we reproduce it in full below. We may take occasion to make some comments on it at a later date.

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the Society.

I am here to talk with you on the subject of valuation. If you assume the propriety of the invitation for me to speak on any subject, it is altogether fitting that valuation should be that one. In fact, I seriously doubt if one who has spent any considerable time in the atmosphere of this work could talk for five consecutive minutes without launching baldly and brazenly upon that theme. Valuation is a habit, an obsession, a virus in the blood. A story which should be accorded respect because of its age, is that a resident of Los Angeles attended a memorial service in an Eastern town in honor of a local celebrity. There were eulogies by a number of friends of the deceased, through which the resident of the City of the Angels sat with some impatience. At the end of the scheduled orations, the master of ceremonies asked if any one present wished to add to what had gone before. Our friend immediately was on his feet with the announcement that "I will be glad to favor the audience with a few remarks regarding Los Angeles." Valuation, along with Los Angeles, and more recently, Florida, is a state of mind.

What is this Federal valuation all about? What causes led to its inception? Is it a fad in regulatory proceedings, or is it a logical growth from fundamental economic and legal considerations? A brief bit of history is enlightening on these points.

The concept has developed through a considerable period. As early as 1903 the annual report of the Inter-State Commerce Commission to Congress contained a definite recommendation for authority and means to proceed with a nation-wide appraisal. The reasons advanced were, first, that judicial reviews stress the "fair value" of the property devoted to public service. An illustration of this attitude of the courts is in the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in Smyth v. Ames in 1898, one sentence of which I quote:

"We hold, however, that the basis of all calculations as to the reasonableness of the rates to be charged by a corporation maintaining a highway under legislative sanction must be the fair value of the property being used by it for the convenience of the public."

Looking still further into fundamental reasons, the court's position, in turn, was based squarely upon the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution, which prohibit the taking of private property for public use without just compensation and without due process of law. If the rates imposed by any regulatory body do not yield sufficient revenue to meet operating expenses together with a reasonable margin of profit to the owners, it is evident that continued operation under such rates will diminish the assets of the utility and, in effect, confiscate its property. Property can no more be taken piece-meal by such a process than it can be seized in toto, and rates which produce that result are repugnant to the Constitution.

Second, that the taxation of railway property within the several States and numerous smaller taxing districts failed to show the uniformity which might be expected from the similarity of the laws under which taxes were assessed. At that time levies varied from $9.00 per mile of line in the Indian Territory to $1,401 per mile in Massachusetts, by no means all of which discrepancy could be attributed to actual difference in the values of physical plants within the two jurisdictions. The significance of this disparity is evident from the fact that taxes paid by carriers then amounted to between four and five per cent of all operating expenses. An item of such magnitude was certainly a fit subject for inquiry on the part of the Federal regulatory body.

Following these statements as to the necessity for a Federal valuation, the Commission outlined three possible methods for the proposed investigation: (1) An acceptance of book items representing costs of road and equipment, (2) A determination of the market value of security issues, and (3) A complete inventory of both physical and non-physical values. Its recommendation was for the adoption of the third plan, namely, a complete inventory and appraisal. The first method was eliminated on the grounds that no one familiar with the practice of railway accounting could maintain that book costs were indications of present values of the properties themselves, both because amounts entered as costs did not, except perhaps in rare instances, represent the capital put into the enterprise and even if so, costs at varyingly remote periods could not be considered as measures of present value in view of fluctuations in prices of labor and materials. To these statements might be added that investment accounts do not purport to include non-physical values, and further, that under then existing accounting methods there was utter lack of uniformity in providing for additions and retirements in capital accounts. Certain carriers regularly put back considerable portions of their earnings into plant in additions and replacements without capital entries while others, through insufficient maintenance, suffered accrued depreciation, also without modification of book accounts.

The second method, that of ascertaining the market value of securities, also was rejected, although up to that time it seemed to have received the qualified approval of certain courts to whom it had been presented. The Commission pointed out that sales of securities for permanent investment were few as compared with those for speculative purposes and those to syndicates for consolidation and control. Also from a practical standpoint, such a valuation could not be made because the great majority of the securities did not offer a sufficient number of transactions to establish a market value. Two years prior to the date of this recommendation, the Commission had attempted to comply with a Senate resolution calling for such an appraisal and had found that of upward of two thousand corporations, less than two hundred twenty-five were quoted on the stock market in such a manner as to enable a satisfactory computation of value to be made.

Each subsequent annual report of the Commission to Congress renewed the recommendation for an appraisal in accordance with the third plan above and advanced additional arguments of its utility. These were summarized by the Commission as follows:

(a) To obtain a trustworthy estimate of the relationship exiting between the present worth of railroad property and its cost to its proprietors.
(b) In determining whether rates as fixed by the government are confiscatory.
(c) In connection with railway taxation.
(d) In the application of a proper depreciation reserve.
(e) In testing the accuracy of the balance sheets of carriers.
(f) In the organization of railways statistics in general.
(g) In determining whether the railroads are under or overcapitalized.

Meanwhile many state Commissions had realized the necessity for valuation data and as early as 1907, fifteen of them had provided for more or less complete appraisals of railway properties. The majority of these were primarily for the purpose of taxation although one (Texas) contemplated the regulation of securities, a provision later written into the Federal Transportation Act of 1920. However, the concept of valuation as affecting rates was becoming firmly ingrained in the public mind through the regulation and acquisition of intrastate utilities such as electric, gas and water plants. The monopolistic or semi-monopolistic nature of such facilities, removed from the control of natural laws of competition, and supply and demand, had invoked the use of artificial and political standards, of which an adequate valuation was an essential part.

As applies to interstate railroads, however, the powers of individual states were limited and the National Association of Railway Commissioners heartily joined in the Federal Commission's recommendation for an appraisal of all railway properties.

Aided by the unmistakable tendency of court decisions and the logic of the arguments advanced by the Commissions having to do with regulatory matters, the movement for a federal valuation gathered impetus. Bills were presented in the Lower House of Congress every year from 1907 to the passage of the Act in 1913. Senate bills were introduced in 1906 and frequently thereafter. Roosevelt and Taft both advocated the undertaking in messages to Congress and it was written into the Democratic and Progressive platforms of 1912.

Thus, it is evident that the Valuation Act is the logical result of very definite and very real economic conditions in both Federal and State affairs and has its roots in the Constitution itself. That its utility is not alone based on legal necessities, however, is exemplified by the growth of private appraisals in the industrial world. Properly performed, they constitute an analytical study of all conditions relating to the properties under consideration and as such commend themselves both to owners and operators. "Know Thyself" may be paraphrased into "Know Thy Plant."

The Valuation Act, which became Section 19a of the Inter-State Commerce Act, was passed in 1913, after extensive committee hearings and debates in which economists, railway executives, representatives of various regulatory commissions and others at interest participated. The Bill was drafted from the standpoint of obtaining all possible data on the present and historical status of the railways, without confining its scope to any particular class of information. It advocated no particular theory and imposed no limitations on Commission or Court relating to the use of the statistics gathered. Apparently the intent was to make its provisions all-embracing, to collect all possible facts ready for whatever use might later be found necessary or expedient.

When the Bureau of Valuation was formed, this purpose was carried out. It is solely an investigating and fact-finding body, reporting to the Commission itself, and the latter alone draws ultimate conclusions from these findings. The scope of its inquiry can perhaps, best be described in connection with its organization.

In 1913, Mr. C. A. Prouty resigned from the Commission to assume the Directorship of the Bureau of Valuation. The country was then divided into five districts with offices located at Washington, Chicago, Chattanooga, Kansas City and San Francisco, respectively. Each district embraced approximately 50,000 miles of railroad, so selected that field work might be prosecuted both in summer and in winter. At the headquarters in Washington were located the Director of Valuation, the Solicitor, the Advisory Board, the Supervisors of Accounts and Land Appraisals and the administrative offices. There was no single head of the Engineering Section, control being vested in an Engineering Board of five members, one from each district office. This Board met periodically with the Director to promulgate instructions and to harmonize the work among the several districts. In each of the five field offices, there was a District Engineer in charge of the local engineering work, a Valuation Attorney as the local head of the Land Section and a District Accountant who directed the accounting work within that territory.

These three branches, namely, engineering, land and accounting, constituted the major divisions of the work during the early years of its prosecution. Lately, the legal and examining forces have grown to the proportions of major sections. Actual field work did not begin until early in 1914, owing to the necessity of building up the personnel through Civil Service channels. Examinations had to be announced, applicants rated and appointments made, all of which proved a tedious process. From 1914, the organization gradually expanded to its peak of nearly sixteen hundred employees in 1917. During the war, the personnel was considerably reduced and thereafter until 1921, when field work was substantially completed and field parties disbanded, the force gradually diminished in size. In 1921, all of the district offices were abandoned and the work consolidated in Washington. The organization thereafter remained substantially the same with three exceptions

First: That the Commission itself through one of its members inaugurated direct supervision of the work of the Bureau.

Second: The Engineer Board was supplanted by a Supervising Engineer, and Third: The Valuation Attorneys ceased to have any administrative connection with the Land Section.

After 1921, the task before the Bureau was principally computations resulting from field date, the collation of that data, the preparation of reports and the technical assistance necessary in reviewing protests by interested parties and conducting hearings brought about by such objections. Shortly after the centralization of the Bureau in Washington, that is, in January, 1922, the force consisted of 514 people but this personnel was gradually reduced until, at the beginning of the current calendar year, 325 employees were on the rolls. About July of this year, under the impetus of the three-year program, later to be discussed, the organization was rapidly expanded.

A brief description of the work of the three major sections may be of interest. The Engineering Section deals with the estimated cost of reproduction new and cost of reproduction less depreciation of physical properties other than land. This includes all items of the roadway itself, such as grading, track, bridges, station, office and roadway buildings, shops, power plants, tools, machinery, elevators, docks, telephone and telegraph lines, &c.; of equipment, such as locomotives, cars, motors, work trains and other rolling stock and ; general expenditures, including organization and legal expenses, taxes and interest during theoretical construction. Its function is to present the estimated cost of reproduction new of the several elements of road and also to apply to these figures condition percentages which will reflect the value of the service life remaining in the units of physical property in place.

The Land Section deals with the "present value" of lands, both those to carrier purposes and those held for purposes other than those of a common carrier. Present value, as that term is here used, was defined by the Commission as follows:

"Present value . . . . is arrived at by ascertaining the number of acres of land owned or used by the carrier . . . . and multiplying this acreage by a market value determined from the present market value of similar adjacent and adjoining lands. Due allowance is made for any peculiar value which may attach by reasen of the peculiar adaptability of the land to railroad use."

The above is substantially the definition promulgated by the Supreme Court in the Minnesota Rate Cases, Chief Justice Hughes delivering the opinion, the pertinent part of which is as follows:

"Assuming that the company is entitled to a reasonable share in the general prosperity of the communities which it serves, and thus to attribute to its property an increase in value, still the increase so allowed, apart from any improvements it may make, can not properly extend beyond the fair average of the normal market value of land in the vicinity having a similar character. Otherwise we enter the realm of mere conjecture. We therefore hold that it was error to base the estimates of value of the right-of-way, yards, and terminals upon the so-called 'railway value' of the property. The company would certainly have no ground of complaint if it were allowed a value for these lands equal to the fair average market value of similar land in the vicinity, without additions by the use of multipliers, or otherwise, to cover hypothetical outlays. The allowances made below for a conjectural cost of acquisition and consequential damages must be disapproved."

The Land Section, in addition, separately reports the present value of lands which were donated to the carrier. For approximately two years, the Land Section also reported the estimated cost of re-acquiring railroad lands as of the present, the Commission having been so ordered by the Supreme Court in the Kansas City Southern Railway mandamus proceedings on the basis that the Act so required. In 1922, however, that portion of the Act was repealed by Congress and findings of that character were discontinued. This one amendment constitutes the only change which has been written into the original Act. The land report further includes allowances for special rights of all descriptions such as those to occupy streets and other portions of the public domain, water rights in arid or semi-arid districts, mineral rights and rights of support in mining communities, tunnel and pipe line easements, air rights, &c. Also, it includes generally all property owned by the carrier but not used in common carrier service, such as resort hotels and the like. A touch of the whimsical is sometimes given to the land report by the presence of such items as kitchen utensils inventoried in connection with one of the Boston & Maine non-carrier hotels or the Chinese palanquin and the East Indian oxcart contained in the Baltimore & Ohio museum at Martinsburg, West Virginia. Non-carrier items are by no means insignificant, however, as for example the structures around the Grand Central station in New York City. A single instance of the magnitude of this non-carrier classification is on the New York Central system, showing more than thirty-two million dollars, although comparatively little of the terminal lands are included therein.

The reports of the Engineering and Land Sections, together with statements of materials and supplies and working capital, constitute an appraisal of all physical property, classified by the accounts prescribed by the Commission for the keeping of records of expenditures for road and equipment.

The Accounting Section deals with the records of carriers, their predecessors, construction companies or others which throw light upon the history of railroads. It shows, where such information is obtainable, the original cost of property to the present owners and to its predecessor corporations. It sets forth the complete financial history of the carrier and its predecessors; their corporate history; the development of fixed physical property; data concerning Capital stock and long term debt; gross and net earnings; general balance sheets; book accounts of investment in road and equipment; investments in other companies; aids, gifts, grants of right-of-way and donations received; materials and supplies on hand, working capital, &c. It calls attention to irregularities in the statement of accounts and re-states all items requiring modification. Throughout the work of all sections, the conditions of ownership and use are carefully observed, that is, property both owned and used is separately shown from that owned but not used, used but not owned and jointly owned and used. All items susceptible of such division are shown by states.

Obviously, the Bureau marshals before the Commission substantially every fact pertinent to the valuation of the railroads under any conceivable theory, eliminating all speculative elements. It presents, so far as is possible, every item required by the Act or which has ever been suggested in judicial review of the subject. It shows the cost of reproducing the property, an item important as representing the approximate measure of the cost any theoretical competitor would have to incur in developing a similar plant or one capable of performing similar service. It shows reproduction less depreciation, which figure may be considered as representing the present value of the physical units; the original cost, when obtainable, representing the expenditures on the part of those dedicating the property to public service; the adjusted or corrected balance sheets showing the financial status of the carrier as of the present and over the term of its operation; the corporate and financial history of the company, and all other facts obtainable through the most searching inquiry which explain, modify or throw light upon any of these factors. Every record which could possibly assist in fixing or interpreting any of the above matters is examined and correlated.

Approaching from another angle, a list of the returns to orders of the Bureau required to be filed by the carriers subject to the Act, will supply further appreciation of the scope of the inquiry. These orders are twenty-three in number:

No. 1 Maps and profiles. Under this order the carrier is required to file complete right of way and track maps, and profiles prepared according to prescribed standards for all owned or leased lines. The maps show lands owned or used, by acquisitional parcels, all tracks, bridges, culverts, and structures of every kind. Where the situation is at all complicated, several series of maps covering the same territory are required adequately to delineate the several features covered by the order. These maps form one of the bases of the land and engineering work, and are useful to the Accounting Section.

No. 2. Schedule of all fixed physical property abandoned prior to June 30 1914.

No. 3. Schedule of all property changes; additions, betterments, extensions and retirements made subsequent to the valuation date fixed for the reporting carrier. Returns to this order are required annually and form the basis for keeping the valuations current. This subject will further be discussed later in my remarks.

No. 4. Inventory of materials and supplies.

No. 5. Modifying the Map Order.

No. 6. Also a modification of the Map Order.

No. 7. Schedules of land. This order calls for very comprehensive returns and forms another of the essential bases of the Land and Accounting Section's work. It requires for each parcel of land the following data: (a) Parcel number, identifying the parcel with the maps above described; (b) custodian's number for identification in the carrier's deed files; (c) kind and date of instrument; (d) grantor and grantee; (e) place and date of record; (f) area; (g) deed consideration; (h) date of dedication to public use; (i) cost of parcel when acquired; (j) if any portion of the parcel has been sold, the date and consideration thereof; (k) cost to date of the parcel as now owned.

No. 8. Schedules of machinery and equipment classified among the twelve appropriate investment accounts.

No. 9. Administrative order dealing with the movement by carriers of the Commission's outfit cars, etc.

Nq. 10. Modification of Order 2, Abandoned Property.

No. 11. Inventory of records, documents and papers.

No. 12. Schedule of industrial tracks.

No. 13. An inventory of all physical property except that called for by Order 7 Land and Order, 8—Equipment. This includes the inventory of quantities, units and classes of property in roadway and track, bridges buildings and other structures, signals and interlockers, telephone and telegraph lines, electrical apparatus and any and all fixed property except those reported as above described.

No. 14. Schedule of purchases made and prices paid therefor and the rates of compensation of railway employees.
No. 15. Schedules of leases made and privileges given by carriers.
No. 16. Aids, gifts, grants and donations.
No. 17. Purchases of materials, prices paid, and rates of compensation for labor of telegraph companies.
No. 18. The same for telephone companies.
No. 19. The same for steam carriers concerning telephone and telegraph lines owned or operated by them.
No. 20. Details of corporate history.
No. 21. Specifications for maps, charts and schedules for telephone and telegraph property owned by railroads, telegraph and cable companies. This is in effect a map order covering telephone and telegraph lines as distinguished from the lines of the steam railways.
No. 22. Modification of Order No. 4, Materials and Supplies.
No. 23. Modification of the Map Order and its supplements.

Your time and patience will not permit me to describe and illustrate the detail in which the field surveys and investigations were made. I shall content myself with the general statement that they were performed with painstaking accuracy, in anticipation of the careful study and check later accorded the reports by all parties at interest. Long before the field work, the first step in the Bureau's task, had passed the experimental stage, it became obvious that nothing could be taken for granted, nothing slurred over and nothing guessed at, even estimated, where actual facts were humanly obtainable. The interests affected are too diverse, scrutiny too methodical and the safeguards of due process of law too exacting to permit any statements to go unchallenged unless fully supported by authentic data. I venture the assertion that never has any governmental finding met with more careful examination of fact or theory from as many different interests and never has any conclusion required the marshaling of a more formidable array of underlying data. The task has been and is monumental. In the progress of the work there has been developed a technique entirely individual to valuation forces, whether they be with the carrier's organization, on the one hand, or the government's, on the other.

General experience in engineering, real estate appraisals or accounting does not in itself qualify individuals for responsible positions within the Bureau. Extensive preparation and apprenticeship along specific lines is required before employees can become versed in its intricacies.

I have spoken at length of the work of the Bureau of Valuation because I can here speak with some assurance and authority but I do not wish to obscure the fact that the Bureau is wholly an arm of the Commission. It is the agency which gathers and collates data, but the Commission itself makes the finding of value therefrom and applies its conclusions to the problems at hand. As previously stated, Congress did not attempt to direct the use of the several cost figures required by the Valuation Act or to set up any method for the determination of final values from them. The courts have uniformly stated that, value must be a judgment figure fixed in the light of full knowledge of the properties and not controlled by artificial rules or formulae. Let me repeat and extend the above quotation from Smyth v. Ames:

"We hold, however, that the basis of all calculations as to the reasonableness of rates to be charged by a corporation maintaining a highway under legislative sanctions must be the fair value of the property being used by it for the convenience of the public and in order to ascertain that value, the original cost of construction, the amount expended in permanent improvements, the amount and market value of its bonds and stock, the present as compared with the original cost of construction, the probable earning capacity of the property under particular rates prescribed by statute, and the sum required to meet operating expenses, are all matters for consideration, and are to be given such weight as may be just and right in each case. We do not say that there may not be other matters to be regarded in estimating the value of the property. What the company is entitled to ask is a fair return upon the value of that which it employs for the public convenience. On the other hand, what the public is entitled to demand is that no more be exacted from it for the use of a public highway than the services rendered by it are reasonably worth."

It was, of course, logical, wholly fitting and wise that a task requiring such intimate knowledge of the transportation systems of the country, their past growth and future tendencies, the use of such varied and technical statistics, such wide experience in railway affairs and such breadth of vision should be entrusted to the Interstate Commerce Commission. In the Commission already reposed the regulation of railways and the assignment of the valuation program to that body provided means for the unification of methods and results essential to the solution of an economic problem of such magnitude.

A condensed statement of its status towards completion may be here added. Steam carriers subject to the Act comprise 1,772 active corporations embracing 244,377 miles of road; this latter figure being miles of right of way without duplication for second tracks or sidings. These two figures should be kept in mind during subsequent statements as to progress made. As of Dec. 1 1925, field work in the Engineering and Accounting Sections is complete; that of the Land Section is practically so although formal field reports are outstanding on 5 corporations embracing 163 miles. Underlying reports, that is, those of the Engineering, Land and Accounting Sections, have been completed as follows:

Engineering Section 1,756 corporations 243,820 miles.
Accounting Section 1,750 corporations 244,247 miles.

Tentative valuation reports, i. e., the combined reports of the three sections prepared after all interested parties have been given opportunity to criticise and object to the statements in the underlying reports, have been served on 999 properties, covering 125,595 miles of road. Reports of the Commission which have passed through the stages necessary for "due process of law" have become final on 341 corporations covering 13,774 miles.

To the beginning of the current fiscal year, the expenditures by the Bureau of Valuation total $26,893,108.18; expenditures on the part of carriers as reported through their central organization are $83,380,350.00; and the Bureau's appropriation for the current fiscal year is in the sum of $1,946,552.00.

A definite program has been adopted by the Bureau of the Budget and Congress for the completion of all final valuation reports as of the primary dates of valuation in a three-year period beginning July 1 1925 and the current appropriation is on the basis of estimates made with that end in view. The estimated appropriation for the two later years shows diminishing personnel and expenditures. As before stated, the remaining task before the Commission consists of revising underlying reports as a result of informal objections found to be justified and the duties incident to the due process of law provided by the Act.

Reference has previously been made to the adoption of the results of the Valuation Act as one of the funadmentals of the Transportation Act of 1920. I quote from the latter:

"'(4) The Commission shall as soon as practicable prepare and adopt a plan for the consolidation of the railway properties of the Continental United States into a limited number of systems . . . .'

"(6) (b) The bonds at par of the corporation which is to become the owner of the consolidated properties, together with the outstanding capital stock at par of such corporation, shall not exceed the value of the consolidated properties as determined by the Commission. The value of the properties sought to be consolidated shall be ascertained by the Commission under Section 19a of this Act, and it shall be the duty of the Commission to proceed immediately to the ascertainment of such value for the properties involved in a proposed consolidation upon the filing of the application for such consolidation. . . .

"(2) In the exercise of its power to prescribe just and reasonable rates the Commission shall initiate, modify, establish, or adjust such rates so that carriers as a whole (or as a whole in each of such rate groups or territories as the Commission may from time to time designate) will, under honest, efficient and economical management and reasonable expenditures for maintenance of way, structures and equipment, earn an aggregate annual net railway operating income equal, as nearly as may be, to a fair return upon the aggregate value of the railway property of such carriers held for and used in the service of transportation: Provided, That the Commission shall have reasonable latitude to modify or adjust any particular rate which it may find to be unjust or unreasonable, and to prescribe different rates for different sections of the country.

"(3) The Commission shall from time to time determine and make public what percentage of such aggregate property value constitutes a fair return thereon, and such percentage shall be uniform for all rate groups or territories which may be designated by the Commission. In making such determination it shall give due consideration, among other things, to the transportation needs of the country and the necessity (under honest, efficient and economical management of existing transportation facilities) of enlarging such facilities in order to provide the people of the United States with adequate transportation: Provided, That during the two years beginning March 1 1920, the Commission shall take as such fair return a sum equal to 5½ per centum of such aggregate value, but may, in its discretion, add thereto a sum not exceeding one-half of one per centum of such aggregate value to make provision in whole or in part for improvements, betterments or equipment, which according to the accounting system described by the Commission, are chargeable to capital account.

"(4) For the purposes of this section, such aggregate value of the property of the carriers shall be determined by the Commission from time to time and as often as may be necessary. The Commission may utilize the results of its investigation under Section 19a of this Act, in so far as deemed by it available, and shall give due consideration to all the elements of value recognized by the law of the land for rate-making purposes, and shall give to the property investment account of the carriers only that consideration which under such law it is entitled to in establishing values for rate-making purposes. Whenever pursuant to Section 19a of this Act the value of the railway property of any carrier held for and used in the service of transportation has been finally ascertained, the value so ascertained shall be deemed by the Commission to be the value thereof for the purpose of determining such aggregate value.

"(5) Inasmuch as it is impossible (without regulation and control in the interest of the commerce of the United States considered as a whole) to establish uniform rates upon competitive traffic which will adequately sustain all the carriers which are engaged in such traffic and which are indispensable to the communities to which they render the service of transportation, without enabling some of such carriers to receive a net railway operating income substantially and unreasonably in excess of a fair return upon the value of their railway property held for and used in the service of transportation, it is hereby declared that any carrier which receives such an income so in excess of a fair return, shall hold such part of the excess, as hereinafter prescribed, as trustee for, and shall pay it to, the United States.

"(6) If, under the provisions of this section, any carrier receives for any year a net railway operating income in excess of 6 per centum of the value of the railway property held for and used by it in the service of transportation, one-half of such excess shall be placed in a reserve fund established and maintained by such carrier, and the remaining one-half thereof shall, within the first four months following the close of the period for which such computation is made, be recoverable by and paid to the Commission for the purpose of establishing and maintaining a general railroad contingent fund as hereinafter described. For the purposes of this paragraph the value of the railway property and the net railway operating income of a group of carriers, which the Commission finds are under common control and management and are operated as a single system, shall be computed for the system as a whole irrespective of the separate ownership and accounting returns of the various parts of such system. In the case of any carrier which has accepted the provisions of Section 209 of this amendatory Act the provisions of this paragraph shall not be applicable to the income for any period prior to Sept. 1 1920. The value of such railway property shall be determined by the Commission in the manner provided in paragraph (4).

"(7) For the purpose of paying dividends or interest on its stocks, bonds or other securities, or rent for leased roads, a carrier may draw from the reserve fund established and maintained by it under the provisions of this section to the extent that its net railway operating income for any year is less than a sum equal to 6 per centum of the value of the railway property held for and used by it in the service of transportation, determined as provided in paragraph (6); but such fund shall not be drawn upon for any other purpose.

"(8) Such reserve fund need not be accumulated and maintained by any carrier beyond a sum equal to 5 per centum of the value of its railway property determined as herein provided, and when such fund is so accumulated and maintained the proportion of its excess income which the carrier is permitted to retain under paragraph (6) may be used by it for any lawful purpose.

"(9) The Commission shall prescribe rules and regulations for the determination and recovery of the excess income payable to it under this section, and may require such security and prescribe such reasonable terms and conditions in connection therewith as it may find necessary. The Commission shall make proper adjustment to provide for the computation of excess income for a portion of a year, and for a year in which a change in the percentage constituting a fair return or in the value of a carrier's railway property becomes effective."

These quotations from Sections 5 and 15a, respectively, of the Inter-State Commerce Act set forth the uses for which the findings under the Valuation Act, Section 19a, are obligatory. They are three in number. First, as fixing the limits beyond which a consolidated system cannot issue capital securities. Second, as providing a test for the sufficiency of the rates within the several rate groups; and third, as constituting the base figure in the compilation of "recapturable" income. Other forms of usefulness naturally and logically follow, but these three are those which are written into the Act in definite and specific terms.

Except for the general question of "What practical purpose, adequate to justify the expense incurred, will this inventory and appraisal of railway properties serve?" the question most generally asked of those of us who have to do with the valuation work, is this: "Admitting its utility, with its findings current and to date, how can data, the compilation of which was begun eleven years ago, be utilized as of the present, particularly in view of the radical changes in price levels, both for labor and materials?" The answer is that an inventory and appraisal as of a definite date and on a definite price level will have been completed. This constitutes a base figure which can quickly and accurately be equated to present conditions. Valuation Order No. 3, above described, provides for a return by the carriers, which when properly checked and policed as to form and substance by the Commission's forces, is a record of all changes in property. The algebraic sum of such property changes and the original valuation will, of course, yield a current inventory, as of any desired date, showing all units of property in service. Actual costs are obtained from Order 3 in the same way. Engineering prices for labor and material can then readily be brought to any given date by the use of indices representing costs as of the date of valuation as compared with the date as of which the determination is desired. This may be done in any desired degree of particularity or refinement and serves to keep the engineering report current both as to the units of property and estimated cost of reproduction. Depreciation may be applied also in any desired degree of refinement from authentic data as to the service life of the several elements.

The problem in the case of the Land Section is somewhat more complex and requires a certain amount of additional field work. Trends of prices are not applicable as in the case of engineering items. Methods by which the amount of field work may be limited, such as restricting the territory investigated to that representing significant changes in values and in means of co-operation and through returns to orders analogous to Order No. 3 are in prospect.

So far, no very extensive work has been done on bringing valuations to date. The Commission's object has been to push the completion of the primary valuations, and later, as may be found necessary, make them current. Exceptions to this policy have been the cases of roads subject under paragraph 15a, above mentioned, to the recapture provisions, that is, those having incomes in excess of 6% of their probable current values. Enough work on such carriers has been performed to fully demonstrate, if any demonstration were needed, the applicability of the methods above outlined.

In conclusion, allow me to speak of a matter that is very dear to my heart and over which I have pondered for a period of more than a decade, that is, the attitude of the public and of the interested parties towards the valuation work. I have attempted to point out the fact that such an undertaking was inevitable. I have tried to indicate the scope of the problem and the character of the investigation carried on by the Commission. I believe you will agree with me that it is a tremendous task, fraught with almost superhuman obstacles and beset with theoretical and practical difficulties of the most serious nature. It is to a great extent pioneer work and the Commission embarked on the task without precedent and without guidande from the past experience of others in similar studies. Their work has been cautious and painstaking; disinterested in its findings and looking toward the ultimate welfare of the varied interests they represent.

It is perhaps inevitable that an undertaking of this magnitude and minuteness should have been subjected to a certain amount of criticism of an adverse or destructive nature in print and by word of mouth. Much of that criticism has been, I believe, based on lack of thorough understanding of the problems presented and failure to appreciate the difficulties attendant upon the Commission's work. A cursory examination cannot because of the complexity of the subject, qualify anyone to pass judgment upon it:

"A little learning is a dangerous thing,
Drink deep or taste not that Pierian spring."

May I drive home to you this one point: In a spirit of fairness and for the ultimate good of all concerned, approach this matter from the standpoint of constructive rather than destructive criticism; co-operate with and aid the Commission and its forces rather than to attempt to destroy it by befogging issues or striving for ephemeral advantage.

Warning by Lenders of Building Money of Crisis in Building Industry—Legislative Inquiry Favored by Samuel Untermyer and Senator Lockwood—Committee Named to Investigate Conditions.

At a mass meeting of the building trades and industry of New York City and vicinity held at the Engineering Society's building, West 39th Street, on Tuesday, Dec. 15, a warning of the dangers confronting the industry was given. Allen E. Beals, Vice-President and Secretary of the Allen E. Beals Corporation, publishers of the Dow Service Daily Building Reports (under whose auspices the meeting was held), called attention to the burden of increasing cost of construction, and remarked that "there is a dawning recognition" that "the existence of abuses, corruption and unbusinesslike trade practices are already, with their combined influence beginning to 'kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.'" Walter Stabler, Controller of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and Clarence H. Kelsey, Chairman of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., whose companies are large lenders of money for building construction, also had something to say of the threatened dangers incident to overbuilding and "sagging" rents. According to the New York "Times" of Dec. 17, legislative investigation of certain of the practices of the concerns issuing bonds on real estate mortgage without supervision by the State Banking Department, was suggested on the 16th as the result of statements made at Tuesday's meeting of builders and architects. Pointing out that Mr. Stabler and Mr. Kelsey had told the builders that excessive building of high-class apartments and skyscrapers, an extraordinary increase of vacant space in industrial buildings and loans on "crazy propositions" made by some bond houses had brought the building industry of New York City to the edge of disaster, the "Times" account of the 17th also stated:

Samuel Untermyer, former counsel to the Lockwood Committee, said that the final report of that committee set forth that so-called "loan companies" issuing mortgages sometimes in excess of the value of the property, did not guarantee their bonds by substantial assets. Both he and former Senator Charles C. Lockwood, who was Chairman of the Housing Investigation Committee, favored a legislative inquiry. Mr. Untermyer declared that the situation was perilous to the stability of real estate values and to millions of small investors throughout the country. He predicted that when property resumed its normal value the fictitious valuations would "topple like a house of cards."

Condemn Untrained Promoters.

Others conversant with the practices of some bond houses in connection with the issuance of realty mortgage bonds, condemned what they called the untrained building promoter who was in the business of selling realty bonds for financial houses not properly trained to judge values.

Richard M. Hurd, President of the Lawyers Mortgage Co., who has made an extensive investigation, said that economic conditions in recent years have given rise to mortgage companies which "guaranteed nothing" and which would be forced out of business when their real estate issues began to be foreclosed.

Many firms, Mr. Hurd said, were issuing realty mortgage bonds up to 100% of the cost of the properties, instead of the usual 66 2-3%. Others asserted that in some cases bond houses had issued bonds up to 115% of the value of the property, although old-line insurance companies and other lenders with years of experience, seldom if ever go above 60%, or two-thirds of the value.

Conservative lenders declared that "an orgy of inflation" was being indulged in by some irresponsible concerns. The investor puts his money into the hands of bonding companies, they said, "even before a spade of earth is turned." In that case, they declared, the builder must pay interest from the minute he signed the contract and until the building is erected the holder of the bond has no security for his money.

Inquiry also brought out that for the last two years some Wall Street bond houses with no previous experience in realty mortgage business have brought out real estate securities and have advertised the issues with the statement that the information given to the public, while not guaranteed, "has been taken from sources believed to be reliable."

Failure of the building to rent at present values, it was said, means loss to the bondholder, the issuing company having no legal and hardly more than an intangible moral obligation to make good.

Fake Appraisals Alleged.

This situation has given rise in some parts of the country to a scandalous condition, it was said, and real estate boards in many localities have attacked "fake real estate appraisals," meaning over-appraisals of property. The National Association of Building Owners and Managers in convention recently attacked this phase of the construction industry and declared that the large supply of idle money "opened a broad field for exploitation in the real estate investment field by the unscrupulous and the ill-advised" and resulted in "excessive land appraisals, ill-advised or out-of-place improvements and speculative management for the purpose of re-sale."

The inquiry developed an anomalous situation. Despite the fact that the many lenders of mortgage money offered loans to building owners far in excess of the usual 60 or 66%, builders in many cases preferred to do business with conservative old line organizations because they did not make excessive bonuses and other charges as conditions precedent to the granting of loans.

Typical Cases Cited.

Two typical cases were cited as of daily occurrence. A property was conservatively appraised at $5,000,000 and the old line company was willing to lend the owner $3,000,000. A bond house, new in the business, offered $4,500,000, but the owner accepted the lower loan.

In a second case, a conservative appraisal showed the property to be worth $3,350,000. The old line lender offered a conservative loan of $2,000,000 and the bond house, anxious for the loan, offered $2,800,000. In this case also the loan was accepted from the old house.

Inquiry also showed that there are two classes of organizations issuing mortgage bonds, one which is supervised by the State Banking Department and which backs up with its own resources all its issues, and the other which is not supervised by the State Banking Department and which cannot be examined by the Department as the books and accounts of all banking institutions are examined.

It is the latter organization which it is suggested to be supervised by the State Banking Department with power to examine books, look over loans and question those loans made on excessive or fictitious valuations.

Regulation is especially needed, it was said, in the case of bonding organizations which gather from the public the entire amount of the bond issue before any work is done, the small investor having no security other than the word of the bond seller.

In this connection it was said by those familiar with the situation that in many instances properties worth millions of dollars are erected on land which is not sold but leased. Bonds are issued against the buildings at present rentals. If these rentals do not "stand up" when a period of lowered rentals sets in the bondholder may lose all or part of his investment, for the building owner will then be unable to meet his obligations to the land owners.

In explaining at Tuesday's meeting the purpose in calling the various interests together, Mr. Beals said:

Gentlemen: The call for this meeting is the call of an awakened consciousness that something is decidedly wrong in the building business. The response to that call shows how generally that fact is recognized.

Perhaps it would be wise, right at this time, to answer an unasked question, but one that I feel sure must be in the minds of some of those who are present; that is: "Who inspired the call and what is behind it?"

The inspiration for this meeting is some two years old. On April 7 1923, to be exact, I sounded a note of warning in the Dow Service, which was widely reprinted in most of the great newspapers of the East, in which the following is part. I quote:

"Alarmed at the presence of an economic quagmire at the inception of what will be a notable year of building activity, the New York building construction industry stands ready to acclaim a turn of the trade trend into safe business channels. Conditions affecting credits, building material manufacture and distribution, equipment and appliance production and sale, financial safety of many building operations; not to mention the physical characteristics of thousands of structures erected under the practices now becoming current are becoming deplorable, if, indeed, they are not already dangerous. . . . The building construction industry must be speedily led back to a quality rather than to a purely quantity (price) basis. . . . Left to run its course, the day must come when there will be foreclosures on a tidal wave basis."
"N. Y. Times" April 9 1923.
Dow Service April 7 1923.

These words apply with intensified force to-day because in the long ride upon the crest of an unprecedented building construction movement there has been little time or inclination to worry about eventualities. Any attempt that might then have been made to broach the subject or even to outline a proposition designed to take some form of united action to correct such abuses, corruption and trade practices would have been foredoomed to failure. The time was not then ripe.

But now certain economic changes are taking place. They have been recognized by various competent authorities. The United States Government has issued an official pronunciamento to the effect that housing construction is up to the nation's needs and warning against overproduction and depression. I quote the actual words:

"Construction now need meet only normal requirements, and that a continuation of the high rate of building in the last three years must result in over-production with a sequel of depression."

Only a few days ago the Investment Bankers Association of America heard its Real Estate Committee reiterate this fact. Large lenders of building money are not now so sure that there is as much of a demand for building construction of certain types. If in two years of peak construction work you come to the end with your shops and organizations pitched to highest activity you have ever known and yet you write your year's balance in red ink, what is to happen when the tide of demand turns? If trade abuses, corruption and current practices are responsible for losses in record-breaking prosperity, what will they be capable of doing to your hopes for profit in days of lessened activity.

Building costs are going up, and in almost corresponding ratio efficiency is going down. Under the growing habit of "counter" bidding and "bungle" bidding, substitution and subterfuge are creeping in, and when they come in quality and every-day honesty go out. The same combination aids, encourages and abets traffic in stolen building materials, equipment and appliances that is already almost beyond belief in scope.

Under such circumstances the public health, safety and general welfare are jeopardized. Such conditions cannot exist without corruption and all the righteous indignation of an outraged building investing public as well as a united building industry must prepare itself to crush with unrelenting heel the hissing head of graft before it again attains the disrupting and contamination power it reached out for in 1903.

It is the sort of an emergency that inspired the call for this meeting. If you recognize in the foregoing any familiar traits of the current building construction market, then the call is justified and the right of the Dow Service to call it will be conceded.

Having answered the first half of the question, there now remains the last half to be answered, namely: "What is behind it?"

Whenever the question of stopping the burden of increasing cost of construction is discussed the answer is always made by the contractor that it should be stopped, but that he cannot do so without the aid of the financial interests. Many even go so far as to say that it is not up to them (the contractors) to assume the responsibility and the heartbreaks, so long as they can pass the increase on to the consumer. Little heed has been given as to how long the building investing public can stand this strain, however. No thought, apparently, has been given, so long as money flowed freely into building construction projects, as to how the financier will eventually feel about carrying on to a point where the foreclosure epidemic of 1912 will be duplicated. There is a dawning recognition, however, that such indifference, the existence of abuses, corruption and unbusinesslike trade practices are already, with their combined influence, beginning to "kill the goose that lays the golden eggs."

In at least calling together the men who might, if aroused, solve the question of what is best to do to correct conditions, which I think you all recognized as being a menace to the integrity of the whole industry, we felt that it was our duty to give the subject publicity, to bring it out to the men in the industry and the public as well, and, having done that, we could afford to leave it in your hands.

That is all there is behind this call for a mass meeting. You must diagnose your own ailment and prescribe for it out of your own medicine chest. There are enough powerful medicines in such a cabinet to completely stamp out the disease. That quality production, efficiency, etc., have been sliding down hill rapidly I am sure you gentlemen will vouch for. That deception, substitution and bungling are replacing the high ideals formerly upheld in the building construction industry is, I think, generally recognized. That incentive for doing better and better work is almost disappearing; but the fact that building construction as an industry craves a place as high in the code of business respectability as other business men have aspired to and attained in other lines, is unquestioned.

The purpose behind the call for this meeting is to give opportunity to the representatives of as many branches of the building industry as could be brought together to discuss, one with the other, the question as to whether or not something can be done to better the situation and to bring those interested to a better understanding of their responsibility to the public and, at the same time, to hear how general the problems of one branch of the industry apply to the other—all with the purpose of accomplishing a return to better practice.

I have for some months been in consultation with men in various branches of the business. A straw vote of the bulk of the industry in New York City and vicinity gave ample evidence that it was prepared to attend a meeting to ascertain whether united action should or could be taken. I have talked with those interested in the financial end of the construction of buildings, and the result of these conferences, straw votes, etc., encouraged the suggestion that some central body, in which all would have an equal voice and which body was authorized to speak for the entire industry would go a long way toward solving many of the difficulties.

I have no thought that I shall solve this problem. It is, however, my earnest wish and hope that out of this meeting may come a committee or group of experienced men who will look things right straight through to the core, fearlessly and vigorously retaining that which is good and as fearlessly and as vigorously expunging that which is bad, by the simple expedient of harnessing a number of different association activities, organizations, Boards of Trade, societies, congresses and councils in such a manner that their power and influence in special spheres may be spread over the entire industry as a whole—that the voice of one may be the voice of all.

If an example is sought as to how such power could be applied, let me quote from a letter from a builder and general contractor:

"There are too many so called building contractors, assuming building construction work, who know absolutely nothing about the business, who are not mechanics and are not trained in the work. You will note in the daily papers about once a week, where some alteration or construction work is going on, the building adjoining will collapse, perhaps killing four or five people. Only yesterday a building in West 47th Street collapsed, killing a man and injuring others. These conditions should be rectified and the work entrusted to contractors who know how to handle it. Or they should be licensed to do this work."

It seemed wise in calling this meeting—this conference, if you please—that the plan and the place should be under neutral auspices and in neutral territory. For that reason an equal opportunity will be given to all to speak who desire to, within the time allotted for this meeting and in order that such a plan may be carried out in the freest possible form and the least possible restraint, the only parliamentary rule that will prevail will be the "Rule of Order." For the purpose of securing such orderly progress, the debate will be divided into two sections:

"1. Do conditions, as they are found to-day in the various branches of the building construction industry, indicate that some action should be taken or can be taken.

"2. Are you desirous of making the attempt now?

If the answers to these two questions are in the affirmative there will then arise the still more difficult question:

"How will you do it?"

I do not expect that you can answer this last question right at this time without getting more food for your thought, and, in order that you might hear from the financial side and from authoritative source, Mr. Walter Stabler, Controller of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., one of the world's largest lenders of building money, will state the viewpoint of the lender. He is known to many of you. His intimate touch with this subject is widely recognized. To those who know him, I say, "Our friend is with us again." To those who have not that pleasure, may I introduce Mr. Walter Stabler.

The following account of what Mr. Kelsey and Mr. Stabler had to say is taken from the New York "Times" of Dec. 16:

The story of overproduction in high-class apartments, loft and mercantile buildings was begun by Mr. Stabler. He presented a voluminous array of figures to support his assertion that the building crises was "the worst in forty years."

Kelsey Predicts Drop in Rents.

Mr. Kelsey predicted a "good, long, tedious downward trend of rents in the very near future in lofts and mercantile buildings." "It won't be like the panic of 1907," he said, "but it will be a severe and slow panic."

Mr. Stabler said, "I have had forty years of experience with the building industry. I have gone through many crises, but the present seems to me the worst."

He said that builders were not satisfied to erect apartment houses of ten stories but built fifteen-story houses. They were not content with ten-story lofts but put up twenty-story buildings. He told of proposals that his company finance the construction of buildings from forty to sixty-six stories.

"I think it is time to let you know," said Mr. Stabler, "that rents are sagging. They are sagging fast. I have learned this from authoritative sources. My company has conducted an investigation. I make no guesses. Spear & Co. in March 1924 made a canvass of vacant space in buildings from Canal Street to 42d Street and found 5,000,000 square feet of vacant space. It canvassed the same territory in March 1925 and found that figure increased to 11,250,000. These facts became known, but they had no effect."

Mr. Stabler said that loans in Manhattan in the last three months for 34 apartment houses amounted to $19,000,000.

"These loans were made on a market that doesn't need the buildings," he said.

Attacking the building of very high skyscrapers, Mr. Stabler said: "They are a great mistake, I strongly believe. Those 34 buildings which I mentioned took up 467,502 square feet of ground. That means 187 city lots and that means 23 block fronts. Such buildings are of unusual and uneconomic height.

Vacancies at "Danger Point."

In nine new skyscrapers of this city, he said, "a dangerous amount of vacancy exists."

"Here are the figures for some new buildings," he said. "A 20-story building, 90% vacant; a building of 150,000 square feet, 75% of the square footage vacant; of 200,000 square feet, 85% vacant; of 150,000 square feet, 60% vacant; of 175,000 square feet, 75% vacant; of 50,000 square feet, 40% vacant; of 250,000 square feet, 55% vacant.

"Things of that kind spell disaster. There should be a radical slowing down. The situation exists in all lines of construction work. The price of a square foot to-day is about $1. We could get $5 to $7 a foot in 1923.

"Crazy builders come with crazier propositions. We refuse them loans. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. has refused all loans for quite some time, but there are bonding houses which are disreputable. I don't want to talk of them. Some bonding houses own the buildings to which they loaned money. How does that help the situation?

"It's to your interest to curb building. You're going to get stuck some day. Not until conditions are healthy again will our company loan any more money to the building industry."

Mr. Kelsey said that the real estate market and construction work "are going too fast." He saw great difficulty in restraining the excessive building "due to the venturesome spirit over the land and the plenitude of money." If legitimate banks refused loans there are "shady houses" which gave freely, he said.

"Very likely we shall see serious disaster all along the line. The great mercantile buildings erected in the last five years are finding it hard to pay to-day. As far as we are concerned the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. has refused to make further loans to the building industry."

Correcting certain remarks attributed to Mr. Stabler on the 15th, the "Times" of the 17th inst. said:

Mr. Stabler was busy nearly all day yesterday answering the telephone and talking to builders and bankers who congratulated him on his courage in speaking frankly at this time of a situation which, they agreed, was very grave.

"Not one of them said I was wrong," he declared.

Mr. Stabler said he was incorrectly quoted in the "Times" yesterday when he was reported as having used the words "disreputable bond houses" at the meeting.

"I know many men connected with bond houses and it would be furthest from my thought to make such a statement," he added.

"The reference to the conditions in Fall River, Mass., was not correctly reported. My statement, in effect, was that when manufacturers of any kind of merchandise find the markets overstocked, they have stopped producing, and that in Fall River, in the fall of 1923, 90% of the mills had shut down because of the bad conditions affecting products made by these mills. I intended to convey the impression that the building industry of this city should use the same methods and not produce what was not wanted.

"The quotation as to the figures of apartment house plans filed Sept. 1 was not correct. These facts are, that from Sept. 1 to about Dec. 1 1925, plans were filed for about $19,000,000 worth of loft and office buildings and $34,000,000 of the higher grade apartment houses, the buildings being 34 in number of all three classes of properties.

"My talk on Tuesday applied only to loft, office and high-grade apartment house construction. These types are overbuilt and we will not lend or finance any more buildings of this character. Most certainly what I said did not apply to the small apartment or flat houses or to one and two-family houses. We are lending money for such projects now and will continue to do so. With respect to these classes of houses I feel now as when I testified before the State Commission on Housing and Regional Planning: that for those forced to live in apartments at less than $15 a room the situation is still acute."

In addition to extracts already given from the "Times" of the 17th, we also quote the following from the same paper:

In discussing conditions in this [mortgage] field Mr. Hurd said:

"An unusually active market for securities has recently brought to New York a large number of companies exploiting the mortgage field upon a new basis. The rapidity with which these companies are selling their real estate mortgage bonds, tempting the public by high rates of interest, reminds observers of conditions 30 years ago, when a similar group of mortgage companies came into existence, issuing real estate mortgage bonds by the million to a hungry public.

"To be on safe and permanent ground a mortgage company should be organized by lenders of care, skill and experience and managed with full information as to the fluctuating real estate values and with a willingness year after year to refuse the large fees which accompany excessive loans. In such case the mortgage company should last hundreds of years, as have the mortgage companies in Europe.

"On the other hand, if a mortgage company is organized by expert selling men with excessive expenses for advertising, salesmen, office and overhead charges, a pressure to get large commissions ensues, under which mortgages even up to 100% of the cost of the property are accepted.

"Experience shows that such companies last only during the intervals—long or short—between real estate depressions. If it is argued that these modern companies cannot fail as the earlier companies did, because they guarantee nothing, the answer is that when their issues of real estate mortgage bonds begin to be foreclosed, with losses to investors, they can sell no more bonds and will cease business.

How Investor Can Be Careful.

"How can an investor know whether a mortgage company is organized from the lending end or the selling end? First, by noting whether the mortgage company will put all of its own resources as a guarantee back of the mortgage investments it sells, and, second, by the rate of interest which these mortgage investments bear.

"The fact that an issue of bonds, for example, on an office building is written at 6½% for ten years or more—whereas office buildings in New York over a period of years earn on an average less than 4% net per annum—does not mean that the investor will receive 6½% during the life of these bonds, but does mean that when the present high rents fall his interest rate will also fall.

"The stream cannot rise higher than its source, and as these bonds are not guaranteed there is no source from which a higher return can be paid to the investor than the building yields in net rentals. In plain words, this means that the bond issue will be scaled down in amount or in rate to the normal interest yield.

"If by chance the investor is so unfortunate as to have purchased a bond on a building erected on leased land he is in even a worse position, in that he may suffer a total loss. The inexperienced investor does not realize that the ground rent, capitalized at the current rate of interest, constitutes a heavy first mortgage, ahead of his leasehold bonds, so that his first mortgage real estate bonds on a building on leased ground are in effect second mortgage bonds, but are in reality inferior to them, since second mortgage bond holders may protect themselves by buying up the first mortgage, whereas leasehold bondholders have no right to purchase the land but must continue to pay the ground rent for a long term of years, whether earned or not.

Issues Not Guaranteed.

"These new securities are often issued and called first mortgage real estate bonds, but are not guaranteed by the companies which put them out. The locations selected are usually prominent corners in well-established districts and the buildings are large, new, fireproof structures—hotels, office buildings or apartment houses.

"The bonds look attractive until the investor pauses to inquire what these properties cost for land and building, what is their present value and what is their probable future value. The prospectus of these bonds is usually discreetly silent on these points and the average investor is entirely unable to appraise the value of the land and building securing these bonds.

"It is safe to say that if these bond issues were restricted to the usual two-thirds of the valuations of the well-known appraisers in New York City, none of them would be made. The plain truth is that these issues are excessive in amount, running up to 80%, 90% or 100% of the cost of the properties, excessive in the rate of interest promised on the bonds, 6%, 6½% or 7%, and excessive in the fees paid to the issuing companies, which run from 10% to 15%.

"If the prospectus of these bonds should clearly state to the investor that his money constitutes practically all of the money going into the enterprise, the transaction would be thoroughly understood and the investor could take his own chances.

"One added danger is that these bonds are commonly offered prior to the beginning of the erection of the building, so that the investor parts with his money when his real estate security consists only of unimproved land.

"The moral for the investor is clear. He should not furnish practically all the money for new buildings and put it up before there is any building, but stick to the usual two-thirds loan—the legal limit for trustees—and deal only with responsible companies which guarantee the mortgages which they offer and whose unqualified guarantee has stood the test of time."

Says Building Is Overdone.

A. M. Woodruff, Vice-President of the Prudential Life Insurance Co. at Newark, who is in charge of real estate and mortgage loans for the company, said it was his belief that the erection of loft buildings and high-class apartment houses in Manhattan had been "overdone."

"Perhaps there are some of the cheaper grade apartment houses in the Bronx that will pay," he said. "We have not been, and are not now, making erection loans on questionable enterprises. We have not entirely discontinued mortgage loans in New York City, but have restricted ourselves to buildings that are completed and to high-grade securities."

The head of a large money lending institution said:

"As long as rents are strong and there are few vacancies these conditions can go on for four or five years. But if rents weaken and space is not fully rented it will be up to the owner of the property to pay the charges out of his won pocket. If the property is all he has he will not be able to pay interest on the bond and the bond holders will be put to great loss."

Alexander M. Bing, President of the City Housing Corporation, a limited dividend company, said Mr. Stabler's statement did not refer to small walk-up apartment flats and one and two-family houses.

Mr. Untermyer said he agreed with the statements of Mr. Stabler and Mr. Kelsey.

"These people are satisfied with a 5 or a 6% return on their money and are above, all things, entitled to be protected," Mr. Untermyer said.

"The situation is constantly growing more perilous, and I am glad to see that public attention has at last been concentrated upon this abuse.

Says Many Are Gross Frauds.

"Many of these recent issues constitute in effect a gross fraud in that equities that are supposed to be behind these bonds are fictitious. When real property resumes its normal values many of these loans will topple like a house of cards. The only redeeming grace of the ugly business lies in the fact that the investors are likely to lose only a part of their investment.

"I trust that the Legislature will take immediate steps by way of investigation with a view to future protection.

"My observations do not refer to the old line mortgage investment and lending organizations. They have from the beginning realized the danger in this inflation and have been ultra-conservative in their loans."

Those who attacked the alleged abuses in the mortgage bond field were careful to exempt from their discussion those old established houses which stood behind their loans with the integrity of their organizations and which have continued for scores of years without loss to any of their investors.

An official of S. W. Straus & Co., in the absence of Mr. Straus, G. L. Miller of G. L. Miller & Co., and William M. Greave, President of the Prudence Co., said they did not believe that the real estate situation was critical, but that a word of caution was not amiss from time to time.

C. G. Norman, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Building Trades Employers' Association, agreed with Mr. Stabler and Mr. Kelsey that the demand for buildings for commercial purposes has been met.

"To-day you can borrow as much money as a building costs," said Mr. Norman. "That is an unhealthy condition. The easy availability of surplus money makes all venturesome and the result is that there is too much building. We must remember that overproduction leads to idleness and at such time the employer suffers as well as the laborer and his family."

Views of S. W. Straus & Co.

"There is nothing new in the fact that a word of caution with regard to building activities is in order from time to time," said an official of S. W. Straus & Co.

"Last year S. W. Straus & Co. called attention to the fact that prospective building projects should be carefully scrutinized. 'A cautious and conservative attitude at this time is within the bounds of good business judgment,' epitomized what we said then.

"The same thing can be said now or at any other time, for caution and conservatism are always in order. But we would not want to have this construed as indicating our lack of faith in the steady growth and development of New York City.

"As we have frequently pointed out, obsolescence in buildings is a very important factor in the present situation. There are many structures in New York that have become obsolete, and are therefore a drug on the market. Sooner or later these buildings will have to be replaced with newer and finer types of construction. To let these buildings remain in their obsolete condition would represent a tremendous waste of capital and would impede the progress of the city.

"We can only view with optimism the building outlook in New York City, based on our own investigations. It is a fact, of course, that there are many unworthy projects offered in the lending market. For every loan we make in New York we reject at least twenty applications for loans. But all of the buildings on which we have made loans in any of the boroughs are satisfactorily rented at the present time. And we shall continue to use our own judgment with regard to financing future construction in this city.

"There is, it is true, a great amount of building in New York City. The year 1925 will show the issuance of building permits in the metropolitan district of about $1,250,000,000. This is an increase over 1924 of 22%, but it is to be borne in mind that relatively the same growth and upbuilding is taking place throughout the United States. We receive official reports of building activities from more than 400 cities, and everywhere in the country building activities are going forward in about the same proportion as exists in New York.

Conditions Held Not Abnormal.

"Conditions, therefore, cannot be said to be abnormal here. We are a national organization and are making loans on building construction in all the cities of consequence in the United States. In order to maintain our volume and meet the demands of our clients it is not necessary for us to make loans in any one community or city. Whatever loans we make in New York are based on definite knowledge of the renting situation.

"Rents in the better class apartments and office buildings are well stabilized. They are declining in obsolete structures and in those that are poorly constructed, or are not wisely located. In a general way rents in high-class structures are neither advancing nor declining. Building costs are also quite well stabilized and labor conditions are tranquil throughout the country, excepting in New York City, where the unions are making demands for higher wages."

What. G. L. Miller & Co. Think.

G. L. Miller, President of G. L. Miller & Co., said:

"The present talk of overproduction of office, loft and apartment space in New York City overlooks entirely the fact that the general housing situation in the city is in what might be termed a selective period. By this we mean that while there may be an uncomfortably high percentage of vacancies in poorly located or otherwise undesirable structures, there still is sufficient demand for all three types of modern buildings in locations of prime excellence. The account is entirely upon location, especially as to accessibility in view of traffic and transportation problems.

"As an instance of what we mean, we point to an office building in the Times Square district, recently financed by us, twenty stories in height, which is now nearing completion. According to present leases already signed, the rents from the basement, first and second floors are sufficient to take care of the combined payments for principal and interest on the entire bond issue. Surely no critic, no matter how severe, could find cause for complaint for the financing of a building such as this under the present conditions.

Prudence Company Sees No Occasion for Alarm.

Mr. Greave of the Prudence Co. said he saw nothing alarming in the building situation from the standpoint of real estate mortgage houses which have been conservative in the amount loaned and cautious in the selection of localities. He said there had been overproduction in high-class apartments and apartment hotels, and some overproduction in office buildings, but no cheap flats have been built.

"As in the past, there is no doubt in my mind that real estate will suffer a slump owing to oversupply," he said. "But the Prudence Co., like all the companies that guarantee their own securities, have made conservative loans, not figuring values at present-day costs, nor the rental return on present-day rentals, but have tried to discount the future, feeling that eventually the market will be overproduced."

Harry S. Black, Chairman of the Board of the United States Realty & Improvement Co., takes an optimistic view of the building situation, the New York "Journal of Commerce" of Dec. 17 reporting him as saying:

How U. S. Realty & Improvement Co. Regards Situation.

"Construction financing has been taken up by some of the larger banking institutions, including the National City Bank and Blair & Co., and while there may be some real estate securities of doubtful value, these banks handle nothing but the highest order of securities and where, in all cases, there has been a large margin of security back of the mortgages.

"The policy we have pursued and which we rarely deviate from is that we take no financial interest and do not identify our company with any development unless the community demands it.

"We are in accord with Mr. Stabler's views in regard to vacancies in New York, but it is confined almost entirely to the 42d Street district where there is an abundance of vacant space, with more coming on the market.

"As far as the financial district is concerned, this condition does not apply. I would venture to say vacancies in the financial district are small at present. Fortunately for the United States Realty & Improvement Co., it does not own any properties in the 42d Street district. I do not quite agree with Mr. Stabler that there is such an enormous amount of vacant space, but whatever there is is confined to the district between Canal and 42d Street."

According to the New York "Times" of Dec. 18, suggestions for constructive relief were made on the 17th by William E. Knox, President of the Bowery Savings Bank and former President of the Savings Bank Association of New York State. The "Times" account goes on to say:

Mr. Knox suggested that buyers of mortgage bonds refrain from purchasing unless property appraisals were made conservatively. Any one contemplating purchasing mortgage bond issues, he said, would find savings banks, life insurance companies and other financial organizations ready to give their opinion of mortgage bonds which investors were considering purchasing. He also suggested that a body of appraisers designated by the Real Estate Board might stand before the public as impartial authorities whose advice could be obtained by buyers of mortgage bonds.

By unanimous vote at the meeting on Dec. 15, according to the "Times," it was decided to have the Chairman appoint a committee representative of the building trades to determine what course of action to take in dealing with the situation.

In accordance with this action, Mr. Beals on Dec. 17 appointed the following committee to inquire into the situation with a view to developing remedial measures:

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Vice-President of the Fidelity & Deposit Co. of America, surety bonds, President of the American Construction Council.

George A Harwood, Vice-President of the New York Central Railroad, Vice-President of the American Construction Council.

Walter S. Faddis, President Cauldwell-Wingate Co., general contractors, President of the Building Trades Employers' Association.

Christian G. Norman, Chairman of the Board of Governors, Building Trades Employers' Association.

Robert C. Post, of Post & McChord, structural steel, President of the Credit Association of the Building Trades of New York.

R. H. Shreve, architect, of Shreve & Lamb, Chairman of the Administration Committee of the Credit Association of the Building Trades of New York.

Arthur Williams, Vice-President in charge of Commercial Relations, New York Edison Co., President of the Electrical Board of Trade of New York.

Charles L. Eidlitz, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Electrical Board of Trade of New York.

B. A. Tompkins, Vice-President Bankers' Trust Co., Chairman of the Investment Bankers Association, New York Group.

Marshall Field, President and New York representative of Marshall Field & Co., of Chicago, Vice-Chairman of the Investment Bankers Association, New York Group.

Leo Bishop, President Knickerbocker Masons' Material Supply Co., President of the Mason Material Dealers' Association of New York.

Graham Murtha of Murtha & Schmohl Co., masons' material dealers, Chairman Executive Committee of the Masons' Material Dealers' Association of New York.

Stephen F. Voorhees, of McKenzie, Voorhees & Gmelin, architects, President of the New York Building Congress.

Andrew J. Post, of Post & McChord, structural steel, Vice-President New York Building Congress.

Lansing C. Holden, architect, President of the New York Chapter, American Institute of Architects.

Kenneth M. Murchison, architect, Vice-President New York Chapter American Institute of Architects.

J. Irving Walsh, real estate, President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Real Estate Board of the City of New York.

Everett L. Barnard, Vice-President Church E. Gates Co., retail lumber; President of the New York Lumber Trade Association.

Frank A. Niles, Vice-President Robert R. Sizer Co., wholesale lumber; Vice-President New York Lumber Trade Association.

Whitney Palache, insurance, President of the New York Board of Fire Underwriters.

Bennett Ellison, insurance, Vice-President New York Board of Fire Underwriters.

Lucius R. Eastman, President Hill Brothers; President Merchants Association of the City of New York.

Lincoln Cromwell, of William Iselin & Co., Chairman of the Board of the Merchants Association of the City of New York.

William A. Garrigues, President of Levering & Garrigues, structural steel; President of the Structural Steel Board of Trade of New York.

J. Lewis Hay, President Hay Foundry & Iron Works; Vice-President Structural Steel Board of Trade of New York.

William B. Joyce, President of the National Surety Co.

F. W. La Frentz, President American Surety Co.

Mr. Beals, in a notice to the appointees, said:

In appointing this committee I am mindful of the fact that those who have been elevated by their particular business or trade associations to be presidents, chairmen of boards of directors, boards of governors or to the chairmanship of executive committees of financial, architectural, constructional, commodity, service, credits and ethical associations, board of trade, chapters, councils, congresses, etc., were best qualified as recognized leaders to find a practical way to accomplish what must promptly be done. This crisis commands the best that the leaders of thought and action in finance and construction can give to it. The public interest cannot help but react favorably if such a committee functions.

Comments by Charles E. Eidlitz—Sees Frenzy in Speculation.

The following is also from the "Times" of Dec. 18:

Charles L. Eidlitz, a pioneer builder in New York, who is now Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Electrical Board of Trade, said he was glad to see the public beginning to take a real interest in the building situation. He said:

"Any one who has watched building conditions in this city must have been impressed by the orgy of frenzied speculation in buildings conducted and erected by inexperienced people whose one and only aim and whose motto has been 'cheap construction, payment of graft and bonuses, quick sales and 100% caveat emptor.' There are so many 'emptors' with money to-day who never heard of the caveat portion that these builders have been able to borrow the full value and more than the full, and most certainly more than the real value of their properties, and unload on the unsophisticated. This public has been so impressed by the stories of fortunes made in real estate in New York City, and have been so thoroughly sold on the idea that you can't lose in real estate, that they have blindly bought bonds which do not represent true values. Buildings, even well built buildings, do not improve with age. They are unlike the pre-Volstead material.

"We in the building industry have always listened attentively to whatever Mr. Stabler or Mr. Kelsey have had to say, and whether the building public and the contractors like it or do not like it, there is no doubt in my mind that these gentlemen know what they are talking about. Of course, there are bound to be men who would rather have the dance go on and let the public and the investor take care of their own future."

It is proper to say that the subject was fully considered at the recent convention of the Investment Bankers Association. The elaborate report of the association's Real Estate Securities Committee, presented by H. N. Gottlieb, of S. W. Straus & Co., will be found in our issue of last week on pages 2932 to 2935.

One Hundredth Anniversary Dinner of Brown Brothers & Co.

To celebrate the 100th anniversary of the opening of the New York office of Brown Brothers & Co., a dinner was given at the University Club on the evening of December 18th to those who had been in the service of the firm for five years and over. There were present the partners and powers of attorney of the New York, Philadelphia, and Boston houses, and Messrs. Alexander Brown, B. Howell Griswold, Jr., and Thomas Hildt, of Alex. Brown & Sons, Baltimore.

James Brown, senior partner of the firm, presided.

United Hospital Fund Receipts Through Bankers and Brokers Committee

The "Bankers and Brokers Committee" of the United Hospital Fund report that subscriptions are coming in very well, so that last year's total collection will be exceeded. J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and Speyer & Co., who headed the list, have each increased their contribution 20 per cent over 1924. Many others have also increased their subscriptions and a number have contributed who have not heretofore done so.

James Speyer, Chairman, and Walter E. Frew, Associate Chairman, of the "Bankers' and Brokers' Committee" of the United Hospital Fund of New York, have issued a statement reporting the subscriptions of $100 and over, received to date, and we give the list of those contributing $250 and over:

Increase by Interstate Commerce Commission in Rates for Transportation of Newspapers

Associated Press advices from Washington, Dec. 14, state:

Increased charges for the transportation of newspapers in baggage cars through Eastern territory were allowed today by the Interstate Commerce Commission, to become effective tomorrow. Railroads proposed last April to put the increases into effect but were prevented from doing so while an investigation was being made by the commission.

The Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburgh will be permitted to charge 50 cents per hundred pounds for newspaper transportation in baggage cars, as compared with a present rate of 30 cents. Where the shipment on the Pennsylvania system moves west of Pittsburgh from points east of Pittsburgh, the new rate may be $1 per hundred pounds as compared with 60 cents.

On the Baltimore & Ohio the rates of 30 cents for distances of 500 miles will be increased to 50 cents and the charge of 60 cents for distances over 500 miles will become $1.

The Reading, Western Maryland and Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic lines proposed similar increases, which also were allowed.

A W. Loasby of Equitable Trust Company While Viewing Year as One of Unbounded Prosperity, Urges Descretion in View of Possibility of Change

A. W. Loasby, president of the Equitable Trust Company of New York, in referring to the year just closing as "one of unbounded prosperity," says:

The Federal Reserve System has continued its most efficient functioning; there has been a more generous attitude toward public utilities; our enormous home demand has resulted in very satisfactory profits to our manufacturers, and our country is about to be benefited by relief from taxation. Progress in the rehabilitation of European nations contains much that is encouraging for the future. We have enjoyed a plethora of money. This easy money condition, however, has induced various forms of speculation and has in some lines resulted in what might be considered a too liberal extension of credit, which has in turn resulted in a lavish purchase of luxuries.

Of course, this situation cannot be expected to continue indefinitely and it behooves us to consider the possibility of a change and act with discretion.

ITEMS ABOUT BANKS, TRUST COMPANIES, &C.

The Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange on Dec. 23 granted the request of a majority of the membership for the suspension of business on the Exchange to-day (Dec. 26).

The New York Curb Market, the Consolidated Stock Exchange and the local commodities exchanges, will likewise remain closed to-day, following yesterday's Christmas holiday, and the out of town exchanges will similarly remain closed until Monday next.

The New York Stock Exchange membership of Reginald S. Willis was reported posted for transfer this week to Paul J. Nugent, the consideration being stated as $140,000. Last previous transaction was at $147,000.

The New York Cotton Exchange membership of Edgar H. Perry was reported sold this week to S. T. Hubbard Jr., for another for $35,000. This is the same price as the last preceding sale.

On Monday next, Dec. 28, Lee, Higginson & Co. will open their handsome new offices at 70 Federal St., Boston, corner of Federal, Franklin and Congress Sts., and extend a cordial invitation to the public to visit their new home.

The Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Co. of New York on Dec. 22 announced the election of Henry M. Atkins, Assistant Trust Officer, as Assistant Vice-President, and of Herman W. Willis, Assistant Trust Officer, as Assistant Secretary. Mr. Atkins is attached to the Fifth Avenue office of the company at Fifth Avenue and 34th Street, and Mr. Willis to the Woolworth office, in the Woolworth Building.

The new bank and office building erected by the United States Mortgage & Trust Co. of New York at 73d Street and Broadway as a permanent home for its 73d Street office, was formally opened to the public on Dec. 21. Many visitors, including residents of the upper west side, executives of neighboring institutions, directors and officers from other offices of the company, visited the new office to extend best wishes. The United States Mortgage & Trust Co. obtained the site for its new office through a unique real estate deal. The ground is owned and has been occupied since 1800 by the Rutgers Presbyterian Church, which recently found itself in need of a new building and a community home to meet its growing requirements. The trust company agreed to raze the old church building, erect a building for itself on the Broadway corner of the property and construct for the church a new edifice and community house on the adjoining portion of the plot. The bank building, which is the most commodious and complete of its kind on the upper west side, is five stories high, of brick, steel and limestone fireproof construction, and was designed to meet the company's needs in this growing district. Modern safe deposit vaults have been installed and an attractively equipped department is ready for the service of women customers. The cornerstone of the building was laid Feb. 10 of this year, plans and negotiations being in charge of H. L. Servoss, Vice-President of the company in charge of branches. John W. Platten is President of the company. The 73d Street office, opened Oct. 1 1902, was the first of the company's branches. It was in that year that John A. Hopper, now in charge of the 73d Street office, became associated with the company. The main office of the company is located at 55 Cedar Street. Other branches are located at Madison Avenue and 74th Street, 125th Street and Eighth Avenue and Lexington Avenue and 47th Street.

The Manufacturers Trust Co. of New York announces the appointment of Joseph L. Morris as a Vice-President. Mr. Morris resigned as Credit Manager of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which place he had held for the past five years, to accept his new post with the Manufacturers Trust Co. Prior to his employment with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, Mr. Morris was Manager of the Credit Department of the Farmers Loan & Trust Co., having been associated with that company from 1909 to 1921. He was an assistant to J. Herbert Case there and when the latter left the Farmers Loan & Trust Co. to become Senior Deputy-Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, Mr. Morris assumed the former's duties. Mr. Morris was born in New York City in 1882.

Henry C. Von Elm, Vice-President of the Manufacturers Trust Co. of New York, has been elected a director of the company to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William P. Sturgis. Mr. Von Elm has been associated with the company since the merger of the Manufacturers National Bank with the Manufacturers Trust Co. in 1914, having held a clerical position in the bank at the time of the merger and has risen from the ranks to the important position of Chairman of the Credit Conference Committee in the Manufacturers Trust Co.

F. Pintard and V. L. Banker have been elected Assistant Managers of the Trust Department of the Mechanics & Metals National Bank of New York.

The stockholders of the East River National Bank and Bowery Bank have approved the proposed merger of these two banks under the name of the Bowery & East River National Bank of New York. The new institution will have a capital and surplus of $5,500,000 and undivided profits of over $500,000. Mention of this proposed consolidation, which will become effective Dec. 31, was made in our Oct. 31 issue on page 2117. The officers of both institutions will be retained in the consolidation.

The Guaranty Trust Co. of New York has authorized the distribution of additional compensation to the employees of the company, not including officers, in the United States and foreign countries, of from 3 to 5% of the salaries received for the last half year. This is in addition to a similar distribution made for the first half year on July 1. The percentages to be paid vary in amount in accordance with the years of service.

Louis A. Keidel, Treasurer of the Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation, has been elected a Vice-President of the Bankers Trust Co. of New York.

The Standard Bank of New York announces the continuation of its bonus arrangement adopted in 1923 providing for a distribution this month to employees of from 2 to 8% of their annual salaries. The plan calls for a bonus of 2% at the end of the year to all employees plus 1% additional for each full year of service.

G. Maurice Heckscher has been elected a director of the Liberty National Bank in New York.

Advices to us from the Park Trust Co. of Weehawken, N. J., under date of Dec. 15 state that "although General William C. Heppenheimer was elected a director of this institution and appointed to our Executive Committee, we will not merge with the Trust Co. of New Jersey for the present." The Jersey papers have contained items to the effect that a merger of the two companies is planned.

The following advices from Amagansett, L. I., Dec. 11, appeared in the Brooklyn "Eagle":

Application of promoters of the Montauk National Bank of Amagansett for a charter has been denied by the Comptroller of the Currency and checks returned from Washington, D. C. Stock for this bank sold readily at $150 a share and the full issue of $25,000 was subscribed. Interested in the banking project were Everett W. Babcock and Dr. Frederick Finch of Amagansett. An effort may now be made to get a charter for a State bank.

The National Bank of Norwich, Norwich, N. Y., has changed its title to the National Bank & Trust Co. of Norwich, effective Dec. 3 1925.

The City Trust Co. of Newark, N. J., has declared the usual quarterly dividend of 3% and an extra of 2%.

Judge Carroll of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts on Dec. 11 authorized the State Commissioner of Banks to pay a dividend of 6% to the depositors in the savings department of the defunct Cosmopolitan Trust Co. of Boston. This dividend calls for the sum of $337,636, it is said, and will be distributed among approximately 12,000 depositors. With the payment of this dividend the savings depositors will have received 83% of their deposits, it is understood. The Cosmopolitan Trust Co. was closed in the latter part of 1920. Our last reference to its affairs was in the "Chronicle" Oct. 17 1925, p. 1872.

The stockholders of the Lawndale Bank & Trust Co. of Philadelphia at a special meeting on Dec. 9 voted to increase the capital stock from $125,000 to $250,000. We are advised that payments on the stock to be issued are to be made in installments of $15 each, Jan. 20, Feb. 20, March 20 and April 20. The stock is issued at $60 per share—$50 of this amount being par value and $10 being a payment to surplus account. It is announced that the surplus of the company at this time stands at $50,000—$12,500 being paid in.

A public offering of stock of the Empire Trust Co. of New York is being made by Lawson & Co., of this city, at $350 per share, yielding 4.58%. In calling attention to the attractive features offered in the purchase of Empire Trust Co. stock, Lawson & Co. state:

It is our opinion that this stock is selling far below its intrinsic value, and we believe it has been sadly neglected, marketwise, considering the recent advance in other bank and trust company stocks.

Considering that this company is earning at present $31 per share, you can readily see that it should be selling at very much higher prices.

We are herewith submitting the following figures giving you a general idea of what the average bank and trust company stocks yield:

Name—	Price.	Earnings.	Div. Rate.	Yield.
Bankers Trust Co. stock	$605	$34	20%	3.30%
Chase National Bank stock	560	33	20%	3.57%
Equitable Trust Co. stock	318	19	12%	3.79%
Farmers' Ln. & Tr. Co. stock	565	22	16%	2.83%
Guaranty Trust Co. Stock	380	18	12%	3.11%
National City Bank stock	610	28	20%	3.27%
New York Trust Co. stock	565	28	20%	3.52%
Empire Trust Co. stock	350	31	16%*	4.58%

The following figures are taken from their statement of condition as of Nov. 14 1925:

Capital	$4,000,000 00
Surplus and undivided profits	3,806,928 88
Deposits	70,312,948 67

After a careful analysis of the above figures, you must agree that Empire Trust Co. stock is an excellent investment at prevailing prices, and we unhesitatingly recommend its purchase. Their next quarterly dividend will be $3 regular and $3 extra per share, payable Dec. 31 to stockholders of record Dec. 19 1925.

*Includes extra dividends.

In accordance with its profit-sharing plan inaugurated in 1914, the Empire Trust Co. has declared a bonus to employees under which employees will receive from 8 to 16% of their salaries, depending upon the length of service and attaining standards of excellence set by the management. Last year, under a similar plan, the bonus ranged from 7.36% to 13.7%.

The President and directors of the Western National Bank of Baltimore announce the election, effective Jan. 1 1926, of Eugene G. Grady, now Cashier of the Baltimore branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, as Vice-President, to succeed John L. Swope, who has resigned to become a Vice-President of the United Railways & Electric Co. of Baltimore.

The removal of the Akers-Folkman Co., the Travel Department of the Union Trust Co., Cleveland, from its old quarters in the Schofield Building to its new quarters in the Union Trust Building, at the corner of Chester and East Ninth streets, on Dec. 21, completed the gathering together of all the downtown departments of the Union Trust Co. under the same roof. Joseph Folkman is head of the Travel Department. He came from Galicia, penniless, at the age of 14, and started his career in this country selling papers and shining shoes. He later became a partner in the Akers-Folkman-Lawrence Co., now the Akers-Folkman Co., the Travel Department of the Union Trust Co. Upon the day of the occupation of the new quarters, the employees of the Akers-Folkman Co. presented Mr. Folkman with a beautiful ship model, as a tribute to his 43 years of service to Cleveland travelers.

Stockholders of the Merchants Savings Bank & Trust Co. of Toledo, Ohio, and of the Security Savings Bank & Trust Co. of that city on Dec. 21 ratified the proposed consolidation of the institutions (referred to in these columns in the "Chronicle" of Nov. 28) under the title of the latter institutions. According to the Toledo "Blade" of Dec. 22, the enlarged bank will have resources of $16,000,000 with eight branches in different parts of the city. The present home of the Merchants Savings Bank & Trust Co. on Summit St., it is understood, will be continued as the M. & C. branch with the same personnel as at present, and the same is true of the Dorr St. branch of that bank. The "Blade" further stated that announcenemt of the new home of the Security Savings Bank & Trust Co. to be erected on Madison Ave. would be made shortly after the merger went into effect.

According to an Associated Press dispatch from Mason City, Iowa, on Dec. 19, the Security National Bank of that place failed to open on that date. The closing was ordered by the board of directors after a run early in the week, which depleted the cash on deposit to such an extent that further operation was deemed unwise.

The First National Bank of Jefferson, Ia. and the Greene County Savings Bank of that place (affiliated institutions) have been closed by their directors because of frozen assets and depleted reserves, according to a press dispatch from Jefferson on Dec. 10, printed in the "Wall Street News" of the same date.

Failure of the First National Bank of Grove, Okla., is reported in the following Associated Press dispatch from that place on Dec. 21:

The First National Bank of Grove, the last banking institution in this city, closed to-day (Dec. 21). Frozen assets, due to inability to collect on cattle paper, was given as the cause of the failure. The institution had deposits of approximately $150,000.

The formal opening of the new banking rooms and safe deposit department of the Boatmen's Bank of St. Louis took place on Dec. 8, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. at which time the public was given a cordial invitation to inspect the improvements. The officers of the institution are: Edwards Whitaker, President; Aaron Waldheim, Julius W. Remboldt, (and Cashier), Edgar L. Taylor and Leroy C. Bryan, Vice-Presidents and Chester C. Hammerstein, Albert Wagenfuehr, H. Alfred Bridges and Rudolph Felsch, Asst. Cashiers

The Planters National Bank of Richmond is celebrating this month the 60th anniversary of its founding, the institution having received its charter on Dec. 8 1865. According to the Richmond "Dispatch" of Dec. 8, there has been nothing spectacular about the growth of the institution during its 60 years of existence. Neither have its resources been increased by the absorption of other banks, nor by consolidating with other institutions. Just a steady increasing of its resources through the years, indicative of sound, conservative, yet progressive banking. Beginning with a capital of $200,000, it has to-day combined capital, surplus and undivided profits of $3,200,000 and total resources of more than $20,000,000. The increase in capitalization has been largely due, it is said, to stock dividends paid out of earnings. Continuing, the "Dispatch" said:

Since the early 80's the Planters has been closely identified with the tobacco industry, hence its trade-mark—a tobacco leaf. This is due to the fact that hte late James B. Pace, then President, one of the leading tobacco manufacturers at that time, encouraged planters, dealers and manufacturers of tobacco to use the facilities of the bank, and his forward-looking policy met with marked success. This does not mean, however, that the bank confines its transactions solely to the tobacco industry, for such is far from being the case. On its ledgers are the names of many and varied industries; more and more finding that "Planters service" measures up to expectations.

The bank's steadily growing business has necessitated three enlargements, the last five years ago, when the entire building was remodeled. It is now modern in every respect, and fully equipped to handle business entrusted to its care expeditiously and efficiently. In line with its endeavors always to anticipate the needs of its patrons, late in 1922 an office in the city's shopping district was opened and is proving a great convenience as evidenced by the growing patronage afforded it.

The bank's policy in regard to its employees is very liberal. It was among the first to furnish a luncheon at the bank (being now equipped on the third floor with a modern kitchen and dining room), it grants an annual bonus, and affords protection under the group life insurance plan.

The present officials of the Planters National Bank are as follows: Richard H. Smith, Chairman of the board of directors; W. Meade Addison, President; J. J. Montague, Henry S. Hotchkiss, Warren M. Goddard (and Cashier) and Wilson M. Brown (and Trust Officer), Vice-Presidents; D. V. Morton, W. W. Neale, R. G. Andrews, W. Edwin Miller and Paul Mayo, Assistant Cashiers, and John H. Harton, Auditor.

Consolidation of the First National Bank of Richmond and the Merchants' National Bank—two of Richmond's largest and oldest financial institutions—was approved by the respective directors of the banks at meetings held simultaneously on Dec. 22. Meetings of the stockholders to take action on the proposed merger will be held on Jan. 26 and, if ratified, the union will become effective Feb. 1. The new institution will be known as the First & Merchants' National Bank of Richmond and will be capitalized at $3,000,000 with surplus and undivided profits of $3,300,000. It will have deposits approximating $50,000,000 and total resources of about $60,000,000. John M. Miller Jr., the present head of the First National Bank of Richmond, will be President of the consolidated bank, while the Vice-Presidents will be, in order, as follows: Charles R. Burnett (now Vice-President of the First National Bank); W. F. Augustine (at present a Vice-President of the Merchants' National Bank), and John C. White (also a Vice-President of the Merchants' National Bank). Additional Vice-Presidents, a Cashier and Assistant Cashiers for the consolidated institution will be elected, it is said, from the present official staffs of both banks. The First National Bank of Richmond was organized in 1865, a few months after the close of the Civil War, while the Merchants' National Bank was founded six years later (1871). The Richmond "Dispatch," in reporting the proposed consolidation in its issue of Dec. 23, said:

Official announcement of the intended merger created a sensation in the business district yesterday. It was learned that the idea was conceived within the last month. A short series of conferences culminated in the directors' meetings yesterday, when the plan is said to have met unanimous approval. In a statement signed jointly by John M. Miller Jr., President of the First National Bank, and Melville C. Branch, President of the Merchants' National Bank, it was noted that "this will give Richmond one of the largest banks in the South Atlantic States, and place Richmond in the front rank financially to take care of the expanding business of the South, which section is rapidly becoming the industrial centre of the United States.

George E. Peters, formerly Assistant Cashier of the Orange County Trust & Savings Bank of Santa Ana, Cal., was promoted to Cashier of the institution at a meeting of the directors on Dec. 2, according to a dispatch from that place on Dec. 3 to the Los Angeles "Times." Mr. Peters, the dispatch stated, succeeds E. R. Sprague, who resigned some months ago to accept a position with the First National Bank of Santa Ana. The new Cashier has been connected with the Orange County Trust & Savings Bank since 1914 when he was elected Assistant Trust Officer. The following year he was made Assistant Cashier, the position he has now relinquished to become Cashier. At the same meeting of the directors T. H. Warne and C. E. Sauers were elected Assistant Cashiers. The dispatch further stated that the directors declared the regular semi-annual dividend on each share of the $300,000 Capital stock of the bank and increased the surplus account from $125,000 to $150,000, effective the first of the new year. Deposits of the institution are said to approximate $2,330,000.

The following Associated Press dispatch from Modesto, Cal., on Dec. 21 reports the closing of First National Bank of Riverbank, Cal., on that date:

Faced by an overdraft of $140,000 in the account of C. L. Flack, and by his disappearance, T. E. Harris, Chief Bank Examiner from San Francisco, closed the First National Bank of Riverbank to-day. Flack is Chairman of the board of directors of the bank and owns a controlling interest.

In a letter sent from Alahambra and addressed "to the banks." Flack charged that he had been "closed out" by other banks. His friends believe that he either killed himself or became insane.

The proposed union of the Crocker National Bank of San Francisco, the First National Bank of that city and the latter's affiliated institution, the First Federal Trust Co., to form the Crocker-First National Bank of San Francisco and a trust company, was ratified by the stockholders of the First National Bank and the First Federal Trust Co. on Dec. 10 and the consolidation of the institutions will be consummated on Jan. 2. The new trust company will be known as the Crocker First Federal Trust Co. Both the new institutions will occupy the present quarters of the First National Bank and First Federal Trust Co. at the northwest corner of Post and Montgomery streets and will have, it is understood, combined capital assets of $14,000,000; aggregate deposits of more than $100,000,000 and resources in excess of $120,000,000. The consolidating banks, according to the San Francisco "Chronicle" of Dec. 11, are among the oldest remaining banking institutions in San Francisco. The Crocker National Bank had its beginning 43 years ago in the banking firm of Crocker, Woolworth & Co., founded by the late Charles Crocker, father of William H. Crocker, the present President of the institution. It became a national bank in 1906. The First National Bank is still older, having been organized 55 years ago as the First National Gold Bank by James Phelan and associates. John A. Hooper heads the institution at present, while Rudolph Spreckels is a former President. Reference was made to the proposed consolidation of these banks in our issues of Oct. 24 and Oct. 31, pages 2003 and 2119, respectively.

Arrangements were completed on Dec. 12 for a consolidation of the Liberty Bank of San Francisco (a subsidiary of the Bancitaly Corporation) and the Bank of America of Los Angeles (controlled by the Americommercial Corporation of Los Angeles, a holding company practically owned and controlled by the Bancitaly Corporation) to form "a gigantic State-wide banking institution" having deposits of $52,000,000 and resources of $58,000,000. The resulting institution, it is said, will have more than 40 banking offices, stretching from the Oregon boundary on the north nearly to the international line on the South, and will be controlled by the Americommercial Corporation of Los Angeles. This corporation, which as before stated, controls the Bank of America, also controls the Commercial National Bank of Los Angeles, a bank operating 20 branches in different parts of Los Angeles and having deposits totaling $21,000,000 and resources of $22,500,000. As it is a national institution it is not included in the proposed consolidation, but will operate closely with the merged banks. When the consolidation of the Bank of America and the Liberty Bank becomes effective, therefore, the Americommercial Corporation will have under its control banks having an aggregate in total resources of more than $80,000,000; deposits of $75,000,000 and capital, surplus and undivided profits of $11,500,000. It will have over 60 banking offices in California, it is said, and depositors numbering more than 120,000. The following in regard to the proposed merger is taken from the San Francisco "Chronicle" of Dec. 14:

Provided the consolidation is approved by Superintendent of Banks John Franklin Johnson, before whom an application is now pending and which will probably be acted upon during the week, the merger will become effective on the first of the year.

As a means of further welding together the interests of both the Liberty Bank and the Bank of America into the Americommercial Corporation, the board of directors of the latter institution has been substantially increased, to include substantial business men of both Los Angeles and San Francisco interested in the affiliated banks.

The new directors from Liberty Bank joining the Americommercial Corporation, include Marshal Hale, R. E. Miller, George A. Webster, Eustace Cullinnan and Daniel C. Murphy.

The new directors from the Bank of America include Leroy M. Edwards, Will S. Fawcett, Walter J. Braunschweiger and H. R. Erkes.

The official announcement also stated that the dividend rate of the Americommercial Corporation had been raised from $7 to $8 annually at the meeting on Saturday.

No decision relative to the new name of the merged bank has been reached, although it will be formed so as to retain the identity of both institutions. New executives of the Americommercial Corporation will likewise be chosen at a subsequent meeting of the board of directors.

The Liberty Bank entered branch banking this year and has acquired control of about thirty banks, some of which were merged into others or abandoned, leaving a net of twenty-five banks operated at present.

These branches are located in the cities of Anderson, Arcata, Benicia, Burlingame, Crescent City, Daly City, Eureka, Fairfax, Healdsburg, Kelseyville, Lakeport, Lodi, Mayfield, Palo Alto, Redding, Roseville, San Bruno, Sonoma, St. Helena, Tipton, Tulare, Vallejo and two here.

The Bank of America operates branches in Glendale, Culver City, Huntington Park, Torrence, Pomona, Anaheim, Fullerton, two in Santa Barbara, two in Placentia, and six in Los Angeles, making sixteen in all.

The Liberty Bank has resources of $35,000,000 and deposits of $35,000,000 with capital, surplus and undivided profits of $2,750,000. The Bank of America has resources of $20,000,000, deposits of $17,000,000, and capital, surplus and undivided profits of $1,750,000.

Directors of Liberty Bank, other than those named to the Americommercial board, include Oliver J. Olson, W. D. Fennimore, H. Cartan, S. L. Goldstein, Carl Raiss, Dr. Howard Morrow, Dr. T. E. Shumate, A. P. Jacobs, John A. Grennan, James B. Duffy, Leonard E. Wood and Dr. James H. O'Connor.

Other directors of Americommercial Corporation include: Orra E. Monnette, M. J. Monnette, E. Palmer Tucker, Myer Siegel, J. L. Vannorman, G. D. Robertson, Dwight Whiting, L. M. MacDonald, Boyd Hamilton, W. A. Bonynge, P. R. Williams, T. C. Deane, E. J. Launer, C. C. Chapman and Jay Lawyer.

A special dispatch from Stockton, Cal., on Dec. 11, to the San Francisco "Chronicle" stated that the respective directors of the Citizens' National Bank of Lodi, Cal., and the Lodi National Bank had made application to the Comptroller of the Currency for permission to consolidate the two institutions, according to announcements made on that day by Wilson H. Thompson, Vice-President of the Citizens' National Bank and Hillard E. Welch, President of the Lodi National Bank. The dispatch added:

The consolidation will combine some of the strongest capital in Northern San Joaquin County, enabling the two banks to render better service. Each bank is capitalized at $200,000.

Combined assets of the two banks is over $4,000,000. It is the supposition that the new banking organization will be housed in the Citizens' National Bank Building, erected in 1923 and considered one of the finest in central California.

At least $500,000,000 of new money will be drawn into Canada as a result of this year's harvest, according to Sir Vincent Meredith, President of the Bank of Montreal, in his report at the bank's annual meeting held on Dec. 9 in Montreal. A telegraphic report received by the New York branch of the large Canadian bank quoted Sir Vincent as saying: "There is no question that the trend of business is slowly but surely upward." He said that the dominating factor was Canada's big harvest, one of the largest ever gathered, marketed at a profitable price, and the movement of which "is running up Canadian railway earnings."

The private bank of Hitchcock & McCulloch, at Moose Jaw, Sask., has been absorbed by the Royal Bank of Canada (head office Montreal), according to the Toronto "Financial Post." In commenting on the passing of this private institution, the "Financial Post" of Toronto, in its issue of Dec. 11, said:

There remain in Canada now less than a dozen institutions, the actual number being 10, of which one is in Nova Scotia, two in Quebec, two in Ontario and five in Saskatchewan.

With the passing of these banks there also passes out of existence a little more of the sentiment connected with the settling of the West. In the earlier days banking facilities in the West were few and far between. The banks already established in Eastern Canada had not reached the stage where they could consider expansion and perhaps, too, their leaders lacked faith in what the future held for the West.

The absorption leads the Manitoba "Free Press" to remark:

"The chartered banks, however ably they are governed, can never fill the place of the smaller institutions. The private banker knew his clientele personally, knew all about them, their hopes, aspirations and failings. He was in a position to make loans safely that no large institution, governed by rule, could possibly accept.

"In the case of the banking firm of Hitchcock & McCulloch, for eight years it was the only bank between Regina and Calgary. It was established 35 years ago and has safely weathered the ups and downs of the intervening years. It served merchants and farmers alike and old-timers of the Moose Jaw district still say Arthur Hitchcock, President of the bank, never turned a deaf ear to the farmer in need of financial aid. The Union Bank of Canada opened an office in Moose Jaw about 1898 and the firm of Hitchcock & McCulloch became closely associated with this institution, this no doubt leading up to their being taken over by the Royal Bank, the latter having absorbed the Union Bank a few months ago.

"Arthur Hitchcock, President of the bank from its inception, was born in Leicestershire, England, coming to Canada with his parents at the age of four. He received a training in banking in New York City and reached Moose Jaw as a very young man. He now intends to devote himself to the management of his own extensive business affairs, although for some months he will be associated with the Royal Bank until the consolidation of the two businesses has become complete."

The 52d half-yearly statement of the Bank of Taiwan, Ltd. (head office Taipeh, Japan), as of June 30 1925, just recently received, shows total assets of yen 909,379,457, of which cash in hand, at bankers, and bullion and foreign money amount to yen 34,485,461. On the liabilities side of the statement, current accounts, fixed deposits, etc., are given as yen 265,571,898, bills payable yen 203,213,000 and bills rediscounted at yen 160,510,831. The bank's subscribed capital is yen 60,000,000 and its reserve funds amount to yen 14,180,000. Hirozo Mori, the bank's President (who in August last succeeded Kojuro Nakagawa in that office), in his address to the shareholders at their 52d general meeting at Tokio on Sept. 1, submitted a readjustment scheme for the institution. In this regard he said, in part:

I now submit to you for your careful examination and approval the readjustment scheme of our bank, of which I have said a word at the beginning of my address. As this bank expanded its business greatly during the war time the acute financial reaction of 1920 left it carrying a considerable amount of fixed loans. The bank therefore embarked at an early opportunity on its work of readjustment, all the efforts being made in collection of loans, realization of securities, retrenchment of expenses and improvement of its business methods, and succeeded in writing off a fairly large amount of its bad debts at the end of every subsequent term. The great earthquake and fire of September 1923, however, aggravated the prevailing industrial depression, and the fact that a considerable number of the bank's clients were heavy sufferers from the disaster made a stumbling block in the way of its business while giving an irrecoverable blow in the progress of its work of readjustment. In these circumstances the suprem eefforts of the bank's directorate and staffs to stem the tide of adversity proved of no avail, and we were obliged, though regretful, to take immediate action in an effort to improve the bank's status. For this reason, gentlemen, with the permission of the Government, I now have to ask for your approval of the most drastic method of rearrangement. The proposal is to write off the bank's fixed loans as bad debts, at the end of the term just elapsed to the amount of yen 28,600,000, by canceling a quarter of the bank's paid-up capital account, or yen 13,125,000, and appropriating for the same purpose the reserve for deficits yen 10,570,000, and the special reserve, yen 1,770,000. There are besides above certain loans, of which the interest due is found difficult to collect. The principals of such loans may at any moment be rendered difficult of collection; such a contingency must be duly provided for. It was for these considerations that the Government permitted to lower, in the course of our readjustment, the interest on loan of yen 50,000,000 advanced to this bank by the Treasury from 5 to 2% per annum and the Bank of Japan agreed to reduce its interest on the exchange funds advanced to this bank from 5 to 2% per annum within the limit of yen 20,000,000, and further to render the utmost possible assistance in case of need.

By means of this new arrangement, I am glad to say, the Bank of Taiwan will be enabled to enter upon its path of complete recovery and to execute its own mission adequately and properly.

The branch of this bank in Bangkok, Siam, has been closed, it is understood.

THE CURB MARKET.

Trading in the Curb Market this week for the most part was quiet and price movements irregular. As the week closed business improved somewhat and prices moved to higher levels. Oil stocks received most attention. Buckeye Pipe Line advanced from 55¾ to 59 and sold to-day at 58. Eureka Pipe Line rose from 61 to 63¾ and ends the week at 62⅜. Humble Oil & Ref. was conspicuous for an advance from 87½ to 95, with a final reaction to 92⅝. Northern Pipe Line rose from 70½ to 74½. South Penn Oil advanced from 170½ to 180. Gulf Oil of Pa. sold from 86 to 94½. Among industrials American Can new stock was a strong feature and on active trading rose from 43¾ to 47⅝. Stutz motor was also conspicuous for strength, advancing from 27 to 36¼. Canada Dry Ginger Ale gained almost three points to 43¼. Chrysler Corp. moved up from 48⅜ to 50¾, reacting finally to 49. International Rubber improved from 14 to 18½ and closed to-day at 18. Kelvinator Corp. advanced from 78 to 87⅛, and Nizer Corp., Class B from 79⅝ to 88, the latter closing to-day at 87⅝. In bonds Stutz Motor 7½s was advanced from 98 to 119.

COURSE OF BANK CLEARINGS.

Bank clearings for the present week will again show a moderate increase as compared with a year ago. Preliminary figures compiled by us, based upon telegraphic advices from the chief cities of the country, indicate that for the week ending to-day (Saturday, Dec. 26) bank exchanges for all the cities of the United States from which it is possible to obtain weekly returns will aggregate 5.5% more than in the corresponding week last year. The total stands at $8,174,867,156, against $7,748,824,233 for the same week in 1924. At this centre there is an increase for the five days of 2.5%. Our comparative summary for the week is as follows:

Clearings—Returns by Telegraph. Week Ended December 26.	1925.	1924.	Per Cent.

Total all cities for week	$8,174,867,156	$7,748,824,233	+5.5

Complete and exact details for the week covered by the foregoing will appear in our issue of next week. We cannot furnish them to-day, inasmuch as the week ends to-day (Saturday), and the Saturday figures will not be available until noon to-day. Accordingly, in the above the last day of the week has in all cases had to be estimated.

In the elaborate detailed statement, however, which we present further below, we are able to give final and complete results for the previous week—the week ended Dec. 19. For that week there is an increase of 7.2%, the 1925 aggregate of the clearings being $11,549,982,285 and the 1924 aggregate $10,776,545,518. Outside of New York City the increase is 7.2%, the bank exchanges at this centre recording a gain of only 3.3%. We group the cities now according to the Federal Reserve districts in which they are located, and from this it appears that in the Boston Reserve District the totals are larger by 6.9%, in the New York Reserve District (including this city) by 3.4%, and in the Philadelphia Reserve

District by 5.2%. In the Cleveland Reserve District there is an improvement of 10.3%, in the Richmond Reserve District of 10.1%, and in the Atlanta Reserve District (chiefly by reason of the increase at Miami) of 26.6%. The Chicago Reserve District has a gain of 11.5%, the St. Louis Reserve District of 11.8% and the Minneapolix Reserve District of 3.7%. In the Kansas City Reserve District the totals are better by 14.0%, in the Dallas Reserve District by 2.4%, and in the San Francisco Reserve District by 32.9%.

In the following we furnish a summary by Federal Reserve districts:

THE ENGLISH GOLD AND SILVER MARKETS.

We reprint the following from the weekly circular of Samuel Montagu & Co. of London, written under date of Dec. 2 1925:

GOLD.

The Bank of England gold reserve against notes on the 25th inst. amounted to £144,886,125 as compared with £145,869,990 on the previous Wednesday.

There was again very little gold available in the open market this week, and withdrawals were made from the Bank of England to meet requirements.

The following movements of gold to and from the Bank of England have been announced since our last letter:

	Nov. 26.	Nov. 27.	Nov. 28.	Nov. 30.	Dec. 1.	Dec. 2.
Received	----	----	----	----	----	----
Withdrawn	£106,000	£27,000	----	£39,000	£179,000	£709,000

The destinations of the £89,000 sovereigns withdrawn were announced as follows: £22,000 to Singapore, £23,000 to Straits Settlements, £19,000 to Holland, £15,000 to India and £10,000 to the Argentine. During the week under review £1,060,000 has been withdrawn from the Bank, increasing the net efflux since the resumption of an effective gold standard to £10,311,000.

The Southern Rhodesian gold output for October last amounted to 48,896 ounces, as compared with 48,319 ounces for September 1925 and 52,364 ounces for October 1924.

The United Kingdom imports and exports of gold during the week ending 25th ult. were:

Imports—		Exports—
Poland (incl. Dantzig)	£130,000	Netherlands	£1,034,435
British West Africa	35,323	Belgium	37,066
British South Africa	41,744	United States of America	300,767
		Straits Settlements	164,321
		Other countries	78,212
Total	£207,067	Total	£1,614,801

With regard to the Indian gold standard reserve the Indian Currency Report for 1924-25 states as follows: "There was no addition to the reserve during the year from profits on silver coinage. The interest that accrued during the year on £40 millions held in the reserve, which amounted to £1,347,072, was appropriated to revenue. The increase over the preceding year of about £150,000 in the interest realized is due to the fact that about £13⅓ millions out of the holding of £23⅓ millions of British Treasury bills were replaced by British Government bonds and stock yielding a higher rate of interest. . . . Of the amount now standing at the credit of the reserve, £27,449,951 represents profits on coinage and the remainder represents accumulated interest on securities held in the reserve."

SILVER.

The market has remained rather inactive during the week and this condition has been reflected by the narrow movements in the quotations. Silver has been offered on China account and in the absence of support prices sagged gradually until the 28th ult. Buyers were more in evidence on the next working day, Nov. 30, and quotations were fixed ¼d. higher at 32⅛d. and 32 for cash and forward deliveries, respectively. The demand did not continue, however, and prices again lapsed, being quoted to-day at 32 and 31⅞d. Very little demand has been made by the Indian bazaars but America has contributed some sales to this market.

United Kingdom imports and exports of silver during the week ending the 25th ult. were as follows:

Imports—		Exports—
Poland (including Dantzig)	£50,500	Germany	£13,295
United States of America	187,218	France	15,874
Mexico	133,154	Austria	10,470
Peru	20,500	Egypt	19,380
British West Africa	29,502	Tanganyika Territory	18,000
Other countries	10,198	Other countries	8,370
Total	£431,072	Total	£85,389

We have also received this week the circular written under date of Dec. 9 1925:

GOLD.

The Bank of England gold reserve against notes on the 2d inst. amounted to £143,868,640 as compared with £144,886,125 on the previous Wednesday. The official discount rate of the Bank of England was raised on the 3d inst to 5%, after having ruled at 4% since Oct. 1 last. This week the amount of gold offering in the open market was again small, and requirements had to be met by withdrawals from the Bank of England.

The following movements of gold to and from the bank have been announced since our last issue:

	Dec. 3.	Dec. 4.	Dec. 5.	Dec. 7.	Dec. 8.	Dec. 9.
Received	----	£500,000	----	----	----	----
Withdrawn	----	----	£10,000	£182,000	£426,000	£562,000

The receipt of £500,000 on the 4th inst. was announced as sovereigns released on account of the South African Reserve Bank. The destinations of the £87,000 sovereigns withdrawn were given as follows: £40,000 to Singapore, £25,000 to Holland, and £22,000 to Argentina. It is understood that the bulk of the bar gold withdrawals was destined for Holland on account of that country's colonies. During the week under review £680,000 on balance has been withdrawn from the bank, increasing the net efflux to £10,991,000 since the resumption of an effective gold standard.

The United Kingdom imports and exports of gold during the week ending the 2d inst. were:

Imports.		Exports.
Belgian Congo	£21,400	Netherlands	£186,268
British South Africa	70,650	France	29,321

		Straits Settlements	43,200
		Canada	200,000
		Other countries	15,555
Total	£92,650	Total	£691,600

The Imperial Bank of India raised its official rate of discount from 5 to 6% on the 3d inst.

SILVER.

Business in silver has remained rather restricted and very little movement has been recorded in the daily quotations. China and America are still the most active factors in the market. Both purchases and sales have been effected on behalf of the former, while any advance in prices has been met by offerings on account of the latter. The Indian Bazaars have shown but little interest and the tone of the market has been generally quiet.

United Kingdom imports and exports of silver during the week ending the 2d inst. were as follows:

THE WEEK ON THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

Under the leadership of the railroad issues, the stock market has continued to move forward during the present week and further sharp advances have been registered by many of the more active stocks of that group. Gains have also been recorded in the industrial group, including oil shares, copper stocks and specialties. The outstanding feature of the two-hour session on Saturday was the brisk forward movement in some of the specialties, particularly Postum Cereal, which surged forward nearly six points to a new peak at 108. Sharp advances were also reported by American Can, Woolworth, General Electric, Hudson Motors and Allis Chalmers Mfg. Co. Postum Cereal was again the feature of the market on Monday and continued its upward swing to a new top at 115, though it receded to 111¾ in the final hour. New highs were established by Fleischmann, old and new, Standard Milling, and Pacific Land Trust, and substantial advances were recorded by International Business Machine and Kelsey Wheel. In the final hour prices declined and losses of from one to nine points were recorded at the close. The weak stocks included Chrysler Motors, U. S. Rubber and General Electric. Under the leadership of the motor stocks the market rallied sharply on Tuesday and gains of from one to three points were numerous, particularly in the specialties group. Chrysler Motor was conspicuous in the motor group and recorded a net gain of 10½ points, followed by Hudson Motors, with an advance of 8⅞ points. American Can scored a gain of 5½ points and Pressed Steel Car was in active demand at improving prices. The conspicuously strong stocks included Woolworth, Ward Baking A, United States Rubber,

American Steel Foundry, du Pont, Mack Truck, International Harvester, and General Motors. The market continued to move upward on Wednesday, American Can shooting forward 16 points or more to a new high at 282¼. The spectacular rise in this issue stimulated trading in many other prominent stocks, notably Atlantic Coast Line, which climbed 11⅜ points to a new high at 266½, followed by brisk advances in Louisville & Nashville, Rock Island, Atchison, Ches. & Ohio, and Erie 1st pref., New York Central, and Illinois Central. Oil shares displayed considerable strength, particularly Pan American B, and Barnsdall A and B stocks. Motor stocks improved in the early trading, Chrysler moving forward to 201¾ at its high for the day and Mack Truck advancing more than a point to 222¾, though it receded to 219¼ in the late trading. United States Steel common made a net gain of 1½ points. The trend of the market was again upward on Thursday and many new tops were established in the high priced industrial, rail and steel shares. American Can was the outstanding feature of the day and moved briskly forward 7⅜ points to 289⅞. New high records were made by American Smelting, Pacific Oil, Ingersoll-Rand and Sears-Roebuck. United States Steel common was in strong demand and closed fractionally higher. Atlantic Coast Line and Atchison were the leaders in the railroad stocks, the latter reaching its highest price of the year. The strong stocks of the day included International Tel. & Tel., General Electric Continental Can,, du Pont, Marland Oil, Postum Cereal, and Standard Oil of California.

NOTE.—Beginning with the statement of Oct. 7 two new items were added in order to show separately the amount of balances held abroad and amounts due to foreign correspondents. In addition, the caption, "All other earning assets," now made up of Federal intermediate credit bank debentures, has been changed to "Other securities," and the caption, "Total earning assets" to "Total bills and securities." The latter term has been adopted as a more accurate description of the total of the discounts, acceptances and securities acquired under the provisions of Sections 13 and 14 of the Federal Reserve Act, which are the only items included therein

Weekly Return of the Federal Reserve Board.

The following is the return issued by the Federal Reserve Board Thursday afternoon, Dec. 24, and showing the condition of the twelve Reserve Banks at the close of business on Wednesday. In the first table we present the results for the system as a whole in comparison with the figures for the seven preceding weeks and with those of the corresponding week last year. The second table shows the resources and liabilities separately for each of the twelve banks. The Federal Reserve Agents' Accounts (third table following) gives details regarding transactions in Federal Reserve notes between the Comptroller and Reserve Agents and between the latter and Federal Reserve banks. The Reserve Board's comment upon the returns for the latest week appears on page 3068, being the first item in our department of "Current Events and Discussions."

NOTE.—Beginning with the statement of Oct. 7 two new items were added in order to show separately the amount of balances held abroad and amounts due to foreign correspondents. In addition, the caption, "All other earning assets," now made up of Federal Intermediate Credit Bank debentures, has been changed to "Other securities," and the caption, "Total earning assets" to "Total bills and securities." The latter term has been adopted as a more accurate description of the total of the discounts, acceptances and securities acquired under the provisions of Sections 13 and 14 of the Federal Reserve Act, which are the only items included therein.

Weekly Return for the Member Banks of the Federal Reserve System.

Following is the weekly statement issued by the Federal Reserve Board, giving the principal items of the resources; the liabilities of the 721 member banks from which weekly returns are obtained. These figures are always a week behind those for the Reserve banks themselves. Definitions of the different items in the statement were given in the statement of Dec. 12 1917, published in the "Chronicle" of Dec. 29 1917, page 2523. The comment of the Reserve Board upon the figures for the latest week appears in our Department of "Current Events and Discussions," on page 3068.

Foreign Exchange.—Sterling exchange was inactive but steady with prices at close to last week's levels. The Continental exchanges were likewise dull, with trading of a pre-holiday character. Price changes, except for francs which remain weak, were not especially important.

To-day's (Thursday's) actual rates for sterling exchange were 4 81⅛@4 81⅜ for sixty days, 4 84⅛@4 84⅜ for cheques and 4 85@4 85 for cables. Commercial on banks sight, 4 84⅛@4 84⅜ sixty days, 4 80⅛@4 80⅜ ninety days, 4 80⅛@4 80⅜ and documents for payment (60 days) 4 81⅛@4 81⅜; cotton for payment, 4 84⅛@4 84⅜, and grain for payment 4 84⅛@4 84⅜.

To-day's (Thursday's) actual rates for Paris bankers' francs were 3.60¼@3.62½ for long and 3.64¾@3.67 for short. German bankers' marks are not yet quoted for long and short bills. Amsterdam bankers' guilders were 39.73 for long and 40.09 for short.

Exchange at Paris on London, 131.85 francs; week's range, 129.72 francs high, and 132.30 low.

Sterling, Actual—	Sixty Days.	Checks.	Cables.

* "Accruals under contract No. 3 and related certificates."

a From the commencement of operations under Contract No. 3 and the related certificates, respectively, it has been the practice to include in all reports of operating expenses 14% of the gross operating revenue upon the Manhattan Division and 17% on the Subway Division to cover maintenance and depreciation. These are the percentages fixed for the first year of operation in each case. Negotiations have been pending between the company and the Commission ever since the end of the first year to determine what, if any, changes in these percentages sould be made for subsequent years. Prior to July 1 1923 the amount expended in excess of 14% upon the Manhattan Division was approximately offset by the amount under 17% expended upon the Subway Division. But during the current year there have been expenditures upon both divisions considerably in excess of the tentative precentages provided for the first year. The net expenditures for maintenance in excess of the amounts therefor included in "operating expenses" are shown hereinabove as "maintenance expenditures in excess of contractual provisions."

b Under the plan of readjustment, payment of the sinking fund is deferred until July 1 1926 on condition that, prior to that date, an amount equal to the deferred sinking fund be expended on additions or improvements to the property.

c Reserve to cover amount of additional rental which may become payable to owners of Manhattan Ry. Co.'s stock not assenting to the plan of readjustment for the period from July 1 1924 to June 30 1925 $65,310

Dividend rental on $60,000,000 Manhattan Ry. Co.'s stock under the plan of readjustment 3,000,000

Total $3,065,310

The Cudahy Packing Company.

(Financial Statement—Fiscal Year Ending Oct. 31 1925.)

President E. A. Cudahy says in substance:

Strong Financial Position.—The most satisfactory and noteworthy fact revealed by our balance sheet of 1925 is the strong financial position of the company. The addition to surplus of over $3,000,000 from the profits of the years 1924 and 1925 and the increase of capital stock by $4,000,000 during the current year have enabled us to reduce our floating indebtedness to a lower point than at any time since the beginning of the war and to provide the company with an available working capital greater than at any period in its history.

Profits.—Notwithstanding that the year 1925 was one of great industrial activity and general prosperity and that our sales increased from $203,750,000 for the year 1924 to $224,490,000 for the year 1925 the profits of the company, due to conditions particularly affecting the packing industry, were somewhat below those of the previous year.

Increased Dividend on Common.—The short corn crop of 1924 and the resulting scarcity and high price of live stock feed had a discouraging effect on the producer and led, particularly during the first half of the year, to the various live stock markets being flooded with record breaking runs. Much of the stock was immature and of inferior quality. Prices were high and packing house cellars, by the middle of the summer, were filled with high priced meats, which, later in the year, were disposed of at a very small margin of profit. Despite these adverse conditions, however, our earnings were sufficiently satisfactory to justify us, after the first quarter of the year, in increasing the dividend rate on our common stock from 4% to 7% per annum, and at the close of the year to enable us to add over $925,000 to surplus.

I am satisfied that these results have been effected by a close adherence to a policy of improvement and development consistently carried on within our organization, to the high grade of products we are producing, and to the numerous manufacturing and distributing improvements and economies we have instituted during the past few years.

Acquisition.—In July last we purchased the plant of the Farmers' Terminal Packing Co., located at Newport, Minn., just across the river from South St. Paul (V. 121, p. 591). This plant was, at comparatively small expense, soon placed in working condition and is now operating with a capacity of 6,000 hogs, 2,000 calves and 1,000 cattle per week. This gives us access to the St. Paul market, one of the largest in the country, and will be of material advantage to us, not only as an additional source of supply, but as a source readily and economically available to a number of our large distributing Northern Branches which hitherto have been dependent on our more distant plants.

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS

STEAM RAILROADS.

Car Surplus.—Class I railroads on Dec. 7 had 159,897 surplus freight cars in good repair and immediately available for service, according to reports filed by the carriers with the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association. This was an increase of 23,101 cars over the number reported on Nov. 30. Surplus coal cars in good repair on Dec. 7 totaled 54,277, an increase of 10,619, cars within approximately a week, while surplus box cars in good repair totaled 69,292, an increase of 10,829 during the same period. Reports also showed 19,805 surplus stock cars, an increase of 209 over the number reported on Nov. 30, while surplus refrigerator cars totaled 8,126, an increase of 317 compared with the previous period.

Car Shortage.—Practically no car shortage is being reported.

Repair of Freight Cars.—Freight cars in need of repair on Dec. 1 totaled 165,818 or 7.2% of the number on line, according to reports filed by the carriers with the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association. This was a decrease of 886 cars under the number reported on Nov. 15, at which time there were 166,704, or 7.2%. Freight cars in need of heavy repair on Dec. 1 totaled 124,178, or 5.4%, a decrease of 1,574 cars compared with Nov. 15. Freight cars in need of light repair totaled 41,640, or 1.8%, an increase of 688 compared with Nov. 15.

Matters Covered in "Chronicle" Dec. 19.—(a) October railroad freight traffic the largest on record, p. 2960.

Akron, Canton & Youngstown Ry.—Expansion.—

The company has completed a survey of its expansion requirements for the next 5 years in order to take care of the increasing demands of the Akron district. This program calls for the expenditure of upwards of $3,000,000 during this period, of which about $1,500,000 will be spent during 1926 and 1927. It is announced that the larger part of these additions and betterments will be provided for out of surplus earnings, and only a small amount of additional capital financing will be involved.

For the first 11 months in the current year, the Company and its leased subsidiary, the Northern Ohio, reports operating revenues of $2,923,000 as compared with $2,580,000 for the same period of 1924.—V. 121, p. 1903.

Atlantic Coast Line RR.—Construction of Extension.—

The I.-S. C. Commission on Dec. 14 issued a certificate authorizing the company to construct and operate an extension of its line of railroad from a point at or near Perry in a northwesterly direction to a point at or near Monticello, a distance of approximately 41 miles, all in Taylor, Madison, and Jefferson Counties, Fla.

It is represented that the chief purpose of the proposed line is to form a connecting link between two of company's existing lines, thus furnishing an additional alternative through route to and from southern Florida, the tonnage to and from which is increasing to such an extent as to require additional railroad facilities. The proposed line will connect the northern terminus of Perry branch and the southern terminus of its Thomasville (Ga.) Monticello branch.—V. 121, p. 2633, 2516.

Chesapeake & Ohio Ry.—Equipment Trust, Series W.—

The I.-S. C. Commission on Dec. 12 authorized the company to assume obligation and liability in respect of $4,920,000 4½% Equipment Trus certificates, series "W", to be issued by Guaranty Trust Co., New York an agreement to be dated Oct. 1 1925, and to be sold at not less than 96.89 and divs. in connection with the procurement of certain equipment. No arrangement has been made for the sale of the certificates.

Acquisition and Operation of Branch Lines.—
The I.-S. C. Commission on Dec. 12 issued a certificate authorizing the company to acquire, and operate in inter-state commerce a branch line of railroad known as the Stephens Branch, extending from a point at or near Dinwood, Floyd County, a distance of 1.75 miles, and a branch line of railroad known as the Jones Fork Branch, extending from a point at or near Lackey, Floyd County, to the end of the line in Knott County, all in the State of Kentucky, a distance of 1.76 miles.—V. 121, p. 2151, 1903.

Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry.—Defense Committee Not Negotiating With Reorganization Managers for Settlement.—
Edwin C. Jameson, Chairman of the Bondholders Defense Committee representing dissenting bondholders, has denied that there is any basis for the report that negotiations with the Reorganization Managers were proceeding satisfactorily, or that there was any prospect for an early settlement of the differences between the Committee and the Reorganization Managers.
Mr. Jameson said that his Committee attached great importance to the hearings now pending before the I.-S. C. Commission, and instructed its counsel to take active steps to see that all the facts bearing on the receivership and proposed reorganization of the road were fully brought out.
Mr. Jameson emphasized the fact that no discussions or negotiations with the Reorganization Managers were now in progress, and that no offer of compromise had been received, and that the Bondholders Defense Committee was actively pressing its financial and legal objections to the Kuhn-Loeb-National City Co. plan, and would continue to do so, both in court and before the I.-S. C. Commission.—V. 121, p. 3000, 2870.

See Pennsylvania Ohio & Detroit Ry. below.—V. 121, p. 1345.

Hampton & Branchville RR.—Securities.—
The I.-S. C. Commission on Dec. 9 has authorized the company to issue (1) $100,000 of Common stock, (par $100) and (2) not exceeding $100 000 of gen. mtge. 6% 20-year serial gold bonds. The company contemplates selling the proposed stock and bonds at par for cash to W. F. Lightsey and H. W. Lightsey, who own all of its outstanding Capital stock. The bonds will be dated Oct. 1 1925, will be secured by a general mortgage dated Sept. 9 1925, to the American Bank & Trust Co., of South Carolina, trustee, and will be in the denom. of $5,000, one bond maturing each year beginning Oct. 1 1926. Interest will be paid semi-annually in April and Oct. of each year at the rate of 6% per annum.

Illinois Central RR.—Equipment Trust.—
The I.-S. C. Commission on Dec. 12 authorized the company to assume obligation and liability in respect of $9,240,000 4½% Equipment Trust certificates, series "L," to be issued by the Bank of North America & Trust Co. under an agreement dated Oct. 1 1925, and sold to Kuhn Loeb & Co. at not less than 97 and divs., in connection with the procurement of certain equipment. See offering in V. 121, p. 2748.

International Rys. of Central America.—Listing.—
The New York Stock Exchange has authorized the listing of $7,025,000 additional (authorized £6,000,000 or the equivalent thereof in U. S. gold and other currencies) 1st Mtge. 60-Year 5% Gold bonds, Series "B," dated May 1 1912, due May 1 1972.
On Nov. 16 1925, the directors authorized the issuance of the 61,250 shares of Class A stock for general corporate purposes, including the acquisition of new properties. Corporation intends to issue the 61,250 additional Class A shares, from time to time and as occasion demands, for the purpose of acquiring additional stock of Interstate Power Co., and for the purpose of acquiring other subsidiaries.

Company.—Known as the "Nickel Plate." Operates 1,695 miles of road, of which 1,673 miles are owned, extending from Buffalo to connections with the principal western and southwestern roads at Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis, and also reaching Indianapolis, Toledo and other important cities in the Middle West.
Company owns a substantial interest in the Common stocks of the Chesapeake & Ohio Ry., whose owned and affiliated lines (including the Hocking Valley) comprise 2,900 miles of road, and of the Pere Marquette Ry., comprising 2,288 miles. Mutually advantageous traffic arrangements with these companies have been effected. Company also owns half the capital stock of the Detroit & Toledo Shore Line RR., connecting Toledo with Detroit.
Purpose.—These Series Bbonds were issued in connection with the refunding of $9,575,000 Toledo, St. Louis & Western Prior Lien bonds which matured and were paid July 1 1925.
Security.—Secured by direct mortgage lien on all the existing fixed railroad property and railroad equipment of the company, including the 1,673 miles of road owned, subject to $59,234,000 underlying bonds (including $690,000 in treasury and $1,389,000 pledged under a note to the Government) and to outstanding equipment obligations. The underlying bonds, issued under mortgages now closed, amount to about $35,400 a mile and the total mortgage indebtedness, including this issue, is approximately $56,700 a mile.
In addition to their direct mortgage lien, the Ref. Mtge. bonds are secured by pledge of $10,000,000 (total $16,500,000) Toledo, St. Louis & Western 1st Mtge. bonds (the remaining $6,500,000 being included in the amount of underlying bonds stated above) which are secured by a first mortgage lien on the important line between Toledo and East St. Louis. The Ref. Mtge. bonds are also secured by a first mortgage on approximately 651 acres of land to be used for terminal development and other purposes. This land, situated for the most part in Chicago and Cleveland, cost more than $6,400,000.
Listing.—Series A bonds are listed on the New York Stock Exchange and application will be made to list these Series B bonds.

New York New Haven & Hartford RR.—Bus Decision.—
The Connecticut P. U. Commission on Dec. 18 granted the New England Transportation Co., a subsidiary, the right of operate 228 miles of bus line in Connecticut, including routes from New Haven to Northampton, Mass., from Hartford to the Massachusetts line and from Hartford to the Rhode Island line. The Commission refused the right to operate 238 miles of lines asked for on the ground that they were already served by certified bus companies. The New England Transportation Co. plans to operate buses throughout Massachusetts and Rhode Island and part of New York as well as Connecticut.—V. 121, p. 2635.

New York Ontario & Western Ry.—No Div. Action.—
The directors on Dec. 23 took no action on a dividend on the outstanding $58,113,983 Common stock, par $100. A year ago, a dividend of 1% was declared on this issue, $29,160,000 of which is owned by the New York, New Haven & Hartford RR.—V. 120, p. 581.

Pennsylvania Ohio & Detroit RR.—Acquisition of Lines and Stock Issue Approved by Commission.—
The I.-S. C. Commission on Dec. 10 issued a certificate authorizing the company to acquire and operate the line of railroad of the Manufacturers Ry. and to acquire the lines of railroad of four other constituent companies.
Authority was also granted to the company to issue $28,410,000 capital stock (par $100) in exchange for all the outstanding capital stock of its five constituent companies.
The Commission also approved the acquisition by the Pennsylvania RR. of control of the Pennsylvania Ohio & Detroit RR. by accepting the latter's capital stock in exchange for stock of the constituent companies.

The report of the Commission says in substance:
The Pennsylvania Ohio & Detroit RR. and the Pennsylvania RR. filed a joint application in which (1) the consolidated company seeks authority (a) to issue and deliver 284,100 shares of its Common capital stock, par $100 each, in exchange, share for share, for the issued and outstanding capital stock of the Cincinnati Lebanon & Northern Ry., the Cleveland Akron & Cincinnati Ry., the Toledo Columbus & Ohio River RR., the Manufacturers Ry. (of Toledo) and the Pennsylvania-Detroit RR., and (b) to issue and sell from time to time at not less than par, 31,000 shares of Common capital stock (par $100) the proceeds from any such sales to be used for the capital purposes of the consolidated company; (2) the consolidated company and the Pennsylvania request a certificate that the present and future public convenience and necessity require the acquisition and operation by the applicants, or either of them, of the several properties of the constituent companies and (3) the Pennsylvania requests authority to exchange the capital stock of the constituent companies which it now holds for the capital stock of the consolidated company.
The consolidated company was created and exists under the laws of the States of Ohio and Michigan for the purpose, among others, of merging, uniting, and consolidating the capital stock, properties and franchises of the constituent companies into one corporation. The agreement of consolidation is dated June 7 1924 and became effective as of July 1 1924.
By the agreement of consolidation it is provided that the amount of the consolidated company's capital stock shall be $31,510,000 (the aggregate amount of the authorized capital stock of the constituent companies) (par $100); that 284,100 shares of the stock shall be issued and delivered to the holders of the stock of the constituent companies in exchange, share for share, for their stock; and that the remainder of the authorized capital stock (31,000 shares) shall be issued from time to time for improvement of the consolidated company's property, the purchase and construction of additional railways and for other lawful purposes. The several amounts of the issued capital stock of the constituent companies are as follows: the Lebanon $2,100,000, the Akron $9,300,000, the Toledo $12,000,000, the Manufacturers company $10,000, and the Detroit $5,000,000. All the outstanding capital stock of the Lebanon, the Akron, the Toledo and the Detroit, except an aggregate of 30 shares held by directors to qualify them as such, are owned by the Pennsylvania. All the outstanding capital stock of the Manufacturers company is owned by the Toledo.
The railroads of the constituent companies, except the Manufacturers company, have heretofore been and are now being operated by the Pennsylvania as lessee, acquisition of control of the Akron, the Lebanon and the Toledo by lease for a period of 999 years from Jan. 1 1921 having been approved and authorized by the Commission's order dated Oct. 5 1921.
The Manufacturers company operates its own railroad. It is represented that the Pennsylvania will continue to operate under lease the railroads of the several constituent companies when the consolidation is fully effected by the full performance of the terms and conditions of the agreement of consolidation.
While authority is sought for the consolidated company and the Pennsylvania, or either of them, to acquire and operate the railroads of the constituent companies and a certificate of public convenience and necessity conferring such authority is requested, the Pennsylvania does not propose to acquire the physical properties of the constituent companies, and, so far as appears, no change is to be made in the operation of any of the properties, except those of the Manufacturers company. The Pennsylvania proposes to lease the properties of the consolidated companies and represents that it will request the Commission's approval and authorization of such lease. The consolidated company proposes to operate the properties of the Manufacturers company until all the properties of the constituent companies are leased to the Pennsylvania, but is to operate the properties of the Lebanon, the Akron, the Toledo, and the Detroit only in the event of certain contingencies that appear to be very remote. As the Pennsylvania is now operating the properties of the four companies last mentioned, it does not need a certificate of public convenience and necessity to continue their operation, even though it should take a new lease covering all the properties. There is nothing of record to show that the public convenience and necessity require or will require the operation of these properties by the consolidated company rather than by the Pennsylvania.

The facts of record show that the proposed acquisition by the consolidated company of the physical properties of the constituent companies would result in numerous economies, would facilitiate the financing of the several properties, and is desirable for many other reasons. It is in line with the established policy of the Pennsylvania, which through the process of consolidation, merger, acquisition, &c., has gradually reduced the number of separate corporations embraced in its system from about 600 to 69 performing transportation service. The evidence shows that this simplification of the Pennsylvania's corporate structure is in the public interest. If the consolidated company acquires the properties of the constituent companies, as proposed, it will be necessary for it to operate the properties of the Manufacturers company until operation thereof is taken over by the Pennsylvania.

The agreement of consolidation provides that the consolidated company shall assume and be responsible for the payment of the bonded indebtedness, and all other lawful indebtedness, liens, charges and claims against the several constituent companies.—V. 119, p. 694.

American Water Works & Electric Co., Inc.—Net Power Output for November, 1925—Listing.—

President H. Hobart Porter on Dec. 21 announced: "The net power output of the company's subsidiaries, for Nov., 1925, totalled 117,736,342 k.w.h., comparing with 102,859,301 k.w.h. for the corresponding month of 1924, a gain of 14,877,041 k.w.h., or more than 14%. For the first 11 months of 1925, the net power output was 1,191,188,488 k.w.h. against 1,086,839,340 k.w.h. for the same period of 1924, a gain of 104,349,148 k.w.h."

The New York Stock Exchange has authorized the listing of $992,580 additional Common stock (par $20) on official notice of issuance making the total amount applied for $12,542,580.

The company promulgated a plan of consolidation of its electric subsidiaries (V. 121, p. 1458) which was declared operative on Dec. 9 1925 (V. 121, p. 2873). As provided in the plan, ½ share of American Water Works & Electric Co., Inc., Common stock is to be issued to the holders of the Common stock of West Penn Co. for each share of stock which they exchange, share for share, for the Class A stock of West Penn Electric Co. The American Water Works & Electric Co., is to receive 6 shares of Common stock of West Penn Electric Co. for each share of its own Common stock issued as aforesaid. In accordance with the plan the company has exchanged its 46,685 shares of 7% Cumulative Preferred stock of West Penn Co. (par $100) for an equal aggregate number of shares of the 7% Cumulative Pref. stock of West Penn Electric Co. (par $100). It has also exchanged, share for share, its 165,742 shares of the Common stock of West Penn Co. (no par value) for Class B stock of West Penn Electric Co. It has also exchanged all of the issued and outstanding Common stock of Potomac Edison Co. (75,000 shares, no par value), all of the issued and outstanding Common stock of Keystone Power & Light Co. (25,000 shares, no par value), all of the stock of which companies was owned by it, and in addition has paid $2,000,000 in cash, for 600,000 shares of Common stock (no par value) of West Penn Electric Co.

26,629 shares of Common stock of the company (to be issued to the holders of the Common stock of West Penn Co. who exchange their holdings for Class A stock of West Penn Electric Co. pursuant to the plan as aforesaid), was authorized by the directors Dec. 14 1925. 20,000 shares of Common stock was authorized by the directors at a meeting held on Sept. 2, 1925, to be issued for cash and the proceeds to be added to the working capital of the company.—V. 121, p. 2873, 2519.

Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corp.—Inaugurates Dividends on Common Stock at the Rate of $4 Per Annum—Declares Additional Dividend of $2 Per Share on Common and Two Dividends of $1.50 Per Share on Preferred Stock.—The directors on Dec. 21 declared a dividend of $2 per share on the Common stock for the period from its organization to Sept. 30 1925, and also a dividend on such stock of $1 per share for the quarterly period from Oct. 1 1925 to Dec. 31 1925, both payable Jan. 20 to holders of record on Jan. 5.

The directors also declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share on the Preferred stock for the quarter ending Dec. 31 1925, payable Jan. 15 to holders of record on Jan. 2. In accordance with a provision of the certificate of incorporation requiring that full dividends on the Preferred stock for any fiscal year shall have been declared for payment in such year before any dividends are declared on the Common stock, the directors also declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share on the Preferred stock for the quarter ending March 31 1926, payable April 15 to holders of record on April 1. Gerhard M. Dahl, Chairman of the board, Dec. 21, says:

Since the organization of this company in June 1923 it has discharged its duty to the public by giving the best service possible by maintaining its property in a high state of efficiency, and by making as large capital expenditures for additions and improvements as were possible under the existing conditions of our contract with the City of New York. The total expenditures for additions and improvements aggregate $8,500,000. To-day the directors authorized an additional expenditure of from $4,500,000 to $5,000,000 for the purchase of new cars. The company stands ready to make the necessary additional capital expenditures as soon as the obligations of the City of New York are performed under its contract with us so as to enable those expenditures to result in improved service. Besides the duty to the public, the company owes a duty to those who have invested in its securities, among whom are the Common stockholders who have received no return in their investment for a number of years.

The present company is the result of a drastic reorganization of these properties and every share of its Common stock represents an actual investment in cash or its equivalent of over $100. The present value of the properties, after deducting all indebtedness and the Preferred stock, represents considerably more than $100 per share in value for the Common. At the time of the reorganization a number of shares of the present Common stock was issued in exchange for bonds of the B. R. T. A number of years ago the B. R. T. sold $44,839,000 of 4% bonds, the proceeds of which were devoted to giving transit facilities to the public. These bonds were convertible par for par into Common stock, and, by 1924, $29,619,000 of these 4% bonds had been exchanged for an equivalent amount of Common stock. For only 4 years after the exchange did the former bondholders receive any return on their stock, and so for 7 years they have gone without any return whatsoever. This is only one illustration of the cash for which Common stock was issued. No attempt is made here to give a detailed statement of all the figures, but I am satisfied that the most thorough investigation would demonstrate the truth of the assertion that every share of Common stock represents more than $100 of actual investment. These investors are entitled to a return.

No public utility can live on a policy of financing its capital requirements exclusively through the sale of bonds. Such a policy produces a financial structure top-heavy with bonds, too many creditors, too few owners and ultimate financial distress. Financing capital requirements through the sale of stock is impossible unless the purchaser of stocks has a reasonable assurance of a return on his investment. While the return voted by the directors to-day is inadequate, it is nevertheless a step in the right direction in order that this company may continue to provide additional facilities so that the public may have the service it deserves and demands.

Only 8% of the Preferred and Common stockholders own more than 100 shares each and the average number of shares per stockholder is 96.

New Comptroller Asks Bids on 200 New Cars.—

Mr. James Addison has been elected Comptroller of the corporation and its affiliated companies to succeed the late Howard Abel, who died on Sept. 14 1925. Mr. Addison formerly was Comptroller of the National City Bank. A. P. Clausonthue will continue as Assistant Comptroller of the B. M. T. system. DeForest P. Rudd, who has been with the company for some years, has also been made an additional Assistant Comptroller.

The directors have authorized President W. S. Menden to obtain bids for the building of 200 new subway cars (67 Triplex units) for the B. M. T. rapid transit lines, in accordance with the statement made last week by Chairman Gerhard M. Dahl. The general plans and type of the Triplex car units were approved last week by the Transit Commission. These cars, which should be available within less than a year, will be utilized to lengthen present 6 car rush hour trains to 7 cars. After the bids are received the company will request the approval of the Transit Commission to the award of the contract and to the method of financing under which the cars will be paid for. It is estimated that they will cost between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Brooklyn Union Gas Co.—Plans New Plant.—

The company has acquired 115 acres fronting on Newtown Creek in Brooklyn, N. Y., and is making preliminary plans for the erection thereon of a large gas plant. The initial installation will have capacity for about 40,000,000 cu. ft. of manufactured gas daily, and the ultimate size of the plant will probably be 100,000,000 cu. ft. The first unit, it is stated, will take considerable time to complete, and, while costs have not yet been determined, it is expected that it will cost in excess of $10,000,000.—V. 121, p. 2873.

Pres. Philip G. Gossler says: Columbia power station, near Cincinnati, was dedicated to public service on Dec. 10 1925. On the three public inspection days following the dedication, more than 20,000 people visited the new station, evidencing the great popular interest in this newest plant. The new station is now in regular operation.

The fiscal year, which closes with the current month, will again be the largest in earnings in the history of the company. The financial statements for the complete year will reflect a very satisfactory condition of affairs, in the opinion of the management, and should afford great satisfaction to the holders of Columbia System securities.—V. 121, p. 2636, 2155.

Chicago Rapid Transit Co.—Bonds Offered.—National City Co. and Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc. are offering at 95 and int., to yield about 6.98% $2,000,000 1st & Ref. Mtge. Gold bonds 6½% Series due 1944. Dated July 1 1924; due July 1 1944.

Issuance.—Authorized by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Data from Letter of Samuel Insull, Chairman.

Company.—Owns and operates a unified and comprehensive system of elevated railroads in the second largest city in the United States. Company's lines constitute the only rapid transit system, elevated or subway, in Chicago. The system comprises approximately 168 miles of track owned directly, and 49 miles operated under lease or contract. All of the lines are double tracked and in some portions third and fourth main tracks are in service. From the Union Loop, which encircles the heart of the downtown business and shopping district, the various lines radiate to outlying portions of the City, or extend to adjoining suburbs. Including the suburbs of Oak Park, Berwyn, River Forest, Forest Park, Cicero, Niles Center, Evanston and Wilmette, the company's lines supply high speed transportation to a population of approximately 3,000,000.

Annual interest on division mortgage bonds, equipment obligations and 1st & Ref. Mtge. Bonds outstanding with public, including this issue, amounts to $2,389,910.

Security.—First & Ref. Mtge. Gold Bonds ($12,812,000 outstanding on completion of this financing) are secured by a first mortgage on the properties of the company acquired from the South Side Elevated RR., one of the principal predecessors. The value of these properties, based on an appraisal by the Illinois Public Utilities Commission, is more than $23,700,000. Bonds are secured also by a direct mortgage on all other property owned, subject to the liens of existing divisional (closed) mortgages and equipment obligations. As additional security for the Bonds $4,100,000, divisional mortgage bonds and equipment obligations are pledged with the trustee under the 1st & Ref. Mtge.

Appraisal.—The operating properties were appraised by the Illinois P. U. Commission as of June 30, 1919, at $86,250,000, which, with the appraised value of certain non-operating real estate, and the cost of additions and betterments made subsequently to the date of the appraisal, make a total valuation of approximately $93,000,000. The total mortgage indebtedness of the Company, consisting of the 1st & Ref. Mtge. Gold Bonds and division mortgage bonds and equipment obligations to be outstanding with the public upon completion of this financing, will amount to $46,757,000.

Purpose.—Proceeds will be used to complete payment for 100 new steel motor passenger cars and for additions and improvements to the property, including extension of station platforms, acquisition of real estate and changes in car equipment necessary for operation of longer trains.

Commonwealth Telephone Co.—Acquisition.—

The Inter-State Commerce Commission on Dec. 12 approved the acquisition by the company of the properties of the Merchants Telephone Co.

By a contract made June 25, 1925, the Commonwealth Company agrees to purchase all of the properties of the Merchants Company for $330,000, to be paid in securities of the Commonwealth Company at their par value, as follows: $250,000 of 1st mtge. bonds, $50,000 of pref. stock, and $30,000 of common stock. The Commonwealth Company has unissued in its treasury $183,000 of pref. stock and $42,000 of common stock. Its existing mortgage authorizes the issue of $1,000,000 of 1st mtge. bonds of which $350,000 are outstanding. The properties to be acquired comprise 10 exchanges, serving 2,290 subscriber stations, and approximately 168 pole miles of toll lines. In addition to the subscribers which it serves directly the Merchants Company performs a switching service for 154 subscribers of other companies. An appraisal made by an independent engineering corporation, as of Sept. 30 1925, finds the reproduction cost new of the properties, less depreciation, to be $430,000. The estimated value of property to be retired from service is $60,391, and the cost of unification is estimated at $30,000. In 1924 operating revenues and operating expenses of the Merchants Company were $39,807 and $69,986, respectively.—V. 121, p. 2037.

Illinois Power & Light Corp.—Acquisitions.—
The company in November last applied to the Illinois Commerce Commission for authority to acquire and operate the properties of the Cairo City Gas Co., the Cairo Electric & Traction Co., the Cairo & St. Louis RR., and the Cahokia Gas & Oil Co. This application was a mere formality, as these properties have been owned and controlled by the corporation for several years.

The corporation last month purchased the electric plant at Vandalia Ill., for $130,000 cash and $60,000 in street lighting concessions. The city will retain the buildings and grounds. It also acquired the municipal light plant of Marissa in St. Clair County, Ill., and is supplying the entire light and power demand of that community.

The corporation in Feb. last acquired the properties of the Granite City Gas Lt. & Fuel Co., which supplies gas to Granite City and Madison, Ill. The Granite company had a bonded indebtedness of $200,000 and $200,000 Capital stock.—V. 121, p. 1569, 1908.

Iroquois Gas Corp.—Rate Increased.—
The New York P. S. Commission has granted the corporation a 5 cent increase in rates, from 65 cents per 1,000 cu. ft. to 70 cents, effective Dec. 19.—V. 121, p. 199.

Lincoln (Neb.) Telephone & Telegraph Co.—Special Preferred Participating Stock Offered.—
The company is offering at par ($100 per share) an issue of $500,000 Special 5% Preferred Participating Stock (paying 6%).

Special Preferred Stock.—The stock offered is Special Cumulative 5% Preferred stock. A provision of this stock is as follows: "After the Special Preferred stock has received 5% dividends and the common stock has received 7% dividends for the current and all past dividend periods, any surplus available for dividends shall be divided between the common and Special Preferred stockholders without distinction as to which class of stock they own." It is now paying under this provision 6% and if the future earnings of the company warrant, it may be increased.

This stock is preferred as to dividends, and, with the exception of outstanding bonds, is a first claim on the net assets of the company. Dividends payable Q. F. Stock is free to the holder from State, county and municipal taxes in Nebraska, and from normal Federal income tax, as these taxes are paid by the company. Since the first issue of this stock, in Feb. 1912, it has paid without fail regular consecutive dividends. It participates in any surplus available for future increase in dividends.

Company.—Organized in 1909 in Nebraska. Is engaged in the local and long distance telephone business in 22 counties in southeastern Nebraska comprising that part of the State south of the Platte River, from the Missouri River on the east to the west line of Adams and Webster Counties. Owns and operates 120 central office exchanges serving Lincoln, Hastings, Beatrice, York, Nebraska City, Fairbury, David City, Auburn, Seward, Hebron, Wahoo and 109 other cities and towns. In addition to these exchanges, the company owns and operates the only toll system covering the entire area above mentioned, which area comprises 12,500 square miles. This toll system employs more than 21,000 miles of toll wire and reaches 81 connecting exchanges in addition to those owned by the company. Company gives exchange and toll service to 72,188 owned subscriber stations, and in addition furnishes 26,600 stations of connecting companies with long distance service through this toll system. By physical connections with the Bell Telephone System in Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas and similar connections with adjacent independent companies nation-wide service is offered.

Earnings.—Net earnings of the company for 1924 after deduction of tota operating expenses inclusive of taxes, depreciation and interest on bonds were $569,000. This amount is 2.93 times the amount required to pay 6% on the total preferred stock inclusive of the proposed $500,000 increase. The year of 1924 was typical of the operations of the company.

Purpose of Issue.—Proceeds will be used to meet expenditures necessary to the company's continued growth in extending and developing its facilities for service.

Manila Electric Corp.—Ask Proxies to Bar Plan.—
Abraham & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, who are seeking proxies to oppose the plan to exchange stock of the company for stock of a new holding company, in a letter to the stockholders state in substance:

Under date of Dec. 5 you were advised by Pres. J. H. Pardee, that the corporation was confronted with the problem of the settlement of additional income and excess profits taxes claimed by the Government of the United States, and the Philippine Government; and that, while final settlement had not been agreed upon, it was hoped such settlement would be for a sum considerably less than the aggregate amount claimed. You were also advised that the directors were of opinion, in view of the foregoing, that it was inadvisable to continue paying dividends on the Common stock at the rate of $2.50 per annum, which prevailed until recently, and that dividends at the rate of $2 per annum, should be restored.

Contemporaneously with these assertions and avowedly in order not "to impose any hardships upon shareholders," a proposition is made to minority shareholders of an exchange of their shares whose rights to dividends is unlimited for shares of a new corporation whose dividend rights would be limited to a maximum non-cumulative dividend of $2.50 per annum. As you are probably aware, the Associated Gas & Electric Co. controls the Manila Electric Corp. through ownership of about 78% of the outstanding shares, and it appears to us after an examination of the situation that the new proposal is but an attempt of a majority to seek to compel minority shareholders to surrender valuable rights for the benefit of the majority shareholders.

The bankers state that they are satisfied that the interest of the minority shareholders required concerted action on their part for their protection, and if they share in this view they suggest that the shareholders sign the proxy and return the same to Abraham & Co. at once.—V. 121, p. 2874, 3004.

Company.—Does, directly or indirectly, the entire commercial electric power and light business in an extensive territory in Eastern and Northern Minnesota serving 94 communities including Duluth, Chisholm, Eveleth, Ely, Cloquet, Brainerd and Little Falls. Also serves at wholesale Superior, Wis. The territory which the company thus serves comprises a population estimated at 323,000, and includes the Mesaba, Vermilion and Cuyuna Iron Ranges, where approximately 60% of the country's entire output of iron ore is mined, and the "Duluth District" which, with its great natural harbor, is one of the foremost maunfacturing and jobbing centers in the northwest.

Security.—Secured by a first direct mortgage on the entire physical property owned, including electric generating plants with a present installed capacity of 37,215 kw. of which 74% is hydro-electric, and an extensive system of transmission and distribution lines. It is expected that the present installed generating capacity owned will be increased in the near future to 49,215 kw.

Mortgage contains provisions for its modification in certain respects, with the assent of the holders of not less than 85% of the outstanding bonds. In the event of the acquisition of Great Northern Power Co.'s property, now operated under lease, the lien of these bonds with respect to the property so acquired will be subject to the prior lien of that company's 1st (closed) Mtge. bonds, $7,751,000 of which are now outstanding with the public.

Purpose.—Proceeds of these bonds will be used to reimburse the company in part for expenditures for additions to property and for other corporate purposes.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co.—Seeks Control of Sacramento (Calif.) Gas Co—To Issue Stock.—

The company has applied to the California RR. Commission for authority to purchase the Sacramento Gas Co. from E. H. Rollins & Sons. The Sacramento company owns and operates gas manufacturing and distributing systems in Sacramento and Lodi, Calif., and for the fiscal year ended June 30 1925 showed gross revenues of $277,791 and net of $75,125, an increase of $45,090 and $20,363, respectively, compared with the year ended June 30 1924. The Sacramento company has outstanding $429,100 Capital stock, par $50, of which E. H. Rollins & Sons will deliver 94% on a basis that will bring the cost of the entire issue to Pacific Gas & Electric Co. up to $450,000. There is also outstanding $562,000 of 6% bonds, making the total cost of the property $1,012,400. The book value of the properties as of June 30 1925 was $1,289,352. This purchase will eliminate the competitive gas situation in Sacramento, the only place in California where the Pacific company has had any competition in its gas business.

The Pacific Gas & Electric Co. has also applied to the California RR. Commission for authority to issue 50,000 additional shares of Common stock at $100 a share, the proceeds to go to the treasury in connection with the financing of the uncapitalized expenditures in the $26,875,925 construction budget. This company, in conjunction with the Mt. Shasta Power Corp., has received sanction from the Commission to change its Pit River construction plans to eliminate the proposed expensive tunnel work, thereby making the project less costly per unit of power developed.

The company has been authorized by the Commission to issue and sell before Dec. 31, $2,500,000 of 6% Preferred stock at not less than 95, the proceeds to pay in part cost of expansions for itself and Mt. Shasta Power Co.—V. 121, p. 3005, 2876.

Public Service Co. of No. Illinois.—Acquisition.—

The company has applied to the Illinois Commerce Commission for permission to purchase the properties of the Chicago Suburban Power & Light Co., which serves, West Chicago, Winfield, Valla Park, Westmore, Wayne and High Lake, Ill.—V. 121, p. 2039.

Public Service Investment.—Offer to Exchange Stock for Stock of General Public Service Corp.—

President Lawrence J. Webster in a letter to stockholders dated Dec. 18, says:

Company was incorp in Maine in 1909 for the purpose of acquiring and holding for investment stocks, bonds and other securities of other companies, principally of public utility companies. Company has shown a steady growth: in addition to the earnings paid out as dividends to its stockholders, the value of its assets has shown a substantial gain.

In the opinion of the directors, the business if the company may be advantageously extended by the introduction of additional capital and the development of new channels of investment and of a broader market for its securities. With this in view, a new company, General Public Service Corp. was organized in Delaware Dec. 17 1925. This new company has broader powers and will have larger resources than those possessed by the old company. A plan has been submitted under which the new company has agreed to acquire a majority or more of the outstanding capital stock, which shall include a majority of the outstanding common stock, of the old company, and under which a group of bankers, consisting of Stone & Webster, Inc., Estabrook & Co., Blodget & Co. and Tucker, Anthony & Co. have agreed to subscribe $2,500,000 for 250,000 shares of common stock of the new company.

Capitalization of General Public Service Corp.

The new company will, upon the consummation of such plan have the following capitalization:

	Shares Authorized.	Shares Issuable under the Plan.
Preferred stock, without par value, issuable in series, entitled to cumulative dividends, non-voting (except on certain dividend defaults and in respect of certain protective features)	75,000	a 25,000
Convertible Preferred stock, without par value, junior to Preferred stock, entitled to $7 per annum cumulative dividends, callable in whole but not in part at any time at $110 and divs., entitled to 5 votes per share, and convertible into 5 shares of Common stock	35,000	31,250
Common stock, without par value	1,000,000	b 400,000

a $6 Dividend Pref. stock, callable in whole or in part at $110 and divs.

b Of this, 250,000 shares sold to the above mentioned bankers at $10 per share represents new money which will be paid in by the bankers, 25% thereof upon the consummation of the plan and the balance in installments of not exceeding 25% thereof, which installments shall be callable by the new company for payment at intervals of not less than 90 days.

Exchange of Stock.—Under such plan the new company has agreed, subject to the conditions thereof, to acquire the preferred and common stock of the old company on the basis of the exchange of such stock of the old company for stock of the new company as follows:

(a) For each share of pref. stock of the old company, 1 share of $6 Dividend Pref. stock and 1 share of Common stock of the new co., and

(b) For each share of common stock of the old company, 1¼ shares of Conv. Pref. stock and 5 shares of Common stock of the new company.

For the benefit of the preferred stockholders of the old company who prefer to sell for cash their shares of preferred stock and common stock of the new co. received on such exchange, and for the benefit of the Common stockholders of the old company who prefer to sell for cash their shares of Conv. Pref. stock of the new company received on such exchange, arrangements have been made with the above bankers whereby the latter have agreed to pay

(a) For each unit consisting of 1 share of Pref. stock and 1 share of Common stock of the new company received on such exchange, $100, plus, if the date of payment therefor is extended beyond Feb. 1 1926, accrued divs. on such Pref. stock from said date; and (b) for each share of Convertible Pref. stock of the new company received on such exchange, $95, plus, if payment therefor is extended beyond Feb. 1 1926, accrued divs. from said date.

Directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1 50 per share on the Pref. stock of the old company, and a dividend of $1 75 per share on the common stock of the old company, both payable on Feb. 1 to holders of record Jan. 18. Depositing Pref. and Common stockholders will be respectively entitled to such dividends and the $6 Dividend Pref. stock and Convertible Pref. stock issued in exchange under the plan will carry divs. accruing from Feb. 1 1926. Delivery of the stock of the new company issuable in exchange to depositing stockholders under the plan and agreement and payment for stock of the new co. which depositing stockholders of the old company shall elect to sell shall be made on Feb. 1 1926, or on such date as may be determined under the plan.

Both Pref. and Common stockholders of the old company desiring to become parties to such plan should deposit their shares on or before Jan. 18 1926, with Stone & Webster, Inc., the depositary, 14 Oliver St., Boston, Mass., 120 Broadway, New York, N. Y., and First National Bank Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

If the new company acquires any of such deposited stock, it must acquire, on the same terms, all stock so deposited, but it is not obligated to acquire any deposited stock unless such stock so deposited constitutes by Jan. 18 1926, a majority of the outstanding capital stock, which shall include a majority of the outstanding common stock, of the old company.

If the stock deposited by the date provided in such plan constitutes a majority of the outstanding capital stock, which shall include a majority of the outstanding Common stock of the old company, thenew company, on or before Jan. 22, is obligated to acquire all of the stock so deposited on the basis of exchange (above).

The holders of a very substantial amount of the stock of the old company have already approved the plan, and, after careful consideration, the directors recommend its acceptance.

Advantages of the Plan.—The plan, if consummated on the above basis, will accomplish the followinjresults:

The Preferred stockholders of the old company will receive securities which should have a market value of at least the value of the present Pref. stock and in addition will participate in the Common stock equity. On the basis of the present value of the assets which it is planned that the the basis of the present value of the assets which it is planned that the new company shall acquire, and after giving effect to the new money, the initial asset value of the Preferred stock of the new company will be over $400 per share. Even if the entire 75,000 shares of Preferred stock authorized should be immediately issued (which it is not contemplated to do), this asset value would be about $200 per share.

The actual net income of the old company for the 12 months ending Nov. 30 1925 from dividends and interest was more than 2½ times the annual dividend requirements on the Pref. stock of the new company issuable under the plan; the balance remaining after deducting an amount sufficient for such requirements was substantially in excess of the annual dividend requirements on the Convertible Preferred stock issuable under the plan. In addition the new company should receive further income from the investment of $2,500,000 of new money to be raised under the plan by the sale of Common stock.

The present common stockholders will receive stock of the new company carrying quarterly cumulative dividends equal in amount to current quarterly dividends on their present common stock (and convertible at any time into Common stock of the new company) and, in addition, a large interest in the Common stock of the new company. The payment of such cumulative dividends on the Convertible Preferred stock will be further assured by the income from the investment of such $2,500,000 of new money.—V. 121, p. 2039.

Public Service Ry. (N. J.).—May Recast Capital Structure.

A plan for recasting the capital structure of the company is now receiving the attention of the Public Service Corp. of N. J., the holding company, and Drexel & Co., bankers of Philadelphia. This was revealed on Dec. 18 by Thomas N. McCarter, President of the Public Service Corp. in an address before the Bond Club of Philadelphia. It is probable that the plan will be made public early in 1926. Inability to meet its annual fixed charges by $1,000,000 over a period of years since the world war made consideration of capital readjustment necessary, Mr. McCarter said:

"It is too early to say what plan will be adopted for the railway," Mr. McCarter further said: "Fixed charges now absorb all earnings after operating expenses. There will have to be a recasting of securities, bringing about a reduction of fixed charges and enabling the railway to finance itself instead of having the holding company doing the job. It is possible that the readjustment will carry with it an issue of Preferred stock to be exchanged for securities now outstanding. In other words, it will be a reorganization without an assessment.

"Underlying companies of the railway organization are nothing but franchises, some of which are valuable, while others are liabilities. Only a few of these companies' securities are guaranteed by the parent organization, which is not financially responsible for them, they being obligations of the railway company itself."—V. 121, p. 2274.

Sacramento (Calif.) Gas Co.—New Control.—

Control of this company, which was acquired in November last by E. H. Rollins & Sons, investment brokers of San Francisco, is now being sought by the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. (See that company above.)—V. 119, p. 2763.

Seattle & Ranier Valley Ry.—Purchase by City.—

Final steps leading to the purchase of the company by the City of Seattle, Wash., for the sum of $1,200,000 was recently taken when the Seattle City Council passed an ordinance offering this sum. Nothing remains to be done until the company accepts the offer, which it is said, will be done within the 90-day limit set. Representatives of the bondholders have notified the City Council of their intention to accept the offer. To pay for the road, revenue bonds, a fourth lien against the railway department, will be issued at 5%, redeemable in 20 years.—V. 120, p. 1748.

Southern Utilities Co.—Bonds Called.—

All of the outstanding 1st Mtge. S. F. 6% 20-Year gold bonds, dated April 1 1913 have been called for redemption April 1 1926 at 105 and int., at the United States Mortgage & Trust Co., 55 Cedar St., N. Y. City.—V. 121, p. 980.

United Light & Power Co. (Md.).—Subscriptions to American States Securities Corp. Stock.—

A letter from Frank T. Hulswit to holders of warrants to subscribe for stocks of the new American States Securities Corp. gives the following as the authorized capitalization of the corporation as it will be constituted for the acquisition of substantial amounts of stock of other important public utility companies and securities in which the corporation is authorized to invest by its board of directors:

	Authorized.	Outstanding.
Class A Common (no par)	2,500,000 shs.	850,000 shs.
Class B Common (no par)	2,500,000 shs.	1,025,000 shs.

There will also be authorized warrants entitling holders or their assigns to subscribe to 1,000,000 additional shares of Class A Common stock on terms and conditions previously specified. Of this amount, warrants entitling holders to subscribe to 150,000 shares will be reserved in the treasury of the corporation to accompany at the discretion of the board of directors, share for share, 150,000 shares of Class A Common stock not to be presently subscribed for, but which can be sold at the discretion of the board of directors at $10 per share either with or without warrants. The proceeds received from the sale of 850,000 shares of Class A Common and 425,000 shares of Class B Common, now offered for subscription, are to be invested at the discretion of the directors in the classes of securities previously mentioned.

Class A Common stock will be entitled to a dividend of $1 per share per annum when declared in any year before dividends can be paid or set aside on the Class B Common stock. Thereafter the Class B Common shall be entitled to $1 per share, when declared, and after which both classes of Common stock will be entitled to participate equally in further dividends that may be declared. Class B Common, which is the sole voting stock, will be entitled to $1 per share per annum only after $1 per share has been paid or declared on the Class A Common. Thereafter it will share equally with the Class A Common in all dividends in excess of $1 per share in any one year.

All payments for stock are to be made at the office of American States Securities Corp., Michigan Trust Building, Grand Rapids, Mich., or at New York Trust Co., N. Y. City, or Illinois Merchants Trust Co., Chicago, on or before Jan. 7 1926. As soon as possible after the receipt of full payment, the Class A and Class B Common stock certificates and the warrants for subscription will be forwarded to the subscriber but none of these certificates or warrants for Class A Common stock will be delivered before Jan. 5 1926. See also V. 121, p. 3006, 2878.

The plan of consolidation of the electric subsidiaries of American Water Works & Electric Co., Inc., dated Sept. 10 1925, and declared operative on Dec. 9 1925, provides for the unification of the electric subsidiaries of American Water Works & Electric Co., Inc., into a single system. West Penn Electric Co., new company organized under the plan, controls the electric power and light business in an area of approximately 22,000 square miles extending from within 25 miles of the City of Baltimore, Maryland, across Maryland and Northern West Virignia to the Ohio River, and Northward in the important industrial sections of Western Pennsylvania with the exception of Pittsburgh and its immediate environs. West Penn Electric Co. controls steam electric generating stations with an aggregate installed capacity of about 500,000 h.p., about 2,100 miles of high-tension transmission lines, and its subsidiaries serve a population of approximately 1,100,000.

Company was organized in Maryland Dec. 11 1925 for the purpose of carrying out the plan of consolidation of the Electric subsidiaries of American Water Works & Electric Co., Inc., and pursuant to said plan has acquired and now owns stock in the following companies:

Baldwin Locomotive Works.—Bookings, &c.—

The "Philadelphia News Bureau" of Dec. 21 contains the following:

With $14,000,000 in new business booked since Nov. 1 and additional inquiries in the market, with unfilled orders at their highest point since Fall of 1923 and operations nearing 40%, the high mark of the year, the Baldwin Locomotive Works will enter 1926 with the best prospects of any year since record locomotive business of 1923. President Samuel M. Vauclain expects that operations will be increased about 5% per month beginning with Jan., reaching 60% in May, as present amount of business on the books will carry the plant at an expanding rate to the close of April, or 1-3 of next year. So far this month Baldwin has received orders for engine or parts from all over the world, the principal locomotive orders being 50 for the Seaboard Air Line Ry., 25 for the Baltimore & Ohio RR. and 15 for the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Ry.

In connection with reports that Baldwin has sold its real estate in Philadelphia for a union railroad station, President Vauclain said: "The Philadelphia real estate has not been sold. The plant is gradually being removed to Eddystone and this work has been going on for some time. Work of removing the frame shop will soon be completed and we have started moving the boiler shop. This is a big job and when it is finished the work will go on at a faster rate and removal of the balance of the plant will be completed within 5 years. At the present time about 65% of the Baldwin plant is located at Eddystone and 35% at Philadelphia. It will cost about $12,000,000 to move the balance of the plant."

Removal of various shops is being paid for out of a reserve which was first set up in 1923 annual report. Prior to that time cost was paid out of cash account.—V. 121, p. 2755.

Barnsdall Corp.—To Retire $2,500,000 Bonds.—

The corporation is issuing a call for the retirement on Jan. 29 of $2,500,000 of its remaining 8% Conv. 10-Year gold bonds, leaving outstanding a nominal amount of $893,000.

In 1921, the corporation and its subsidiaries had outstanding approximately $12,500,000 of bonded indebtedness.—V. 121, p. 2277.

Baush Machine Tool Co.—Suit.—

Federal Judge Morris, in an opinion handed down in the Federal court at Boston, dismissed the equity suit filed by Edward Hellier, New York against the company and several of its officials, involving $1,500,000 to $3,500,000. Hellier's bill charged that officers acting in concert and aided by other defendants by means of "ultra vires" acts and transactions, caused the company to purchase at an excessive price all assets of Huron Metals Co. of Chicago, thereby securing for themselves a large secret profit at a time when they stood in fiduciary relation to the Baush Co. —V. 118, p. 313.

Bear River Logging Co., Portland, Ore.—Bonds Offered.—Baker, Fentress & Co., Chicago, are offering at prices to yield from 5½ to 6½% according to maturity, $650,000 1st Mtge. 6% Serial Sinking Fund bonds.

Dated Oct. 1 1925; due annually April 1 1927-1933. Denom. $1,000, $500, $100. Int. payable A. & O. Callable at 100 and int., plus a premium of ¼% for each year or part of year the bonds called have to run before their fixed maturity, such permium in no event to be less than ½%. Bonds and coupons payable at the Continental & Commerical Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, or may be collected through any bank. Continental & Commercial Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, Ill., and Calvin Fentress, Chicago, trustees. Int. payable without deduction for normal Federal income tax not in excess of 2%.

Data from Letter of John Kiernan, President of the Company.

Company.—An Oregon corporation engaged in furnishings logs to the Portland and Columbia River Mills and owning valuable timber which is opened up and served by its own railroad. The entire capital stock of the company is owned 40% each by Daniel Kern and John Kiernan, and 10% each by J. H. Wood and H. H. Fisher; all of whom have had extensive experience in similar operations on the Pacific Coast during the past 20 years or more.

Company's timber lies in the heart of the greatest log market in the United States, namely the Portland District of the Columbia River, which produces more lumber than any other section of the United States, and in which is located a number of large mills which own no timber of their own, but obtain all of their logs from concerns such as this company. The timber s of especially fine quality, large size and heavy stand and is principally mature growth Yellow Fir.

Operations.—Based on results obtained since the company started operating, it will have available annually for payment of bond principal and interest over $200,000 which, after deducting maximum annual interest charges of $39,000 on outstanding bonds, would leave approximately $160,000 available annually for retirement of principal.

Payments for the Release of Mortgaged Timber.—Mortgage securing these bonds provides that within 60 days after cutting any mortgaged timber, the company must make payments to the trustees thereunder, equivalent to approximately 1½ times the amount loaned thereon. These sinking fund payments should operate to enhance steadily the already wide margin of security.

Corporation.—Organized in 1924 for the purpose of manufacturing Rayon under a modified and improved Viscose process. The company's product has found a ready sale since the start of production, its strength, elasticity, and dyeing qualities being satisfactory to the trade. It is estimated production will be at an annual rate exceeding 1,500,000 pounds before the end of the year 1926. Plant consists of brick, concrete and steel construction buildings of the most modern fire proof type, dwelling houses, power house, laboratory and warehouse located at Rocky Hill, Conn. Company owns in fee 300 acres bordering for three-quarters of a mile on the Connecticut River, with a storage and water shed assuring continuous supply of water needing no chemical treatment to adapt it for the strict requirements of the process. Sufficient space has been reserved to increase the plant capacity to about 15,000,000 pounds per year. The present plant and equipment represent an equity in excess of $350 per share of 8% Cum. 1st Pref. stock.

Net before Federal taxes but after depreciation	$490,000
Annual requirement 8% Cum. 1st Pref. (this issue)	48,000
Annual requirement participating Pref. dividends 8%	120,000
Balance before Federal taxes	$322,000

Purpose.—Proceeds will be used to provide additional working capital and for the installation of additional machinery needed to bring the company's production rate to above 1,500,000 pounds annually.

(W. E.) Boeing.—Notes Offered.—Dean Witter & Co., Seattle, recently offered at prices ranging from 99 and int. to 100 and int. according to maturity $1,500,000 6% Serial Secured gold notes.

Dated Nov. 1 1925; due serially Nov. 1 1927-1939 incl. Principal and int. (M. & N.) payable at Dexter Horton National Bank, Seattle, trustee. Denom. $1,000.* Callable all or part on any int. date upon 60 days' notice at a premium of ½ of 1% for each year or fraction thereof of unexpired life, such premium call price, however not to exceed 102½. Free of normal Federal income tax up to 2%.

Security.—These notes are the direct personal obligation of W. E. Boeing, who has no other current or secured indebtedness. They are secured by a mortgage on Mr. Boeing's interest in certain iron ore properties in the Mesabi Range, Minn., under lease to a totally owned subsidiary of the United States Steel Corp. Mr. Boeing's interest in this lease is assigned to the trustee and all payments thereunder are to be made to the trustee and used for the payment of interest and serial maturities on this issue. Any surplus arising from these payments is to be used to call notes in inverse order of serial maturity if not obtainable in the market at less than the call price.

This lease was made in 1905 and expires in 1950. It provides for quarterly payments at 25 cents per ton for ore removed from the property. Taxes and all carrying charges are paid by the lessee corporation.

The ore bodies securing this issue are assessed by the Minnesota Tax Commission for tax purposes at $37,829,476. On this basis Mr. Boeing's interest has an assessed value of more than $5,000,000. Under the laws of Minnesota, iron ore properties are assessed at 50% of real value. The Minnesota Tax Commission has made a careful checking of iron ore content and estimates that there was a remaining available ore supply of 116,278,000 long tons in the property under this mortgage as of Jan. 1 1925. Reports by competent engineers confirm this tonnage.

Based upon this estimate, at 25 cents per ton, Mr. Boeing's interest therein will produce a total net revenue in excess of $4,000,000.

Mr. Boeing's annual receipts from this lease during the past 10 years have averaged more than $124,000 per year.

Borden Co.—Additional Stock Offered Shareholders—May Make Additional Disbursement on Shares in 1926.—

The Common stockholders of record Dec. 30 will be given the right to subscribe on or before Jan. 15 for $4,114,500 additional Common stock (par $50) at $75 per share, to the extent of 15% of their holdings. Payment must be made in New York funds to the Seaboard National Bank, 115 Broadway, N. Y. City in two installments of $37.50 each per share on or before Jan. 15 and Feb. 15. Interest at the rate of 6% per annum, amounting to 19 cents per share, will be allowed on the first installment, payment from the due date to Feb. 15, when it will be paid by crediting the amount on the final installment payment. This issue of Common stock has been underwritten at $75 per share.

President Arthur W. Milburn, in a letter to the stockholders, says in part:

It has seemed wise to the directors to issue a substantial proportion of the authorized but unissued Common stock for the purpose of relieving working capital from wholly caring for the financing of the Preferred stock redemption (see V. 121, p. 2043), and of restoring to surplus the amount taken from surplus in effectuating such redemption. This will also result in a substantial addition to the surplus account.

In view of the substantial earnings of the company during the past few years and the satisfactory outlook, directly due to economies in operations and increased volume of business, it is only proper and fair to the stockholders to advise them at this time that the directors and officers have in mind additional disbursement on the stock of the company during the year 1926, unless unfavorable conditions, now unforeseen, should make such course inadvisable. This subject will have the attention of the directors during the first quarter of the coming year.—V. 121, p. 2043.

Bowman-Biltmore Hotels Corp.—2nd Pref. Dividend.—The directors have declared a dividend of $5 a share on the $5 Cumul. 2nd Pref. stock, payable to stockholders of record Dec. 19. The usual quarterly dividend of 1¾ % also was declared on the 1st Pref. stock.—V. 119, p. 2883.

British-American Tobacco Co., Ltd.—Final and Interim Divs.—Earnings for Year Ending Sept. 30, 1925.—

The directors on Dec. 17 decided to recommend to the shareholders at the annual meeting on Jan. 12, the payment on Jan. 19, of a final dividend of 2s 3d per share free of British income tax upon the issued ordinary shares.

The directors also decided to pay on Jan. 19 an interim dividend of 10d per share for the current year on the issued Ordinary shares free of British income tax.

Net profits for the year ended Sept. 30, 1925 after deducting all charges and expenses for management, etc., and providing for income tax are £5,145,238, as against £4,866,166 for the previous year. After paying the final dividend of 2s 3d per share the carry forward will be £4,346,576, as against £3,914,115 for the previous year.—V. 121, p. 3007.

Brillo Manufacturing Co.—Stock Offered.—J. R. Bridgeford & Co., New York, are offering at $26.50 per share (with 1 share of Common stock as bonus) 27,620 shares Class "A" Preference and Participating stock.

Data from Letter of M. B. Loeb, President of the Company.

Company.—Organized in 1913 in New York. Factory located in Brooklyn, N. Y., is the largest manufacturer of steel wool in the world. They produce approximately 40% of this product made in the United States. Under the nationally advertised trade mark name of "Brillo" they market about 80% of their product. The package is made up of pads of metal fibre, together with Brillo soap, and is used for the cleansing of aluminum or other cooking utensils and general household cleaning. Company sells its products through wholesale grocers and hardware jobbers, as well as chain stores, department stores, five and ten cent stores, etc. Brillo enjoys a wide distribution, being sold by about 250,000 retail stores, including practically every chain store organization in this country.

Financial Condition.—The completion of this financing will effect the retirement of $202,400 Pref. stock and $75,000 bonds heretofore outstanding, and will leave the company with no funded debt and no bank loans.

Earnings.—Company was started with a capital of $25,000 and has been built up mainly of earnings. Net profits, under depreciation and taxes, for 1924 were $97,093. First 9 months of 1925, before depreciation and taxes, amount to $159,667 or at the annual rate of $212,889. This assures net earnings, after depreciation and taxes, in excess of 3 times the dividend requirements on the Class "A" stock. The management anticipate net earnings for 1926 of $300,000 to $350,000.

Listing.—Company has agreed to make application to list the Class "A" and Common stock on the New York Curb Market.

Cleveland Automobile Co.—Merger with Chandler Motor Car Co. Planned.—The stockholders are advised that a proposal was recently submitted to the directors of Chandler Motor Car Co. and Cleveland Automobile Co. for the consolidation of the two companies. Pursuant to this proposal the Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corp. was formed under the laws of Delaware on Dec. 19. A letter to the stockholders says in substance:

Heretofore these two companies have had no connection other than the fact that they were both organized by F. C. Chandler and his associates and that they have several directors and many stockholders in common, the securities of the Cleveland Automobile Co. having originally been offered to Chandler stockholders. It is felt that now a closer co-ordination between the two companies would result in economies of operation and would strengthen their trade position and increase earnings.

Capitalization of the New Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corp.

Preference shares, entitled to have declared thereon in any calendar year non-cumulative divs. aggregating $4 per share before any dividends can be declared in such year on the Common stock; preferred as to assets on liquidation up to $50 per share, and callable at $85 per share, all or part, at any time. Not entitled to share in assets or earnings beyond the above preferences but are convertible at the option of the holder at any time, share for share, into Common stock.....350 000 shs.
Common shares, for exchange for 280,000 Common shares of Cleveland Automobile Co.....280,000 shs.
Common shares to be reserved for conversion of the 350,000 preference shares above mentioned.....350,000 shs.
Common shares to be retained in the treasury of the company for future corporate uses.....370,000 shs.

All shares have equal voting power share for share and are without par value.

The plan contemplates that tenders may be made to Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corp. up to Jan. 21 1926 of any or all of the 280,000 shares of Chandler Motor Car Co. stock for exchange for its preference shares on a share for share basis. Bankers represented on the directorate of both the Chandler and Cleveland companies have contracted to buy 70,000 Preference shares which they propose shortly to offer for public subscription at cost plus a usual banking commission.

The plan further contemplates that tenders may be made to Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corp. up to Jan. 21 1926 of any or all of the 280,000 shares of Cleveland Automobile Co. Common stock for exchange for its own Common stock on a share for share basis and that the new company will by redemption or otherwise acquire the Preferred stock of Cleveland Automobile Co.

Ernst & Ernst have recently completed audits of the financial condition of both companies as of Nov. 30 1925, and have determined the approximate earnings for 1925 with December earnings estimated. These audits show that the consolidated earnings of the Chandler Motor Car Co. and Cleveland Automobile Co. after taxes for 1925, with December earnings estimated, will be about $2,700,000, about equally dividend between the two companies, and that as of Nov. 30 1925 neither company had any funded debt or bank loans.

By the exchange the Chandler Motor Car Co. stockholder will receive an immediate increase from his present $3 to a $4 annual dividend rate. Through the addition of the Cleveland Automobile Co.'s earnings, the security of the $4 dividend on the Preference shares will be materially greater than the present $3 dividend on Chandler stock.

This is evidenced by the fact that the combined average earnings of the two present companies for the three years 1923-24-25 are in excess of 1¼ times the amount required for the Preference dividend, while the combined earnings of the two companies for the year 1925 (December earnings est.) will amount to $7 70 per share on the 350,000 Preference shares of the new company to be outstanding. Combined tangible assets behind the Preference shares will, including the new money from the sale of the additional shares, be nearly double the assets now behind the present Chandler shares. In addition to this greatly strengthened Preferred position, present Chandler shareholders will at any time in the future be able to share in increased prosperity through conversion of their Preference shares for Common stock.

Cleveland Automobile Co. Common shareholders in turn will have the advantage of converting into Common stock of an enlarged company, showing earnings in 1925 equivalent to about $4 65 a share for the Common after allowing for the $4 Preference dividend.

The officers and directors of Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corp. will include the present officers and directors of Chandler Motor Car Co. and Cleveland Automobile Co.

To avail themselves of the advantages of the consolidation plan, stockholders must deposit their stock with Guaranty Trust Co., 140 Broadway N. Y. City, by Jan. 21 1926. The plan will be declared effective at the discretion of the new company but only with the written assent of a majority of the persons who are directors of both Chandler Motor Car Co. and Cleveland Automobile Co. Application will be made in due course to list the new securities on the New York Stock Exchange.

This plan with all its advantages to the stockholders of both companies is made possible by the splendid financial condition of them both and by their excellent prospects for increased profits dur to the fact that they have both lately brought out highly successful lines of cars which are in great public demand.

The directors of both companies have officially voted to recommend the plan to their stockholders. —V. 121, p. 711

Commercial Credit Co., Balt.—Dividends.—

The directors have declared regular quarterly dividends of 37½ cents per share on the Common stock, no par value; 43¾ cents per share on the 7% Cumul. Pref. stock (par $25), and 50 cents per share on the 8% Cumul. Pref. Class B stock (par $25), all payable Dec. 31 to holders of record Dec. 21. See also V. 121, p. 3007.

Consolidated Lead & Zinc Co.—Merger.—

The St. Louis "Globe-Democrat," Dec. 18, had the following:

Official announcement has been made that the company will at an early date enter into one of the largest mining consolidations in the history of the Tri-State field on a basis either in cash or securities, which will net the holders of the 25,000 shares stock (par $20) $60 a share, or the entire valuation of the issue will be moved up from a par of $500,000 to $1,500,000. The stock pays $2.40 a share annually or 20 cents a month with frequent extra dividends.

It is proposed that the Consolidated Lead & Zinc Co. will absorb the Underwriters Land Co., one of the most profitable mining companies, and will be further enlarged by the exercise of option by mines and royalty interests to the extent of $2,500,000.

Options are now held on the mines of the Tulsa-Quapaw Mining & Investment Co., Donado Mining Co., Baby Jim Mining Co., and negotiations are now being conducted for an option on another large producer. The company has also an option of the royalty interests of the Wright Mining & Royalty Co. and the royalty interests of the Tulsa-Quapaw Co., and holds first lease on 200 acres of State land in the heart of the Oklahoma field.

Final arrangements were made for the consolidation of the Underwriters Land Co. at a meeting of the directors of the Eagle-Picher Lead Co., which owns a majority interest in the Underwriters Land Co., while the minority interest is owned by the officials of the Eagle-Picher Lead Co.

The Underwriters Land Co. owns 4 large mills. It is capitalized at $1,000,000 and the shares while not listed have been selling at a premium. It has one mill idle and is now building a large mill in the Picher district which should be in operation soon. The mines included in this consolidation have produced approximately 76,000 tons of zinc and 13,000 tons of lead concentrated during the present year.—V. 121, p. 1793.

Corona Typewriter Co.—Typewriter Merger—Dissolution of Corona Company Planned.

The company has called special meeting of its stockholders for Dec. 28, to ratify the merger with L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter, Inc. It is proposed to retire the 1st and 2nd Pref. shares of the Corona company and to exchange one share of Corona Common for approximately 2 6-10 shares of L. C. Smith & Bros. Common stock, that company's stock issue to be increased to 150,000 shares from 30,000. It is planned to wind up the affairs of the Corona company by declaration of an extra and final dividend on the present Common of $2 in addition to regular dividend and extra already declared that remains to be paid.

Under the agreement arranged, subject to approval by stockholders, the Corona Common stock is to be increased to 46,338 shares and it is agreed to issue and sell 27,272 shares of this Common stock to Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., for $1,800,000.

Stockholders are asked to ratify this agreement, to consent to the exchange of their Common shares for Common shares in L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter, Inc., in proportion of 46,338 shares of Corona Common stock to 120,000 shares of Smith stock out of a total issue of 150,000 shares and to consent and agree individually to deposit the Smith stock under a voting trust agreement. It is understood that a large majority of the voting stocks of both companies has agreed to this proposal.

When the consolidation is approved by the stockholders it is proposed to retire outstanding 1st Pref. shares at $110 and divs. and 2nd Pref. at $100 and divs.

Of the Corona 1st Pref. stock, which is 8% cumulative, $284,500 (par $100) is outstanding. Of the 7% 2nd Pref. stock, $973,200 (par $100) is outstanding. At present there are 19,065 shares of no par Corona Common stock outstanding of an authorized issue of 25,000.

L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter, Inc., has outstanding $2,000,000 (par $100) 7% Cumulative Pref. shares of an authorized issue of $3,000,000 and 30,000 shares of no par Common of a total authorized issue of the same number of shares. There are also $1,000,000 6% 1st Mtge. Bonds outstanding of an authorized issue of $2,500,000.

The net effect of the above transaction is to provide the Corona company with sufficient cash to pay off all bank loans together with 1st and 2nd Pref. stocks, leaving it with no capital liabilities outstanding but 46,338 shares of Common stock and with over $500,000 of cash in its treasury.—V. 121, p. 3008.

Crown Willamette Paper Co.—Financing.—

A letter has been sent to the stockholders of the company concerning the recent negotiations with a group of investment bankers. The letter reads: "Referring to the proposal for the purchase of the Common stock of the company, dated Nov. 21 1925, made by Continental & Commercial Securities Co. and Blyth, Witter & Co.: The proposal will be accepted on behalf of the holders of 100% of the Common stock of the company. The proposal provides as follows:

"The undersigned (Continental & Commercial Securities Co. and Blyth, Witter & Co.) as purchasers of 1st Pref. stock of the new corporation, will agree to make provision and give the right to the holders of the Common stock of the Crown Willamette Paper Co. upon giving notice to the undersigned at the time of the acceptance of this letter by you to purchase up to an aggregate of 51,000 shares of 1st Pref. stock at 90, with an appropriate arrangement to be entered into that such stock so purchased by such stockholders shall not be marketed within one year from the date of purchase thereof.

"As the number of shares of Common stock of Crown Williamette Paper Co. at present outstanding is approximately 204,000, the number of above shares of Pref. stock that you are entitled to subscribe for is one share of pref. stock for each 4 shares of common stock that you now hold. Should there be any of this pref. stock unsubscribed for under the above option, and you desire more than your allotment of one to four, please signify the additional amount that you desire on a separate application. This option may be exercised by reducing the cash payable under the proposal for the Common stock by $22.50 per share for each one-fourth share of pref. stock purchased under this option."—V. 121, p. 2881.

Cuyamel Fruit Co.—Listing.—

The New York Stock Exchange has authorized the listing of $5,000,000 1st Mtge. 15-Year 6% Sinking Fund gold bonds (Series "A") due April 1 1940.—V. 121, p. 2162, 1683.

Davison Chemical Co.—Debentures Offered.—The Century Trust Co. of Baltimore, Imbrie & Co., Ltd. and Frazier & Co., Inc. are offering at 99¾ and int., yielding over 6½% $3,000,000 5-Year 6½% Gold Debentures.

Interest payable at Bankers Trust Co., New York, or Century Trust Co., Baltimore, trustee, without deduction for any Federal income tax, not exceeding 2% per annum. Refund of the Penn., Conn., Kansas and Calif. taxes not to exceed 4 mills, Maryland 4½ mills tax, Kentucky and District of Columbia 5 mills taxes, Michigan 5 mills exemption tax, Virginia 5½ mills tax, and Mass. income tax not to exceed 6%. Denom. $500 and $1,000c*.

Data from Letter of C. Wilbur Miller, President of Company.

Business.—Originally established in 1932, consists of the manufacture and sale of sulphuric acid, acid phosphate and other heavy chemicals. These products are staple raw materials for some of the chief industries of the country, including the making of fertilizers, refininf of copper, manufacture of dyestuffs, bleaching, refining of petroleum, etc.

Earnings.—Net earnings of the company available for interest and taxes before depreciation and surplus adjustments for the 9½ years ended June 30 1925, have averaged about $823 000 annually or about 4¼ times interest requirements on these debentures; for the past 3½ years $654,000, and for the first 6 months of the year 1925 $215,859 or at the rate of $431,718, or about 2¼ times interest charges. On contracts already placed and the general outlook for the industry the management estimates that the earnings for the year 1926 will exceed $1,000,000.

Security.—Debentures will constitute the sole funded debt of company and its subsidiaries (the trustee of this issue will hold sufficient funds in cash for the retirement of $774,000 Davison Sulphur & Phosphate Co. bonds, due March 1 1927). There will also be pledged with the trustee 10,000 shares (par $100) Davison Sulphur & Phosphate Co. capital stock (entire issue), and 184,650 shares (no par value) capital stock of the Silica Gel Corp. as security for this issue.

Listing.—Application will be made to list these debentures on the New York Stock Exchange.

Capitalization.—Upon completion of the present financing the capitalization of the company will be as follows: (a) 6½% Gold Debentures—Authorized and outstanding $3,000,000; (b) capital stock (without par value)—authorized and outstanding 235,000 shares.

Purpose.—Proceeds will be used for the payment of current obligations, retirement of Davison Sulphur & Phosphate Co. bonds and other corporate purposes.

Assets.—Total net assets as shown by the condensed consolidated general balance sheet July 31 1925 as adjusted to include the proceeds from the sale of $3,000,000 Debentures, after deducting all liabilities including this issue, are over $20,000,000, or 6½ times these Debentures. Company will have no bank loans, and after giving effect to this financing, shows a ratio of current assets to current liabilities of approximately five to one.—V. 121, p. 3008, 712.

Dodge Brothers, Inc.—Shipments by Graham Brothers.—

Shipments by Graham Brothers, motor truck manufacturers, now a unit of Dodge Brothers, Inc., for the 11 months ended Nov. 30 1925 amounted to 21,415 trucks, compared with 9,484 trucks shipped in the same period of 1924, representing an increase of more than 125%. Eleven months' shipments are 10,628 trucks in excess of the entire output for 1924, according to official figures issued by the company. Largely increased exports and increased bus output account for a substantial portion of Graham Brothers' increased production. Exports for the first 11 months of 1925 were 3,975 trucks, compared with 1,325 trucks for the same period of 1924.—V. 121, p. 3009.

(Jacob) Dold Packing Co.—Loss for Year Results in Stopping Payment of Preferred Dividend.—

The company reports for the fiscal year ended Nov. 1 1925, operating profits of $376,000 and net loss after all charges, including depreciation and interest, of $333,000.

The loss is reported as due to the high price of hogs during the winter months, unusual sales resistance and heavy inventory loss in readjustment to lower market values.

On account of the failure to show satisfactory earnings for the past year, the company has stopped the payment of Preferred dividends.

The company is reported now to be running on a satisfactory basis of profit.—V. 121, p. 465.

Dow Drug Co., Cincinnati.—20% Stock Dividend.—

The directors on Dec. 18 declared a 20% stock dividend on the Common stock in addition to the regular quarterly cash dividend of 2% on the Common and 1¾% on the Preferred stock, all payable Jan. 1 to holders of record Dec. 21.

The company has outstanding $500,000 of Common stock, par $100.—V. 117, p. 2775.

Edgewater Club of Southern California.—Bonds Offered.—Carstens & Earles, Inc., Los Angeles, recently offered at 100 and int. $350,000 1st (closed) Mtge. (leasehold) 7% Sinking Fund gold bonds.

Dated Dec. 1 1925; due Dec. 1 1940. Interest payable J. & D. at Citizens Trust & Savings Bank, Los Angeles, Calif., trustee. Denom. $1,000 and $500c*. Interest payable without deduction for normal Federal income tax up to 2%. Red. all or part on any int. date upon 30 days' notice to and incl. Dec. 1 1928 at 105; thereafter to and incl. Dec. 1 1931 at 103; and thereafter to and incl. Dec. 1 1934 at 102; and thereafter to date of maturity at 101, plus int. in each case.

Security.—Secured by a first closed mortgage on a valuable 99-year leasehold estate improved with a 7-story and basement Class "A" modern building built throughout of reinforced concrete and steel and occupying an entire block, having a frontage of 125 ft. on Pico Boulevard, 134 ft. on Vincente Terrace, 184 ft. on Apian Way and 175 ft. on the ocean, in Santa Monica. The building nearing completion will cost in excess of $750,000 and furniture and fixtures will cost approximately $150,000—a total investment of over $900,000, or more than 2½ times the amount of this issue of bonds.

Income.—Present income derived from rents of various stores and space, in addition to dues and charges against 1,800 members, is at the rate of $72,060, and net annual income upon completion of the building and after sale of the remaining memberships is conservatively estimated at $145,700, or nearly 6 times interest charges on this issue of bonds, and more than 3½ times minimum charges for interest and sinking fund requirements. Ground rentals amount to $15,000 annually for the full period of the lease.

Edmunds & Jones Corp.—Earnings.—

The company reports for the 11 months ended Nov. 30 1925 net income of $320,785 after charges, but before taxes.—V. 121, p. 1466, 1106.

Electric Refrigeration Corp.—Officers, Etc.—

Alfred H. Goss, President of the Kelvinator Corp., will be president of this new corporation which has just been formed to merge the Kelvinator Nizer and Grand Rapids Refrigerator companies. H. A. Tremaine will be chairman of the board, the same office he now holds in the Nizer Corp., and J. Robert Crouse, of Cleveland, will be a member of the executive committee. In an official statement issued Dec. 17 Mr. Goss said:

"The Electric Refrigeration Corp. is a consolidation of three established firms. In size, capital, volume of business, number of established dealers, etc., it will undoubtedly be the dominant factor in the electric refrigeration industry of the world. The Kelvinator Corp. is greatly enlarging its production facilities to meet the enormous demand for its well tried out product. Likewise the Nizer Corp. is largely expanding its manufacturing facilities to keep pace with its rapidly increasing business.

"The Grand Rapids Refrigerator Co. has the largest and most complete refrigerator manufacturing facilities in the world. It will continue to manufacture its celebrated Leonard Cleanable Refrigerator, with the addition of new models for the electric refrigeration needs of the combined organization.

"These three companies will operate as separate divisions of the Electric Refrigeration Corp. They will continue under their present management without interruption to present contracts. All present sales agencies will remain as before, while it is expected that sales will be greatly increased as a result of the additional advantages of consolidation."

All securities of the Grand Rapids Refrigerator Co. will be owned by the Electric Refrigeration Corp. Enough consents, it is stated, have been obtained privately to assure an exchange, share for share, of Nizer and Kelvinator. The Grand Rapids Refrigerator Co. will be absorbed on a cash basis. The new company will manufacture everything for electric household and commercial refrigerators except the motors. No public offering of stock will be made in connection with the merger, but an offering of debentures is expected. Part of the cash for the purchase of the Grand Rapids Refrigerator Co. will be thus obtained, the balance being already supplied out of funds now in the treasury of the combined companies.—V. 121, p. 3009.

Elgin National Watch Co.—Regular Dividends.—

The directors have declared the usual quarterly dividend of 2½% on the outstanding cpital stock, par $25, payable Feb. 1 to holders of record Jan. 15. An extra cash dividend of 25% is payable Jan. 20 to holders of record Jan. 4.—See V. 121, p. 2645.

Estey-Welte Corp.—Stock Dividend of 2%.—

The directors have declared a 2% stock dividend payable in Class "A" shares, on the Class "A" and Class "B" stock, and the regular quarterly cash dividend of 50 cents per share on the Class "A" stock. The stock dividend is payable March 1 to holders of record Feb. 15, and the cash dividend Jan. 2 to holders of record Dec. 28.—V. 121, p. 1683.

Eureka Vacuum Cleaner Co.—Rumor Denied.—

There is no foundation to the report that the company will put its stock on a $5 annual dividend basis at the next directors' meeting, according to interests close to the company. The increased facilities of the new factory addition and foundry are now being utilized and with no royalty charges in the future, it is possible that discussion of an extra dividend may come some time during 1926. It is also announced that production is averaging 1,100 machines a day, and the company is expecting to show a total of 275,000 machines manufactured and sold in the current year.—V. 121, p. 3010.

Famous-Players Lasky Corp.—To Reopen Case.—

The Federal Trade Commission's counsel in the Famous-Players Lasky Corp. case has submitted a motion to the Commission requesting that the proceeding be reopened. The Commission has accordingly set Jan. 6 1926 as the time at which its attorney and the attorney for the Famous-Players Lasky Corp. may be heard upon the motion. The Commission's attorney states in his petition that the case should be reopened for the purpose of introducing evidence showing location and seating capacity of all theatres in which Famous-Players Lasky Corp. or its affiliated companies have acquired any interests from Sept. 1, 1924 to Dec. 1 1925, and to permit the introduction of such evidence theretofore excluded by the trial examiner in the proceeding as in the opinion of the Commission should have been admitted.—V. 121, p. 2163.

C. F. Leng has resigned from the presidency and directorate of the corporation.—V. 116, p. 1281.

Federal Compress & Warehouse Co.—Pref. Stock Offered.—I. B. Tigrett & Co., Memphis, are offering at 102½ and divs., to yield 6.83% $600,000 7% Cumulative Pref. (a & d) stock. This offering involves no new financing by the company.

Dividends payable Q-J. Red. all or part at any div. date on 45 days' notice, at 105 and divs. Exempt from normal Federal income tax. Bank of Commerce & Trust Co., Memphis, Tenn., Transfer agent.

Company.—Is the largest concern of its kind in the country and succeeds, through recent consolidation of 29 separate corporations, heretofore operated under a co-ordinated management, to a compress and warehouse business which has been successfully conducted over a long period of years. Company owns and operates 37 compresses and warehouses of over 1,000,000 bales total storage capacity, strategically situated throughout 5 of the Central Southern States. Business is conducted on a strictly cash basis. Company does not own, buy or sell any of the cotton it handles, but merely collects fees for its services in compressing and storing the cotton pending shipment.

The physical properties of the company consist of 37 cotton compresses and warehouses of over 1,000,000 bales storage capacity, with the largest plant at Memphis, Tenn. All plants are constructed in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Warehouse Act. The plants are located in 34 communities at natural concentration points for cotton in the territory served and cover a sufficiently wide territory so that a short crop in any one district will not unduly affect earnings.

Capitalization.—Capitalization as of Dec. 1 1925, consisted of $1,850,000 7% Pref. stock, $5,608,800 Common stock, and $3,700,000 of funded indebtedness. (See offering in V. 121, p. 1683).

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.—Extra Dividend of $1.—

The extra dividend of $1 per share which was declared last week on the Common stock, is payable Jan. 2 to holders of record Dec. 21.

The directors have also declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share on the Common stock, payable Jan. 20 to holders of record Jan. 10; the regular quarterly dividend of 1½% on the 6% Preferred stock, payable Jan. 15 to holders of record Jan. 1, and the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾% on the 7% Preferred stock, payable Feb. 15 to holders of record Feb. 1.—V. 121, p. 3010.

Annual Report.—

The annual report for the year ended Oct. 31 1925 has just come to hand Pres. H. S. Firestone in his remarks to stockholders states the sales for the year of the parent company and subsidiaries in the United States were $125,598,000—the largest in the history of the company—compared with $85,610,000 last year, or an increase of over 46%. Net profits after providing for depreciation, interest, Federal taxes and certain contingencies were $12,800,412. After deducting dividends on Preferred stock, the net profit applicable to Common stock was more than $32 per share. Book surplus has been increased to $39,762,281 and reserve for general contingencies to $5,000,000. For income account and balance sheet as of Oct. 31 were given in V. 121, p. 2645, in connection with the recent offering of $10,000,000 Cumulative 7% Pref. stock.—V. 121, p. 3010, 2645.

First National Stores, Inc.—Listed.—

Transactions "when, as and if issued" will be permitted in the Common Capital stock (no par value) on the Boston Stock Exchange.—V. 121, p. 2882, 2645.

Fleischmann Co.—New Stock Certificates Ready.—

The company is now ready to issue the new 4,500,000 shares of no par Common stock in exchange for the old 1,500,000 shares of no par Common stock, and every stockholder upon surrender of his old certificates will be entitled to three shares of new stock in exchange for, and in lieu of each share of old stock so surrendered to the Guaranty Trust Co., 140 Broadway, N. Y. City, transfer agent of the Common stock.—V. 121, p. 2882.

Ford Motor Co., Detroit.—Large Tractor Order.—

An order for 10,000 tractors, with equipment, plows and spare parts, for Soviet Russia, aggregating in value about $6,000,000, was placed with the Ford Motor Co. by the Amtorg Trading Corp., purchasing and selling agents in this country for various Soviet industrial and commercial organizations. Shipments to the Soviet Black Sea ports of Novorossisk and Odessa will be made during the months of December and January, so that the tractors will be delivered to the agricultural districts in time for the next spring field work.—V. 121, p. 2758.

Fox Theatres Corp.—Leases Theatre in Washington.—

The corporation has formally announced its plans for the new theatre just obtained by lease in the National Press Bldg., at Washington, D. C. This is the first theatre to be obtained by the company, aside from those already in the Fox chain, which are to form the starting point of the new company's projected chain of super-theatres. It will have a seating capacity of 3,600 persons.

A 35 year lease on the theatre has been signed by the Fox Theatres Corp. calling for an aggregate rental over its life of more than $7,000,000.—V. 121, p. 2526.

(Chas.) Freshman Co., Inc.—Gross Sales.—

Gross sales for November were $1,715,389. Compare V. 121, p. 2646, 2527.

General Electric Co.—Secures Manufacturing Site.—

President Gerard Swope has announced that the company has definitely decided to purchase a site for a maunfacturing establishment in the City of St. Louis. The tracts of real estate selected contain in the aggregzte about 155 acres, of which all but 11 acres are within the city limits of St. Louis; the balance lies just beyond the city limits in St. Louis County, Mo.

"The exact date on which construction will commence has not been determined, and it will depend, of course, upon the future growth and development of the business of the General Electric Co," Mr. Swope said. "It has not yet been decided what character of apparatus will be manufactured in St. Louis."—V. 121, p. 2883.

General Motors Acceptance Corp.—To Increase Capital.
The directors and stockholders of the corporation have approved an increase in Capital stock of 45,000 shares, to be sold as heretofore to General Motors Corp. at $125 per share. This issue, when approved by the New York State Banking Department, will increase the capital stock at par by $4,500,000 and the surplus fund by $1,125,000, and makes the total capital $13,500,000 and surplus $3,375,000. Including undivided profits, this will bring the corporation's total capital funds to over $20,000,000.—V. 121, p. 2046.

General Railway Signal Co.—Control Orders.—
The company has secured the following orders for train control installations: Baltimore & Ohio RR., first division between Washington and Baltimore; Delaware & Hudson RR., on the division between Whitehall and Rouse's Point, N. Y. These are the first divisional installations as required by the I.-S. C. Commission.—V. 121, p. 2646.

General Tire & Rubber Co.—Extra Dividend—Sales.—
An extra dividend of 6% has been declared payable on the Common stock. An extra dividend of like amount was paid on this issue at Christmas time in 1924 and in 1923. The Common stock has been on a regular annual dividend basis of 8% and the extra brings the total paid in 1925 to 14%.
Sales for the year ended Nov. 30 1925, totaled $18,700,000 against $13,135,000 in the previous year.—V. 121, p. 2164.

Gimbel Brothers.—Acquisition of Pittsburgh Store.—
The stockholders will vote Dec. 29 on ratifying the contract to purchase all the Capital stock of the Kaufmann & Baer Co., which operates a large department store in Pittsburgh. Stockholders will also vote on increasing the authorized Preferred stock of Gimbel Bros. from 180,000 shares to 210,000 shares (par $100) and the Common stock from 600,000 shares to 622,500 shares of no par value.
It is proposed to exchange the additional 30,000 shares of Preferred and the 22,500 shares of Common stock of Gimbel Bros. for all of the outstanding capital of Kaufmann & Baer Co., consisting of $200,000 of Preferred and 28,303 shares of Common stock.
In reference to this acquisition, President Isaac Gimbel says: "From data furnished by the Kaufmann & Baer Co., we are able to state the following: that the company has for over 10 years conducted a constantly growing and uniformly successful department store in Pittsburgh. The operating profits for the last 6 years, after all deductions except income and profit taxes, have averaged over $722,000 annually. The volume of sales for the past 5 years has averaged over $16,000,000. After consummation of this transaction Gimbel Bros. will have in operation three stores in New York City, the present store in Philadelphia, the new store being erected in Philadelphia, the Milwaukee store and a store in Pittsburgh.
"It is also the purpose to place one of the executives of Kaufmann & Baer on the board of directors of this company.
"The owners and holders of a large amount of Common and Preferred stock of the company as well as Messrs. Goldman, Sachs & Co. and Lehman Bros., its bankers, have already signified their approval of the transaction."
—V. 121, p. 2883, 2646.

Listing.—It is expected that company will make application to list Class "A" stock on Indianapolis Stock Exchange.

Data from Letter of John A. Hook, President of the Company.

Company.—A Delaware Corporation. Operates a chain of 18 drug stores in Indianapolis, and 6 neighboring cities. Business was founded in 1900 with one store. In 1912 company was incorp. and at that time owned 7 stores. New stores have been opened or acquired at a rate consistent with conservative management. The stores are operated on a strictly cash basis and inventories are extremely liquid.
Assets.—Balance sheet shows net tangible assets applicable to the Participating Class "A" stock of $682,990 or more than $39 per share. Corporation has no funded debt, and no bank debt.
Earnings.—Net profits, after depreciation and Federal income taxes, and available for dividends for the 3 years and 10 months ended Oct. 31 1925 were at the annual rate of $8.77 per share of Class "A" stock. For the year ended Dec. 31 1925 with 2 months estimated, such net profits are at the annual rate of $12.88 per share on Class "A" stock, or over 6 times its annual dividend requirements.
Dividends.—It is the intention of the management to inaugurate dividends on the Class "A" stock at the rate of $2 per share, per annum, the first quarterly payments to be made April 1 1926.

Howe Sound Co.—Dividend of 50 Cents.—
The directors have declared a regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share on the Capital stock, no par value, payable Jan. 15 to holders of record Jan. 5. A similar distribution was made on Oct. 15 last, which was the first payment since April 15 1924.—V. 121, p. 2885.

Hudson Navigation Co.—To Sell Assets—Settlement Plan Announced.—
Announcement was made Dec. 23 by Geller, Rolston & Blanc, attorneys for the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., as trustee, and by Graham, McMahon, Buell & Knox, attorneys for the National Commercial Bank & Trust Co. of Albany, trustee, that under a decree signed by Judge John C. Knox, of the U. S. District Court, the sale of the property of the Company, formerly controlled by Charles W. Morse, will be held at public auction on Jan. 21 1926 on the Northeast steps of the New York County Court House under the auspices of Colonel Francis G. Caffey, Special Master.
The company, which runs the Night Line between New York, Albany and Troy, has been in the hands of a receiver (Middleton S. Borland) since Feb. 1921. Its sale was ordered by Judge Knox, Dec. 1 1925. All the bond issues have been in default. So that the property may be sold as an operating unit, the Court has directed that the property, besides being offered in two parcels, shall be offered for sale as a whole through a foreclosure of the two mortgages, one made to the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. as trustee and the other to the National Commercial Bank & Trust Co. of Albany, as trustee, which secure the issues of bonds in default, and including also such of the property as is not covered by either mortgage.
The company's fleet which is to be sold includes the steamers Berkshire, Fort Orange, Rensselaer and Trojan, as well as Pier 32 North River in New York, and leases to piers in Albany and Troy.
A plan of reorganization has been formulated (V. 120, p. 2556) with the cooperation and consent of over 96% of the $3,675,900 of bonds outstanding under which—if it is carried out—the holders of the New Jersey Steamboat Co. 1st Mtge. 5% bonds, for each $1,000 of such bonds now held, will receive $1,000 in cash and $250 of preferred stock in a new corporation to be formed. The holders of Hudson Navigation Co. 6% bonds, for each $1,000 of bonds now held, will receive $850 of mortgage bonds in the new company, and 4.35 shares of common stock in the new company, while holders of Hudson Navigation Co. Collateral 5% bonds, for each $1,000 of such bonds now held, will receive $850 of new company mortgage bonds and 4.40 shares of new common stock, the amount of stock to be issued in each case being subject to increase, if the plan of reorganization is not put into operation as of the date specified.—V. 121, p. 2758.

Huyler's Inc. (Candy Manufacturers).—No Financing.
Rudolf S. Hecht, Pres. of the Hibernia Bank & Trust Co., New Orleans, who will be chairman of the board of directors, gave out the following statement: "Since the announcement of the purchase of Huyler's by a syndicate of New Orleans and New York capital there have been rumors to the effect that Huyler's stock would soon be offered to public. These reports are erroneous. No public financing of any kind is at present contemplated. Capital ample and sufficient for building up and further developing Huyler's has been provided for a long time to come.
"In this connection I should like to emphasize the intention of the new management to maintain the Huyler tradition for highest quality and service and to preserve the characteristics of a business which have made Huyler's unique as a national institution. It should also be made clear that Huyler's will continue as an independent organization with head quarters in New York and will expand on a nation-wide basis."

Company.—Established in 1835 and was incorp. in 1878. It engaged in the first systematic planting of sugar cane in the islands. Crops for the past 10 years have averaged 8,290 tons. The crop just taken off amounted to 11,158 tons.
Earnings.—The average annual net earnings for a period covering the last 10 years are over $227,000, approximately 5 times the interest requirements on bonds of a par value of $700,000, which are to be presently issued, and almost 3½ times the interest requirements on the total authorized issue of $1,000,000.
Sinking Fund.—Sinking fund payments to start Feb. 15 1927 and annually thereafter equal to 10% of the net profits of the calendar year just preceding, providing they at no time are less than $15,000 per annum average, on original issuance, said minimum amount being increased with the further issuance of bonds.—V. 120, p. 3074.

(S. S.) Kresge Co.—To Split Stock 10 for 1.—
The company has notified the New York Stock Exchange of a proposed change in the par value of the Common stock from $100 to $10 per share with each present $100 par share to be exchanged for 10 new shares. The company also proposes to increase its authorized Common stock from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000. This action will increase the common to 10,000,000 shares authorized and 3,678,610 shares outstanding. The stockholders will vote Jan. 19 on approving the above changes.—V. 121, p. 2885, 2282.

La Arcada Building, Santa Barbara, Calif.—Bonds Offered.—Southwest Bond Co. and Leo G. MacLaughlin Co., Los Angeles are offering at 100 and int. $475,000 7% 1st Mtge. Serial Sinking Fund Gold bonds.

Dated Nov. 1 1925; due serially Nov. 1 1928 to 1935 incl. Denom. $1,000 and $500. Int. payable M. & N. at Hellman Commercial Trust & Savings Bank, Los Angeles, without deduction for the normal Federal income tax up to 2%. Red. on any int. date, all or part, upon 30 days' notice at 105 and int.
La Arcada Building is a 2-story, basement and mezzanine Class "A" steel reinforced concrete building with a first floow area of 31,375 sq. ft., in which are located 24 stores; and a second floor area of 32,470 sq. ft., which will be divided into groups of varied-size offices.
Based upon bona-fide leases already executed, the net annual earnings from this building should not be less than $90,000 per annum. Sufficient space has already been leased to responsible tenants to assure the owner a return of $40,000 per annum, which amount adequately satisfies all operating costs and the maximum interest requirements upon this loan.

Company.—Will be incorporated under the laws of the Province of Noba Scotia to acquire the business of Moirs, Ltd. (incorp. in 1903 as a continuation of the business founded by the late W. C. Moir, in the City of Halifax in 1942)—one of the largest, oldest and best known Canadian producers of high grade chocolates and confectionery. It also does an extensive bread and cake business, in addition to the manufacture and sale of biscuits of all kinds. Chocolate and confectionery plants, located in Halifax, have an aggregate floor space of approximately 7 acres, and are equipped with excellent machinery capable of producing approximately 30,500 pounds per day of chocolate and confectionery products. Through its bakery, the present Company controls the largest individual bread business in the City of Halifax, producing approximately 9,000 loaves of bread, 2,500 lbs. of cake and 4,000 lbs. of biscuits daily. Company has a staff of about 1,100.

Other properties include a modern paper box factory, with a daily capacity of 35,000 boxes; a wooden box mill of modern concrete construction; a chocolate grinding plant, and a generating station within a few miles of Halifax, with a present capacity of 250 h.p., providing a large proportion of the power required for operation of the box and chocolate mills.

Gross sales	$347,964	$1,073,895	$2,752,421

Based on annual earnings for the four 4 years and 9 months ended Sept. 30 1925, after deduction of operating expenses, maintenance charges and local taxes, average earnings available for bond interest and depreciation were at the annual rate of $244,392—equivalent to over 3¾ times the annual interest of $65,000 on the 1st Mtge. Bonds now being issued. It is estimated that profits for the year ending Dec. 31, 1925, will be in excess of those of the previous year.

Sinking Fund.—The Trust Deed will provide that company shall pay to the trustee on January 1 in each year, commencing Jan. 1 1929, as an annual cumulative sinking fund for the redemption of 1st Mtge. Bonds, a sum equal to 2% of the aggregate principal amount of bonds previously issued under this mortgage, together with a sum equal to the interest on bonds previously redeemed through the sinking fund or otherwise. This sinking fund is to be used by the trustee for the purchase of bonds in the open market. Should sufficient bonds not be so acquired, the trustee shall call bonds to exhaust the sinking fund at the redemption price then in effect.

Company.—Incorp. in California in 1903. Entire capital stock with the exception of qualifying directors' shares, is owned by the Charles Nelson Co. of San Francisco, Calif. (capital and surplus, $15,481,250).

Security.—Direct obligation of company and secured by a first mortgage on all properties of the company located in Humboldt and Del Norte counties, Calif., including approximately 37,902 acres of timberland owned in fee simple, together with saw mills, manufacturing plants, logging railroads and equipment. In addition, bonds are secured by the pledge of all the capital stock of its subsidiary, the Arcata & Mad River RR., and by the assignment of the present equity of Charles Nelson Co. in the contract for the purchase of the Merryman timber tract consisting of approximately 12,746 acres. Total value of first mortgage security is given at $6,820,000, which together with equity in Merryman timber tract of $846,000, brings the total value of all security up to $7,666,000.

Penn., Conn., and Vermont 4 mills taxes, Maryland 4½ mills tax, District of Columbia 5 mills tax, Virginia 5½ mills tax, New Hampshire state tax not exceeding 3% of the interest per annum and Mass. state income tax not exceeding 6% of the interest per annum, refunded.

Security.—Secured by a first mortgage on a 6-story semi-fireproof elevator apartment building to be erected on land owned by the borrowers in fee on the Southeast corner of Union Avenue and Odell Place, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Building.—The building, which will occupy only about two-thirds of the plot will contain 47 apartments divided into suits of 2, 3, 4 and 5 rooms, served by an automatic elevator. The smaller units will contain dining alcoves and kitchenettes and the larger apartments will have full size kitchens.

Earnings.—Based on a conservative schedule which is much lower than the actual rentals being obtained elsewhere in New Rochelle, net earnings have been estimated at $28,686 per annum, after deducting taxes, operating expenses including insurance, and with a liberal allowance for vacancies. This sum is approximately $10,000 in excess of the greatest annual interest and principal requirements combined.

Borrowers.—Borrowing corporation is the Odell Court Corp.

Pacific Finance Corp.—Pref. Stock Offered.—Drake, Riley & Thomas, Los Angeles, are offering at 100 per share 10,000 shares 6½% Cum. Pref. (a. & d.) stock (par $100).

Dividends payable quarterly, Feb. Dividends exempt from normal Federal income tax. Exempt from personal property taxes in California. Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank, Los Angeles, registrar.

Company.—Organized in Jan. 1920 in California for purpose of financing partial payment contracts, municipal improvement warrants, bonds and other secured financial obligations. In addition, company owns (1) the entire capital stock of Rule & Sons, Inc., which conducts one of the largest general insurance businesses in the West, and (2) a modern 12-story office building now nearing completion in Los Angeles, a portion of which it will occupy and from which it will receive a substantial net income.

Earnings.—Net earnings in every year of its corporate existence have been at the rate of at least twice the dividend requirements of the Preferred stock outstanding during that year and for 9 months of 1925, are at annual rate of over 3 times dividend requirements on all preferred stock outstanding, including this issue. If total earnings but not paid to the corporation are included, net earnings would be at the rate of over 3½ times all Preferred dividend requirements.

Corporation is not entirely dependent upon the earnings of its finance operations, the net income from its general budiness (Rule & Sons, Inc.) alone being sufficient to vocer all Preferred dividend requirements. In addition it is estimated the new building will produce a further profit of approximately $100,000 per year over and above interest ontheinvestment requirements.

Capitalization—	Authorized	Outstanding
8% Pref. "A" (non-callable)	$2,000,000	$2,000,000

6½% Pref. "C" (this issue)	1,000,000	1,000,000
Common (paying 8%)	4,000,000	3,000,000

Purpose.—Capitalization of company is being increased to care for the increased volume of business available and to enable it to maintain its unusually conservative ratio of borrowing, it having been the established policy of the management to limit same to never more than twice the paid up capital and surplus despite the fact that the average finance company borrows five times its capital and surplus and banks average ten times. This limit of borrowing has a tendency to reduce profits but keeps the Corporation in a conservative liquid condition.

Company.—Incorporated in 1896, succeeding to a business founded in 1857. Is now the largest firm of its kind in the United States, furnishing and equipping in their entirety hotels, restaurants, careterias, soda fountains, clubs and similar institutions. Among its 100,000 active accounts, company also numbers many of the country's leading railroads, steamship companies, schools, hospitals and industrial concerns. In addition to furnishing original equipment, company also sells to such institutions their current replacement requirements. These replacement sales constitute a large part of the company's business, amounting to over two-thirds of the total sales in the last fiscal year.

By virtue of the variety of its merchandising activities—over 25,000 different articles are carried in stock—and of its great purchasing power with resulting price economies, the company occupies a particularly favorable position in its industry. Company owns a warehouse and manufacturing plant, having a floor area of over 13 acres, in the Central Manufacturing District of Chicago, where a large part of the kitchen, cafeteria and lunch room equipment sold by the company is made. Company also owns and operates a silverware factory in Bridgeport, Conn.

Sinking Fund.—On July 1 1926 and every 6 months thereafter company will provide a sinking fund sufficient for the redemption of $125,000 of Debentures by purchase at or below the then prevailing redemption price or, if not so obtainable, by call at that price.

Albert Pick & Company and L. Barth & Son, Inc.

Negotiations have been concluded whereby the business of L. Barth & Son, Inc., of New York will be affiliated, through a holding company, with that of Albert Pick & Co. The consummation of this transaction means that the two largest concerns in their field will come under the control of one management. Operating economies and advantages in purchasing should result in substantially increased earnings for both companies.

Data from Letter of K. F. MacLellan, President of the Company.

Company.—Has a successful record of more than 24 years in manufacturing and distributing a complete line of biscuits and crackers under the well-known trade name of "Crispo." The products, numbering over 105 varieties are sold both in packages and in bulk. Company was incorp. in 1901 with an original capital of $50,000 and has grown to its present size and net worth largely through reinvestment of the profits of the business.

Company owns a manufacturing plant centrally located in Chicago. The land owned in fee occupies almost an entire city block and consists of 43,650 sq. ft. of ground, upon which is located 2 modern, fully equipped, reinforced concrete bakeries with brick walls, one 4 stories and one 5 stories high, having a total of 202,000 sq. ft. of floor space.

Earnings.—Net operating profits, after depreciation and after eliminating certain non-productive expenses which will be discontinued, available for interest charges and Federal income taxes for calendar years:

x 4 months estimated.

Sinking Fund.—On or before Nov. 1 of each year company will pay to the trustee the sum of $25,000 to be applied within 30 days to the purchase of these bonds or, failing such purchase to the prompt redemption of these bonds by lot in accordance with the mortgage provisions. Company is entitled to deliver bonds of this issue in lieu of cash, to satisfy the payments to the sinking fund.

Management.—The ownership of the company and of the Union Biscuit Co. of St. Louis is being acquired by the United Biscuit Co. which will permit a combined operation that may be expected to increase the earnings of each subsidiary.—V. 121, p. 2650.

Seagrave Corporation.—Usual Common Dividend.—The directors have declared a quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share or 2½% in Common stock at the option of the stockholders, on the Common stock, payable Jan. 20, to holders of record Dec. 31. Distributions of like amount were made on the Common stock in April, July and Oct. last.—V. 121, p. 2052.

Sears, Roebuck & Co., Chicago.—To Build Plant.—President C. M. Kittle recently stated that the company would shortly begin building a mail order plant in Atlanta, Ga., where they will also open a retail store. Ground will be broken soon and work begun so that the store will be in operation next fall.—V. 121, p. 2765, 2286.

Seiberling Rubber Co.—Dividend Accruals Paid.—Checks were mailed Dec. 15 by the company to all stockholders of record as of Dec. 5, covering final payment (4%) of deferred dividend on its 8% Preferred stock. An authoritative statement says: The company commenced operations in 1922 in the depth of the depression in the rubber industry. Finding it necessary to conserve its financial resources until established on a sound basis, no dividends were paid for three years. Commencing January of this year 2% monthly has been paid regularly, making 26% for the year, clearing the way not only for regular quarterly dividends on the Preferred stock in the future, but also for the payment of dividends on the Common stock, which it is anticipated will be accomplished during 1926.

"Sales for 1925 will total approximately $12,000,000—breaking all records for a new brand of tire. This company now has retail distribution through 5,000 dealers. A $200,000 factory addition now nearing completion, will permit of a 50% increase in sales during 1926—$18,000,000 being the estimated Seiberling sales volume for next year."—V. 121, p. 3017, 2053,.

Skinner Building (Fifth Avenue Building Co.), Seattle.—Bonds Offered.—Dean Witter & Co., San Francisco, are offering at prices to yield from 5½ to 6% according to maturity $500,000 1st Mtge. Leasehold 6% Serial Gold bds.

Dated Oct. 15 1925; due serially April 15 & Oct. 15 1928-37 incl. Prin. and int. (A. & O.) payable at National Bank of Commerce, Seattle, trustee. Denom. of $1,000 and $500 c*. Red. all or part on any int. date upon 60 days' notice at 102½ and int.; the premium, however, not to exceed ½ of 1% for each year or fraction thereof of unexpired life at time of redemption, and the redemption price to be never less than par and int. Bonds are free of normal Federal income tax up to 2%.

Fifth Avenue Building Co. was organized for the purpose of building a Class A office, store, theatre and studio building. A part of the store space has been rented to I. Magnin & Co., the largest exclusive women's apparel chain store on the Pacific Coast, and the theatre portion of the building has been rented to the Washington State Theatres, Inc. Both leases are for a period beyond the last maturity of these bonds and the rentals from these two leases alone equal a sum larger than the entire interest and sinking fund requirements of these bonds.

The Skinner Building now under construction will be an 8-story fireproof, class A building costing approximately $1,500,000 and will occupy the entire block frontage on the east side of Fifth Avenue in the City of Seattle between Union and University streets. This property is held under a favorable lease from the Metropolitan Building Co. running to Oct. 31 1954. The latter company itself holding a lease upon the entire 10-acre tract, of which this is a part, running to Nov. 1 1954. The Supreme Court of the State has held on three different occasions that buildings and real estate on this property are exempt from State and local taxes, except local improvement assessments and a tax on the leasehold. The savings in taxes, therefore, more than equals the entire carrying charges on these bonds.

Management.—Company will be under the management of Wm. Edris, Pres.; Thomas D. Stimson, 1st V.-Pres.; Paul M. Henry, 2nd V-Pres.; Walter Douglas, Treas.; George Douglas, Sec.; D. E. Skinner, G. W. Skinner, J. F. Douglas, E. H. Stuart, F. C. Talbot, Edward Middleton and A. Scott Bullitt.

Sinking Fund.—Under the sinking fund agreement corporation covenants to deposit with trustee monthly in anticipation of interest and serial payments each year an amount equal to one-twelfth of the annual interest on these bonds plus one-sixth of the amount of the semi-annual serial retirement.

Sheridan Road (Kraemer Bldg. Corp.), Chicago.—Bonds Offered.—Greenebaum Sons Investment Co. are offering at par and int. (except maturities up to Dec. 1 1929, which are offered at 101 and int.), $1,300,000 1st Mtge. 6½% Serial Gold bonds.

Dated Dec. 1 1925; due serially Dec. 1 1927-1940. Denom. $100, $500 and $1,000. Interest payable J. & D. 2% Federal normal income tax and all State taxes up to 5 mills of principal amount paid by borrower, Kraemer Building Corp. Principal and interest payable at offices of Greenebaum Sons Investment Co. Monthly deposits in advance with Greenebaum Sons Bank & Trust Co., Chicago, trustee, required to meet interest and principal payments. Privilege to prepay by giving 60 days written notice, at a premium of 3%, in addition to principal and int., according to terms of trust deed.

Security.—Modern 9-story building of fireproof construction, completed and in successful operation. The structure contains 24 superb apartments, and in addition a 10-room bungalow with sleeping porch and 4 baths, on the roof. Each of the 8 stories above the first contains one apartment of 16 rooms and 6 baths, fronting on Sheridan Road, and 2 apartments of 10 rooms, 4 and 5 baths, respectively, fronting on Roscoe St. In addition there is an attractive 14-room apartment on the first floor and quarters for the accommodation of servants.

Actual cost of land and completed building was approximately $2,000,000.

Income.—Based upon actual leases, the building has a gross rental value of $227,800, and with operating expenses at $60,000, net rental value is placed at $167,800, which is approximately twice the maximum annual interest charges on the entire issue, reduced annually. As additional security for the bondholders, all apartment leases are assigned to and the rents collected by the trustee. The entire earnings comprise part of the security for the First Mortgage.

Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C.—Receivership.—The Shoreham Hotel, at 15th and H Streets, Northwest, Washington, D. C. went into the hands of a receiver Dec. 23. The petition was filed by Robert C. Dove, Pres. of the corporation. The summer slump and competition by hotels which cater to the tourist trade was responsible for the financial condition of the corporation, Mr. Dove stated. Louis S. Levy was appointed receiver and was instructed to continue the bsuiness. The hotel property is mortgaged for $1,024,000 and its outstanding obligations amount to over $200,000 additional. The value of the property is $1,650,000. Most of the stock is owned by the estate of J. Maury Dove.

"Snia Viscosa" (Societa Nazionale Industria Applicazioni Viscosa), Turin, Italy.—Stock Offered.—E. F. Hutton & Co. and Harvey Fisk & Sons, New York, are offering at $16 per share depositary receipts representing 600,000 fully paid shares of the capital stock of the company. This offering does not represent new financing by the company but is arranged to facilitate the development of an international market for the company's shares.

Deliveries under this offering will be made in the form of depositary receipts of Chase National Bank, New York, representing fully paid shares of the capital stock of "Snia Viscosa" deposited under an agreement with Chase National Bank, as depositary. Dividends will be payable in New York to the registered holders of depositary receipts, by check in U. S. dollars out of the proportionate amount realized by the depositary from the exchange into dollars, of the lire dividends received.

Capitalization.—5,000,000 shares (200 lire par value), 1,000,000,000 lire (3,000,000 shares are fully paid, and the remaining 2,000,000 are paid to the extent of 70%, the other 30% being callable at the option of the company at any time. The partly paid shares only rank for dividends, according to the sums paid up, from Jan. 1 1926 and are not entitled to any dividends in respect of the year 1925).

Data From Letter of Chairman R. Gualino, Turin, Italy, Dec. 17.

History & Business.—The "Snia Viscosa" is one of the three largest producers of artificial silk in the world, and with a capitalization of 1,000,000,000 lire, is the largest company of any character in Italy. Company was organized in 1917 in Turin, and in its brief existence has had a career of rapid development. In 1920 it began the production of artificial silk and other textile fibres, to which it now devotes itself exclusively. It is the dominating factor in the artificial silk industry in Italy and is developing along sound lines at a rate which is commented on as a remarkable event in this new and rapidly growing industry. Sound economic factors peculiar to Italy among the artificial silk producing countries, are responsible for this development. Italy occupied the seventh place in 1922 in the world's production of artificial silk. It occupied the fourth place in 1924. For the present year it is estimated that it will be second. This rapid advance is due p imarily to the plentiful labor supply, the abundance of hydro-electric power, and the supply of essential chemicals which are available in Italy.

Properties.—The "Snia Viscosa" has three large factories at Pavia, Venaria Reale and Cesano Maderno, Italy, and a fourth large plant nearing completion at Turin. In addition to these mills for the manufacture of artificial silk yarn the company, through subsidiaries, owns factories at Rumianca and at Venaria Reale for the production of various raw materials used in its manufacturing process (sulphur, caustic soda and carbon bisulphide), mills for the production of various types of artificial silk manufactured goods, principally hosiery and knitted goods, at Ferrara, Padua and Reggio Emilia, and machine works where it is now making its own machinery to an increasing extent. Abroad, the company controls the only artificial silk factory in Poland (at Warsaw) with a daily production of 6,600 pounds. The floor space of the factories in Italy solely owned or controlled by "Snia Viscosa" which is occupied by plant, covers more than 450,000 square yards.

The company's employees now exceed 20,000, and by Jan. 1 1927, when the new plant at Turin is in production, the number will be substantially increased.

Growth & Production.—The remarkable growth of the "Snia Viscosa" is most forcefully told in the record of production and earnings. Company's additional plant capacity which is now under construction and which should be in production in 1926, will, it is expected, increase the annual production to the phenomenal figure of 40,000,000 pounds in 1926. Following are the production figures:

(In Pounds)—	Yearly Output.	Maximum Daily Production End of December.
1920	1,186,853	4,079
1921	2,024,138	7,496
1922	3,703,100	13,007
1923	6,601,176	26,896
1924	11,687,526	54,454
1925 (partly estimated)	19,800,000	99,000
1926 (estimated)	40,000,000	200,000

In Oct. 1925 the company had on its books unfilled orders in excess of 5,511,500 pounds. I estimate our output for the year 1924 was approximately 8% of the world's production of artificial silk, and equal to 30% of the entire production in the United States in that year and for the year 1925 more than 11% of the world's production.

The products of the "Snia Viscosa" are now known all over the world. About 70% of the company's output is sold in foreign markets.

Net Earnings, After Taxes, Available for Dividends (Converted at Current Rate of Exchange, $.04 Per Lira).

1923	$1,125,000	1925 (9 months)	$4,490,000
1924	2,403,000

It should further be noted that earnings as shown above do not reflect any benefit from the 2,000,000 shares (70% paid) issued in 1925, the proceeds of which are being used to increase the company's plant capacity.

Dividends.—Dividends of approximately 64 cents a share were paid on the capital stock in 1923, 80 cents in 1924, and the management will recommend at the shareholders' meeting a dividend of 25 lire, or approximately $1 per share in Feb. 1926 for the year ending Dec. 31 1925.

Red. all or part, upon 30 days' notice at 107½ and divs. Baltimore Trust Co., Baltimore, registrar; Fidelity Trust Co., Baltimore transfer agent.

Data from Letter of President E. Everett Gibbs, Baltimore Dec. 18.

Company.—Incorp. in Maryland in 1901 with a capital of $5,000. Its present worth is represented solely by earnings, as no additional capital has been introduced, excepting this new issue of pref. stock. Company manufactures and supplies tin cans to the growing canned food industry in Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and New Jersey. Also manufactures a general line of plain and decorated cans for consumers throughout the eastern and southern parts of the United States. In acquiring the Columbia Graphaphone plant, the company will have ample space to lease for storage and manufacturing purposes. Some of this space has already been leased on a satisfactory basis.

Purpose.—Proceeds will be used to acquire the Columbia Graphaphone Co. plant located on East Biddle St., Baltimore, Md., consisting of approximately 66 acres of land and modern buildings with a floor space of about 600,000 sq. ft. and to defray expenses in moving. This will make possible concentration into one plant with ample space and effect large economies in operation.

Earnings.—Net earnings, after interest and taxes, but before depreciation, for the 3 years and 11 months ended Nov. 30 1925 have averaged $187,000 or 2.1 times the annual dividends on the preferred stock. For the 11 months ended Nov. 30 1925, these dividends were earned at the rate of 2.8 times.

Southern Dairies, Inc.—Initial Dividend.—An initial quarterly dividend of $1 per share has been declared on the outstanding Class "A" stock, no par value, payable Jan. 31 to holders of record Jan. 15.—V. 121, p. 2765.

South Penn Oil Co.—To Change Par Value.—The stockholders will vote Jan. 19 on reducing the par value of the $20,000,000 capital stock (all outstanding), from $100 to $25 per share. It is proposed to issue four new shares for each share held. —V. 121, p. 2765.

Standard Oil Co. (California).—Seeks Tax Refund.—Referring to the press dispatches relative to this company's taxes, President K. R. Kingsbury stated: "This company for the years 1918, 1919 and 1920 made an overpayment of taxes, and is entitled to refund for such overpayment. The amount of such refund is dependent on whether or not the company is permitted, in accordance with an option under the regulations of the Internal Revenue Department, to change its system of accounting by charging its development costs during the years in question to expense rather than to capital. Such practice in accounting is not unusual with oil companies. No question of tax evasion is involved, but, on the contrary, whichever way the question pending in the Department is decided, the company will be entitled to a refund."—V. 120, p. 2810.

Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.—New Treasurer.—S. B. Hunt, Vice-President, has been chosen Treasurer, succeeding George H. Jones, who was recently made Chairman of the board. Mr. Hunt had previously been Treasurer of the company from Jan. 10 1917 to Aug. 21 1919.

The resignation of George W. Mayer, director in charge of domestic market operations, effective Dec. 31 1925, also was announced.—V. 121, p. 2889.

Standard Oil of N. Y.—25% Stock Dividend.—It is announced that the company will distribute on or about Feb. 1 one share of stock for each four shares held by stockholders of record on Jan. 15 1926 and send checks for the value of fractional shares based on the average stock market price ex-dividend between Jan. 15 and Jan. 30. No fractional certificates will be issued.—V. 121, p. 2766.

Standard Steel Car Co., Pittsburgh.—Buys Plant.—The company on Dec. 14 purchased the Siems-Stembel car building plant in St. Paul, Minn., for, it is said, more than $1,000,000.—V. 118, p. 1280.

Stix, Baer & Fuller Co.—Stock Sold.—Lorenzo E. Anderson & Co., Paul Brown & Co., Francis, Bro. & Co. and Waldheim, Platt & Co., Inc., St. Louis, have sold at $33.50 per share 50,000 shares Common stock (without par value).

Data From Letter of Aaron Fuller, President of the Company.

Company.—Incorp. in 1901, succeeding to a business established and in continuous operation since 1892. Company conducts a modern department store in St. Louis, located in the center of the retail shopping district and occupying an entire city block. After the completion of this financing, the company will own the entire Capital stocks of the Leader Building Co. and the Arthur Real Estate Co., which companies own the buildings and long-term leaseholds (including fee simple title to a lot of ground at the southeast corner of 7th St. and Lucas Ave.) occupied under lease by the Stix, Baer & Fuller Co., and covering the entire city block bounded by Sixth and Seventh Streets and Washington and Lucas Avenues. The funded debt of the Leader Building Co. is $679,500—and of the Arthur Real Estate Co. is $885,500. The rentals received by these companies are sufficient to liquidate this indebtedness by Oct. 1 1933, through annual payments.

Profits.—Average annual net earnings of the company, applicable to dividends on the 266,000 shares of no par value stock presently to be outstanding, including the income of the Arthur Real Estate Co. and the Leader Building Co., after deducting all charges, including Federal taxes and 7% dividend requirement on the outstanding Pref. stock (the net earnings of the fiscal year ending Jan. 31 1926, being estimated), have been as follows: for the one year period—$4.07 per share; for the 3-year period—$3.51 per share; for the 4-year—$3.32 per share; for the 5-year period—$2.92 per share; and for the 10-year period—$2.24 per share.

Data from Letter of John C. Eden, President of the Company.

Company.—Is being incorporated in State of Washington to acquire all of the properties, business and assets of the Superior Portland Cement Co., thereby succeeding in interest to a business established in 1907. At the inception of this business an initial capital of $600,000 was paid into its treasury. Company has grown to its present size without the addition of outside capital. In 1919 the company issued $1,000,000 6% bonds maturing serially, 1923 to 1935 to the Washington Portland Cement Co. in part payment of that company's plants and properties. These bonds had all been retired out of earnings by Nov. 5 1924. In 1924 the company supplied approximately 56% of all the Portland cement shipped in the State of Washington.

Company owns one of the finest deposits of limestone, the basis of the Portland cement industry, to be found anywhere on the Pacific Coast. Engineers estimate an available supply sufficient at present capacity to supply mills for over 75 years. The lime rock is conveyed by an aerial tramway 6,600 ft. long to the company's six-kiln "wet process" plant. This plant has a capacity of 5,000 barrels of clinker, or raw cement, per day. It is equipped, however, with ample "clinker storage," and can grind 7,000 barrels per day of finished cement. This enables the company to increase its output economically when demand is at the peak.

Earnings.—For the three years ended Dec. 31 1925 the productive capacity, net sales, and net income available for depreciation, depletion, interest, income taxes and dividends (with two months of 1925 estimated) are as follows:

	Productive Capacity in Bbls.	Net Sales.	a Net Earnings.
1923	1,387,000	$2,557,604	$996,212
1924	1,387,000	2,293,296	909,986
1925	1,825,000	3,144,366	1,082,611

a Available for income taxes and divs., deprec., depletion, and interest.

The annual average of such net income for the above three years is at the rate of $9 96 per share of Class A Partic. stock, while such earnings after depletion, depreciation, interest charges and income taxes, amount to $7 46 per share of Class A stock against annual dividend requirements of $3 30.

The predecessor company has not failed to show a profit in any of the 17 years of its corporate existence. Dividends have been paid monthly without interruption for over 10 years.

Data From Letter of Pres. W. Ahlstrom, Boston, Dec. 22.

Company.—Incorp. in Delaware Dec., 1925. Has been formed by prominent Swedish interests together with American interests, and it owns, or will own upon application of proceeds of present financing, stocks and other securities including holdings in important and successful banks, real estate companies and industrial companies in Sweden and other countries. Under its charter the corporation may, among other things, acquire, hold and sell securities either of the present companies in which it now holds investments or of other companies or of governments or municipalities, and may issue its own securities for the acquisition of such other investments.

In addition to the investments which the corporation will acquire through the issuance of its Common stock and this Participating Preferred stock it will be prepared to make further investments if deemed advisable by its directors either with funds already provided, or with proceeds of issuance of the remaining authorized amount of this Participating Preferred stock, or with proceeds of issuance of bonds, debentures, additional Participating Preferred stock or other Preferred stock, which may hereafter be duly authorized and available for such purpose.

Capitalization (Upon Completion of Present Financing.)

	Authorized.	Outstanding.

a Representing equity valued at $30,216,000.

Purpose.—Proceeds will provide funds for the acquisition of somewhat less than one-third of the total assets to be owned by the corporation upon completion of the present financing. The balance, amounting to more than two-thirds of the total assets, will be acquired solely in exchange for the corporation's Common stock.

Assets.—Net assets of the corporation, upon completion of present financing, available for the corporation's Preferred and Common stocks, based upon conservative valuations, will amount to $45,216,000, or more than 3 times the total par value of this Participating Preferred stock now to be outstanding. The assets, with their approximate values in dollars, will then consist of:

Grangesberg Co. stock: Company is largest iron ore producer in Europe, and exports about one-half of iron ore, in iron content, sold for export in world. Outstanding capitalization Kr. 119,000,000. Present dividend rate 17%.
Swedish Match Co. stock: Company with its subsidiaries is largest match manufacturing organization in the world. Outstanding capitalization, Kr. 180,000,000. Present dividend rate 12%. Earnings of company and its two principal predecessors during last 18 years have not been less than 17% in any year.
Real estate stocks	18,227,000
Hufvudstaden Real Estate Co. stock: Company is largest owner of city real estate in Sweden.
Reality Co: Owing, or controlling through stock ownership, valuable city real estate in Germany, entire capital stock owned, equity valued at $12,800,000.
Bank stocks: Stocks of banks in various European countries	6,032,000
Notes secured by real estate mortgages: Fcs. (Swiss) 18,000,000	3,474,000
Cash: Available for further investments	2,770,000
Total	$45,216,000

Earnings.—Earnings represented by present annual net income from the above assets (after deducting allowance for U. S. Federal taxes) are in excess of $2,435,000 a year, or approximately 2½ times the $975,000 required for the fixed cumulative Preferred dividend of 6½% per annum on total Participating Preferred stock to be outstanding upon completion of this financing. In addition to these distributed earnings there are substantial undistributed earnings accrued but not shown or included in these figures. Corporation will also have cash and investments aggregating more than $4,470,000 from which no income is included.

Grangesberg Co.—(Trafikaktiebolaget Grangesberg-Oxelosund) has 119,000,000 Kronor outstanding capital stock, of which the stock to be owned by the Swedish American Investment Corp. will constitute the largest single holding. It owns, directly or through subsidiary companies, rich and extensive iron ore deposits in Sweden. It is the largest and most important iron ore producing company in Sweden, is the largest iron ore producing company in Europe, and exports approximately one-half of the iron ore exported in the world. Company was incorp. in 1896, but through one of its principal subsidiaries, the Grangesberg Mining Co., the history of the ore and mining properties which it now controls extends back over a period of 42 years to 1883. Properties owned, or controlled through stock ownership, by the Grangesberg Co. include the greater part of the developed properties in the rich Kiruna and Gellivara fields in northern Sweden, producing ore ranging between 60% and 70% in iron content; properties in the Grangesberg field in central Sweden, producing ore averaging approximately 60% iron content; and the railroad property from the Grangesberg field to the port of Oxelosund on the Baltic Sea. Total production of the Grangesberg Co. at the present time is at the annual rate of 7,000,000 tons to 8,000,000 tons of ore.

Swedish Match Co.—(Svenska Tandsticks Aktiebolaget) controls companies owning 20 match manufacturing plants in Sweden (business of oldest founded 1845), and match manufacturing companies in other countries. Through the International Match Corp., which it controls by majority stock ownership, the Swedish Match Co. also controls companies owning 75 match manufacturing plants in various European and other countries outside of Sweden, and Vulcan Match Co., Inc., (sales company) in the United States. The Swedish Match Co. and its subsidiaries have over 45,000 employees. Outstanding capital stock of Swedish Match Co. amounts to 180,000,000 Kr., par value, is now paying dividends at the rate of 12% per annum and is quoted above 200% of par on the London Stock Exchange. Net profits of the Swedish Match Co. and its two principal predecessors during the last 22 years, have averaged 24.96% on Common stock from time to time outstanding, and have not during the last 18 years been less than 17% in any year.

Hufvudstaden Real Estate Co.—(Fastighetsaktiebolaget Hufvudstaden) has outstanding capital stock of 16,000,000 Kronor, divided into 1,000,000 Kronor Common stock and 15,000,000 Kronor Participating Preferred stock. Company is the largest owner of city real estate in Sweden, and has in recent years been paying dividends at the rate of 8% per annum on both Common and Participating Preferred stocks, with earnings at a rate substantially greater. The present valuation of its shares, in the corporation's assets, is 150% of par. The Realty Co., owning, or controlling through stock ownership, city real estate in Germany, will represent an equity, valued in the corporation's assets at $12,800,000, in income producing properties including particularly valuable and important blocks of real estate in Berlin. This property includes twelve important business buildings and apartment houses, the business buildings having outstanding locations in the central parts of Berlin. The equity has been appraised by a sworn German official appraiser 25% above the value at which it will be taken over by the Swedish American Investment Corp. The stock of this company will be owned in its entirety by the Swedish American Investment Corp.

Management.—Directors will include: Ivar Kreuger, Chairman; W. Ahlstrom, Pres.; N. Penrose Hallowell, (Lee, Higginson & Co.); P. A. Rockefeller; Edwin S. Webster, (Pres. Stone & Webster, Inc.); James H. Perkins, (Pres. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co.); Krister Littorin, (V.-Pres. International Match Corp.); Donald Durant, (Lee, Higginson & Co.); George Murnane, (V.-Pres. New York Trust Co.); Ray Morris, (Brown Brothers & Co.); Henry V. Poor, (Larkin, Rathbone & Perry); and A. Jordahl, (Pres. American Kreuger & Toll Corp.).

Swift Internacional Co.—Smaller Dividend.—

The directors have declared a semi-annual dividend of 60c. a share, compared with 90c. paid semi-annualy heretofore. A statement issued by the board said that the directors voted to reduce the dividend to a $1.20 a share annual basis "in order to conserve the strong financial position of the company, owing to the unsatisfactory condition in the trade."

The dividend just declared is payable Feb. 15 to holders of record Jan. 15.—V. 120, p. 3077.

Syracuse (N. Y.) Washing Machine Co.—To Retire Preferred.—

It is announced that the corporation will redeem $100,000 of its outstanding Pref. stock at $115 per share, which is in accord with the action taken by the directors on Sept. 29 1925. This leaves outstanding $300,000 of Pref. stock.—V. 121, p. 3017.

Texon Oil & Land Co.—6% Cash & 10% Stock Div.—

The directors have declared a 6% cash dividend on the capital stock, par $1 (except the shares held by the Cromwell and Loomis interests on which a 3% stock dividend has been declared). A 10% stock dividend also has been declared on all the stock except that held by the Cromwell and Loomis interests on which a 3 1-3% stock dividend has been declared. Both the cash and stock dividends are payable Dec. 29 to holders of record Dec. 24. On July 10 and Oct. 10 last, dividends of 5% in cash were paid on the stock.

The directors of the Group No. 1 Oil Corp. have declared another dividend of $200 a share payable Dec. 26 to holders of record Dec. 22. This will make a total of $1,425 a share distributed by this company during the current year. The Texon Oil & Land Co. owns a substantial interest in the Group No. 1 Oil Corp.—V. 121, p. 2287.

Tremont & Suffolk Mills.—New Directors, &c.—

George S. Mumford, President of the Atlantic National Bank, Boston, and Borden Covel have been elected directors to fill vacancies.

Fred W. Steele, who at the end of the year will sever his connection as treasurer of the Booth Manufacturing Co., New Bedford, has been elected treasurer and manager of the Tremont & Suffolk Mills.—V. 120, p. 2561.

Union Metal Manufacturing Co.—Extra Dividend.—

The directors have declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a share and the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on the Common stock, no par value, both payable Jan. 1 to holders of record Dec. 20.—See also V. 121, p. 88.

Western Electric Co.—Forms New Company to Take Care of Electrical Supply Business.—The electrical supply business carried on by the Western Electric Co. has been set apart from the telephone manufacturing business and incorporated under the name Graybar Electric Co. Physical separation of the two distinct branches was carried out in 1923. The new company is the largest merchandiser of electric supplies in the world. It operates 55 distributing houses in important cities and serves more than 35,000 customers.

The Graybar Electric Co. is capitalized at $15,000,000 all of which is owned by the Western Electric Co. Charles G. DuBois, President of the Western Electric Co., is Chairman of the Board. Albert Lincoln Salt is Pres. of the Graybar Co., Frank A. Keycham, Gen. Mgr. of the Western Electric Supply Department, becomes Executive Vice-Pres.; George F. Cullinan, Gen. Sales Mgr., becomes Vice-Pres. in charge of sales; and Leo M. Dunn, General Merchandise Manager, becomes Vice-President in charge of merchandising and accounting. Elmer W. Shepard, General Credit Manager of the Western Electric Co. has been made Treasurer, and N. R. Frame, an attorney in the Legal Department of the Western Electric Co., has been made Secretary of the Graybar Electric Co.

The directors of the new company include George E. Cullinan, Charles G. DuBois, Leo M. Dunn, R. H. Gregory (Comptroller of the Western Electric Co.); Howard A. Halligan (Vice-Pres. of the Western Electric Co.), Frank A. Ketcham, George C. Pratt (General Attorney fo the Western Co.), Albert L. Salt and William P. Sidley (Vice.-Pres. and General Counsel of the Western Co.).

The new company handles a wide variety of supplies. It will continue the sale of all Western Electric made equipment which it has sold heretofore. Apparatus, such as motors, generators, electric lamps, industrial and other lighting equipment, household appliances, etc., formerly sold under the Western Electric name, will now be sold under the trade name "Graybar." The new company will be concerned with radio through its sale of broadcasting apparatus and other radio telephone equipment which the Western Electric Co. may manufacture. Other supplies entering into the Graybar business are poles, pole line equipment, wire, cable and accessories for electrical contractors and dealers.

Important organization changes in the Western Electric Co. were voted at the annual meeting of the stockholders held this week; Jay B. Odell, Assistant to the President of the Western Electric Co., becomes Vice-Pres. in charge of purchases and traffic, succeeding A. L. Salt who has been elected President of the Graybar Electric Co. F. L. Gilman, Manager of the Kearny Works, becomes Treasurer, succeeding J. W. Johnston; C. G. Stoll, Manager of the Hawthorne Works in Chicago, has been appointed General Manager of manufacturing, having charge of all manufacturing in addition to his present duties; R. C. Dodd, Assistant Manager of the Kearny Works, has been appointed Works Manager at Kearny under Mr. Stoll. Jay B. Odell, C. G. Stoll and George C. Pratt, have been elected directors, succeeding A. L. Salt, J. W. Johnston and Frank A. Ketcham. These changes are effective Jan. 1.—V. 121, p. 1803.

Data from Letter of Pres. Harry G. Stoddard, Dec. 5.

Company.—Recently organized in Massachusetts. Has acquired all the property and business, including trade names, good-will, and Associated Press franchises of the Worcester Telegram Publishing Co. Such business consists, principally, of the publication in the City of Worcester, Mass., of the Worcester "Daily Telegram" (the only morning paper published in the city or county of Worcester), the Worcester "Evening Gazette," and the "Sunday Telegram" (the only Sunday newspaper published in the said city or county). The average net paid circulation of these newspapers, as determined by the last examination of the Audit Bureau of Circulation to June 30 1925, was 92,326 daily and 50,962 Sunday.

The papers enjoy the benefit of Associated Press dispatches, and syndicated matter of prominent and popular writers and artists. The daily "Telegram" was founded in 1886, the Sunday "Telegram" in 1884, and the "Gazette" was founded as a weekly in 1801 and as a daily in 1851. These papers were consolidated in January 1921 and the circulation has increased since that date approximately 50%. The daily "Telegram" has the largest circulation of any morning newspaper in New England outside of the City of Boston, and the "Evening Gazette," with one exception, has the largest evening circulation in New England outside of Boston.

Capitalization Authorized and Outstanding

1st Mtge. (closed) 6% Sinking Fund Gold bonds, due Dec. 1 1945 (this issue)	$800,000
7% Cumulative Preferred stock, par $100	750,000
Common stock, par $100	600,000

Security.—Secured by a first (closed) lien on all the land, buildings, machinery and equipment, subject only to certain rights-of-way over part of the land and a party wall agreement, as well as a first lien on all tangible property used in the publication of the newspapers mentioned above and constituting the plant of the company. American Appraisal Co. as of Oct. 31 1925 placed the sound value of the land, buildings, machinery and equipment at $1,208,011, or over 1½ times the entire issue of the bonds.

Sinking Fund.—As a sinking fund for the retirement of the bonds, the company will on or before Nov. 1 of each year, beginning with the year 1927, pay or deliver to the trustee for the bonds $40,000 in cash and (or) bonds of this issue at cost to the company not exceeding the current redemption price. It is expected that the sinking fund will retire at least 92% of the bonds before maturity.

Earnings.—The benefits received from the acquisition of the "Gazette" in the consolidation with the "Telegram" became effective Jan. 1 1922, and for the past four years (incl. Dec. 1925 estimated) the average annual net earnings, after deducting adequate depreciation but before Federal taxes, have exceeded four times the annual interest requirement on this bond issue, and in no one of those years have such net earnings been less than four times such interest requirement.

Officers and directors are: Pres., Harry G. Stoddard; V.-Pres. & Treas., George F. Booth; Clerk, Frank C. Smith Jr

CURRENT NOTICES.

—"White Gold, The Wealth of the New West" is the title of a copyrighted booklet which Rutter & Co., 14 Wall St., New York, is distributing in an attractive Christmas envelope. The scope of the booklet is thus described in the "Foreword":—"This booklet is not intended to be a technical discussion of the Western financing in which we have participated in the last few years. It is simply a collection of historical data and personal reminiscences which various members of our organization picked up during the course of their investigations on the ground. The formal data has already been covered in other publications which we will gladly furnish on request."

—The Chamber of Commerce of the City of Pensacola, Florida, has issued a statement announcing that the embargo placed by the American Railway Express on all express shipments into Florida except food stuffs does not apply to Pensacola and West Florida. "There is no embargo at Pensacola and West Firodia" the statement says, "on incoming or outgoing shipments excepting household goods and second hand furniture." It was stated that the shipping congesteon in Florida exists almost entirely South of Jacksonville.

—A luncheon meeting of the Women's Bond Club of New York was held at the Bankers Club on Wednesday of this week. William W. Townsend, Sales Manager of J. G. White & Co. and the author of "Bond Salesmanship" was the speaker. The Women's Bond Club has a membership of about 30, and is composed of young women who have successfully sold investment securities, for houses of reliable standing, in New York City for at least one year. Suzanne Schulman of Bigelow & Co. is President, and Harriet Hoadrick of Bonbright & Co. Vice-President.

Receipts at Rio during December were 288,000; at Santos, 582,000; total, 870,000 bags. Since July 1, at Rio, 2,540,000; at Santos, 4,497,000; total, 7,037,000 bags. During the same time in 1924-25, 2,383,000 at Rio; 4,893,000 at Santos; total, 7,276,000 bags. During the same time in 1923-24, 2,096,000 at Rio, 4,838,000 at Santos; total, 6,934,000 bags. On Thursday spot trade was dull and the tone rather weak at 17¼ to 17½c. for Rio 7s and 22¾ to 23¼c. for Santos 4s. Later they were irregular; futures advanced on the cables and covering. Some of the bulls stress the efforts to get a new Brazilian loan and the idea that Brazil has a firm grip on the coffee situation. Also talk of a smaller Brazilian crop for next year. The circulation on the 23rd inst. of 17 December notices did not have any markedly depressing effect. The early cables fell equal to 10 points at New York on Santos and were down 15 to 30 points on Rio, but Rio was still well above the New York level. Havre rose about ½c. January shorts seemed disposed to cover on the 23rd inst. The Brazilian "Review" says: "News from the interior rather points to a really moderate yield for 1926-27 as all the strength seems to have gone into the foliage which is, so it is said, abnormally luxuriant and in a measure detrimental to the development of the sparse flowerings." It is stated that the State of Sao Paulo wants to borrow $50,000,000 to "protect the price of coffee". In Rio, it is asserted, that the loan can probably be obtained in London.

On Thursday futures were a little inclined to sag on further December notices for delivery. At one time prices were 10 to 22 points lower but they rallied later. Trade interests were buying in the later transactions; 1926 deliveries acted very well, despite a decline in Santos of 200 to 400 reis. Rio was 50 reis lower to 200 higher. Rio exchange on London was 1-64d lower at 7 13-16d. The dollar rate advanced 10 reis to 6$870. Santos 4s were 21¾ to 22c. Final prices show a rise for the week of 10 to 23 points.

SUGAR.—Raw was quiet. Some 17,000 bags of Cuban raws prompt sold at 2 11-32c. c. & f. an advance of 1-32c. over the last paid price. Cuban raw was dull at 2⅜c. later. Refined was quiet at 5.20 to 5.30c. At times Front St. wire houses and Wall St. bought later months but some trade and Wall St. interests sold futures freely. Some Chicago and Wall St. interests are working on the short side. There is said to be a very large short account among foreign interests. Some of it has been covered lately. Cuban and European shorts covered. Some took in hedges against raw sugar. This acted as a brace. Yet there was a certain amount of realizing at a rise. and there was some selling of new crop months. F. O. Licht has reduced his estimate of the German beet crop from 1,680,000 to 1,630,000 tons. British prices fell with Cubas offered at 10s 9d. c. i. f. Cuban cables reported all labor troubles settled. Grinding is expected to become general. Number of mills now grinding is 67; against 66 a year ago. In futures there was a sharp demand from the shorts on the 22nd inst. for distant months. Much of it was for account, it appears, of an international operator recently deceased.

The December estimate of the U. S. Agricultural Department places the domestic sugar beet acreage for 1925 at 667,000; production per acre 10.39, total crop 6,932,000 tons comparing with 1924 acreage of 817,000, production per acre 8.66 and crop 7,075,000 tons. United States Atlantic ports receipts for the week ending Dec. 28th were 66,600 tons against 73,823 in the previous week, 13,722 last year and 13,504 two years ago; meltings 57,000 against 63,000 in previous week, 22,000 last year and 33,000 two years ago; total stock 65,751 against 56,151 in previous week, 22,576 last year and 24,146 two years ago. Receipts at Cuban ports for the week ended Dec. 21st were 28,562 tons against 16,020 in the previous week, 15,006 in the same week last year and 7,349 two years ago; exports 9,661 tons against none in previous week, and 6,500 last year; stock 34,921 against 16,020 in the previous week, 12,295 last year and 7,347 two years ago; centrals grinding 63 against 38 in previous week, 64 last year and 47 two years ago. Havana cabled: "Rain in the provinces of Pinar del Rio and Havana." A sugar strike is reported in a cable from Havana which said that Camaguey planters have agreed upon a line of action. On Thursday prompt Cuban sugar was dull at 2⅜c. Refined was also slow at 5 to 5.30c. Futures were practically unchanged. The whole market was to all intents and purposes becalmed. Futures show a net rise for the week of 5 points, and prompt is 1-32c. higher than last Friday.

LARD on the spot has been quiet with a downward tendency; Prime Western 14.95 to 15.05c.; Middle Western 14.80 to 14.90c.; City in tubs 14½ to 14¾c. Compound 12 to 12¼c.; Refined pure lard to Continent 15⅝c.; South America 16¾c.; Brazil in kegs 17¾c. A reduction of 12.4 in the fall pig crop of 1925 in the corn belt States or an equivalent of about 1,800,000 pigs is reported in the December statement by the Department of Agriculture. The total reduction for the year is between 5,000,000 and 5,500,000 and the crop is the smallest in 5 years. On Thursday spot lard was in fair demand and firmer; Prime Western 15.55c. Refined Continent 16c.; South America 17c.; and Brazil 18c. Futures declined with hogs plentiful and lower, cash trade poor, declining grain prices and lack of support. These factors offset the smallness of stocks. Covering on bullish hogs and grain markets put up futures 22 to 47 points later on the 23rd inst. Chicago wired: "The output of lard is increasing, as hogs are weighing more than 240 lbs. on an average. Hog prices averaged 10.60c. last week. Packers are selling provision futures against the output of their houses, while speculators and foreigners are the principal buyers. The fresh meat trade is good for the season, but cured products moved moderately." On Thursday futures again moved upward, with hogs stronger, the statistics of pigs bullish and covering general, especially as grain markets advanced for a time. But there was a reaction later when corn weakened. Hogs closed on Thursday 25 to 50 points higher with the top $12. Final prices show a rise for the week of 17 to 43 points.

PETROLEUM.—Gasoline was raised 2 cents a gallon by the Standard Oil Co. of California. U. S. Motor at local refineries was quoted at 11½ to 12c. plus 1c. for delivery in tank cars while in the Gulf coastal section 11¼c. was asked, but it was intimated that business could be done at 11c. on a firm bid. Export business was quiet. Kerosene was quiet at 8½c. for water white. Bunker oil was inactive at $1.65 a barrel refineries. In the Gulf section $1.50 to $1.60 was quoted. Diesel oil was dull at $1.99½. Gas oil was rather quiet at 5¼ to 5½c. for 36-40 and 5c. to 5¼c. for 26-34. Export demand was small. Paraffin waxes dull but steady. A better demand was reported for lubricating oils. Paraffin wax prices late in the week had a downward drift. The buying is mostly for early delivery. Forward business is slow. Gasoline was quiet. Kerosene was dull and there was very little doing in bunker oil. New York refined export prices: Gasoline, cases, cargo lots, U. S. Motor specifications, deodorized 27.15c.; U. S. Motor, bulk refinery, 11¾c. Kerosene, cargo lots, cases, 17.9c. Furnace oil, bulk, refinery 6½c. Petroleum, refined, tanks, wagon to store 15c. Kerosene, bulk, 46-46-150 W. Spot was 42½d.; Dec. 42½d.; Jan.-March 40¾d., and April-June 37¼d.

Harvey S. Firestone, President of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., says that the operation of the British Rubber Restriction Act had reduced the world's working supply of rubber far below the normal requirements of the industry. This caused the increase in the rubber price during the year, he added, ranging from a low of 36 cents to a high of $1.23. The Tilson resolution as passed in the House, directs the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce to investigate alleged government price fixing in the shipment to the United States of crude rubber, coffee and other important raw materials and the effect of such action on American commerce. The Committee is further directed to report its findings and recommendations for remedial legislation. Representative Hull said: "There is no question of a scarcity or famine in rubber or coffee, in so far as the world supply is concerned but it is a question in which the producers in combination with their respective governments have deliberately inflated the prices of rubber and coffee to an astonishingly high extent." Mr. Hull insisted that the United States was paying to United Kingdom an excess yearly of $670,000,000 for rubber and anywhere from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year to Brazil in excessive and extortionate prices for coffee. Brazil is pushing rubber output. The Amazon Valley yield is likely to show a 25% increase on year. The petroleum industry has to pay it is said $9,000,000 yearly to eliminate chemicals which might be utilized in making synthetic rubber to the amount of $162,000,000 declared E. P. Stevenson of Cambridge, Mass., who will address the American Association for the Advancement of Science on Dec. 29th at Kansas City. Secretary Hoover says that the United States is being mulcted of $700,000,000 annually by the British restriction of rubber output. The British government emphatically denies Secretary Hoover's charges that it has been manipulating the price of rubber and is trying to pay her war debt with rubber profits. Secretary Hoover now asks all tire users to cut their use of rubber 25% which he says can be done without decreasing the use of our cars a single mile.

HIDES were quiet with spready packer Nov. 16½ and Dec. 16c. Country hides were dull. River Plate trading is small and is likely to continue so until after the holidays. Cows are nominally 15c. c. & f. New York and steers, 17½c. Common dry hides were quiet with Orinoco, 22c. and Savanilla, 22½c.

OCEAN FREIGHTS.—Cargo demand was rather small at one time. Later grain rates declined somewhat. Sugar tonnage was firm.

CHARTERS included grain, 32,000 quarters, 10% from St. John to West Italy and Islands, 17½c. Dec. 30; from Vancouver to United Kingdom-Continent, 33s. option Prince Rupert at 34s. January; from Tampico to New Orleans, 16c. January; grain, 19,000 quarters from Atlantic Range to United Kingdom, 3s. 3d., Bordeaux-Hamburg range, 3s. 1½d. February; from North Pacific to United Kingdom-Continent, 35s. 6d. anuary; time charter, 875 tons net West Indies round trip prompt, $1 75; 2,426 tons net or substitute delivery Japan, December, re-delivery Japan early March round trip to North Pacific, yen 1.85; lumber from North Pacific to Miji and Yokohama, option Shanghai, yen 33.800, lump December-January; cotton from Gulf to Murmansk, 11½c. Feb. 1 to 10th.

COAL.—There is nothing new in the anthracite mine strike. Recently prices for coal and coke weakened somewhat owing to warmer weather but it has now turned cold again. Run of oven coke was $4 flat. Chicago and Cincinnati prices of screened fell $1 or more from the recent quotations of $4.50 to $5. Run of mine coal sells readily at present prices. Here Navy standard soft, f. o. b. at piers is $5.60; supplementary $5.45 to $5.60. Coke is rapidly rising; it is now $5.50 to $5.75 for range of Connellsville spot furnace. Foundry spot $6 to $6.50; sized coke at oven $8 to $8.25.

TOBACCO has been in slight demand and that mainly for Java, Porto Rican and Connecticut shade grown. Other grades of leaf sold to some extent. Cigar business has improved, it is said, quite noticeably. Wisconsin, binders, 20 to 22c.; Northern 38 to 50c.; Southern 25 to 35c.; New York State, seconds, 35 to 50c.; Ohio, Gebhardt B, 25 to 28c.; Little Dutch, 25 to 28c.; Zimmer Spanish, 28 to 32c.; Havana, 1st Rem'dios, $1 to $1 10; 2nd Rem'dios, 80 to 85c. Pennsylvania broad leaf filler, 8 to 15c.; Broadleaf B, 20 to 24c.; Porto Rico, 40 to 90c.; Connecticut top leaf, 18 to 22c.; No. 1, seconds, 70 to 85c.; seed fillers, 12c.; medium wrappers, 70 to 80c.; dark warppers, 35 to 45c.; light wrappers, 95c. Havana seed, 90c. to $1. The Carolina Col of Charleston, S. C. operators of the Carolina Line to Continental European and United Kingdom ports announces a large contract for handling tobacco from warehouses at Danville, Va. and elsewhere to the port of Charleston for transshipment and it is added that the one time tobacco trade of the port will be revived. The government crop total is increased to 1,349,660,000 lbs. from 1,264,226,000 lbs. or an addition of 85,434,000 lbs.

COPPER of late has been weaker at 14¼c. delivered. It was declared in some quarters that this price could be shaded. Yet business was too small it was impossible to gauge the market accurately. Spot standard copper in London on the 22nd inst. fell 5s to £60 and futures declined 2s 6d to £61 2s 6d., with sales of 200 tons of spot and 1,600 tons of futures. Spot electrolytic fell 10s to £65 15s and futures declined 5s to £66 5s. Later copper was at a uniform price of 14⅛c. delivered in Connecticut Valley with trade dull. On Thursday London standard spot was £60; futures £61 2s 6d; electrolytic spot £65 10s; futures £66.

TIN has been quiet and easier. Spot Straits fell ¾c. a lb. on the 22nd inst. and futures ⅛c. to 62½c. and 61⅞c. respectively. Sales at London were small, i. e. 450 tons, which is the smallest for several days. London fell 10s on the 22nd inst. to £285 10s for spot and £278 10s for futures. Spot Straits there sold at £287 10s. Later there was considerable business with London rising. American prices were up ¼ to ½c. December sold at 62¾c. Distant futures sold at 62c. The use of tin goes with rubber and the trade is watching the action of the government in the matter of the rubber trade development. On Thursday London spot tin was £288 2s 6d; futures L280 7s 6s.

LEAD was quoted at 9.25c. New York by the leading refiner, while 9.10c. was asked at East St. Louis. For late January shipment business it is said could be done at 9c. East St. Louis, but the demand for futures is very small. Lead ore was unchanged at $115. Spot lead in London on the 22nd inst. declined 6s 3d. to £34 5s and futures fell 3s 9d. to £34 2s 6d. Later prices were up rather sharply in London and New York was steadier. The quotation was 9.1c. East St. Louis and 9.25c. New York. Production of lead in this country in 1925 is stated as 10,000 tons per month larger than in 1924. But the consumption has kept close to production. No big supplies are reported. On Thursday London spot was £35; futures £34 25s.

ZINC has been generally quiet with 8.70 to 8.75c. quoted for prompt and 10 points under that price for January. Zinc ore sold at $56 per ton. Beginning December 24th many mines will be idle for two weeks. Spot zinc fell 2s 6d. at London on the 22nd inst. to £38 6s 3d. but futures rose 1s3d. to £37 10s. Later trading was rather active. Dec. was 8.70 to 8.75c. Jan. sold at 8.60 to 8.65c. and February at 8.55 to 8.60c. The trade is mostly for domestic consumption. London spot on Thursday was £38 10s; futures £37 15s.

STEEL has had a good market in December though new sales fell below those of November. But consumption is large. The general impression in November on that score has been confirmed in December. Output is heavy to meet actual orders. Some few companies have found trade better in December than in November; others 10% less. Chicago has had the best trade especially in steel bars. The output for the industry as a whole is 88%; some 700,000 tons of ingots monthly is the ratio of production it is said of Carnegie Steel Co. The demand is good from the railroads for frieght cars, locomotives, rails, &c. Some roads will open bids next week for first quarter business on sheets, plates, bars, shapes, tube pipe, &c. The East quotes 1.80c. on new orders for plates, though this price is eased in some cases for old customers; some quote 1.60 to 1.70c.; shapes 1.90 to 2c.; bars 2 to 2.10c.; rails standard $43; light 1.65 to 1.70c.; blue annealed sheets 2.50 to 2.60c. The American Sheet & Tin Plate Co. operated at close to 95% of its sheet mills; independents 90 to 95. The steel trade is hopeful. Things are in distinctly better shape than they were a year ago.

PIG IRON has been quiet. Continental iron is competing; 300 tons are said to have sold in Philadelphia at $20.50 c.i.f. duty paid. Whether it was Belgian or German is not clear. Some 5,500 tons of foreign iron arrived at Philadelphia last week; more than half was East Indian with 1,000 tons of Belgian and 1,500 of British. American iron has been quiet; Eastern Penn., $23 to $23.50; Buffalo, $21 to $22; Virginia, $24 to $25, according to size of lot. Valley basic, $20 to $21; Eastern Penn., $22 to $23. Shipments of pig iron are reported to be unusually large for this time of the year, a hint of the gradually expanding consumption. A good many idle blasts it is believed will start up in January. Youngstown reports big shipments with new business at this time naturally small.

WOOL has recently declined in response to lower prices abroad. Trade is said to have increased somewhat. Boston prices were as follows:

Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces: Delaine, unwashed, 53 to 54c.; ½ blood combing, 53 to 54c.; ¾ blood combing, 54c.; fine unwashed, 49 to 50c. Michigan and New York fleeces, delaine unwashed, 51 to 52c.; ½ blood combing, 52c.; ¾ blood combing, 54c.; ¼ blood combing, 54 to 55c.; fine unwashed, 47 to 48c. Wisconsin, Missouri and average New England, ½ blood, 50c.; ¾ blood, 51 to 52c.; ¼ blood, 52 to 53c. Scoured basis: Texas, fine 12 months (selected), $1 25 to $1 28; fine 8 months, $1 12 to $1 15. California Northern, $1 25; Middle County, $1 10; Southern, $1; Oregon, Eastern No. 1 staple, $1 25 to $1 30; fine and fine medium combing, $1 20 to $1 25; Eastern clothing, $1 05 to $1 10; Valley, $1 15. Territory: Montana and similar; fine staple choice, $1 28 to $1 30; ½ blood combing, $1 20 to $1 22; ¾ blood combing, $1 05 to $1 10; ¼ blood combing, 98 to $1. Pulled delaine, $1 28 to $1 30; AA, $1 25 to $1 27; fine A supers, $1 10 to $1 12; A supers, $1 05 to $1 07; mohair, best combing, 75 to 80c.; best carding, 65 to 70c.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from Jan. 1 1925 to Dec. 17 1925 inclusive were 169,553,000 lbs. against 162,250,000 lbs. for the same period last year. The receipts from Jan. 1 1925 to Dec. 17 1925 inclusive were 297,974,700 lbs. against 299,028,300 in the corresponding period last year. At Timaru on Dec. 18th most of the 11,000 bales offered were sold. Bradford the largest buyer. America bought only 1,000 bales. Selection average. Small percentage of tender wools. Prices were a little higher than the last Wellington and Napier sales. At Adelaide, Dec. 18th of 25,000 bales offered 24,000 sold. Attendance large. Demand good. Bradford was the largest buyer. Selection only fair. Mostly top making sorts. Prices 2½ to 5% lower than of Nov. 27th but better than expected.

At Buenos Aires on Dec. 18th wool was unchanged. Offerings 11,000,990 kilos. Fine crossbreds 11 to 13.50 pesos; medium 11 to 12 pesos; coarse 9 to 11.80 pesos; fine medium yearlings 10.20 to 14 pesos; yearlings 8 to 10 pesos; fine crossbreds from Entre Rios 14 to 16 pesos; from Corrienties 17.50 pesos. At Buenos Aires on Dec. 19th trade more active. Exporters re-entered the market. Coarse crossbreds were the most active at some decline. Fine crossbreds rather lower and dull. Fine crossbreds 12 to 14.50 pesos; medium crossbreds 11.40 to 13 pesos; coarse crossbreds 9 to 11.70 pesos; yearlings fine, 11 to 12.50 pesos; yearlings, medium and coarse 9 to 10.70 pesos. In Buenos Aires on Dec. 22nd wool unchanged. Offerings 10,651,795 kilos. COTTON

Thursday Night, Dec. 24 1925.

THE MOVEMENT OF THE CROP, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening the total receipts have reached 224,398 bales, against 351,485 bales last week and 330,550 bales the previous week, making the total receipts since Aug. 1 1925, 6,305,468 bales, against 5,849,250 bales for the same period of 1924, showing an increase since Aug. 1 1925 of 456,218 bales.

The exports for the week ending this evening reach a total of 120,709 bales, of which 45,520 were to Great Britain, 412 to France, 28,229 to Germany, 400 to Italy, 33,959 to Japan and China, and 12,189 to other destinations. In the corresponding week last year total exports were 128,572 bales. For the season to date aggregate exports have been 4,362,992 bales, against 4,089,069 bales in the same period of the previous season. Below are the exports for the week:

NOTE.—Exports to Canada.—It has never been our practice to include in the above tables exports of cotton to Canada, the reason being that virtually all the cotton destined to the Dominion comes overland and it is impossible to get returns concerning the same from week to week, while reports from the customs districts on the Canadian border are always very slow in coming to hand. In view, however, of the numerous inquiries we are receiving regarding the matter, we will say that for the month of November the exports to the Dominion the present season have been 33,277 bales. In the corresponding month of the preceding season the exports were 29,903 bales. For the four months ended Nov. 30 1925, there were 81,822 bales exported, as against 66,924 bales for the corresponding four months of 1924.

In addition to above exports, our telegrams to-night also give us the following amounts of cotton on shipboard, not cleared, at the ports named:

*Estimated.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been on only a fair scale where it has not been dull and prices have kept within very narrow bounds. Early in the week there was a decline, but there came a rally on Wednesday as a natural result of an oversold market. The shorts then took profits and prices advanced some 20 to 27 points, the latter on January. That about recovered the previous decline. Large spot houses were credited with buying January even on the eve of notice day, Dec. 24. There were intimations that the issue might be rather large, either then or next week. The buying of January, however, persisted for account of spot houses, though they were at the same time supposed to be selling October. As to October, it has been something of a feature in the trading. Trade interests at home and abroad have been persistent buyers of it, with the price 6½c. lower than a year ago. It is understood that the European buying orders for it come from England, France, Germany, and not improbably, Italy. Some of the spot houses have been buying March and May, where they sold October. New Orleans at times has been noticeably firm. There is talk in connection with the October buying to the effect that there will be some attempt to reduce the acreage. Prices on not a few grades are said to be below the cost of production. The lowering of the grade as a result of untimely freezes and rains has taken much of the value off the price of cotton. There has been a good deal of "snapping" done because of the high cost of picking in the Southwest. The proportion of bollies in the crop seems to be quite large. Needless to say, snaps and bollies are not tenderable on contracts at the Exchanges. Some of the reports state that in parts of Texas and Oklahoma there has latterly been a good demand for the low grades. White "snaps," it is said, are wanted. It is stated, too, that not a few of the mills are buying the low grades and cutting out the more desirable cotton. It is pointed out that cotton which may not be tenderable on contract may for all that have an unmistakable spinning value. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine stated the other day that reports received at Washington were to the effect that some 3,500,000 bales of the present crop were not tenderable on contracts. All sorts of estimates have been afloat within the past month or six weeks as to the amount of such cotton in the present crop. Some have been much higher than 3,500,000 bales. But that total is regarded as conservative and safer to go upon. In the middle of the week spot cotton advanced with a very fair business for this time of the year. There is said to be still a large spot short account in low middling and strict low middling. Heavy losses have been incurred in buying such grades and to fill contracts with the mills. Meanwhile the fixing of prices by the mills is a standing feature here and in Liverpool, if not New Orleans. At times it has offset the hedge selling, or come very near it. Certainly the mills are buying on a scale down, on both sides of the water. The ginning was larger than expected, reaching a total up to Dec. 13 of 14,826,452 bales, or nearly 160,000 bales above the average of the previous private reports. But the effect, after all, was in the end slight. On the day of its appearance the net decline, to be exact, was 1 to 13 points, with October the steadiest month. The absorptive power of the market has attracted attention. Declines have not been marked or easily brought about, even if the price has gradually drifted into new low levels for the season. The disposition of the mills in some cases to buy more freely of the low grades is encouraged by the fact that discounts on such grades are far greater than they were a year ago. The discount here on good ordinary below middling has recently been 550 points; that on low middling 270 points and on strict low middling 115 points, or anywhere from 50 to 150 points greater discounts on these grades than at this time last year. Finally, there are those who believe that present prices, marking so severe a decline as compared with those a year ago, sufficiently discount the crop, and anything else that might be regarded as bearish in the situation.

On the other hand, sentiment here is undoubtedly bearish. Manchester has been depressed and Liverpool sluggish. Spot markets at the South have been less active and at times depressed. The basis even on the better grades has been occasionally reported weaker. That on the lower grades has been reported from time to time as decidedly weaker. The Arkansas Co-operative Association has reduced the initial price advanced to growers $10 a bale. It seems it was almost overwhelmed with offerings of such cotton. And whatever may be said as to the effect of the ginning up to Dec. 13 it was larger than expected by about 150,000 bales, according to the average private estimate. It was 14,826,452 bales, against 12,792,294 last year. The ginning in Georgia and Arkansas overran the previous crop estimate for those States by some 30,000 to 35,000 bales. These figures encouraged some to believe that the Government in its report of Dec. 8 again underestimated the crop and there are those who believe it is nearer 16,000,000 than 15,603,000 bales. Egyptian cotton has been extremely depressed, and its premium over American cotton on "sakels" is reported as only 650 points, against 1,300 a year ago. East Indian cotton has also been declining. Fall River has been quiet. Recently the weekly sales of print cloth have been only 40,000 pieces. Speculation has been sluggish. The outside public still favors stocks and grain as being more spectacular. Hedge selling is persistent at home and abroad. A good many do not believe that the decline has culminated. The Secretary of Agriculture says that this year's crop contains more low grade cotton than any since 1920. Secretary Jardine declared the average of several private estimates of untenderable cotton was about 3,500,000 bales, but with reference to "unspinnable" cotton, he explained that this term "is often used inappropriately to mean cotton of very low grade," and that practically all of this is eventually used in the manufacture of coarse yarns and goods.

On Thursday prices advanced 20 to 45 points, mainly on the fact that notices estimated at 70,000 to 75,000 bales for January were promptly stopped by prominent spot interests. It was supposed that they were largely stopped by the same people who issued the notices. Liverpool was higher and Egyptian cotton then advanced 50 to 100 American points, with Indian up 20 American points. The spot market was 40 points higher here. The mills were calling more or less freely. Europe continued to buy October. But the outstanding feature was January. Instead of selling at a discount of 28 or 30 points under March, it closed at only 5 points under March. It was supposed that big spot interests were buying January here with a view of acquiring a good deal of the local stock, which includes much good cotton, presumably difficult to get elsewhere except at very much higher prices. Manchester was slow, but that was nothing new. Nobody paid any attention to it. Final prices show an advance for the week of 10 to 43 points, the latter on January. May showed the least advance of any month. Spot cotton closed at 19.80c., a rise for the week of 40 points.

The following averages of the differences between grades, as figured fom the Dec. 23 quotations of the ten markets, designated by the Secretary of Agriculture, are the differences from middling established for deliveries in the [New York market on Jan. 4.

1925 ANNUAL COTTON HANDBOOK (London).—This is the 55th edition of this excellent and well-known annual. It contains many pages of valuable statistical data regarding cotton acreage, looms, mills, exports, stocks, spindles, prices and other information regarding the world's cotton crop. This little book contains a mine of information and is all the more valuable because of the comparisons shown with back years. Copies may be purchased from Comtelburo, Limited, 11 Tokenhouse Yard, London, E. C. 2.

CENSUS REPORT ON COTTON SPINNING IN NOVEMBER.—This report, complete, will be found in an earlier part of our paper in the department headed "Indications of Business Activity."

The statistics in this report include 306,557 round bales for 1925, 293,918 for 1924, and 232,643 for 1923.

The statistics for 1925 in this report are subject to slight corrections when checked against the individual returns of the ginners being transmitted by mail. The corrected statistics of the quantity of cotton ginned this season prior to Dec. 1 are 13,873,384 bales.

CONSUMPTION, STOCKS, IMPORTS AND EXPORTS—UNITED STATES.—Cotton consumed during the month of November 1925 amounted to 543,098 bales. Cotton on hand in consuming establishments on Nov. 30 was 1,456,166 bales, and in public storage and at compresses 5,206,283 bales. The number of active consuming cotton spindles for the month was 32,892,324. The total imports for the month of November 1925 were 27,000 bales and the exports of domestic cotton, including linters, were 1,206,786 bales.

WORLD STATISTICS.—The estimated world's production of commercial cotton, exclusive of linters, grown in 1924, as compiled from information secured through the domestic and foreign staff of the Department of Commerce is 23,825,000 bales of 478 pounds lint, while the consumption of cotton (exclusive of linters in the United States) for the year ending July 31 1925, was approximately 22,640,000 bales of 478 pounds lint. The total number of spinning cotton spindles, both active and idle, is about 162,000,000.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—Reports to us by telegraph this evening indicate that the weather during past week has been rather too cool for cotton picking in the state of Arkansas. However with the exception of California, Arkansas and Arizona cotton picking has been pratically completed in all parts of the cotton belt; ginning of cotton continues to good progress.

The above statement shows: (1) That the total receipts from the plantations since Aug. 1 1925 are 8,125,404 bales; in 1924 were 7,248,077 bales, and in 1923 were 5,526,381 bales. (2) That although the receipts at the outports the past week were 224,398 bales, the actual movement from plantations was 299,671 bales, stocks at interior towns having increased 75,273 bales during the week. Last-year receipts from the plantations for the week were 251,964 bales and for 1923 they were 185,963 bales.

WORLD SUPPLY AND TAKINGS OF COTTON.—The following brief but comprehensive statement indicates at a glance the world's supply of cotton for the week and since Aug. 1 for the last two seasons, from all sources from which statistics are obtainable, also the takings, or amounts gone out of sight, for the like period.

Note.—A cantar is 99 lbs. Egyptian bales weigh about 750 lbs.
This statement shows that the receipts for the week ending Dec. 23 were 310,000 cantars and the foreign shipments 26,000 bales.

MANCHESTER MARKET.—Our report received by cable to-night from Manchester states that the market in both cloths and yarns is quiet. Stocks of both goods and yarns are accumulating. We give prices to-day below and leave those for previous weeks of this and last year for comparison:

BREADSTUFFS

Thursday Night, Dec. 24 1925.

Flour was inclined to sag in price, with the now time-honored hand-to-mouth policy fixed, it would seem, and unalterable. The usual inventory work towards the close of the year makes bad worse in regard to trade. Leading consumers are said to be well supplied for the next month. Of new export business there are next to no indications. Home and export business continued quiet late in the week. Clearances from New York on the 19th inst. were 15,896 sacks to Copenhagen and Bremen, also 11,000 bbls. from Boston. Clearances last week from New York were 40,603 sacks, against 162,412 sacks in the previous week. Minneapolis wired on Thursday that prices were up 40 to 45c. in response to the big rise in wheat. Family patents in car lots were $9 45 to $9 60.

Wheat declined for a time, but later rose sharply on the Government report. The American visible supply increased last week 1,688,000 bushels, as against a decrease in the same week last year of 1,256,000 bushels. It is now 47,159,000 bushels, against 96,823,000 a year ago. This and the lack of good export demand were at first stumbling blocks to would-be buyers. Liquidation was general. The increase in the visible was taken to mean a big movement of the crop. It might presage a still larger movement before long. At any rate, it was noticeably larger than a year ago. Only 350,000 of Canadian sold for export on the 21st inst. Chicago, too, sold to some extent to go into store. Only a momentary effect was produced by rains in Argentina, higher prices in Liverpool and a notable decrease in the quantity on passage to Europe. Increasing supplies and a slack demand from Europe were paramount factors. Yet later in the week distant months became firmer. Sellers of December bought May. The December premium over May fell 1½c. on the 22d, touching 4c. at the close, against 5½c. on the previous day. Further reports of rain were received from Argentina. Winnipeg, moreover, advanced 2½ to 2⅝c. on good foreign buying of futures there, not to mention the effect of rains in Argentina, though Buenos Aires was ¼ to ½c. lower and Liverpool off 1½ to 2¼d. Fluctuations in May at Chicago were erratic, but the undertone was firm on the 22d inst. Prices advanced 6 to 9½c. on the 23d inst. on the big surprise in the Washington report on the fact that the Government estimate is over 200,000,000 bushels under last year's, or 28,000,000 smaller than a month ago. Argentina's crop is put at 40,000,000 less than last year. The total crop of wheat is now stated by the Government at 669,365,000 bushels, against 872,673,000 in 1924 and 797,381,000 in 1923; of winter wheat this year 398,486,000, against 590,037,000 last year and 571,459,000 in 1923; of spring 270,879,000 bushels, against 282,636,000 in 1924 and 225,422,000 in 1923. Chicago wired: "On the Government report figures some said that wheat may have to be imported from Canada for domestic consumption, despite the duty of 42c. per bushel." Some think, judging by the Government report, that this country has already over-exported itself, that the United States has already cleared 50,000,000 bushels and the lowest estimate on the home consumption for all purposes is 625,000,000 bushels. This would, it is pointed out, if correct, make 675,000,000 bushels, or 5,000,000 bushels in excess of what has been harvested. The carryover has already been reduced, it is claimed, 15,000,000 bushels from last year. North American wheat exports last week were 6,161,000 bushels, against 9,743,000 bushels in the previous week and 7,336,000 last year. World's exports last week were 7,955,000, against 10,682,000 in the previous week and 9,240,000 last year. It is pointed out that the world exports of wheat from Aug. 1 up to Dec. 19 were 237,252,000 bushels. This added to the amount afloat Aug. 1, less the amount afloat at present means a world's absorption of 239,749,000 bushels, or 11,987,000 bushels per week. During the same time last year the world absorption was, it appears, 265,367,000 bushels, or at the rate of 13,268,000 bushels per week. It is said that Australia is pressing wheat for immediate shipment at 60s. per quarter. Argentine reports declare now that in the South wheat is so far in good condition and that harvesting there is ahead of normal. The reports from Argentina have been blowing hot and cold in this manner for many weeks. On the 23d inst. transactions in wheat futures at the Chicago Board of Trade were 83,604,000 bushels, certainly eloquent testimony to the excitement on that day. On Thursday prices closed 2½ to 4½c. higher at Chicago and 3½c. higher at Winnipeg, despite disappointing Liverpool cables and some evening up before the holidays. The tone in the main was strong. May sold at only 2½c. below the summit for the season. Argentine crop advices were bad. They had some effect despite the criticism on the contradictory news from that quarter from time to time. Buenos Aires advanced 4c. on the 24th. The reports about the new winter wheat crop conditions in this country were not considered favorable. Commission houses had big buying orders. Shorts covered. Covering and other buying took the offerings easily enough. Receipts fell off for the week. It looks as though they will be still further reduced next week. December was noticeably firm at Chicago. The winter wheat acreage is said to be 1% smaller than the revised total of last year. It is now called 39,540,000 acres, against 39,956,000 for 1924. The condition of the new crop is put at 82.7%, it is true, against 81 last year. That is taken to point to a yield of about 510,000,000 bushels, against 398,000,000 this year. Of course, this is purely tentative. It is too early in the season to dogmatize about acreage or crop for 1926. The falling off in the rye acreage tended to strengthen wheat. Export sales on the 24th inst., however, were still only 300,000 bushels, mostly to the Continent. Germany was the largest buyer. Final prices show a rise for the week of 4¾ to 8c., with May the leader.

Indian corn, like all other grain, declined for a time and then rallied on the Government report. Unexpectedly large increase last week in the American visible supply was an influential factor. It was 3,527,000 bushels, against 2,501,000 in the same week last year. The total is now up to 11,449,000 bushels, though it is still a couple of million bushels under the total of a year ago, 13,774,000 bushels. The tone has been depressed without, however, leading to any very severe decline. The world's corn exports last week were 6,247,000 bushels; in the previous week 3,233,000 bushels; last year 3,425,000 bushels. On the 22d inst. prices rose on covering, with offerings small. The crop was put by the Government on Dec. 22 at 2,900,581,000 bushels, against earlier estimates of 3,013,390,000 bushels. Last year it was 2,436,513,000 bushels; in 1923 3,053,557,000, and in 1922 2,906,020,000 bushels. On the 23d inst., like wheat, corn advanced sharply, i. e., 3 to 3¼c., on the bullish crop report, with its decrease of nearly 113,000,000 bushels in the estimated yield, as compared with a month ago. This was quite a surprise. On Thursday prices ended ¼ to ¾c. lower. Liquidation was the order of the day, especially in December, on which there were fair deliveries. The cash demand was small. The pig statistics showed a decrease of 12.4% in the fall crop of 1925 in the corn belt States, or a total reduction for the year of about 5,000,000. That was bearish on corn if bullish on lard. It looks like the smallest total in five years. But in the Southwest country offerings were rather small. Bad roads preclude a large movement for the rest of 1925. Last prices show a rise for the week of 1⅛ to 2⅜c. Corn future sales at Chicago were stated for the 23d inst. at 20,418,000 bushels.

Oats declined in company with other grain for a certain time and partly because of a big increase in the visible supply of corn, 3,527,000 bushels. Trade was quiet. No life or snap appeared in the speculation. Later came a rally. The American visible supply increased last week only 296,000 bushels, against an increase of 1,632,000 in the same week last year. The total is now 61,051,000, against 70,062,000 last year. The Government crop total is revised to 1,501,909,000 bushels, against 1,541,900,000 in 1924 and 1,303,883,000 in 1923. All hay 99,515,000 tons, against 89,098,000 in 1924 and 112,450,000 in 1923. On the 23d inst. prices advanced 1c., despite the fact that the supply in the Government report increased for the month. Oats felt the influence of the jump in corn and wheat. On Thursday net changes were negligible. There was little business. What there was happened to be merely professional. Oats were held steady, however, by the firmness of other grain, not by anything in the oats situation itself. The cash demand falls below expectations. Receipts are moderate. Last prices were irregular, December ending ⅛c. off, with other months ¼ to ⅜c. up, as compared with last Friday. On the 23d inst. futures transactions at Chicago were 3,634,000 bushels.

Rye, though it ran up sharply on the Government report, declined 5½ to 6c. early in the week, with trade slow and no special features aside from long liquidation. Export business was then lacking. The American visible supply increased last week 320,000 bushels, against 996,000 last year. The total is now 12,027,000, against 20,170,000 in 1924. The Government crop total is revised to 48,696,000 bushels, against 63,446,000 last year and 62,077,000 in 1923. Of barley this year 218,002,000 bushels, against 187,875,000 last year and 197,691,000 in 1923. Prices on the 23d inst. advanced 7 to 8c. on the Government report and sales for export of 300,000 bushels. The report was, of course, the main thing. On Thursday prices closed 2½ to 4c. higher on a moderate business. The point was that offerings were small. And the Government report still had a bullish effect. The new rye acreage shows a decrease of 16.2% from the revised total of last year. It is stated at 3,426,000, against 4,088,000 last year. The condition is put at 83.8%, against 87.3%, pointing to a crop of 46,251,000 bushels in 1926, against 48,696,000 this season. Final prices show a rise for the week of 3½ to 5c. On the 23d inst. Chicago's transactions in futures were 2,654,000 bushels.

ARGENTINE WHEAT FORECASTS LOWER.—The second estimate of Argentine wheat production for 1925-26 places the crop at 214,765,000 bushels, which is a decrease of nearly 20 million bushels from the first estimate of 235,157,000 bushels made in November, according to a report from the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, and made public by the Department of Agriculture at Washington on Dec. 17, which adds:

The flaxseed estimate remains unchanged, being placed at 75,000,000 bushels. Oats, barley and rye have all improved slightly amounting to 84,808,000 bushels for oats compared with 82,674,000 bushels in the first estimate; 13,595,000 for barley compared with 12,401,000; and 4,330,000 for rye compared with 3,937,000. Production of these crops in 1924-25, according to the final estimates, was 191,138,000 bushels for wheat, 45,084,000 for flaxseed, 53,456,000 for oats, 6,981,000 for barleys, and 1,457,000 for rye.

Seasonable weather prevailed in general over the grain area of Argentina during the week ending Dec. 14, according to a cabled report to the Weather Bureau. In the northern wheat district a lighter rainfall, together with seasonable temperature made better conditions than prevailed during the preceding week. In the southern district the temperature was slightly above normal and precipitation slightly below normal.

SOVIET UNION GRAIN EXPORTS.—In view of recent newspaper reports about the grain exports of the Soviet Union, the following statement was recently issued by the Russian Information Bureau:

"Economic Life" (Moscow) of Dec. 3 reports that Soviet grain exports up to the end of November aggregated 82,000,000 poods (about 59,000,000 bushels), which is 20,000,000 poods more than the shipments for the same period of last year. Foreign grain sales to that date had exceeded 90,000,000 poods.

Late estimates by the Central Statistical Department of the total grain production are 2,755,000 bushels, which is less by only 100 million bushels than the estimate of Sept. 1. The losses from harvest rains were less than was anticipated. The wheat crop is now estimated at 646 million bushels instead of 660 million bushels. The reduced estimates would still leave a surplus of upwards of 200 million bushels of all grains, including wheat, for export, including exports already made.

Several factors have contributed towards delaying grain exports. A somewhat over-zealous campaign by some of the competing purchasing agencies at the opening of the season led the peasant to believe that he would gain by holding his grain for a few months. In many districts the goods shortage, which is now steadily being remedied, contributed to this tendency, for the peasant likes to sell his grain in immediate terms of new farm implements and household goods. Another important factor, hitherto somewhat underestimated, was the increased consumption of the peasant himself. His standard of living has advanced greatly. With a good harvest, he is eating much more of his own wheat. The demand for white bread in the cities has also increased greatly.

WEATHER BULLETIN FOR THE WEEK ENDED DEC. 22.—The general summary of the weather bulletin issued by the Department of Agriculture, indicating the influence of the weather for the week ended Dec. 22, follows:

Abnormally warm weather prevailed in the Southeast during the first part of the week, but it continued unseasonably cool in the west Gulf area, and at the same time an area of high pressure advanced from the Northwest, attended by lower temperatures in the Central-Northern States. This cool wave proceeded eastward and southeastward, and by Thursday, the 17th, temperatures had become subnormal quite generally east of the Mississippi Valley, but in the meantime there had been a reaction to warmer weather in most sections west of the Rocky Mountains.

The latter part of the week was warm for the season in the eastern portions of the country, but near the close high pressure and colder weather advanced southward from the Canadian Northwest and overspread the interior and Southwestern States. There was a sharp drop in temperature over the area between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains, with freezing weather extending southward to parts of the west Gulf coast. There were no unusually low temperatures during the week; readings as low as zero occurred only at a few points in the Central-Northern States.

Chart I shows that the temperature, for the week as a whole, averaged near normal in most of the Atlantic coast area, but the weekly means were generally from 3 deg. to 6 deg. below normal in the far Southwest and throughout most of the area between the Mississippi Valley and the Rocky Mountains. The greatest subnormal temperatures were reported from the west Gulf coast where minus departures were locally as much as 12 deg. to 15 deg. In the far Northwest the week was generally from 3 deg. to 8 deg. warmer than the seasonal average.

During the first part of the week there was considerable precipitation in the Gulf and South Atlantic States, but, otherwise, fair weather was the rule. By Saturday, the 19th, relatively low pressure prevailed along the north Pacific coast, and rain or snow had set in over most sections west of the Rocky Mountains, extending into southern California. At the same time a depression was charted over the eastern Gulf of Mexico and another was central over the southern Rocky Mountain area. Both of these storms moved in a northeasterly direction, the former over the South Atlantic States and along the north Atlantic coast and the latter in a parallel track from Arkansas to the eastern Lake region. They were attended by cloudy, showery, and rainy or snowy weather quite generally over the Northwest and in nearly all sections east of the Rocky Mountains. There was considerable snow in the central trans-Mississippi States, and the falls, while mostly light, were quite general from the northern Plains eastward. There were some moderately heavy rains locally in the Southeast and also in some north Pacific districts.

Chart II shows that the totals of rainfall for the week ranged from 1 to about 2 inches over the Southeastern portion of the country, extending from the central Gulf area northeastward to southern Virginia and to the southward. The amounts totaled 0.5 to 1 inch also over the more northeastern States, but in other sections from the Rocky Mountains eastward precipitation was mostly light, only a few scattered points reporting as much as 0.5 inch. In parts of the far Southwest the week was again rainless, but moderate to heavy falls occurred from south-central California northward, including the more northern of the Rocky Mountain sections. The largest amount of rainfall reported for the week was 6.2 inches at North Head, Wash. There was an excessive amount of cloudy weather over the central and eastern portions of the country, many stations in these areas reporting less than 25% of the possible amount of sunshine.

The cloudy ad showery weather in the Southeastern States from the lower Mississippi Valley eastward and from Virginia southward was unfavorable for outdoor operations, but winter cereals, and also hardy truck crops in coast sections, made good advance. While trucking operations made some progress on the higher ground of the Florida Peninsula, the soil was too wet for working on the lowlands, and the warm, humid conditions were unfavorable for hardy truck.

The rather widespread snow cover over the western and northwestern portions of the Winter Wheat Belt near the close of the week afforded fairly good protection for winter grains, though the snow was blown off many fields in the west-central Great Plains. Snow was also beneficial in the extreme northwestern Plains and in most Rocky Mountain sections, except that considerable range is covered, necessitating heavy feeding. In the northern Plains there was very little snow and livestock continued in range freely.

In the west Gulf area frost, which extended to extreme southern Texas, did some damage to tender truck crops, and more moisture is still needed over parts of the Southwest, including north and west Texas, west Oklahoma, and much of New Mexico and Arizona. Snowfall in the eastern grain sections of Washington and Oregon was favorable for grains, and light additional falls in the Plateau region were beneficial for the desert range, but more is needed in some sections. The soil condition was improved in much of California by reason of increased moisture during the week.

SMALL GRAINS.—Weather conditions have been favorable for winter wheat over the central and western portions of the belt during the past week. The crop made some growth in the southern portions of this region, while in Nebraska, Iowa, and northern Illinois and northward it was fairly well protected by snow. In the upper Ohio Valley conditions were not quite so favorable on account of freezing and thawing with no snow cover. On the whole, however, early-sown wheat is generally in good to excellent condition, while the later-planted is just coming up in many localities. Rain is needed for this crop in northern and western Texas and in western Oklahoma. Rye is doing well in Minnesota and some oats are still being sown in the Southeast.

CORN AND COTTON.—There was some interruption to husking corn in the interior valley States, but this work is nearly completion in most sections, although considrable remains in the fields in south-central and southeastern Iowa, and a rather large percentage of the crop is still unhoused in Missouri. Further reports of corn spoiling in crib were received from Iowa.

Picking cotton made slow advance in California where much is still out, and progress was rather slow, principally because of labor shortage. In Arizona. In the main Cotton Belt picking has been mostly completed, except considerable is still in the field in central, east-central, and northeastern Arkansas; it was rather too cool for this work in that State.

The Weather Bureau also furnishes the following resume of the conditions in the different States:

Virginia.—Richmond: Cloudy and wet; temperature mostly below normal. Generally favorable for winter grains, pastures, and meadows, which continue in good condition. Favorable for marketing tobacco. Some damage to winter truck in southeast by heavy rains.

North Carolina.—Raleigh: Mostly cloudy with frequent rains, though rather light in mountains; some increase in stream flow. Unfavorable for farm work. Wheat, oats, rye, and truck doing well.

South Carolina.—Columbia: Intermittent rains and wet soil prevented much outdoor work, in addition to slowing up account holidays. Although nights rather cool, winter cereals, cabbage, turnips, onions, and spinach made good growth for season. Considerable grainfield grazing and some hog killing.

Georgia.—Atlanta: Rather cold week, with freezing temperatures in northern division and moderate, but frequent, rains with little sunshine. Week unfavorable for work, which is at standstill. Harvesting crops practically finished, including grinding cane and picking peppers. Cereals and hardy truck in excellent condition.

Florida.—Jacksonville: Much cloudiness and occasional rains, locally heavy; mild temperature, except subnormal in west. Lowlands too wet and trucking delayed in most sections, except uplands and portions of south where seeding and planting continued. Cabbage and other hardy truck fair to good, but warm, damp weather unfavorable. Citrus fruits dropping; very heavy damage from storm at first of month.

Alabama.—Montgomery: Temperature alternately much above and much below normal; frequent rains, mostly light, but locally heavy, retarded plowing in most sections and digging sweet potatoes in scattered areas, though digging sweets finished in most sections. Sowing oats continued; early-planted doing mostly well. Truck crops fair to good in more southern counties; little growing elsewhere. Planting cabbage in coast region nearly completed.

Mississippi.—Vicksburg: Generally cloudy and unseasonably cold; moderate to heavy precipitation in extreme south almost daily, but mostly light in north and central. Seasonable farm work generally poor progress. Pastures poor progress in north and central, but fair in extreme south.

Louisiana.—New Orleans: Frequent rains unfavorable for sugar hardelaying cutting and hauling; much windrowed with some deterioration reported, few smaller mills finished grinding and others well along. Little farm work outside sugar region. Winter truck and oats doing well. Excellent quality of oranges being marketed.

Texas.—Houston: Persistently cold, with light to moderate rains in eastern half, but dry in western; frost in extreme south on 19th and 22nd did some damage to tender truck. Progress of wheat, oats, and pastures fair, but needing rain in north and west; condition good. Plowing good progress, except near coast where too wet. Some cotton bolls gathered, but this work about completed. Truck and citrus shipments large.

Oklahoma.—Oklahoma City: Cold, with light snow, latter part of week. Cotton fields cleaned out. Winter grains made no growth; condition good to excellent, but needing rain in most of western portion. Considerable plowing done. Pastures generally fair.

Arkansas.—Little Rock: Very little rainfall and moderate temperatures very favorable for farm work, except too cold for picking cotton; considerable cotton unpicked in central, east-central and northeastern counties, but picking practically completed elsewhere. Rice harvesting, threshing, and milling progressing rapidly. Winter grains and truck very good. Fall plowing in many localities.

Tennessee.—Nashville: Partially cloudy with temperatures below normal until last of week; rain in east last two days. Early wheat looks well; late not so well. Conditions favorable for clover, oats, rye, etc. Pastures and roads in good condition.

Kentucky.—Louisville: Cold, with several hard freezes, but little or no injury to wheat because soil well drained. Good progress in corn gathering, which is nearly completed. Too dry for tobacco stripping, but large movement to market. Roads generally good condition.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE

Thursday Night, Dec. 24 1925.

Conditions in the textile markets contrasted sharply during the past week. While buying was in full blast in retail channels, primary markets continued dull. In regard to the latter, the quietness was intensified by the combined preparations of manufacturers for next year's merchandising and the more extensive than usual programs for year-end shut-downs. Concerning retail trade, advices received from practically all sections of the country prompted the belief that the holiday sales will exceed all previous records from 10 to 20%. However, it was claimed doubtful whether the margin of profit will be as great as in former years. Consumer buying has centred more in specific items which has made the character of trade more spotty. For example, silks have received a large portion of the Christmas buying, while, on the other hand, woolens and worsteds got but a small share of the business. In regard to the former, such items as step-ins, vests, chemises, bandeaux, negligees, etc., in various colors have had a particularly heavy turnover. This has made big inroads into retailers' stocks, and, as a result, manufacturers reported a steady increase in early buying of silks for the spring season. Indications are that purchasing will be greatly accelerated within the next few weeks, when cutters-up will be in a better position to gauge their probable needs. While production is still very high, it is becoming more guarded in view of possible labor troubles in Paterson. In regard to woolens, it was pointed out that consumer buying of this fabric was either covered prior to the holidays or has been put off until shortly thereafter in the anticipation of price cuts.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS: Markets for domestic cotton goods remained generally quiet during the week. The belief was still strongly prevalent among merchants that with a possible cotton crop of 16,000,000 bales prices should react to lower levels. On the other hand, certain other factors agreed that prices should stabilize around current levels and, to substantiate their opinions, point to the premiums commanded for good spinning cotton, which diminishes the possibilities of lower prices. However, disregarding these arguments pro and con, it is a noteworthy fact that mills have not manifested any pressure to sell at concessions. Thus, buying during the week has been more or less restricted. Likewise, the volume of orders received in anticipation of future requirements has been a great deal less than in former years. It was claimed that the latter was natural and in keeping with the new policies prevailing among wholesalers, cutters-up and retailers to purchase as sparingly as possible so as to maintain an active turnover. Naturally, mills have been gradually adjusting themselves to these new conditions and many manufacturers have ceased to look for an early return to old policies. Currently, the demand for print cloths is the only thing outstanding from an otherwise dull market. The situation in the latter has been steadily improving. On Monday the Government issued its ginning report. The amount of this year's cotton crop ginned prior to Dec. 13 totaled 14,826,452 bales. This was the largest on record, the last previous high being established in 1914, when 13,972,229 bales were ginned. The former total compared with 12,792,294 bales ginned to the same date last year. Print cloths, 28-inch, 64 x 64's constructions are expected to continue until the first week of the goods in the 39-inch, 68 x 72's, construction are quoted at 10c., and 39-inch, 80 x 80's, at 12c.

WOOLEN GOODS: Retarded by seasonal conditions, the markets for woolens and worsteds remained dull. One of the principal reasons for the slackening in trade at this time is the fact that buyers have remained home to enjoy the holidays and to help their stores with the current buying rush. Besides this, manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers desiring to curtail inventories as much as possible and have any new shipments appear on the January bills, purchased no more than absolutely necessary. Mills will shut down, some until Jan. 4, to allow the overhauling and priming of machinery for the spring season. These conditions are expected to continue until the first week of the new year, when a large influx of buyers will probably arrive to purchase men's and women's wear apparel from manufacturers for the January cut-price sales.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS: Developments in the linen markets were of a more encouraging nature. Foreign advices stated that good spinning flax has become more abundant, which prompted hopes that a large supply of linens would come to hand at more attractive levels. In the domestic markets, dress linens undoubtedly showed the best improvement and it was stated that the better class of jobbers and cutters-up were using the cloth on a steadily increasing scale. This has prompted the belief that this fabric will be in popular demand during the spring and summer months. Predictions that the plain colors in cottons and silks are becoming more popular will, it is hoped, create a demand for costume linens during April and May. In regard to handkerchiefs, now that the bulk of the retailer buying is over, active preparations are under way for the new season. Thus far hand blocked and printed lines have been brought out to differentiate the new from the old. Brilliant color contrasts are among the novelties shown. Burlaps continued to rule dull. Light weights are quoted at 8.75 to 8.80c. and heavies at 11.65 to 11.70c.

State and City Department

Our State and Municipal Compendium.

A new number of our "State and City Compendium," revised to date, appears to-day, and all readers of the paper who are subscribers should receive a copy of it. As previously announced, this Supplement is now printed in two parts, Part One, containing the New England, the Middle and the Middle Western States, having been issued last June, while Part Two, embracing the rest of the country, appears to-day. The change is due to the fact that with the growth and multiplication of the municipalities of the United States the demand for additional space has become too heavy to satisfy within the limits of a single number.

NEWS ITEMS

New York City.—Population of City Put at 5,873,356.—The population of New York City for 1925 is put at 5,873,356, according to census figures made public by Florence B. Knapp, Secretary of State, on Dec. 22. This is an increase of 253,308 during the past five years when compared with Federal Census for 1920 which gave the city a population of 5,620,048. Large gains are shown in the Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens, Manhattan is still decreasing. This is attributed to restricted immigration as well as to a constantly expanding business section which envelops residential districts and brings about an exodus of population.

The 1920 and 1925 census figures for the boroughs are:

Bronx	732,016	872,168
Manhattan	2,284,103	1,945,029
Queens	469,042	714,647
Richmond	116,531	138,277
Total	5,620,048	5,873,356

New York (State of).—State's Population for 1925, 11,162,151.—According to figures of the 1925 State Census announced on Dec. 23 the population of New York State is 11,162,151. An "Associated Press Dispatch" dated Dec. 23 to "Journal of Commerce" of New York City in reporting the figures, said:

The population of New York State is 11,162,151, according to totals of the 1925 State census announced here today. This represents a gain of 776,924 since 1920 and is the largest growth made by the State in any five-year period since 1910.

In the past quarter century the State's population has increased nearly four million, the total in 1900 having been 7,268,894.

Today there is an average of 234.2 persons to every square mile in the State. The average in 1920 was 217.9 while in 1900 it was 152.5.

Every county in the State has grown in the past five years except Allegany, which showed a decrease of 27 from the 1920 figures. The counties of Westchester, Suffolk, Nassau, Rockland, Niagara, Tompkins and Genesee recorded larger growth in the last five year period than during any similar period in their history.

The Attorney General of the United States passed upon the legality of these proposed issues, under date of Dec. 5 1925, the closing paragraph of which states:

"From the documents submitted I find that all of the statutory conditions precedent to the issue of bonds by the municipalities of Porto Rico have been fully complied with in each instance and that the issue of said bonds will not increase the bonded indebtedness of the Government of Porto Rico or of either of the several municipalities named herein beyond the maximum amount permitted by law. It is my opinion, therefore, that when issued in the form and amount proposed, said bonds will constitute valid obligations of the respective municipalities responsible for their issue, to the payment of which the good faith of the people of Porto Rico has been pledged."

DATE OF ISSUE OF THIS PUBLICATION.

As explained in previous numbers, this periodical, owing to the great pressure for space, is now issued in two parts. The first part, comprising the New England and the Middle and Central States (the latter embracing Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan) appears in June, The second part, comprising the rest of the country, is published towards the close of the year, and appears to-day.

The change has been forced upon us by the constant addition to the number of municipal bond issues and the inability to compress the information concerning the same within the limits of a single number. Not only are the older and more important civic corporate bodies uninterruptedly putting out further bonded obligations, but many of the minor places, previously free from debt, have also entered the ranks of borrowing communities and are constantly creating new issues. Besides this, in the newer sections of the country, where expansion and development are such noteworthy characteristics of affairs, new civil divisions are all the time springing up. The result is that the demands for additional space have outgrown our ability to provide for them in a single number, leaving no alternative but to issue the Supplement in two parts and to assign a portion of the country to each part.

ABBREVIATIONS USED IN DESIGNATING WHETHER BONDS ARE COUPON OR REGISTERED.

"r" means fully registered bonds (no coupons).

"c" means coupon bonds without privilege of registration.

"c*" means coupon bonds, but may be registered as to principal.

"r*" means "registered" and "coupon" interchangeable.

United States Debt and the Congressional Acts Authorizing It.

In 1917 the United States, after a long period of debt retirement, entered upon a new era in its debt history. In the prosecution of the war against the Imperial German Government, new obligations were issued on a scale of unparalleled magnitude. By the Act of April 4 1917 authority was conferred upon the Secretary of the Treasury to issue $5,000,000,000 long-term non-taxable bonds at not to exceed 3½% interest ($3,000,000,000 of this being for the purpose of establishing credits in the United States for the foreign Governments enlisted in the war against Germany), and $2,000,000,000 certificates of indebtedness, the latter running for periods not exceeding one year. By the further Act of Sept. 24 1917, authority was conferred to issue $7,538,945,460 convertible 4% bonds to take up ultimately the $3,000,000,000 3½% issue authorized to cover loans to the Allies, and to provide for new Allied credits of $4,000,000,000, the remaining $538,945,460 to be used for converting certain outstanding bonds, including the Danish West Indies, Alaskan Railway, Panama Canal and naval construction issues. The bill also provided for the issuance of $2,000,000,000 each of one-year Treasury certificates of indebtness and five-year war savings certificates. The interest rate on the certificates the Secretary of the Treasury was left to fix. By the further Act of April 4 1918, amending the Act of Sept. 24 1917, authority was conferred to issue $12,000,000,000 of bonds at not exceeding 4¼% interest, the 12 billion dollars, however, to include the bonds issued under the Second Liberty Loan, and $3,638,945,460 being in lieu of corresponding amounts of unissued bonds authorized by previous Acts. Under the same Act the limit upon the amount of certificates of indebtedness that might be outstanding at any one time was raised from $4,000,000,000 to $8,000,000,000, and it was further raised to $10,000,000,000 under the Act of March 3 1919. By the further Act of July 9 1918, amending previous Liberty bond enactments, the limit of the bond issue was raised to $20,000,000,000 at not exceeding 4¼%, but including bonds theretofore issued, and increasing from $5,500,000,000 to $7,000,000,000 the additional loans or credits that might be extended to the Allies, making $10,000,000,000 altogether that could be loaned to the Allies. By the further Act of March 3 1919 (Victory Liberty Loan Act) amending previous Liberty Loan Acts and the War Finance Corporation Act, the Secretary of the Treasury was authorized to borrow an aggregate not exceeding $7,000,000,000 at such rate or rates of interest as he might prescribe, issuing therefor notes payable in not less than one year nor more than five years. By the Liberty Bond Exemption Bill of Sept. 24 1918, the total of War Savings Certificates that might be issued was raised from $2,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000.

The indebtedness of the Government mounted rapidly as bonds authorized by these enactments were issued, the total indebtedness rising from a pre-war figure of about one billion to $26,596,701,648.01, the peak reached Aug. 31 1919. Since that date there has been in progress a gradual reduction in the debt. As of Nov. 30 1925, the gross indebtedness amounted to $20,401,347,936.78, a decrease of $6,195,353,711.23 since Aug. 31 1919.

The following is a brief review of the more important financing done by the Government since the beginning of the war with Germany:

In June 1917 $2,000,000,000 of 3½% bonds were offered under the Act of April 24 1917. The subscriptions amounted to $3,036,226,850, but only $1,989,455,550 were issued. In October 1917 an offering of $3,000,000,000 4s under the Act of Sept. 24 1917 was made. Subscriptions reached an aggregate of $4,617,532,300. In accordance with previous announcement, one-half of the over-subscription was accepted, making the total of bonds put out under this offer $3,807,865,000. In April 1918 $3,000,000,000 of 4¼% non-convertible bonds (Third Liberty Loan) were offered under the Act of April 4 1918. The subscriptions amounted to $4,175,650,050, all of which were accepted. In Sept.-Oct. 1918 $6,000,000,000 of 4¼% non-convertible bonds (Fourth Liberty Loan) were offered under the Act of July 9 1918. The subscriptions amounted to $6,964,581,100, all of which were accepted. In April-May 1919, $4,500,000,000 of convertible gold notes were issued in two series, the one bearing interest at 3¾%, the other at 4¾%. The subscriptions amounted to $5,249,908,300, but only $4,495,373,000 was accepted. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon on Feb. 8 1922 called for redemption on June 15 1922 all of the Victory Notes of the 3¾% series, and on July 26 1922 he called for redemption on Dec.15 1922, Series A to F, of the 4¾% Victory Notes, aggregating about $702,938,100. The remaining Victory Loan Notes matured on May 20 1923, and were then paid off. In October 1922 an offering of $500,000,000 4¼% 30-year (optional after 25 years) TREASURY BONDS, issued under authority of the Act of Sept. 24 1917, as amended, was made for refunding purposes. Subscriptions amounted to no less than $1,651,912,800, of which $763,962,300 were accepted. On Dec. 3 1924 another offering of long-term bonds was made under authority of the Act of Sept. 24 1917 as amended, consisting of 4% 30-year (optional after 20 years) Treasury bonds to amount of $200,000,000 or thereabouts, for subscriptions in cash and additional bonds to the extent that 4¾% Treasury notes or 4% Treasury certificates of indebtedness maturing March 15 1925, and Third Liberty Loan 4¼% bonds might be tendered in payment. While the cash subscriptions were closed Dec. 4, books for the exchange subscriptions did not close until Dec. 20. Cash subscriptions amounted to $1,460,530,550, of which $224,513,500 were allotted. Exchange subscriptions, which were allotted in full, amounted to $532,230,000. On March 5 1925 a further offering was made. The financing on that date took the form of a combined offering of $450,000,000 or thereabouts of 4% Treasury bonds and of 3% Treasury certificates. The bonds were of the same series as those offered on Dec. 3 1924 Subscriptions for the bonds totaled $382,326,400, of which $290,154,700 were allotted. Allotments on the certificates may be found under the caption "Certificates of Indebtedness" below. TREASURY NOTES running from three to four years and CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS running for six months and a year, have also been issued from time to time. Reference to these will be found under a separate heading. Treasury savings certificates were entirely withdrawn from sale at the close of business July 15 1924 after their sale had been suspended earlier in the year in many West and Middle Western States to permit use of the funds to aid in agricultural relief. On Jan. 1 1925 the United States Treasury redeemed as per announcement the War Savings Certificates (stamps) and Treasury Savings Certificates, Series of 1920, maturing on that date. On Jan. 1 1926 the War Savings Certificates (stamps) and Treasury Savings Certificates, Series of 1921, also mature and will then be paid off.

It was made known on Dec. 14 1925 that the Treasury Departments' offer, made on Nov. 26 1925, to buy in about $50,000,000 of Third Liberty Loan 4¼% bonds for the account of the cumulative sinking fund at prices not to exceed 101½ was met with offerings for sale of $176,000,000. The Treasury has accepted all proposals for sale at prices not exceeding 101¼. Such proposals aggregate about $66,450,000 face amount. On all offers which have been accepted, the bonds were to be in the hands of the Federal Reserve Banks by Dec. 21 1925, payment therefor to be made Dec. 29 1925. (See "Chronicle" Dec. 19, page 2964.)

The Treasury Department also redeemed on Feb. 2 1925 the remaining $118,489,900 bonds of the old 4% loan of 1925.

Note.—The Act authorizing the First Liberty Loan was given in the "Chronicle" of April 28, page 1649, with further particulars in the issue of May 12 1917, page 1849, and the text of the Treasury circular in the issue of May 19, page 1959; and of the Second Loan the full text of the bill as it became a law in the "Chronicle" of Sept. 29 1917, page 1252, and the text of the Treasury circular in the issue of Oct. 6, page 1355. The Act authorizing the Third Liberty Loan was presented in the "Chronicle" of April 6 1918, page 1404, and the text of the Treasury circular in the issue of April 13, page 1517. The Act authorizing the Fourth Liberty Loan appeared in the "Chronicle" of July 13 1918, page 131, the Treasury circular in the issue of Oct. 5, page 1328, and the text of the Liberty Bond Exemption Bill on Oct. 5, page 1327. The Act authorizing the Fifth (Victory) Liberty Loan was given in the "Chronicle" of March 8 1919, page 919, and the text of the Treasury Circular in the issue of April 26 1919, page 1670. Certificates of indebtedness have been issued from time to time under the Act of April 24 1917 and the amendatory Acts of Sept. 24 1917, April 4 1918, July 9 1918 and March 3 1919, always for short periods. The offering of 25-30-year long-term Treasury bonds made in October 1922 was given in the issue of Oct. 14 1922, page 1684; details of subscriptions and allotments in the issue of Nov. 18, page 2219. The offering of the 20-30-year Treasury bonds made in December, 1924, was reported in the "Chronicle" of Dec. 6 1924, page 2594; Dec. 13, page 2717; Dec. 20, page 2829, and Dec. 27, Page 2959. The offering of the additional 20-30-year (opt.) Treasury bonds was reported in the "Chronicle" of March 7 1925, page 1156, and March 14 1925, page 1264.

In the following we present a detailed statement of the debt of the United States as made up by the Treasurer at the close of business on Nov. 30 1925, this being based on the daily Treasury statements, and, therefore, subject to revision in a minor way.

LEGISLATURE meets biennially in odd years on the second Wednesday in January, and there is no limit to length of sessions.

HISTORY OF DEBT.—A brief summary of the early history of the Wisconsin debt will be found in the "State and City Supplement" for April 1895

The bonded debt of the State, created for war purposes in 1861-63, has all been paid or else converted into certificates of indebtedness, which are held by the various trust funds. The amounts due the several funds in Oct. 1925 were as follows:

Certificates of indebtedness, School Fund	$1,163,700
" " Normal School Fund	700,000
Total	$1,863,700

ASSESSED VALUATION.—The total assessed valuation of the State as determined by the State Tax Commission, and the tax rate for State purposes, have been as follows for the years named below:

*The large increase in values for 1901 and since that date is due to the formation of a new State Board of Assessment by Chapter 237, Laws of 1901, which has construed the existing law to be a command to assess at full value, whereas former boards did not so construe the Act.

§ Includes soldier bonus levy. a $1,115,000 of this amount was remitted

† Of this amount $1,500,000 was remitted.

[The 1915 Legislature passed an Act (Chapter 407, Laws 1915) providing for the re-assessment of railroad companies so as to include certain docks and elevators omitted from prior valuations and for the distribution of the taxes collected from such docks and elevators to the cities, towns and villages in which they are located.]

DEBT LIMITATION.—The constitutional provision of Wisconsin restricting debt-making are very rigorous, plain and comprehensive. Since the amendment adopted in 1874, debts of cities, &c., as well as the State, are definitely limited by that instrument. We give the provisions first which relate to the State and, after, those which have reference to cities, &c.

(1) STATE indebtedness is confined within very close bounds. The sections which cover the subject are Sections 3, 4, 6, 7, 9 and 10 of Article 8. Section 10 was amended by the voters on Nov. 4 1924 and further provides that the State may appropriate money (not exceeding in any one year 2-10 of 1 mill of State's assessment of taxable property) for the purpose of acquiring, preserving and developing the forests of the State. We give them in full below.

SECTION 3. Credit of State, for what not given. The credit of the State shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association or corporation.

SECTION 4. Contracting Debts. The State shall never contract any public debt, except in the cases and manner herein provided.

SECTION 6. Limitation on Public Debt. For the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures, the State may contract public debts (but such debts shall never in the aggregate exceed $100,000). Every such debt shall be authorized by law, for some purpose or purposes to be distinctly specified therein; and a vote of a majority of all the members elected to each House to be taken by yeas and nays, shall be necessary to the passage of such law and every such law shall provide for levying an annual tax sufficient to pay the annual interest of such debt, and the principal within five years from the passage of such law, and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of such taxes to the payment of such principal and interest: and such appropriation shall not be repealed, nor the taxes be postponed or diminished, until the principal and interest of such debt shall have been wholly paid.

SECTION 7. State may borrow money, when. The Legislature may also borrow money to repel invasion, suppress insurrection or defend the State in time of war; but the money thus raised shall be applied exclusively to the object for which the loan was authorized, or to the repayment of the debt thereby created.

SECTION 9. Evidences of debt. No scrip, certificate, or other evidence of State debt whatsoever, shall be issued except for such debts as are authorized by the sixth and seventh sections of this article.

SECTION 10, as amended in 1924, reads:

Internal improvements. The State shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement, or be a party in carrying on such works; but whenever grants of land or other property shall have been made to the State, especially dedicated by the grant to particular works of internal improvement, the State may carry on such particular works, and shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion. Provided that the State may appropriate money in the treasury or to be thereafter raised by taxation for the construction or improvement of public highways. Provided, that the State may appropriate moneys for the purpose of acquiring, preserving and developing the forests of the State; but there shall not be appropriated under the authority of this section in any one year an amount to exceed two-tenths of one mill of the taxable property of the State as determined by the last preceding State assessment."

(2) CITIES, counties, towns, villages, &c., were unrestricted except by legislative enactment until 1874, when an amendment, adding Section 3 to Article XI of the Constitution, was adopted, regulating the creation of debt by municipalities. Since that amendment was adopted 5% on the value of the taxable property has been the extreme amount of debt permissible for any municipality. Not only is that the case, but, as will be seen, the municipality is required before, or at the time when it incurs any indebtedness, to make provision for (or according to decisions of the State Supreme Court) levying an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest and also sufficient to pay the principal within twenty years from the time of contracting the debt. The voters in Nov. 1912 adopted an amendment to Section 3 of Article XI of the Constitution, extending the time to fifty years within which cities or counties having a population of 150,000, or over, shall pay debts incurred for the acquisition of land. Section 3 was again amended by the voters on Nov. 4 1924. Under the amendment adopted cities and villages, by following the methods of determination which may be prescribed by the Legislature, will have all powers of determining their local affairs and government not prohibited by the Constitution or by "such enactments of the Legislature of State-wide concern as shall with uniformity affect every city or every village." The section referred to now reads as follows, the matter added in 1924 being placed in italics:

Section 3, Article XI.—It shall be the duty of the Legislature, and they are hereby empowered, to provide for the organization of cities and incorporated villages, and to restrict their power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting debts and loaning their credit, so as to prevent abuses in assessments and taxation, and in contracting debts by such municipal corporations.

Cities and villages organized pursuant to State laws * * * are hereby empowered to determine their local affairs and government, subject only to this Constitution and to such enactments of the Legislature of State-wide concern as shall with uniformity affect every city or every village. The method of such determination shall be prescribed by the Legislature. * * *

No county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to any amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding 5% on the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for State and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of one hundred and fifty thousand or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding fifty years from the time of contracting the same.

The Legislature has from time to time passed laws providing for the issuance of bonds for various specified purposes, but these laws are too numerous to be given here. Such authority is of course subject to the foregoing provisions of the constitution.

At its 1917 session the Legislature passed an Act (Chapter 18, approved March 20) relative to the validity of bonds issued by cities for any purpose, and providing that: "If the electors of any city, prior to the passage of this Act, shall have voted in favor of issuing bonds for any purpose or purposes, and the vote on such bonds shall be invalid by reason of the failure or neglect of the city to print on the ballot by which the proposition of issuing said bonds was submitted to the electors a statement of the amount of bonds theretofore issued by such city for said purpose or purposes and then outstanding, as required by Section 943e of the statutes, the Common Council of such city may, notwithstanding such failure or neglect, authorize the issuance of said bonds and when issued, they shall be valid, legal and binding, and of the same force and effect as though said Section 943e of the statutes had been fully complied with." V. 104, p. 1308.

BONDS OF MUNICIPALITIES—WHETHER TAXABLE OR NOT.—By Chapter 516 of the Laws of Wisconsin for 1911, bonds issued by Wisconsin municipalities were made exempt from taxation within the State. V. 93, p. 607. Under date of April 7 1919, however, we were informed in a letter from John H. Leenhouts, Assessor of Incomes, that "under the Wisconsin law all intangible securities were exempt from local assessment as personal property, but in lieu of this exemption the income from such securities is taxable to the recipient. The only bonds or securities which are exempt under our law to-day are the issues of the Federal Government, such as Liberty Loan bonds, and bonds issued under the Federal Farm Loan Act." V. 108, p. 1533.

Bonds of the State of Wisconsin are taxable. Secs. 1034 and 1038, Wisconsin Statutes, 1919.

SAVINGS BANK INVESTMENTS, &c.—DEPOSITS—HOW INVESTED.—The provisions regulating the investments of deposits of any mutual savings bank are contained in Section 2024, paragraphs 68, 69 and 138, of the Banking Law of Wisconsin, revision of 1915.

Paragraph 68 was amended in 1917 so as to permit investment in bonds issued by the Federal Land Bank in the Federal Land Bank District of which Wisconsin is a part. The three sections referred to are given in full herewith:

Deposits, how invested.—Sec. 2024, par. 68. Any mutual savings bank organized hereunder may employ not exceeding one-half of its deposits in the purchase of the bonds of the United States or of the States of the United States or of the authorized bonds of any incorporated city, village, town or county, or school district in the aforesaid States of the United States or of first mortgage bond of any railroad company, which has paid annual dividends of not less than 4% regularly on its entire capital stock for a period of at least five years next preceding the investment, and in the consolidated mortgage bonds of any such company issued to retire the entire bonded debt of such company, or in the farm loan bonds issued by the Federal Land Bank in the Federal Land Bank District of which the State of Wisconsin is a part in accordance with the provisions of an Act of Congress approved July 17 1916. All other loans, except as provided in section 2024, par. 69, shall be secured by mortgage on unencumbered real estate lying and being in the State of Wisconsin and States immediately adjoining the State of Wisconsin, to wit: Michigan, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota. No mutual savings bank shall invest any part of its deposits in the stock of any corporation nor loan on, nor invest in any mortgage on real estate, except such real estate as lies in the State of Wisconsin and States immediately adjoining, to wit: Michigan, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota. No loan shall be made upon real estate to any amount exceeding 60% of the value thereof as determined upon by not less than a majority of the members of the finance committee, who shall duly certify to the value of the premises to be mortgaged, according to the best of their judgment, and such report shall be filed and preserved with the records of the corporation.

Collateral security required. Sec. 2024, par. 69. No such mutual savings bank shall loan any money upon any obligation on which only one person or firm shall be holden, unless the same be secured by collateral in which the bank might invest its funds or on which it might loan its money to the extent authorized by the preceding section.

Legal investment. Sec. 2024, par. 138. The bonds of a land mortgage association shall be a legal investment for savings associations, trust companies or other financial institutions chartered under the laws of this State, and shall also be a legal investment for trustees, executors, administrators, or custodians of public or private funds, or corporations, partnerships or associations. Whenever the taxes upon the real estate subject to the mortgages pledged as security for any bonds of any land mortgage association shall be payable by either the mortgagee or the mortgagor then such bonds shall be exempt from further taxation in the hands of their holders.

† Also includes a total of $33,601,784.46 bonds for county highways, for which the State is responsible.

As an offset to the indebtedness on Dec. 1 1924 the State had in its sinking fund $1,990,141 01, made up of $14,336 01 cash and $1,975,805 (face value) bonds.

INTEREST on bonds marked (*) in New York City; on bonds due Dec. 15 1943 at State Treasurer's office, Merchants' National Bank, St. Paul, or the Bankers Trust Co., New York, on all certificates is payable at State Treasurer's office.

PERMANENT TRUST FUNDS.—The school fund on June 30 1924 amounted to $39,357,748.26, including $603,032.73 in cash, $4,706,234.89 in land contracts and $34,048,480.64 in bonds. The permanent university fund on June 30 1924 amounted to $2,836,535.12, including $588,839.83 cash, $177,913.24 in land contracts and $2,119,752.05 in bonds; swamp land fund to $9,498,503.25, including $607,322.12 in cash, $3,122,509.13 in land contracts, $5,768,672 in bonds and the internal improvement land fund to $374,870.60, including $4,136.03 in cash, $146,190.82 in land contract and $224,543.75 in bonds.

ASSESSMENTS MADE ON NEW BASIS SINCE 1913.—The Legislature in 1913 passed a new law, known as Chapter 483, General Laws, 1913, under which the county assessor assesses platted real estate at 40% of its full value and unplatted at 33 1-3%, where previously it was customary to assess real property at 60% of its full valuation and any improvement thereon at 50%. The personal property under this new law is now being assessed at 33 1-3% and 25% of its full valuation, where formerly about 50% was assessed. Mining property is assessed at 50% of its full value.

TAXABLE VALUATION.—The taxable valuation, total tax levied, and the rate of State tax have been as follows for the years named:

	—Taxable Valuation—				Tot. Tax Rate per
Year.	Land & Impts. (Other Than Town Lots).	Town Lots and Improvements.	x Personal Property.	x Total Valuation.

Note.—Total taxes levied, including those collected by municipalities as well as the State, for 1922 were $114,032,640 99; for 1921, $114,541,-635 09; for 1920, $115,391,095 69; for 1919, $96,938,405 04; for 1918, $72,209,340.32. The tax rate given in the table above, however, is for State purposes alone.

x The State Legislature in 1911 passed an Act (Chapter 285), making money and credits exempt from general taxation, but providing that such property shall be taxed annually at the rate of three mills per dollar. We do not include in the above the valuation of moneys and credits since the enactment of this law. The valuation of money and credits since 1910 has been as follows: 1910, $115,676,126; 1911, $134,826,568; 1912, $156,252,-274; 1913, $197,625,914; 1914, $197,625,914; 1915, $213,078,632; 1916, $223,858,138; 1917, $285,662,756; 1918, $330,270,597; 1919, $359,112,619; 1920, $443,092,869; 1921, $425,745,839; 1922, $400,960,331.

DEBT LIMITATION.—Minnesota has sought to protect the State from excessive debt issues through restrictions in its Constitution, but the amendments of 1920 and 1922, referred to below, have greatly modified these restrictions. The Constitution fixes the limit of debt at $250,000 "for the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures"; and an amendment, ratified in 1879, extended this power to $250,000 additional "for erecting and completing buildings for the insane, a deaf, dumb and blind asylum and State prison." On Nov. 2 1920 the voters approved an amendment which added Article 16, providing for the creation of a State highway system and authorizing the issuance of $10,000,000 bonds per year for that purpose, to a grand aggregate of $75,000,000. Then in November 1922 the voters ratified another amendment to Article 9. This changed Sec. tion 10 so as to allow the State to organize a rural credit system and to incur indebtedness in unlimited amount to carry the amendment into effect. Under authority of this amendment the State Legislature in 1923 enacted a aw organizing a rural credit system and authorizing the issuance of $40.-000,000 bonds. This amount was increased to $70,000,000 under amendment to the law made by the 1925 Legislature (Chapter 270, Laws of 1925). With regard to the debt of municipalities, there is but one section in the Constitution which relates to that subject, and that has reference to making railroad debt. On Nov. 4 1924 an amendment adding Article 17A to the Constitution which empowers the tate and its political subdivisions to undertake the prevention and abatement of forest fires and to incur debts and pledge the public credit in so doing was ratified. It is given further below.

FIRST, as to State indebtedness, Article 9, Sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 10 and 14, and Article 16 follow:

SECTION 5. (State Debt Limited—How Contracted.)—For the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures, the State may contract public debt but such debts shall never, in the aggregate, exceed two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; every such debt shall be authorized by law for some single object, to be distinctly specified therein, and no such law shall take effect until it shall have been passed by the vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch of the Legislature, to be recorded by the yeas and nays on the journals of each House respectively; and every such law shall levy a tax annually sufficient to pay the annual interest of such debt, and also a tax sufficient to pay the principal of such debt within ten years from the final passage of such law, and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of such taxes to the payment of such principal and interest; and such appropriation and taxes shall not be repealed, postponed or diminished, until the principal and interest of such debt shall have been wholly paid. The State shall never contract any debts for works of internal improvements, or be a party in carrying on such works, except in cases where grants of land or other property shall have been made to the State, especially dedicated by the grant to specific purposes, and in such case the State shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenue derived from such works in aid of their completion.

SECTION 6 (Issue of Bonds for Created Debt).—All debts authorized by the preceding section shall be contracted by loan on State bonds of amounts not less than five hundred dollars each on interest, payable within ten years after the final passage of the law authorizing such debt; and such bonds shall not be sold by the State under par. A correct registry of all such bonds shall be kept by the Treasurer, in numerical order, so as always to exhibit the number and amount unpaid and to whom severally made payable.

SECTION 7 (Limitation as to When Debt May Be Contracted).—The State shall never contract any public debt, unless in time of war, to repel invasion or suppress insurrection, except in the cases and in the manner provided in the fifth and sixth sections of this article.

SECTION 8 (Disposition of Funds Received for Bonds).—The money arising from any loan made, or debt or liability contracted, shall be applied to the object specified in the Act authorizing such debt or liability, or to the repayment of such debt or liability, and to no other purpose whatever.

SECTION 10.—Credit of the State Prohibited but Rural Credits to an Unlimited Extent May be Granted.—The credit of the State shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association or corporation except as hereinafter provided. Nor shall there by any further issue of bonds denominated "Minnesota State Railroad Bonds," under what purports to be an amendment to Section 10 of Article 9 of the Constitution, adopted April 15 1858, which is hereby expunged from the Constitution, saving, excepting and reserving to the State, nevertheless, all rights, remedies and forfeitures accruing under said amendment. Provided, however, that for the purpose of developing the agricultural resources of the State, the State may establish and maintain a system of rural credits and thereby loan money and extend credit to the people of the State upon real estate security in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by law, and to issue and negotiate bonds to provide money to be so loaned. The limit of indebtedness contained in Section 5 of this article shall not apply to the provisions of this section, and the purposes for which the credit of the State or the aforesaid municipal subdivisions thereof may be given or loaned as herein provided are declared to be public purposes.

SECTION 14.—(Public Debt for State Buildings.)—For the purpose of erecting and completing buildings for a hospital for the insane, a deaf, dumb and blind asylum, and State prison, the Legislature may by law increase the public debt of the State to an amount not exceeding two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, in addition to the public debt already heretofore authorized by the constitution; and for that purpose may provide by law for issuing and negotiating the bonds of the State, and appropriate the money only for the purpose aforesaid; which bonds shall be payable in not less than ten nor more than thirty years from the date of the same, at the option of the State.

We reprint below part of Section 1 and Section 4 of Article 16, which was adopted at the 1920 general election:

ARTICLE 16, SECTION 1.—Provision for the Establishment of a Trunk Highway System.—There is hereby created and established a trunk highway system which shall be located, constructed, reconstructed, improved and forever maintained as public highways, by the State of Minnesota. The said highways shall extend as nearly as may be along the following described routes, the more specific and definite location of which shall be fixed and determined by such boards, officers or tribunals, and in such manner as shall be prescribed by law, but in fixing such specific and definite routes, there shall not be any deviation from the starting points or terminals set forth in this bill, nor shall there be any deviation in fixing such routes from the various villages and cities named herein, through which such routes are to pass.

SECTION 4.—Ten Million Dollars Bonds Annually for Highway Purposes May Be Issued.—The Legislature may provide by law for the issue and sale of the bonds of the State in such amount as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of Section 1 of this article, provided, however, that the amount of bonds which may be issued in any one calendar year shall not exceed, in the aggregate, ten million dollars, par value, and provided, further, the total amount of such bonds issued and unpaid shall not at any time exceed seventy-five million dollars, par value. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds shall be paid into the treasury of the State and credited to the trunk highway fund. Any bonds so issued and sold shall be for a term not exceeding twenty (20) years. They shall not be sold for less than par and accrued interest and shall not bear interest at a greater rate than five per cent per annum. In case the trunk highway sinking fund shall not be adequate to meet the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds authorized by the Legislature as hereinbefore provided, the Legislature may provide by law for the taxation of all taxable property of the State in an amount sufficient to meet the deficiency, or it may, in its discretion, appropriate to such sinking fund moneys in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Section 5 repeals all provisions of the Constitution inconsistent with Article 16.

SECOND, as to city, county or other municipality*, the only restriction on the debt-making power in the constitution is the following, found in article 9, section 15:

ART. 9, SEC. 15.—(Municipal Debts in Aid of Railroads.)—The Legislature shall not authorize any county, township, city or other municipal corporation to issue bonds, or to become indebted in any manner, to aid in the construction or equipment of any or all railroads to any amount that shall exceed five per centum of the value of the taxable property within such county, township, city, or other municipal corporation, the amount of such taxable property to be ascertained and determined by the last assessment of said property made, for the purpose of State and county taxation, previous to the incurring of such indebtedness.

The foregoing was adopted as an amendment in 1879. Before its adoption the section read so as to authorize municipal corporations to issue bonds in aid of railroads to ten per cent of valuation. Hence the amendment consisted in simply changing the word ten and making it five.

This is all the constitution contains with reference to the debts of municipalities.

ARTICLE 17A.—(State and Political Subdivisions May Incur Debts for Prevention and Abatement of Forest Fires.)—

SECTION 1.—The State and (or) any of its political subdivisions, if and whenever authorized by the Legislature, may contract debts and pledge the public credit for and engage in any work reasonably tending to prevent or abate forest fires, including the compulsory clearing and improvement of wild lands (whether belonging to the public or privately owned) and the assessment against such land of the value of all benefits so conferred and the payment of damages so sustained in excess of such benefits.

Section 2. Any and all provisions of the Constitution of the State of Minnesota inconsistent with the provisions of this article are hereby repealed, so far, but only so far, as the same prohibit or limit the power of the Legislature to enact laws authorizing or permitting the doing of the things hereinbefore authorized.

Legislative Provisions.—The Legislature, however, has made some general provisions governing bond issues which are contained in Sections 1851, 1862, 1903, 1906, 1907 and 1932 of the General Statutes, 1913.

Section 1851 provides that "no city of the first class shall hereafter incur or be subject to a net indebtedness in excess of 5% of its assessed value, nor shall any other municipal corporation except school districts become so indebted beyond 10% of such value." It is provided also "that if the net indebtedness of any municipality, at the time when the Revised Laws take effect, shall exceed the limit herein fixed, or if any village thereafter organized as a city under a home rule charter shall be subject to such excess when so organized, either may issue and sell new bonds sufficient in amount to refund all or any part of such existing indebtedness, but the same shall not thereby be increased."

Section 1862 relating to independent school districts situated wholly or in part within any city having a population of more than 50,000, states that "no such school district shall have power to issue bonds or any evidences of indebtedness running more than two years, whenever the aggregate of the outstanding bonds and evidences of indetedness of such district equals or exceeds 3½% of the assessed value of all taxable property within such school district."

There is no legislation regarding the indebtedness of smaller school districts, but a recent decision of the State Supreme Court regarding the issuance of bonds by such districts furnishes a guide. The Supreme Court, in a decision May 18 1923, held that there was no legislative limit placed upon the indebtedness of smaller districts, and therefore such districts could incur unlimited debt without violating any law. The Court at the same time overruled a contention that the debt of such districts was automatically limited by a limit of 8 mills placed upon the tax that may be levied in any one year for the purchase of sites and erection of buildings, holding that this was not meant to limit the tax that might be levied for bonds and interest. See V. 116, p. 2418.

Section 1903 refers to cities having a population of 20,000 or less and provides that bonds may be issued for such purposes as permanent improvement, bridge, shipping terminal, water and light city hospital, school and general fund, but stipulates that "none of such bonds above described shall be issued whereby the aggregate bonded indebtedness of the city, excluding any funds, bonds or balances held in a sinking fund, shall be made to exceed 10% of the assessed valuation of the taxable property within the city, provided, however, for the purpose of determining the limitation bonds issued for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, improving, operating or purchasing water power or lighting plants shall not be included."

No bonds authorized by this Act shall be issued by any city, until the issuance thereof shall have been first authorized by a three-fifths vote of the legal voters of the city voting upon the question, and the question of the issuance of such bonds shall be submitted to the electors of the city proposing to issue the same at a general or special election.

Cities having more than 10,000 and not more than 20,000 inhabitants, in addition to all the powers previously possessed by such cities, are authorized by Section 1906 to issue bonds for local improvements not exceeding $25,000, and according to Section 1907 "the bonds authorized by Section 1 of this Act (Section 1906) or any portion thereof, may be issued and sold by any such city notwithstanding any limitation contained in the charter of such city or in any law of this State, prescribing or fixing any limit upon the bonded indebtedness of such city but the full faith and credit of any such city shall at all times be pledged for the payment of any bonds issued under this Act and for the current interest thereon, and the city council and common council of such city shall each year include in the tax levy for such city a sufficient amount to provide for the payment of such interest and for the accumulation of a sinking fund for the redemption of such bonds at their maturity."

Section 1932 provides that villages in Minnesota having a floating indebtedness may issue bonds for the purpose of refunding the same; but no such bonds shall be issued, or sold which, with bonds already issued shall exceed 15% of the assessed valuation of real estate of said village.

There has been a mass of other legislation enacted of more or less special application. We have not space here to notice it further than to say that as a rule, bonds for water and light purposes, and possibly for other self supporting enterprises, are not subject to the limitations placed upon indebtedness, and that under Chapter 299, Laws of 1923, no bonds may be sold below par, unless specific provision is made in the law authorizing their issuance that a sale may be effected at less than par.

SOLDIERS' BONUS CERTIFICATES.—The Legislature passed an Act in 1919 creating a Soldiers' Bonus Board and authorizing the "Board to issue certificates of indebtedness in the aggregate amount not to exceed $20,000,000 at not less than par and not more than 5% interest. The State Supreme Court on Dec. 19 1919 sustained the decision of the Hennepin County District Court, which on Nov. 5 1919 held that the Soldiers' Bonus Law was valid. See "Chronicle" Dec. 27 1919, page 2456.) Owing to the inability of the "Board" to sell all of the certificates at par the 1921 Legislature passed an Act permitting the sale of the remainder ($4,538,000) below their face value. Another Act passed in 1921 provided an additional million of bonus certificates.

COUNTY DITCH BONDS, THEIR SECURITY AND METHOD OF ISSUANCE.—For illustration of method of issuing ditch bonds and the security back of them, see "Chronicle" of Oct. 30 1915, page 1490.

DRAINAGE BONDS DIRECT OBLIGATIONS OF COUNTY.—The State Supreme Court holds that drainage bonds issued under Sec. 18, Chapter 230, of the general laws of 1905 as amended, are direct and general obligations of the county isduing the same. V. 94, p. 365.

SUPREME COURT RULING AFFECTING SCHOOL BONDS.—The State Supreme Court on Dec. 28 1917 ruled that bond issues for the erection of new school buildings must be initiated with the passage of resolutions by boards of education under Minnesota laws, otherwise a vote of a school district to that end is ineffective. V. 106, p. 205.

MORTGAGE TAX LAW.—The Legislature of 1907 enacted a law which became effective April 30 1907, imposing a tax of 50 cents upon each hundred dollars of the principal debt, secured by any mortgage of real property located within the State, recorded or registered on or after April 30 1907. The text of this law was given on page 1194 of the "Chronicle" of May 18 1907. This law, as amended, provides for a tax of 25 cents on each hundred dollars of a mortgage running for not more than 5 years and 60 days and 15 cents on a hundred dollars of a mortgage running for more than 5 years and 60 days. The law now reads as follows:

"Sec. 2302. A tax of 15 cents is hereby imposed upon each hundred dollars, or fraction thereof, of the principal debt or obligation which is, or in any contingency may be, secured by any mortgage of real property situate within the State executed and delivered after the passage and approval hereof and recorded or registered hereafter; provided that any such mortgage heretofore executed and delivered shall not be recorded or registered without payment of the tax originally stipulated in section 2 hereof as originally enacted; provided further, that if any such mortgage shall describe any real estate situate outside of this State, such tax shall be imposed upon such proportion of the whole debt secured thereby as the value of the real estate therein described situate in this State bears to the value of the whole of the real estate described therein, as such value shall be determined by the State Auditor upon application of the mortgagee; and provided further, that if the maturity of any portion of said debt secured by the said mortgage, as therein stipulated, shall be fixed at a date more than five years and sixty days after the date of said mortgage, then and in that case the tax to be paid on such portion shall be at the rate of 25 cents on each hundred dollars or fraction thereof."

TAXATION OF MUNICIPAL BONDS, MONEY AND CREDITS.—Under authority of Chapter 242, Laws of 1911 (Section 1971, General Statutes, 1913), bonds thereafter issued by the State of Minnesota and its political subdivisions, are exempt from taxation. See V. 92, p. 1263. The law reads: "That bonds and certificates of indebtedness hereafter issued by the State of Minnesota, or by any county, city or village of said State, or any township, or any common or independent school district of said State, or any governmental board of said State, or any county, city or village thereof, shall hereafter be exempt from taxation, provided that nothing herein contained shall be construed as exempting such bonds from the payment of a tax thereon, as provided for by Chapter 288, Laws of 1905 (Secs. 2271 to 2298, Gen. Stat., 1913), when any of such bonds constitute in whole or in part any inheritance or bequest, taken or received by any person or persons or corporation."

In 1923 the Legislature passed a law (Chapter 102) amendatory to Section 2316, Gen. Stat. of 1913, which levies a tax of 3 mills on a dollar of certain money and credits. Under this statute, bonds issued by States other than Minnesota and by municipalities located outside Minnesota are taxable at the rate of 3 mills on the dollar. This section now reads:

2316. As used in this section the word "money" means gold and silver coin, treasury notes, bank notes and other forms of currency in common use; and the word "credits" means and includes every claim and demand for money or otner valuable tning, and every annuity or sum of money receivable at stated periods, due or to become due, and all claims and demands secured by deed or mortgage due or to become due, and all shares of stock in corporations tne property of which is not assessed or taxed in this State.

As hereinbefore defined, money and credits are hereby exempt from taxation other than that imposed by this Act and shall hereafter be subject to an annual tax of 3 mills on each dollar of the fair casa value thereof. But nothing in this Act shall apply to money or credits belonging to incorporated banks located within this State, nor to any indebtedness on which taxes nave been properly and fully paid under the provisions of Sections 2301-2309, General Statutes of Minnesota 1913 [mortgage tax law referred to above—Editor], nor to moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens of this State coming into competition with the business of national banks; provided, that bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness in the hands of individual citizens not employed or engaged in the banking or investment business and representing merely personal investments not made in competition with sucn business, shall not be deemed moneyed capital within the meaning of this section.

SAVINGS BANK INVESTMENTS.—The law relating to the invest ment of savings banks funds in the State of Minnesota is contained in Section 6393 of the General Statutes of 1913. This section was amended in 1917 so as to provide that investments may be made in Federal Farm Loan bonds and in 1919 so as to allow of the purchase of bankers' acceptances. The law was further amended by Chapter 421, Laws of 1923. Section 6393 now reads:

Section 6393. The trustees of any savings bank shall invest the moneys deposited therein only as follows:

1. In the bonds or other interest-bearing obligations of the United States, or in securities for the payment of which and interest thereon the faith of the Government is pledged.

2. In the bonds of any State which has not defaulted in the payment of any bonded debt within 10 years prior to the making of such investment.

3. In the bonds of any county, city, town, village, school, drainage or other district created pursuant to law for public purposes in Minnesota, or in any warrant, order, or interest-bearing obligation issued by this State, or by any city, city board, town or county therein, provided that the net indebtedness of any such municipality or district, as net indebtedness is defined by Revised Laws of 1905, Section 777 (1848), and its amendments, shall not exceed 10% of its assessed valuation, or in the bonds of any county, city, town, village, school, drainage or other district created pursuant to law for public purposes, in Iowa, Wisconsin and North and South Dakota, or in the bonds of any city, county, town, village, school district, drainage or other district created pursuant to law for public purposes, in the United States, containing at least 3,500 inhabitants; provided that the total bonded indebtedness of any such municipality or district shall not exceed 10% of its assessed valuation.

4. In notes or bonds secured by mortgages or trust deeds on unencumbered real estate in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana, worth when improved at least twice and when unimproved at least three times the amount loaned thereon. But not more than 70% of the whole amount of the moneys of the bank shall be so loaned and such investment shall be made only on report of a committee directed to investigate the same and report its value, according to the judgment of its members, and its report shall be preserved among the bank's records.

5. In notes secured by such bonds or mortgages, as the bank under this section is authorized to invest in, but no such bond or mortgage shall be taken as collateral security for more than its par value, nor shall the aggregate amount of securities taken be less than the full amount loaned thereon and no such loan shall be made for a longer time than one year, nor to a greater amount to any one person than 3% of the total deposits of the bank No such bank shall loan in the aggregate, on the security specified in this paragraph, more than ¼ of its deposits.

6. In the bonds of any railroad company, or the successor of any railroad company, which has received a land grant from the Government and whose bonds are secured by first lien upon its railroad.

7. In the bonds of any other railroad company, which are secured by first lien upon a railroad within the United States, or in the mortgage bonds of any such company, of an issue to retire all prior mortgage indebtedness thereof, or in the bonds of any railroad company in the United States which are guaranteed or assumed by another railroad company within the United States; provided, that the railroad company, except one whose bonds are so guaranteed or assumed, either issuing, guaranteeing, or assuming any of such bonds, has not within five years prior to such investment failed in the payment of a dividend upon its entire capital stock outstanding of not less than 4% per annum each fiscal year, and has not within such time defaulted in the payment of any part of the principal or interest of any debt incurred by it and secured by trust deed or mortgage upon its road or any part thereof, or in the payment of any part of the principal or interest of any bonds guaranteed or assumed by it. But no such bank shall loan upon or invest in railroad bonds to an amount exceeding in the aggregate 20% of its deposits, nor exceeding 5% of its deposits in the bonds issued, guaranteed or assumed by any one railroad company.

8. In farm loan bonds issued by the Federal Land Bank in the Federal Land Bank District of which the State of Minnesota is a part, or by a branch of said Federal Land Bank, or by a Joint Stock Land Bank in said district, in accordance with the provisions of an Act of Congress of the United States of July 17 1916, known and designated as "The Federal Farm Loan Act," and Acts amendatory thereto.

9. In bankers' acceptances of the kind and character following:

a. Bankers' acceptances of the kind and maturities made eligible by law for rediscount with or purchase by Federal Reserve banks, providing the same are accepted or endorsed by a bank, or a trust company incorporated under the laws of this State, or by any bank or trust company in the United States which is a member of the Federal Reserve System.

b. Not more than 20% of the assets of any savings bank shall be invested in such acceptances. Not more than 7% of the aggregate amount credited to the depositors of any savings bank shall be invested in the acceptances of or deposited with a trust and banking company or with a national bank of which a trustee of such savings bank is a director.

10. In equipment obligations or equipment trust certificates: Provided that such obligations or certificates mature not later than 15 years from their date and are issued or guaranteed by a corporation to waich a loan or loans for the construction, acquisition, purchase or lease of equipment have been made or approved by the Inter-State Commerce Commission, under authority conferred by Act of Congress of the U. S. of America or are secured by or on evidence of a prior or preferred lien upon interest in, or of reservation of title to, the equipment in respect of which they have been sold, or by an assignment of or prior interest in the rent or purchase notes given for tne hiring or purchase of such equipment, and provided, further, that the total amount of principal of such issue of equipment obligations or trust certificates shall not exceed 60% of the cost or purchase price of the equipment in respect of which they were issued. The remaining 40% of said cost or purchase price having been paid by or for the account of the railroad o constructing, requiring, purchasing or leasing said equipment, or by funds loaned or advanced for the purpose by the Government of the U. S. or one its agencies or instrumentalities and subordinated in the event of default, in respct of the lien or interest thereof upon or in such equipment or rent or purchase notes, to the lien or interest of said prior preferred equipment obligations or equipment trust certificates.

The term "authorized securities" whenever used in the Revised Law shall be understood as referring to the securities specified in this section,

At least half of the whole amount deposited shall be invested;

First—In the bonds or interest-bearing notes or obligations of the United States, or those for which the faith of the United States is pledged for the payment of the interest and principal.

Second—In the bonds of any State in the Union, provided that such State has not within ten (10) years previous to making such investment by such corporation defaulted in the payment of any part of the principal or interest on any debts authorized by any Legislature of such State to be contracted, and of the State of Minnesota, issued since 1860.

Third—In the bonds of any city, county, town, village or school district in the States of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio or Michigan, or in any warrants or interest-bearing obligations issued by the said States or counties in said States, or city or city board, town, village or school district within the county in which such banks shall be situated, or in the bonds of any city, county, town, village or school district of the United States, which city, county, town, village or school district had at least five thousand (5,000) inhabitants as determined by the State or United States Census taken next preceding the issue of bonds tendered; provided, that the bonded indebtedness of any such city, county, town, village or school district so tendering bonds shall not exceed ten per centum upon the assessed valuation of such city, county, town, village or school district at the time of the issue of the bonds tendered.

Fourth—In notes secured by mortgage on unincumbered real estate situate in the States of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Montana, North Dakota or South Dakota, and worth at least twice the amount loaned thereon, but in case the loan is on unimproved or unproductive real estate the amount loaned thereon shall not be more than thirty (30) per cent of its actual value, and no investment in any bond and mortgage shall be made by any savings bank except upon the report of a committee charged with the duty of investigating the same, and who shall certify to the value of the premises mortgaged, or to be mortgaged, according to their best judgment, and such report shall be filed and preserved among the records of the institution.

Fifth—The remaining one-half (½) may be invested in said bonds or loaned on the aforesaid securities or upon approved personal or collateral security or in the bonds of any railroad company as hereinafter provided, or used to buy and sell exchange.

Sixth—In the bonds of any railroad company, or the successor of any railroad company, which has received a land grant from the Government of the United States, and which are secured by first lien upon its railroad.

Seventh—In the bonds of any other railroad company, which are secured by first lien upon a railroad within the United States, or in the mortgage bonds of any such railroad company of an issue to retire all prior mortgage indebtedness of such railroad company; or in the bonds of any railroad company within the United States, which are guaranteed or assumed by another railroad company, within the United States; provided that the railroad company (except a railroad company whose bonds are guaranteed or assumed as aforesaid) either issuing, guaranteeing or assuming any of said bonds has not within five years prior to the time of making such investment by said bank failed in the payment of a dividend, upon its entire capital stock outstanding, of not less than four (4) per cent per annum each fiscal year during said five-year period; and has not within five years prior to the time of making such investment by said bank defaulted in the payment of any part of the principal or interest of any debt incurred by it and secured by mortgage or trust deed upon its railroad, or any part thereof, or in the payment of any part of the principal or interest of any bonds guaranteed or assumed by it; and provided further, that no savings bank shall ever loan pon or invest in railroad bonds to exceed in the aggregate twenty (20) per cent of its deposits, nor shall such savings bank ever loan upon or invest in the bonds issued or guaranteed or assumed by any one railroad company to exceed in the aggregate five (5) per cent of its deposits.
